DEATH TAKES

JANE CRAWFORD

Passed Away After Several Months Illness

Miss Jane Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford was born in Banks township on July 10th, 1892 and passed away from the beautiful life she lived March 18th, 1920.

She received the limit of a rural school education, then entered the Central Lake high school completing that course and graduating with the class of 1911. After taking a course in Ypsilanti Normal College she taught in her home rural school, in C. L. school one year, in Traverse City four years from which position she resigned to go into civil service for the government and went to Washington, D. C., in Jan. 1919.

She suffered a break down in health and gradually grew weaker until the burden of life was too heavy and succumbed as stated above. She was surrounded at the time of death by the family whose never tiring hands seem empty and whose hearts are full of unspeakable grief over the loss of a dear little daughter and sister, who always had a glad smile for every one no matter what the circumstances. Her life was above reproach and the world has lost a beautiful character, one who was always trying to make it better.

The funeral was conducted from the home on March 21st, by Mr. O. H. Sissions of Central Lake, Mr. Geo. Rozell speaking his best comforting words from "She hath done good work, She hath done what she could," and the tenderness with which he spoke conveyed the united feeling of the entire sympathetic community in which they live.

Besides her father and mother, she leaves two sisters, Miss Catherine, who is at home and Miss Ellen of Washington, D. C., two brothers, Duncan of Lakeview and Neal, who is temporarily in Flint. The floral offerings were very beautiful and indeed emblematic of the one to which they were given and were laid away with the casket and its precious contents in the Southern cemetery at Central Lake.

AT THE MOVIES

Griffith's "Broken Blossoms"

Of extraordinary interest, not only to lovers of the motion picture, but likewise to all who appreciate the heights in art in its various manifestations, is the announcement of the Palace Theatre that it has secured David Wark Griffith's superb screen creation, "Broken Blossoms," to be shown April 17th.

Never has a motion picture been accorded a reception comparable to the triumph that has followed every showing of this production. Newspapers have devoted column after column to its beauties and wonders. Everywhere its success has been instantaneous and it is safe to say that in bringing "Broken Blossoms" to our city, the management of the Palace has to its credit the highest accomplishment in artistic entertainment that we have yet enjoyed.

Mr. Griffith, it will be remembered, together with Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin and Douglas Fairbanks, early in 1919 organized United Artists Corporation—popularly known as "The Big Four"—for the making and marketing of their own productions. It is through this organization that "Broken Blossoms" is being placed in the theatres of the country.

The story of "Broken Blossoms" Mr. Griffith adapted from a tale by Thomas Burke called "The Chink and the Child" which is part of that author's famous volume "Limehouse Nights." Around this story, and we speak from the opinions of dramatic critics the country over, Mr. Griffith has built the most alluring, yet pitiful, beautiful, yet tragic love story ever filmed. It has become habit, almost, to look upon a Griffith production as something more than a motion picture, yet even the most ardent admirers of the art of this master of the films did not dream of the wonders that he would reveal in "Broken Blossoms."

And of noting, let a word be added. Lillian Gish as "The Girl" has reached a height of dramatic interpretation the like of which has never been seen on the screen before. This little artist has labored faithfully, steadily, with an understanding marvelous in one so young, and now she comes into her full glory in "Broken Blossoms." "The Chink" is played by Richard Barthelmess and to his work the critics have paid high tributes likewise. To the telling of the love story of "Broken Blossoms" woman and haven't any pockets.

It is said that both Miss Gish and Mr. Barthelmess have brought a never-to-be-forgotten artistry. Donald Crisp plays the part of "Battling Burrows," the brute on whom fatherhood has been forced, and his portrayal of a difficult role with rare talent and strength, completes the triangle of chief characters in the story.

"Broken Blossoms" should prove the crowning achievement in the splendid gallery of film presentations that we have enjoyed at the Palace Theatre. Remember the date, Saturday, April 17.

MICHIGAN PROTECTS MIGRATING BIRDS

Authorities Will Punish Violators of Laws

"Spare migrating birds," is a warning just issued to Michigan sportsmen by Frederick A. Eaton, assistant United States district attorney at Detroit. The message is also intended to reach the juvenile Detroiters who are preparing to go forth this spring in search of wild birds.

The law has declared it a closed season for the shooting of migratory game birds, Mr. Eaton announces. Flocks even now are winging their way northward and in a few weeks there will be many more. According to the assistant district attorney, the small boy who interferes with any of these birds will be liable to federal prosecution.

Michigan's federal game wardens are preparing for their annual drive on game law violators and Mr. Eaton, after conferences with them, is preparing to press such cases in the United States District Court. Local observers say that the flocks in following the Detroit River often rest on its banks temporarily and the game gardens have been instructed to make the banks of the Detroit River a safe roosting place for wild birds during the migration period. The Migratory Bird Treaty Act was framed by Congress, following the convention between the United States and Canada, to protect the wild fowl that came within the northern borders during the summer months. The only person exempted by the treaty are Eskimos and Indians on reservations who seek the birds for food.

Mr. Eaton has received reports from Dominion officials revealing wanton destruction of wild birds in flocks traveling to their summer shelter, which has resulted in the complete extinction of many species and the thinning out of others. It may soon may be necessary, he says, for the governments of the United States and Canada to deny the Eskimos and Indians the privilege they now hold.

HIRAM JOHNSON LEADS IN STATE

HAS 30,000 LEAD BY PRESENT RETURNS.

Leonard Wood Second Place, While Hoover and Lowden Run Close for Third Place.

Senator Hiram Johnson of California, is way in the lead by the present returns of the Michigan presidential primary election. About half of the precincts of the state are now in and the senator has a lead of approximately 30,000.

Major General Leonard Wood is in second place and still has a very good chance. Herbert Hoover and Gov. Lowden of Illinois are engaged in a close race for third place, with Lowden in the lead by a small majority. Hoover leads the Democratic ticket with a slim margin over Gav. Edwards of New Jersey. McAdoo and William Jennings Bryan are running close for third place, with McAdoo slightly in the lead.

Former Governor Fred M. Warner is leading for the nomination of Republican national committeeman, and no doubt will carry the state by a large majority. He is now nearly 2 to 1 over his nearest rival. There are five candidates in the field for this position.

The voting on these tickets has been very light the state over. Major General Wood carried Charlevoix county by about 200 majority and Warner leads the field by an overwhelming majority.

Wood also carried Emmet county, the votes being as follows: Wood 469, Lowden 124, Johnson 180, Hoover 109, Pershing 7, Poindexter 3, Simpson 1.

For national committeeman Warner carried the county by a large majority. Following are the votes cast: Warner 429, Marx 32, Joslin 17, Smith 91, Wood 88.

Cheboygan county went to Johnson, with Hoover leading on the Democratic ticket and Warner for committeeman. Fourteen out of 25 precincts return the following votes: Republican—Wood 312, Lowden 92, Johnson 552, Hoover 221, Pershing 86, Poindexter 3, Simpson 11.

Committeeman—Republican: Warner 326, Marx 128, Joslin 112, Smith 77, Wood 200.

Democratic—Connolly 277.

Mayor Cain of Cheboygan was re-elected and the good roads bonds carried by a good majority.

Johnson is also leading in Presque Isle county, Otsego, and is expected to carry this section of the state.

HAS BEEN IN SERVICE ALMOST 34 YEARS

Capt. Pugh, Veteran Coast Guardsman, Retires From Service

The following article taken from a recent issue of the Grand Rapids Press, will be of interest to Charlevoix people, many of who are intimately acquainted with the parties involved.

Capt. Eli E. Pugh, keeper of the Ludington coast guard station, retired at midnight, March 31, following 33 years and 11 months of continuous service guarding the eastern shore of Lake Michigan for Uncle Sam.

Mr. Pugh first enlisted in the life saving service on April 1, 1886, as surfman at the Manistee station. One year later he was transferred from Manistee to Pentwater and he was rated No. 1 surfman on April 1, 1887. Following 20 years service at Pentwater he was transferred to South Manitou Island on Jan. 31, 1907, and his rank raised to that of captain of the life saving service. On August 24, 1910, he transferred to Charlevoix and the succeeding three years were put in as keeper at the northern resort life saving station.

On March 10, 1913, keeper Pugh went to Ludington and terminates his long career of service with seven years of most commendable administration of affairs at the local station.

Keeper Pugh's plans at present are indefinite but for the time he will continue to reside in Ludington. The announcement of his successor at this local station has not been made.

The people seem to be satisfied to give the league of nations covenant and Americanizing or give it death.

TO HOLD SALE OF CHOICE LOTS

Locations in Upright, Hurlbut and Clark & Clifford's Addition.

During the month of April the people of Charlevoix are going to have the opportunity to buy some of the city's most choice lots, and this will probably be the last chance to buy lots of this kind, single or in groups.

The lots are located in Upright and Hurlbut's addition, Clark's addition and Clifford's 2nd addition to Charlevoix, and are all well located for building sites.

The prices on these lots are within reason and they may be obtained on easy terms, offering a fine chance to own your own home. In most cases the cost of the rent would pay for a home in a few years. These lots will be on sale during the entire month of April. See the announcement on page ten.

Train Service Increased.

Until further notice the Pennsylvania Lines will resume the north-bound evening train that was taken off in January because of the heavy snow.

It is commonly understood that ours is a government by consent of the governed. Yet the manufacture of consent has reached such proportions through propaganda as to make unreliable the source of our daily information. For the average man it is practically impossible to get accurate sources of opinion. It is still more difficult for him, without specialized knowledge to form intelligent judgement, hampered, as he is, by a lack of any trustworthy basis. Never was there a time of greater confusion than when, in these days of "reconstruction," after the Great War, the acid test is being applied to every one of our social institutions. We are assured that "the forms that our civil and political institutions take in the next five years will, in all probability, be permanent for the next one hundred."

It is with the view of aiding the citizens of Charlevoix in the formation of unpartisan and constructive standards for our community and national institutions, that a committee composed of the University of Michigan Alumni and business men have undertaken to bring to our city a famous authority, Dr. R. M. Wenley. Dr. Wenley has made for himself a brilliant record as an authority an educator. Born in Edinburgh in 1861, he attained successively the degrees of A. B., A. M., D. Phil., Sc. D., LL. D., LL. D., and D. C. L. After having studied in Paris, Rome and Germany, he became assistant Professor of Logic; and later, full Professor of Queen Margaret College in Edinburgh University.

On coming to this country in 1890 he was elected as head of the department of Philosophy of the University of Michigan, which position he has held since that time.

As author, the following are among his important contributions to the cause of progress and education: "Modern Thought and the Christian Religion," "Introduction to Christianity in the Ancient World," "Contemporary Theology and Theism," and "Socrates and Jesus."

As a lecturer and publicist, he has been and is continuously in the public eye.

Dr. Wenley has graciously consented to give us four conferences in addition to the lectures for the more intensive consideration of the problem of each particular group. He has indicated his desire that there shall be real "give and take" by full and free discussion. So everyone should be prepared to participate by question and discussion.

A general invitation has been given to all interested in our neighboring cities that they also attend, and aid in making this the greatest educational event ever sponsored by any city in northern Michigan.

All costs are being met by popular subscription of our business men, so that in spite of all initial costs, it will be absolutely free to the public.

ST. JOSEPH WINS STATE TITLE

TAKES BASKET BALL HONORS LAST SATURDAY

Mancelona Wins Third Place in Meet After Charlevoix and Cheboygan Are Defeated

St. Joseph high school won the state basketball championship for secondary high schools at East Lansing Saturday when its team defeated Hillsdale 8 to 7 in the finals in the M. A. C. gymnasium. The Hillsdale five led all the way until the last two minutes of play, but St. Joseph came through with a field basket which proved to be the decisive count for the title.

Third place in the tournament went to Mancelona by virtue of defeating Mount Clemens 17 to 6. Both of these teams lost in the semifinals. Following the end of the tourney play the cups and medals were awarded at a banquet attended by players from all of the sixteen quintette which participated. Each of the first four teams received a beautiful trophy, the individuals of the winning five were given gold medals and players of the second team were awarded silver medals.

McElroy, guard, and Skibbe, forward, starred for the championship St. Joseph team. Other members were Krieger, forward, Godry, center, and Ankli, guard. Hillsdale was represented by Kemp and Stoll, forwards; Gettings, center, and Brothers and Esterline, guards.

Following are the results of the games in the preliminary rounds: First round—St. Joseph 31; Harbor Springs, 4; Zeeland, 31; Clarks-ville, 9; Cheasaning, 11; Reed City, 8; Mancelona, 23; Greenville, 17; Mount Clemens, 17; Birmingham, 16; Charlevoix, 20; Cheboygan, 7; Hillsdale, 21; Lake Odessa, 6; Monroe, 23; East Lansing, 14.

Second round—Mancelona, 24; Cheasaning, 12; St. Joseph, 23; Zeeland, 10; Mount Clemens, 12; Charlevoix, 9; Hillsdale, 13; Monroe, 11. Third round—St. Joseph, 30; Mancelona, 13; Hillsdale, 24; Mount Clemens, 22.

In drawing for places in the opening of the tournament the Charlevoix team was the victim of a peculiar co-incidence. At the tournament at Petoskey Charlevoix drew Cheboygan for the opening game and was defeated by them by the score of 15 to 11. At East Lansing the team again drew Cheboygan for the opening game, but this time the score was reverse and Charlevoix came out on the long end, score 10 to 7.

Hugh J. Gray Continues as Secretary and General Manager. Good Year is Anticipated

M. Development bureau; W. E. Wolfender, Pere Marquette Railway Co.; C. L. Lockwood, Pennsylvania Railway Co.; Park Robbins, boat lines; Sidney L. Vaughan, interurban lines; Guy W. Rouse and John B. Hutchins, Grand Rapids.

Last Year Big One.

"Last year was the biggest resort and touring year Michigan ever had, and from now on, weather conditions being favorable, I am confident that we will not have any more lean years," said Mr. Gray.

"There are so many ways to get into the territory, by rail, boat and automobile, that it is impossible to check up the number of visitors, but we have everything that nature can provide to make the summer not only pleasant and pleasurable but health giving and the possibilities for development are unlimited," he added.

Mr. Gray stressed the need for more and better accommodations for tourists and told of the organization of the Great Lake Way association for the establishment of camps.

Must Take Care of Tourists

"When we get the tourists here we have got to give them first class treatment," he said. "The camps are not designed as competitors of the hotel but as a means of taking proper care of the transients, especially the automobile tourists. The association has a prospective income of $18,000 for the promotion and publicity work of the coming year and contracts have already been made that will take about $11,000 of this. The Grand Rapids retailers last year maintained the city office for the information and convenience of tourists and will continue to do so the coming season.

"Last year the office had fifty to sixty callers daily, seeking information as to routes, condition of roads, etc." The Great Lake Way was adopted as the popular name for the route shown on the map and a trade mark was adopted to mark hotels, garages and other places of business. The advertising campaign has already been started and the illustrated booklet is nearly ready for distribution. The daily bulletin will be issued, giving names and addresses of the inquires received and members should follow up by sending their own literature."

ODEN HATCHERY
GETS $10,000.00

Fish Commission Votes This Amount for Building

At a meeting of the state fish commission at the office of the Wachtel & Galster company in Petoskey last week resolutions were unanimously adopted appropriating ten thousand dollars for the Oden Fish Hatchery buildings, work on which will be gotten under way at once.

Plans have been ordered made for the buildings and directions will go forward at once for the equipment. Assistant Superintendent Lydell, who was present at this board meeting, will prepare the plans. The hatchery building will cost $7,500 and the equipment $2,500.

Contracts have been let for clearing out of the streams on the grounds and getting the grounds in condition for the buildings. Contracts for some of the equipment have also been let.

At this meeting of the commission it was decided to secure rainbow trout spawn from Burt Lake, near the mouth of the Sturgeon river and from Boyne river, near Pine Lake. Men will be sent to these places to secure the fish eggs.

SEASON IS LATE IN THE SOUTHLAND

seems to have come through with undimmed honors, but no women wants to wear a hat like anybody else in town so I presume each of the dears will wear just what they darn please, but they may be interested in the fact that this season has brought forth a new leader of the Eastern Socially elect, and a most charming lady at that, Mrs. Edward Statesburg of Philadelphia now wields the scepter held by Mrs. Tossie Olrich for several seasons at Palm Beach. This season now closing she was to all intents the social leader in all events, presiding with a gracious diplomacy and that which with the splendid organized daintiness given at her home has tended to make her position assured.

Last seasonal predicted a great season for Charlevoix and the northern resorts that were properly organized for handling resort business of the better kind. Barring a national calamity you will have another good season this year but later than the one you had last summer.

AT THE MOVIES

Ethel Clayton's new Paramount picture, "A Sporting Change," which will be shown at the Palace Theatre next Saturday was founded on "Impulses," a story which appeared in a recent issue of the Snappy Stories Magazine, written by Roger Hartman.

Cary Brent, the part played by Miss Clayton, is an impulsive girl who gets a "hunch" and acts upon it without reflection. So when she employs as her chauffeur a man she believes to be an escaped convict, in order that she may reform him, she opens the door to thrilling and unexpected adventures.

The supporting cast, headed by Jack Holt, a sterling player, is a strong one and includes Herbert Standing, Margaret Green and Howard Davies. The director was George Melford.

THE WORLD OVER

Indiana plumbers now want $10 a day. Maybe the expense of transportation, to and from the tool chest has increased.

Men are urged to sit tight in politics, but the new secretary of state won his reward, such as it is, through agility.

If Mr. Wilson doesn't run again our next best wish is that he is able to sit on the fence and watch the race.

With Mr. Wilson out of consideration as a presidential candidate more breaks in party ranks may be looked for.

PROOFS OF WEALTH

The city editor frowned at the new reporter. "You pay in this story," he said, "that this victim of lost memory was very evidently a rich man. What reason have you got for writing this?"

"Well, he wore a cotton shirt. His shoes were half-soled. His trousers were patched. In his pockets were envelopes scribbled all over with figures having to do with the income tax, so far as I could make out."

"With such plain signs of wealth," answered the city editor, "you had a right to speak of him as a multimillionaire. Don't make such a mistake again."

BREED DAIRY HEIFER EARLY

Purpose Should Be to Get System of Animal Into Milk Producing Habit Before Maturity.

(By N. W. CLARK, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Colo.)

In order that heifers may be bred young and begin milking at an early date, they should be well developed. This is important. Cows that acquire considerable age and become mature before beginning to milk will not usually make as deep and persistent milkers as cows that are bred at a comparatively early age and begin to milk before they are mature. The aim is to get the system of the animal into the habit of producing milk at as early an age as possible. Therefore the heifer should be well fed and cared for from birth.

If the heifer is well developed she should be bred at 15 to 18 months of age, otherwise she should not be bred until 18 to 20 months of age.

THINGS THAT NEVER HAPPEN

INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

Even the school pupils in the northern part of Wexford county are affected by the closing of the bank at Mesick. Several school districts in the vicinity of Mesick had the school funds deposited in the closed institution and now they have no money to pay the teachers and have asked the county school commissioner, Roy Noteware, for permission to curtail the usual school term by several weeks. Other school officials have asked to be allowed to close school earlier this year owing to the higher salaries paid the teachers.—Cadillac Evening News.

A Zeeland man, on trial for making beer testified that he was obliged to brew the drink as a necessary tonic for his wife. In view of the frequency with which one hears this plea, one might assume that every time a woman discontinues carrying her husband in from the front steps and putting him in bed it proves that her strength is giving out.

A woman's club at Ypsilanti has passed a resolution condemning the parties who threw eggs in a church so that one took effect on the minister's chin. The women feel, as the ones upon whom the function mostly devolves, that they have trouble enough obtaining the minister's salary, as it is, and no telling how much more he may demand if he gets a taste or two and forms the egg habit.

A new device gotten up by some Michigan man to stop automobile accidents will be much appreciated as the motoring season opens. "When running at fifteen miles an hour," as the Alpena News describes the device "a white bulb shows on the radiator top; at twenty-five a green bulb appears; at forty the light turns red, and when the chauffeur is hitting it up at fifty or over, a music box under the seat plays, 'Nearer, My God to Thee'."—Detroit News.

BOOKS FOR EVERYBODY MOVEMENT

Efforts Being Made to Organize Extension Library

Extension of library service to the 60,000,000 persons in the United States today who have inadequate opportunities of obtaining good reading matter, self-education and promotion of better citizenship through good books, are the principal aims of the "Books for Everybody" movement of the American Library Association now under way in every state in the union. The enlarged program adopted by the association forecasts a time when every man, woman and child in America will have free and easy access to all that is best in the world of books.

Encouragement of technical libraries in industries, of more books for the blind in the standard Braille type, and the expansion of the county library system, are other phases of the movement on which much stress is laid. Greater and more flexible service to the Merchant Marine, coast guard stations and lighthouses; translation of the best books about America into the various foreign tongues for the benefit of the 15,000,000 new Americans, financing of libraries and services to ex-soldiers, sailors and marines in hospitals of the United States Public Health Service—these are projects put under way by the association in its broad program.

Opportunities for self-instruction in all lines of human endeavor and a broader general knowledge through reading and study courses to be prepared under the direction of skilled librarians are available under the "Books for Everybody" movement. It is a program of better citizenship through universal adult education. To carry a program of better citizenship through universal adult education to carry out the work of the association for the next three years, a fund of $2,000,000 will be obtained, not through an intensive drive, but by individual efforts of librarians, library trustees, and friends of libraries.

Stop Theft

Bred in the days when the West was rare,
If a Bad Man lifted a body's mare
A hot wrath ran through the countryside
With a quick demand for the Bad Man's hide;
For a plug purloined wins a hostile deed
And it didn't square with the cow-man's creed,
A posse drew to the sheriff's shock
And they all fell in on the filcher's back.

No distance balked; to the West's renown
They rode the trail till they ran him down,
And it wasn't a fine for the Bad Man then
Or a brief sojourn in the comfy pen.
Take it from me as from one that's Joe,
I've read Brette Harte and I ought to know;

They strung him up in leafy wold,
And the steed came back to the owner's fold.
But today from out of its customary cote
Some rake of the rubble has frisked my boat.

The motor that is my joy and pride,
And I thirst like sin for the Bad Man's hide,
The sheriff yawns and he begs to state
That the arm of the law will investigate.

But I know darn well that a boat retrieved
Is never the same as the hont that's thieved.
They'll slip the pirnte that wrecked my chaise
A messley mulet or his thirty days,
Or caution him not filch an'—
Which is what the sentence invites him to.

We can tie to this as a wager, pol,
That we'll miss our cars from the old corral
Till the term dealt out for the crime appears Abit unhealthy far buccaneers.

—From American Motorist.
Every little movement now seems to want a party all its own.

SEASON LATE IN SOUTHLAND

CONDUCT OF WINTER POSTIVE-
LY SCANDALOUS

Hotels to Remain Open Until May 1—People Afraid to Return Home on Account of Weather

Northern Michigan was not the only place in the country to feel the effects of the long, cold winter just closing. In the south it has been colder than in years and in consequence the resort season there will extend to a later date than usual. Louis L. Ronn, formerly with the Courier, explains existing conditions in his usual pleasing and effective way. His letter follows:

Finis will be written late for the Southern Resort this season. Last year I wrote you a brief resume of the resort news from the Southland, so unprejudiced was the resort attendance in this section last year, it seemed that it could never be repeated, but comparative figures would be as useless in gauging the records for this season as a sun-dial would be for timing an automobile race.

I have now finished the round of practically all of the Southern Resort Section, ending here at Southern Pines, and I have never seen a season that approaches the present one in attendance at any particular time, nor for its duration. The hotels not only as a rule were opened earlier than usual but they were also filled to capacity and this will be a late season for obvious reasons. To begin with people have been coming south all winter and it would be a physical impossibility for the railroads to move all these people back north at once.

The conduct of the winter has positively been scandalous. Not content with setting in the lap of spring as his usual want, he has actually put his foot in it. Even here in the Southland the season is about two weeks late, and those who have had a taste of the old fashioned winter weather of the north are not willing to return home until this unwelcome guest has packed his baggage and gone so far away that there will be little danger of his return in a hurry.

The hotels in this section will remain open until May 1st. The High-

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use the Old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody Will know.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger. Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

land Pines Inn on Weymouth Heights is booked full until April 15th. It will no doubt be operated at capacity until its closing date and may be forced to operate until May 1st. In some sections, due to the great influx of tourist, there has apparently been a let down in service or courtesy, or both, but to the everlasting credit, and let us hope profit, the management of this splendid organized hotel, despite the fact that they are catering to the needs of the largest guest list ever booked, they have improved the service notably, but they evidently seem to be out-doing themselves in courtesy to their guests.

Mr. Andrew I. Creamer, your summer citizen, is in charge as proprietor as in former seasons. Associated with him is Mr. M. H. Turner. The staff is practically the same as that of last season. Frank McDonald is chief clerk and treasurer, same old unflinching good natured chap, to welcome the guests, carry their troubles, whether it is poor luck at golf or the letter that failed to arrive.

The Highland Pines Inn has accommodation for 250 guests. In the past winter they have been compelled to refuse about 2000 applications, many of which were from guests of former seasons. Living is informal here, due to large extent to the fact that the guests are those of former seasons, a very considerable number of whom make extended stays, and to this is added the inevitable camaraderie of the golf course.

Perhaps I can best explain what I mean when I say, one gets that "at home" feeling when at this hotel. When you've paid your bill, had your baggage checked out, you feel that you have had more than you paid for no matter what rate you paid. You just naturally can't tip Mack you can't afford to send Andrew a motor sumptuously.

So you sort of in self defense, over-tip everybody else from the dining room waitress to the porter at the station, and then get on the train feeling that you want to get off and go back for just one more week's stay.

Boston may not be the hub of the universe and the center of American culture, but I can testify that some mighty fine folks come from that city and a large number of them are coming to the Highland Pines Inn at Southern Pines.

From Canada the contingent is a large one and growing in numbers each year, they are not in any sense clannish, but they are solicitors of the comforts of their countrymen and women and as a rule are enthusiastic golfers and speaking of golf leads to the remark that this is no place for the "lounge lizards." The men and women who come here are of a type of which an American may justly feel proud, they come for golf, for horse back riding, for shooting, and the clean out door sports for which this section has become noted, and which may be indulged in here when the North is snow-bound.

The women play golf as well as the men and many of them play a good game. For instance, this week there were upwards of 100 women entered in the woman's section of the National North and South tournament held at Pinehurst, a short distance from Highland Pines Inn. The finals of this contest promises to be an exciting event, Mrs. Wm. West of Philadelphia, stopping at the Inn, winning the consolation prize from Mrs. Wm. Seyfort 1 up in 19 holes. For the finals which will be played tomorrow, Mrs. D. C. Hurd, winner of first honors in England, Canada and here season before last, is matched with Mrs. J. R. Pice; Mrs. Price won from Mrs. Rosenthal, Medal woman of last season, who won at that time from Mrs. Hurd.

The attendance at the tournament is the largest since it became the vogue to close the southern golf season with a tournament here, which is practically by players from all sections of the North and South. At some of the hotels men are living in suit-cases and sleeping on cots in the corridors, just for the pleasure of witnessing or participating in this finale of a great season of golf.

Now I am sure that your lady readers are more interested in what is "au fait" in modes and "la mode" in chapeaux for spring time wear, than they are in golf.

This is "Spring Time Land," the seasons are so far in advance of the Northland that makers of women's wear are always on tip toe to establish the styles for the coming season, and the more progressive leaders, send their best styles here for judgment. Flapper styles seem to have found the greatest favor and you will probably soon find the matter and the movie stars, meaning "No matter their age," the styles of the girl before she becomes a debutante.

It's all Greek to me but it's a mode or style or some thing, which I have been told puts the old style corset out of commission and anyhow it's no man's business.

Mr. Auto Owner

Are you going to take your car out this Spring without giving it a thorough over-hauling?

If these are your intentions you'd better think twice before doing it. You wouldn't drive your car into a stone wall and smash it would you?

To drive a car two seasons without having it overhauled and readjusted amounts to the same thing. One damages the car about as much as the other.

Before taking your car out for the season let us go over it for you and replace the worn-out parts and tighten the loose bolts and bearings that will cause future trouble.

IT'S HARD TO WORK

When Suffering From Kidney Ills. Many Charlevoix People Find This To Be True

What's so hard as a day's work with an aching back? Or sharp "stabs" of pain with every sudden twist or turn? There is no peace from the dull ache.

No rest from the soreness, lameness and weariness. If the kidneys are disordered you can't reach the cause too soon.

Neglect is often fatal. Weak kidneys need prompt attention.

Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills at once.

A tested and proven kidney remedy. Charlevoix readers should find new hope in the following statement.

Mrs. Jennie Smith, 1206 Bridge St., Charlevoix, says: "My kidneys acted irregularly and my back got so lame I could hardly get about to do my housework. Finally I had to take to my bed where I remained several days, absolutely helpless. I couldn't even turn over. I felt miserable and was in terrible condition when I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They brought me relief from the first and continued use cured me."

See 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Smith had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. H. Starr went to Traverse City last Monday to visit his wife, who is in a very critical condition at the present writing.

FACTS

In 1919 the value of farm products was over $21,000,000. Thirty-three million American farmers are more prosperous than ever before. They are buying all manner of high grade equipment for the farm, including automobiles, trucks and tractors. But the best indication of their prosperity is their purchase of equipment to improve living conditions and lighten work in the farm home. One hundred thousand plants to furnish light and power for the home were purchased by farmers in 1919.

LITSCHER LITE SPECIFICATIONS

A single cylinder 4 H.P. kerosene engine, directly connected to a 1 K.W. generator and belt power pulley, 100 to 300 ampere hour batteries; occupies only 10x32 in. of floor space; supplies 2 H.P. in excess of dynamo requirements.

THE reason farmers have preferred the Litscher Lite plant, manufactured in the factory of the Litscher Lite Corporation of Grand Rapids, is because it affords power for more uses. The Litscher Lite plant consists of a sturdy kerosene engine of uniquely simple construction, which drives a directly connected generator and a belt power pulley between which the engine is situated. Of course, the Litscher Lite plant has the required complement of storage batteries. Its special advantage lies in the fact that it lights from 50 to 100 electric lamps or operates their equivalent of electrical appliances as well as supplies from 2 to 4 horse-power of direct power from its belt pulley to operate belt driven machinery. Moreover, the Litscher Lite electric and belt power plant can operate electric vacuum cleaners, belt power pumps, electric irons and belt driven cream separators all at the same time. It requires no technical knowledge of electricity or machinery to keep it in good running order. It is built for farm work, to be operated by the average farmer. The farmer recognizes this and his experience invariably proves how especially suited to his needs the Litscher Lite plant is.

This is Your Opportunity

Although expecting recognition in a measure commensurate with the superiority of our plant, no precedent could have foretold such a demand for the Litscher Lite plant as has been experienced.

Capital which we considered adequate to allow for expansion of production facilities now falls short. The demand is tremendous and we must satisfy it. We need more capital and our need is your opportunity.

We offer on the open market the first public issue of stock in a progressive company supplying an urgent demand. We have wide distribution, shipping Litscher Lite plants to all parts of the world. We are well managed by men of long experience in the electric and manufacturing industries.

A WORLD REBUILT

By the Golden Rule
not by the rule of Gold

THIRTY denominations of the Church are uniting in a simultaneous campaign in the week of April 25th-May 2nd.

They are uniting because the task before the Church is too great for any one denomination; because there must be no duplication of effort; no waste.

These churches know that the world needs many things; but it needs Faith most of all.

They know that there can be no final solution of our economic problems that is not a spiritual solution, based on the teachings of Jesus Christ and His Golden Rule.

They have had the courage to survey the whole task, and to ask for a budget large enough to sustain (1) the work abroad, (2) the work at home including the church's part in the huge task of Americanization, (3) the colleges and (4) hospitals supported by the Churches, (5) the religious training of the young, and to provide (6) a living wage for the Church's ministers.

The budget is large in the aggregate; yet if each person who loves America would increase his contribution by only a few dollars the whole amount would be easily subscribed.

We face the task of rebuilding the world. Let the cornerstone be a strong and vital church in every American community; and the measuring rod by which the builders build must be the Golden Rule.

What has become of the old-fashioned uplifter who used to say that if we could only adopt the general primary system all corruption and crookedness would depart from politics? He has thought up some new ones and is busy talking about them.

You can't blame a Democrat or near Democrat for wanting all the political parties killed off. Wilsonism has made an end of the Democratic party, and misery loves company even in the graveyard.

Running On Three Wheels

It is easier to pull a loaded wagon that has only three wheels than it is to run a business without sufficient income to meet expenses. Each may struggle along for a time but neither can travel fast or far, and the strain is sure to be great.

A business that lacks the revenue to pay for the best materials and workers can not give the best service. When the service suffers all users of the service also suffer.

WE MUST HAVE YOUR SUPPORT IF YOU ARE TO HAVE THE TELEPHONE

That is the problem now facing your telephone company. Unless it secures rates that make it possible to purchase necessary material and pay wages that will hold good employees, it can not give you good service.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

It is with full and thankful hearts that we recall our celebration of the Easter season. The rite of baptism was observed by fifteen and on Easter morning twenty-three were received into our fellowship. Our task be it to hold up their hands at all times.

The theme for the morning of April 11 will be "Renown Through Renunciation." As our parish is the community, we invite everyone, especially such as have no church home, to share in our fellowship and labors. Welcome!

There will be no Sunday evening service, as we shall join in giving Professor R. M. Wenley an attentive and hearty hearing in the Palace Theatre.

The Ladies Aid Society will hold its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. George Finucan, Wednesday, April 7th, at 2:30 p. m.

The women of this church are invited to a twelve o'clock Friendship dinner on Thursday next to meet Mrs. E. R. This is one of two group meetings being held in the Cheboygan association and it is expected that the women of nearby Congregational churches will send representatives.

—And Love.

Like a great poet, Nature produces the greatest results with the simplest means. These are simply a sun, flowers, water and love. Of course, if the spectator be without the last, the whole will present but a pitiful appearance; and, in that case, the sun is merely so many miles in diameter, the trees are good for fuel, the flowers are classified by stamens, and the water is simply wet.—Helen.

Hint to Reformers.

Doubtless the world is wicked enough, but it will not be improved by the extension of a spirit which self-righteously seeks more to reform outside of itself than in itself.—G. Holland.

NEW AMENDMENTS TO CITY CHARTER

BOTH MEASURES ADOPTED BY THE COUNCIL

City Fiscal Year Now Begins First of March—City Advertising Bill in Effect

Both of the proposed amendments to the present city charter that were presented to the voters of the city at the annual spring election April 5th, were declared as carried by the city council at a meeting of this body held at the Council Chambers, April 8th.

The first amendment to the charter changing the beginning of the city fiscal year from October 1st to March 1st was declared adopted and carried the city by a vote of 305 to 214.

The change in fiscal year will benefit the city due to the fact that it will give the city mayor an opportunity to begin his term at the beginning of the year instead of having to break in the middle of it and should tend to improve the administration of the men elected.

The second amendment was to raise by general tax a sum not to exceed three-quarters of a mill on each dollar of the assessed valuation of the city property. This amendment was announced last week as being defeated, but investigations since have proved to the contrary.

The law covering this amendment was annulled at first by City Attorney, A. L. Fitch, to state that a three-fifths majority was necessary, to adopt an amendment of this kind, but the investigation showed that only a majority was necessary to carry the measure and the council proceeded to declare the amendment adopted. Mr. Fitch has published in connection with the proceeding of the city council at their meeting of April 8th, a letter covers this situation and explains in detail the law govern the passing of this amendment.

The adoption of this new amendment should aid the city to a large extent. It is a known fact that a city and its prosperity is exactly what the business men and residents of that city make it. If they are not progressive and are satisfied to sit and wait for success to come to them the success of their city will be likewise. The towns that are making progress these days are the ones that are stepping out and grabbing off the opportunities as fast as they are offered.

Charlevoix has been well gifted by nature with natural resources and on these resources has the city depended to large extent for past prosperity. The lakes and scenery have brought the resort trade to Charlevoix and without these Charlevoix would have nothing. At this day and age with every town on the West Michigan shore striving for resort trade a town cannot hang back and depend upon its natural attractions and reputation to bring the business to it altogether, if it did it would go back and go back fast.

What Charlevoix needs is publicity and lots of it, and the adoption of this new amendment will tend to give it this. Hundreds of people go to inferior resorts each year because they do not know that Charlevoix exists. To the people that have been coming to Charlevoix each year, her beauties are well known and recognized, but to pleasure seekers as a whole Charlevoix is unknown and is far less patronized than other resorts of inferior caliber. As stated by the heads of the West Michigan Tourist Association, to make a resort a successful resort the town itself must tell the public what it has to offer and tell it in a way that the people will believe. It is a case of grab the business while business is good or go with out.

From the present outlook the resort business is the future of the city. It has no industrial future in sight now and the consequence is that Charlevoix is, for most people a four months a year town. If Charlevoix is to be a four months a year town to most of us we must do our best to get as much out of those four months as possible. In order to get this we must have something to offer. Nobody is getting anything for nothing and it is the same with a resort. We must do our utmost to bring the summer people to our city by convincing them that it is the best place to go and after they are here we must treat them in such a manner as to prove that we have the best resort in this section barring none

METHODIST EASTER CANTATA PROGRAM

Given at Church Last Sunday Evening

The citizens of Charlevoix filled to overflowing the spacious auditorium of the Methodist Episcopal church last Sunday night. They came expecting a musical treat and it is safe to say that not one of the hundreds went away disappointed.

The church choir rendered the beautiful Easter Cantata, The Gospel of Easter, by J. S. Fearis, in such an efficient and pleasing manner that when a rising vote of thanks was suggested the entire audience quickly responded.

The difficult role of accompanist was taken by Miss Ethelyn Morrison whose fine ability contributed in a marked degree to the splendid reproduction of the choral composition.

Miss Helena Bates' widely recognized skill as a musical director received additional testimony in the presentation of this Cantata.

Following is the personnel of the choir: Sopranos, Mrs. C. Beers, Miss Arbutus Nordrum, Miss Florence Brown, Miss Lucile MacDonald, Miss Muriel Waterhouse, (soloist) Miss Helena Bates (soloist); Altos, Miss Irene Auld, Mrs. Arthur Edwards, Miss Dottie Sickles, Miss A. E. Wagenaar; Tenors, Ney Smith (soloist), Frank Poole (soloist); Basses, Arthur Edwards, C. Beers (soloist), Vernard Miller, Edward Edwards.

WENLEY LECTURES HUGE SUCCESS

HAS CAPTIVATED HIS AUDI-ENCES THUS FAR

His Lectures Are Full of Every Day Horse Sense and Direct to the Point in All Respects

Charlevoix Community Week has been thus far an unqualified success. With a steadily increasing attendance and interest, Dr. R. M. Wenley, head of the department of Philosophy of our state university, has demonstrated that knowledge need not be technical or abstruse; but on the contrary, most usable as applied to our daily affairs. He has the ability to take his audiences fully into his confidence, and thus cooperating, and concentrating his every commonsense, he is able to reduce vexatious problems to their lowest terms in such fashion that every point "gets over."

Perhaps the most novel and interesting feature of the week thus far have been the conferences. Each group killed by a common interest has had opportunity of meeting Dr. Wenley and considering their problems from their point of view. The give and take of the discussion has also been provocative of many reactions.

As a Scot, the lecturer's viewpoint is refreshingly novel, the burr lending piquancy to his speech, while a flash of hearty humor lightens his heavier passages. The last conference of the week is held this afternoon at the High School for the benefit of the school board, faculties and teachers. The final lecture of the series will be held at 7:30 p. m. today at the Palace Theatre, the subject being "Success." All those friends whom he has made will be present, yet this timely subject should commend itself to all who have not heard him. Dr. Wenley has more than fulfilled the committees' expectations, it is for us to commend ourselves to him that we may draw on the educational resources of the University as the occasion warrants.

Watch the columns of this paper for the resume of the lecture in our next issue.

PROCLAMATION

The Governor of this state has requested all municipalities to provide for the adoption of Eastern time. A majority of the cities and villages have either complied with this request or are about to do so. I am informed by agents of the railroad companies that the new train schedules will be made up on the basis of the new time, provided a majority of the towns adopt it. Trying to operate under different kinds of time is difficult and seriously interferes with business.

Therefore, I request that at nine o'clock on the evening of April 15th, 1920, all timepieces in the City of Charlevoix be advanced one hour and remain so advanced until nine o'clock on the evening of October 15, 1920. Dated at Charlevoix, Michigan.

April 12, 1920.
Signed: S. M. ROSE,
Mayor.

"CARTWHEEL" REPLAC- ED BY PAPER DOLLAR

Silver Dollars Passing From Circulation Due to Increase in Value

There is a noticeable diminution in number of silver dollars throughout the country of late, particularly in the Eastern states, their place having been taken by the paper currency. In a somewhat similar proportion the number of paper dollars in circulation has been increased. This is due to the winning of popularity of the silver dollar, local bank officials said today, in explaining the reason for the disappearing "hard" money. The United States Mint is calling in silver dollars substituting other currency for them it was said.

Another reason for the decrease in the silver dollar circulation is ascribed to the increase in the commercial value of silver. The present commercial value of silver is approximately $1.26 an ounce, and this figure brings the intrinsic value of the dollar somewhat above par. Mexican silver dollars, formerly quoted at 50 cents or less are now quoted at above 96 cents making them worth almost par.

The reduction in the amount of silver dollars in circulation is not so noticeable in this section of the country as it is in the East, according to local banks who keep closely in touch with the financial situation. Eastern banks sometime ago discontinued the payment of silver dollars and that custom has been more or less followed by banks in the Middle West. That the silver dollar will disappear from circulation altogether in a few years was the prediction of the one bank official.

The increase in the amount of paper money in circulation and especially of small bills is ascribed to the action of the federal reserve banks which have put large amounts of paper currency in circulation. An examination of the currency in daily use shows that it consists mainly of reserve bank and national bank notes, the silver certificates formerly so numerous having fallen off largely in amount.

325,813 AUTOS STATE'S TOTAL

Motors in Michigan Increased By 63,000 During 1919

Automobiles owned by residents of Michigan increased in number by more than 63,000 during 1919, according to the secretary of state's report on registration just made public.

During 1918, registration totaled 325,813, of which 288,708 were passenger cars. In 1918 the total was 262,125; 1917, 226,693 and 1916, 160,052.

Nearly one-third of the total registrations in the state came from Wayne county, incorporating Detroit, recognized automobile center of the world. In that county were 98,452 registrations, comprising 81,274; passenger cars and 15,178 commercial cars. The nearest second to Wayne county is Kent, which can hardly be considered a second at all registering 15,921, including both passenger and commercial cars.

Curiously the number of motorcycles in the state while showing a small gain over 1918, is less by 1,100 than the total registered in 1916. The report shows, 7,875 in 1919; 7,818 in 1918; 8,727 in 1917, and 8,951 in 1916. Wayne county has 3,029 registered motorcycles almost half the state total.

The number of registered chauffeurs in 1919 shows an increase over 1918 of more than 100 per cent. The total licensed drivers in 1919 was 53,963; 25,007 in 1918; 20,157 in 1917, and 11,282 in 1916. Wayne county had 29,016, which is 5,169 more than the combined total in the rest of the state.

Fees collected by the state department last year totaled $3,719,433.39 as compared with $2,875,266.32 in 1918; $2,471,270.77 in 1917, and $1,739,343.62 in 1916.

According to the state law one-half of the amount of fees collected is returned by the auditor general to the county from which it was collected and these moneys are used exclusively for road improvements.

Wayne county bids fair to get a generous apportionment in this connection, the state having returned $524,680.60 to the Wayne county treasurer. The next largest amount returned was apportioned to Kent county which received $83,377.56.

FARM EXPERT TO ASSIST COUNTY

Men to Be Here April 16th, 17th, 29th and 30th

Ezra Levin, Specialist in Muck Soils, will spend the 16th and 17th of April with the County agent looking up the possibilities of Charlevoix county's muck bed. Muck has been giving wonderful some results applied to uplands after having been composted with manure and we believe many of our muck beds can be turned into regular fertilizer mines. The schedule will be, the Charlevoix community for the 16th; East Jordan community for the 17th ending with a meeting at the Deer Lake Grange Hall, Saturday evening. If you need Mr. Levin's assistance get in touch with the County agent at once and he can tell you where and when you can meet him.

Those interested in sheep will take notice that Mr. Williams, Sheep Specialist, will be in the county April 29th and 30th. Demonstrations in castrating and docking will be given at various places through the county. The exact dates and time to be announced later. Remember the dates and plan to take advantage of Mr. Williams' assistance.

We are pleased to note that some seven or eight carloads of acid phosphate has been brought into the county and sold this spring. It certainly has been giving the results on our soils.

The amount of Grimm alfalfa seed being brought by our farmers this spring shows that they appreciate the value of the hardy varieties.

The high price of potatoes this spring will be an inducement to plant poor seed. But at any price, we cannot recommend anything but the best Petoskey Golden Russet seed for the main crop. This variety of potatoes is making a reputation for itself on the potato market and we believe in an other year it will command a nice premium over common stock.

Observe the Speed Law

The Courier received a tip the other day from the chief of police and we are going to warn automobile drivers that they must run their flippers strictly according to the speed law or they stand a fine chance of being hauled into court. Complaints are already being made of violations and it is but a matter of time before these fellows will be compelled to fork over a few of their hard earned dollars to pay for their fun. Hold 'em in, boys, or you'll have a fine to pay.

COUNTRY AROUSED TO LIBRARY WORK

Books For Everybody Movement
Under Way

State and local library needs are being considered at conferences of library trustees now being held throughout the country by the American Library Association, which is conducting a $2,000,000 "Books for Everybody" movement on a nation-wide basis. The money is being raised through the individual efforts of librarians, library trustees and friends of libraries without resorting to an intensive drive or campaign. Five library trustees have been named to attend the conferences by the Governors of each state. Hundreds of other trustees are attending the meetings.

A successful conference of the trustees from the southwestern states was held at Charleston, S. C., March 15 and 16. The North Central conference takes place at St. Paul, March 19 and 20. The South Central gathering is scheduled for March 25 at Kansas City and that for the southwest in Dallas on the same date. The Pacific Coast meeting took place at San Francisco from March 31 to April 3, and at Los Angeles from April 4 to 7.

The New England, Middle Atlantic, Middle Southern and the Central states will hold conferences in the immediate future. The response to the conference invitations has greatly exceeded the expectations of the association officers. This is taken as a deep and widespread interest in the movement which has for its chief aims self-education and Americanization through the nation's library facilities.

PEACE BILL PASSES HOUSE

RESOLUTION WHERE IT IS LIKELY TO PASS

President Wilson Expected to Veto Proposed Measure if Senate Passes It.

The Porter resolution declaring the state of war with Germany to be at an end was passed by the house late Friday last. The vote was 243 to 150. The measure now goes to the senate.

The resolution was adopted by almost a straight party vote. Only two republicans opposed it, while twenty-two Democrats voted for it. A motion to recommit the Porter resolution was defeated by a vote of 221 to 171. The motion carried with it a substitute provision rescinding all war legislation.

Even should the senate concur with the house in declaring a separate peace by resolution, which seems probable, it is possible President Wilson may nullify the act by vetoing the measure. The president is known to have adhered to this stand on peace and it is thought he will not be satisfied with anything less than the original treaty, including the league of nations.

The six-hour debate was opened with Representative Clark of Missouri, Democratic leader and former speaker, opposing the measure and Representative Madden, Republican, Illinois, speaking in its support.

The first Republican to oppose the peace resolution was Kelly of Michigan, who declared that if anyone had advocated a "separate peace" with Germany during the war, he would have been chased out of town.

Adoption of the peace resolution would be "desecration" of all allies, he said. Kelly's opposition was a surprise to the house.

U. S. DEMANDS TRAINS BE RUN

TO WORK OR LOSE JOBS WITH ROADS

Must Withdraw Wage Demands or Forget They Ever Held Job on Railroad

The government issued an ultimatum to the insurgent Chicago strikers. At a meeting of government men and officials of the strikers the following orders were given:

"The trains must run; men must get together and go back to work and withdraw their demands for the time being and adopt other measures or they must quit their jobs and go to work elsewhere. The railroads must be allowed to employ other men to take their places."

"Get back to your jobs, withdraw your wage demands for the present and push them at the proper time by proper methods, or forget that you ever held a job with the railroad."

This, in effect, is the ultimatum which the federal government has presented to the "insurgent" yardmen. United States District Attorney Clyne, after a conference with Edward Corrigan, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, and A. L. Whitney, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, refused to make any statement regarding the plans of the government. It is known, however, that he has received additional instructions from Attorney General Palmer regarding the handling of the strike.

The government's position is said to be summed up in the sentence, "The trains must run." It is said that the government will take the men at their word and concede that they are not striking; but have resigned as individuals. They will be given opportunity to return to work. Failing to do this they will be considered by the government and the roads to have forfeited their rights to the jobs and the roads will proceed to fill their places with other men.

Meetings of the "insurgents" will be prohibited if they fail to return to work, it is said. Court action restraining the men from interfering with the operation of the roads may be taken. At the same time it became known that operatives of the department of justice had been gathering evidence against the yardmen on charges of violating the Sherman antitrust act, the specific charge being interference with interstate shipments of freight.

A Losing Proposition

The materials that go into the telephone instruments and switchboards, including steel, platinum, tin and other metals, have increased more than 100 per cent; copper wire 55 per cent; outside wire 45 to 55 per cent, and so on.

Telephone poles that cost $5.43 in 1915 are now $13.05 each, while lead cable has risen from $1.10 to $1.55 a foot, brick from $7.00 to $22.00 per 1,000, cement from 45c to $1.00 per sack, crossarms from 54c to $1.37 each, clay conduit from 2.9 cents to 7.5 cents per foot and bracing from $4.00 to $12.00 per day.

Staples used and dealt in every day have risen enormously, of course. Corn in 1915 was 76c a bushel and now is $1.40; wheat is $1.75 a bushel and is now selling for $2.52, while beef sold five years ago at $11.32 per 100 lbs. compared with $17.77 today. The retailer of these products has advanced his selling prices in direct proportion.

The telephone company, on the other hand, has been unable to follow this plan. Costs have risen rapidly but rates are "standardized" by law and we are not kept pace, so we have come to a point where we cannot meet the bill. Our income is not sufficient.

Merit That Makes Mileage
—In Tires for the Smaller Cars

Such extraordinary competence and carefulness as are characteristic of all Goodyear manufacture likewise characterize Goodyear's building of tires for the smaller cars.

Only very unusual experience and endeavor make possible the high relative value built into the 30x3-3, 30x3-1/2, and 31x4-inch Goodyear Tires in our Plant No. 2, the world's largest factory devoted to these sizes.

In addition to the larger sizes Goodyear builds, a daily production averaging 20,000 tires of these smaller sizes alone makes them easily available, regardless of the big demand, to owners of Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, and other cars taking these sizes.

If you are one of these owners, go to the nearest Goodyear Service Station Dealer for these tires, and for Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes. He carries a stock.

30x3 1/2 Goodyear Double-Cure

30x3 1/2 Goodyear Single-Cure

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are thick, strong tubes that reinforce casings properly. Why risk a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of less merit. 30x3 1/2 size in water-proof bag $4.50

THE PLANTING SEASON

Is a busy season for the farmer. The sixty minutes of his hour are turned to splendid purpose.

This is one of the times when "Banking-by-Mail" is particularly appreciated. It enables the industrious farmer to remain on the job and at the same time care for his banking business, safely, swiftly and surely.

Your letters will get a prompt and complete response.

THE BIG BANK ON THE CORNER

How would YOU like a raise like this?

—and for 34 Years Work

THAT is the kind of increase in salary the minister has received. His living expenses have risen just as fast and as far as yours.

But he is paid on the average just 52 cents more per church member than he was paid 34 years ago.

The Minister Never Fails You

Every officer of the Government with a war message to deliver appealed to the ministers first of all.

But 80% of the ministers receive less income than government economists figure as a minimum for the support of an average family.

When hospitals need money they enlist the support of the ministers—and receive it.

But when sickness visits the minister or the members of his family they must be treated in a charity ward. His pay is less than a day laborer's.

8 out of every 10 ministers receive less than $20 a week—about half the pay of a mechanic.

We Pay Him Half the Wages of a Mechanic

And of these pitifully inadequate salaries, how much do you contribute? Nothing if you are outside the church; an average of less than 3c a day if you are a church member.

All of us share in the benefits of Christian ministers to the community. They marry us; bury us; baptize our children; visit us when we are sick. In their hands is the spiritual training of the youth.

We Are All Profiteers at Their Expense

Part of the Interchurch World program is this—a living wage for every minister of Jesus Christ; an efficient plant, and a chance to do a big man's job.

If you want better preachers, help to pay the preachers better. It's the best investment for your community—and for your children—that you can ever make.

LOT SALE

I have about thirty vacant lots, located in Upright and Hurlbut Addition, Clark's Addition and Clifford's 2nd Addition, in the City of Charlevoix which will be offered at private sale during the month of April. Those lots are all finely situated for building sites, and the soil is of the best, for gardening purposes.

Last Chance to Buy

This will be the last and best chance to buy lots, either single or in groups, that will be offered to the people of this vicinity, for some time to come, and it is an opportunity not to be neglected.

Own Your Own Home

You would be independent on Moving day. The shortage of houses for rent at this time shows plainly that more homes must be built for Laboring Men to live in. You should own one of these new homes. Start now while the starting is good.

Buy a Lot and Plant It to a Garden and plan to build in the near future. The prices are reasonable and terms easy. You can pay for it and never miss the small payments required. Don't miss this chance to become independent of the Landlord. By owning Your Own Home. Get busy while the selection is good. You will never regret it.

low employees, or having paid for them have discounted them and converted them into clothes. Many a Liberty bond walked the streets last winter disguised as a fur coat. Employers hoped to encourage thrift and establish a habit of saving among those who spent their earnings thoughtlessly. Sometimes a pride in acquisition can be developed through the growth of a bank account; a Liberty bond might serve as a nucleus for further savings. It often proved such, but it requires some experience in life to learn that the average "want" is largely an obsession and that if its gratification can be put off for a time the desire is forgotten in another want, equally imperative.

Many other investors have been quite as foolish in another way; they have exchanged their perfectly safe government bonds for much advertised stocks of uncertain value, the lure being greater interest notes and the chance of "striking it rich" in oil. Hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of Liberty bonds were converted during the oil craze. Hundreds of thousands of other dollars went for "prospects" which have never materialized, probably never will. Worthless foreign stocks are reported to have greatly reduced Canadian savings deposits during the last winter, though why such investments should be sought during the present continental chaos is difficult to understand. Money has even been invested in the depreciated currency of Europe, Germany in particular, in anticipation of re-establishment or par value. The gambling instinct in man, his disposition to take chances, is cleverly worked by promoters of risky schemes; inherent cupidity, the wish to get something for nothing is relied upon by those urging the conversion of Liberty bonds into promises of greater returns.

It is encouraging to hear that farmers are not only holding on to their government securities but are still to certain extent investing in them. Particularly is this true in the Kansas wheat belt. In another way the sign is not so favorable; under ordinary circumstances their surplus would be expended in enlarging their business. They are avoiding "wild cat" stocks and casting a safe anchor to windward, a prudent measure, perhaps, in view of the uncertainty regarding the next wheat crop.

The ends of patriotism or prudence are not served by trading in Liberty bonds. There was a substantial premium on government bonds after the Civil war, the same thing may as legitimately occur before the maturity of these. They will be redeemed in maturity at full value; why sacrifice on them?

BRAZEN HOGGISHNESS

The soft coal miners have accepted the wage increase proposal of the president's arbitration committee, and have made a two-year contract on that basis.

That's good. But the operators announce that they will increase the price of soft coal at the mine sixty-five cents to $1.50 a ton, an average of $1.07.

On the basis of the 1918 production of 550,000,000 tons, that means an increase of $500,000,000 in the cost of coal at the mine. What it would mean when it gets to the consumer nobody can guess.

It is estimated that the increased wage adds $200,000,000 to the labor cost.

To recoup themselves for an increased labor cost of $200,000,000, the coal producers propose to increase their receipts three times that!

The increased labor cost on the basis of 1918 production is thirty-four cents a ton.

The men who pay this increase propose to turn around and soak the public sixty-five cents to a dollar and a half a ton.

Government control of coal prices has been abandoned.

Was it abandoned too soon? It looks so.

THE BORROUGHS TREE

John Burroughs has done many things for which his countrymen love him, but he never set a finer example than when, on his eighty-third birthday, he planted a tree.

"If I knew I were to die tomorrow," said a philanthropist of some generations back, "I should plant a tree today." Burroughs has bettered that instruction; he has planted trees without waiting to hear his death sentence. He has linked himself with the future by a living and beneficent bond, which all can forge if they will. We can not all become famous naturalists, but we can—and we should—plant trees.

The administration's latest method of solving the high cost of living is to hang up signs advising people to "buy cheaper cuts." Why not carry the psychology further by printing some pretty mottoes saying: "You've just eaten."

AND WHO PAYS THE BILL?

The Ford-Newberry account is scheduled in cost $250,000 so press reports say. Well, that's nothing in these days of high cost of spending.

With 200,000 employees on the pay-rolls of the war department at Washington and a multitude of others running about the country drawing big expenses and pay what's a small item of $250,000, especially when its spent to gratify a whim of the autocrat in the whitehouse who said Henry Ford should be his rubber stamp from Michigan? Let the dance go on and in the meantime the flivvers are flying where the Eagle boats were once to fly and the name and fame of Henry is spreading. It's cheap advertising for Ford.

Thursday, April 8, 1920.

To the Honorable, the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Charlevoix:

Gentlemen:

I desire to present for your consideration a matter of grave concern affecting the question of the adoption or rejection of proposed amendments to the city charter.

You are aware that I have informally advised the council or at least expressed the opinion to members, that the proposed amendment to Section 11 of Chapter XI of the city charter relative to the increase of the limit of taxation for advertising purposes required for adoption a three-fifths majority vote of the electors. I based my opinion upon the provisions of subdivision "d" of section 5 of Act No. 279 of the Public Acts of 1909 (Section 3308 of C. L. of 1915) as amended by Act No. 240 of the P. A. of 1919, being the so-called "Home Rule Act." That subdivision reads as follows:

Sec. 5. "No city shall have power

(c) to adopt a charter or any amendment thereto, unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon; to sell any property of a value in excess of two dollars per capita according to the last preceding United States census, or any park, cemetery, or any real estate used in carrying on a public utility, or any part thereof, or any property bordering in a water front, or vacate any street or public place leading to a water front, or ENGAGE IN ANY BUSINESS ENTERPRISE REQUIRING AN INVESTMENT OF MONEY IN EXCESS OF TEN CENTS PER CAPITA, or authorize any issue of bonds, refunding bonds, and emergency bonds as defined by this act and bonds that it is annually authorized to issue, UNLESS APPROVED BY THREE-FIFTHS OF THE ELECTORS VOTING THEREON AT ANY GENERAL OR SPECIAL ELECTION."

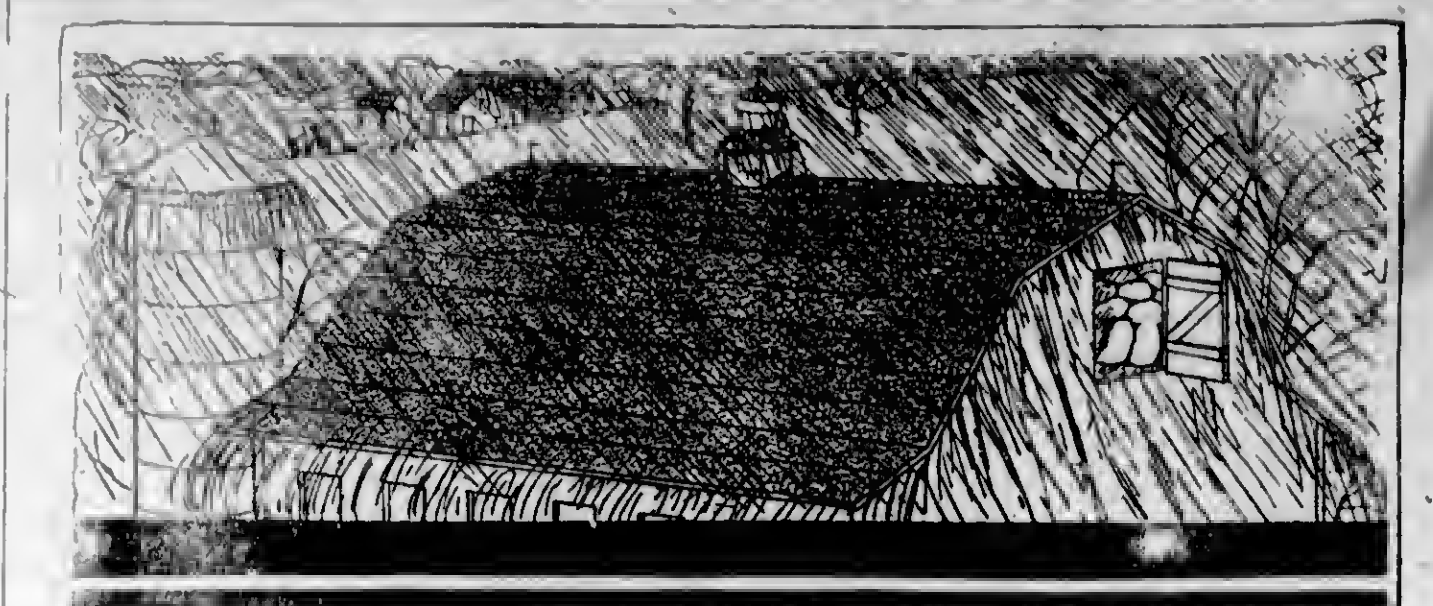

It has been my opinion that the clause, "or engage in any business enterprise requiring an investment of money in excess of ten cents per capita" applied to the subject matter of the amendment in question. A closer examination of the subject leads me to believe that I have been in error in this construction.

It is unquestioned that a city may adopt an entirely new charter by the approval of a majority of the electors, a three-fifths majority not being required. It would be hard to conceive of a draft of an entirely new charter that would not contain some provision relating to and providing for the conduct of such business enterprises as a city is permitted to engage in under the general law and the constitution of the state. In such a case a three-fifths vote would be necessary in every instance. I do not believe that the legislature intended such construction of the Home Rule Act, nor that it intended the clause in question to apply to the adoption or rejection of charter amendments. That such clause was intended to restrict the expenditure of money for purposes not expressly specified by its charter and controlled by law.

Further, I am not now convinced that the city in operating under the authority conferred by the amendment would be engaged in a "business enterprise" in the sense of the language of the clause quoted. The term "engaging in business" contemplates a dealing in something, the buying and selling of something either for profit or for a return of some kind. By creating an advertising fund, and expending such funds, the city is not engaging in business for itself and does not receive returns to itself in its corporate capacity. Rather, it is endeavoring to advance the interests and prosperity of its inhabitants, which purpose is expressly allowed by law under the Home Rule Act. I quote from another provision of that act which has been adopted and became a part of the charter of the City of Charlevoix by amendment approved by the electors.

Section 4. Each city may in its charter provide " (1) FOR THE EXERCISE OF ALL MUNICIPAL POWERS in the management and control of city property and in the administration of the city government, whether such powers are expressly enumerated or not; FOR ANY ACT TO ADVANCE THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY, THE GOOD GOVERNMENT AND PROSPERITY OF THE MUNICIPALITY AND ITS INHABITANTS and through its regularly constituted authority to pass all laws and ordinances relating to its municipal concerns subject to the general laws and constitution of the state."

The subject is a complex one and is not free from doubt. I feel it my duty to advise you one way or the other, and not be in a position of doubt or uncertainty. In every case the expressed will of the majority should prevail, unless the law is clearly to the contrary by the positive requirement of a larger percentage of votes. That being the case, I state it as my opinion based upon a careful examination of the subject, that if the proposed amendment has been approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at the next election, it is the duty of the Council, sitting as the canvassing board, to declare the amendment adopted.

If I am wrong in my conclusions, any taxpayer who conceives himself aggrieved has an inexpensive remedy by petition for mandamus, or injunction.

Respectfully submitted,

A. J. Fitch, City Attorney.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

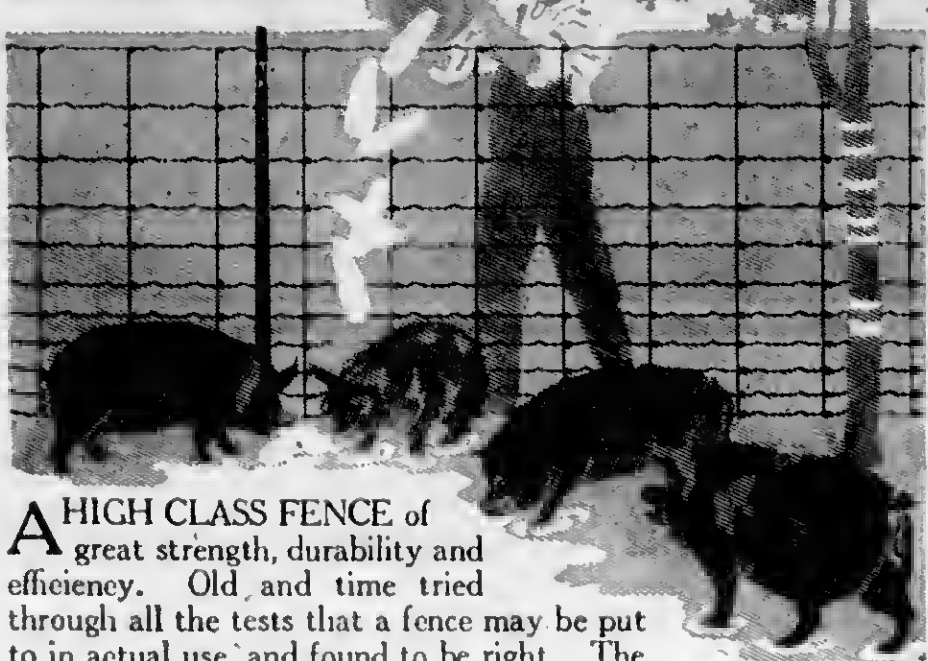

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do. Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisonous, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before pulling more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a full, aching head, sallow complexion, red stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of Limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue ill each morning are assured of prompt results, both in regard to health and appearance.

Judge Mayne has granted a new trial in the case of the Andrews estate vs. the West Michigan Garage of Traverse City. At the last term of the Grand Traverse circuit court a jury awarded a verdict with damages against the auto company in favor of the estate. It will be recalled that Andrews was killed at Kewadin while riding in a car driven by an employee of the auto company. The case was brought by Andrew J. Dole, superintendent of the poor for this county. The Record-Eagle says: "The court held that the owners of the car were responsible for the accident, rather than the driver, and rendered a judgment for the plaintiff accordingly. More interesting than this is the announcement today that Judge Mayne has set aside the verdict found in his own court this case, and has ordered a new trial. This would indicate that the court is not entirely satisfied with the decision, and that the magistrate wants to go into the case more thoroughly. The new trial will be watched with even more interest than the original one."—Elk Rapids Progress.

Former Supervisor Frank Baneroff, of Cheboygan, was painfully injured in a runaway accident near his farm last Wednesday. His head was cut and one leg was broken. He was unconscious when found lying beside the road. His farm team had been frightened in some way and ran away.

The Record-Eagle tells of a farmer who a few years ago sold his potatoes to a Traverse City dealer for six cents a bushel. Last week he brought in a load and sold to the same dealer for $3.06 a bushel, or just fifty-one times as much. Surely times have changed within a couple of decades.

Computations based on the collections of fees for automobile licenses in Michigan during the first quarter of 1920 indicate that the total will run to about $5,500,000 for the full twelve months' period. Deputy Secretary of State Frank B. Fitzgerald has completed his report of the receipts in the department of state for January, February and March of this year. This shows a total of $2,973,863.11.

Puncture-Proof with Every Cord-Quality

LEE Cord Puncture-Proofs are the only Lee cord tires that can win an argument with steel.

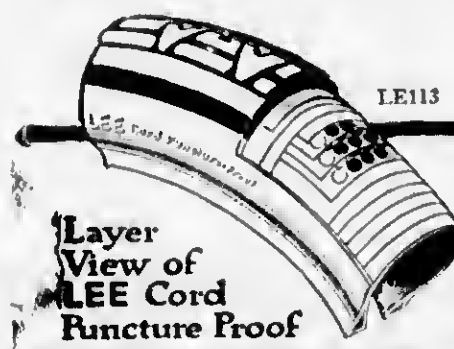

Let the thinnest, toughest, sharpest nail or stoutest spike try to pierce the triple thickness of steel discs. They cannot pass. Your tube is safe. The cord construction is uninjured. Not a cord cut or weakened, for the steel discs are placed between the cords and the tread.

For eighteen months Lee Cord Punc-

Michigan farm lands will double in value within a year, Vener H. Church, field agent of the Michigan crop reporting bureau, declared last week. The drain on farm labor, caused by high factory wages, is a temporary condition, Church said. As soon as this condition shifts the effect on the value of farm lands will be marked, he said. Persons outside the state are learning of the large number of abandoned farms and are taking advantage of this condition, he says. Much Michigan land as good as that in Ohio and Illinois can be purchased at least ten per cent cheaper, he said.

Charged with selling liquor, W. D. C. Germaine was arrested today, after the prosecuting attorney, sheriff and state operatives had spent some time investigating the case. Arraigned this afternoon in justice court, Germaine demanded an examination, which was set for Wednesday, April 14. Bail in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance was demanded by the court, and was furnished. Officials have been interested in this case for some time and claim to have made a thorough investigation before the arrest was made today. The explicit charge was that Germaine sold liquor in violation of the prohibition laws.—Traverse City Record-Eagle, April 8.

Charles Chase, who is with the New York sales division of the Buick Motor company, was in Flint, Bay City and Saginaw early this week, having been sent east to take a train load of Buicks through to New York. It Can't Be Done

You don't have to be told that you can't put out a real fire with a tin cup of water. You know it can't be done, and it seems ridiculous to mention it.

We agree with you, yet it is no more ridiculous than to attempt to operate your telephone company on rates that will not pay operating expenses.

WE MUST HAVE YOUR SUPPORT IF YOU ARE TO HAVE THE TELEPHONE

Also, the amount of money required to operate the telephone even a year ago is not enough to pay for present day operation.

Wages have been increased, the cost of everything that goes into telephone construction has been increased. To meet these increases the telephone company must have rates which correspond with all the other increases.

The telephone is operated for your service. We want to make it serve you in the best possible manner. This can't be done without fair rates.

hybrid stock condemned just as vigorously as we condemn it, although not in the same scientific language. On the other hand if it proves anything, we have occasionally heard these errors condemned out on the farm, in language neither religious nor scientific—Detroit News.

First to lose, then tie, later win, and finally lose, was the dizzy lot of State Senator Herbert F. Baker, who was a candidate for supervisor in Munro township, Cheboygan county, at the April 5th election.

The Cheboygan Tribune gives the following account of the stormy battle of ballots:

"The keenest contest occurred in Munro where State Senator Herbert F. Baker, last year defeated by R. L. Francis was again up against the same opponent in seeking election as supervisor. When the ballots were counted it was learned that the count stood 91 to 92 in favor of Francis; inspection showed that there was one more vote cast than there were names on the list of voters it was decided that a vote should be withdrawn; the one withdrawn caused a tie between Baker and Francis and they then cast lots for the office, Baker winning. Later it was learned that a man entitled to vote who had cast a vote was through an oversight not listed on the roll; consequently the ballot was replaced and Francis declared winner by a vote of 92 to 91.

Mr. Auto Owner

Are you going to take your car out this Spring without giving it a thorough over-hauling?

If these are your intentions you'd better think twice before doing it. You wouldn't drive your car into a stone wall and smash it would you?

To drive a car two seasons without having it overhauled and readjusted amounts to the same thing. One damages the car about as much as the other.

Before taking your car out for the season let us go over it for you and replace the worn-out parts and tighten the loose bolts and bearings that will cause future trouble.

D. W. Griffith presents his latest work

"Broken Blossoms"

Lillian GISH in

D.W. GRIFFITH'S "Broken Blossoms"

Told in pictures because there are no words delicate or exquisite enough to have told it.

It is not too much to say "Broken Blossoms" is the most artistic photo play yet produced. Not a movie melodrama with an unhappy ending, but a sincere human tragedy. That is what Mr. Griffith has had the capacity and courage to produce. All his mastery of picture making. The technique that is preeminently his by invention and control. The skill and subtlety with which he can unfold a story has gone into the making of "Broken Blossoms."

There is a point beyond which motion pictures cease to be merely pictures and become great voiceless art. Such is "Broken Blossoms."

Also a Minogram News Reel. Admission, Adults 35 cents; children 15 cents. War tax included. Matinee at 2:30 p. m. Two evening shows, 7:15 and 9:00.

FRIDAY, APRIL 16—A big, special seven reel picture featuring Alice Joyce in "The Vengeance of Durand," adapted from Rex Beach's powerful story by Mr. and Mrs. George Randolph Chester. "The Vengeance of Durand" is a masterpiece of film production. Alice Joyce in soul-stirring roles. Beautiful backgrounds. Artistic titles. Intense dramatic moments give realism to well-balanced features. Adapted from the story by Rex Beach.

Also a 1-reel Snub Pollard Comedy. Admission for this special feature: Adults 25 cents, children 10 cents. War tax included.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 21—World Picture presents House Peaters in "You Never Know Your Luck," founded on the story by Sir Gilbert Parker.

This is the first picture starring this popular star that we have shown. You'll be out of luck if you miss this one.

A moving drama of a man's fight for honor in the great northwest. Splendid picturization of a great author's story.

PROGRAM OF WENLEY LECTURES

LECTURES WERE OF AN INSTRUCTIVE NATURE

Program Was Well Received By Charlevoix People and Very Large Crowds Attended

In the five days from April 11th to 15th, Charlevoix has been fortunate in having as her guest one of the leading educators of the United States, Professor R. M. Wenley. Of Scotch lineage, education, tradition and sympathies, he brought to our consideration "Reconstruction Problems," with a stimulating point of view. Dr. Wenley is a true founder of Extra-Mural Education, through the agency of the University Extension Course, and for over forty years he has devoted his life to the intensive consideration of the real business of living. Reinforced by such a discipline, his lectures reached and aided an increasing following from day to day.

His chief agency of instruction was the formal lecture, of which there were five in number, delivered, with one exception, at the Palace Theatre. His general message may be conveyed in a few words: "The Interrogation Marks of Reconstruction," are the questions which have been raised from year to year and age to age throughout our race life, but immensely colored and dramatized by the great war.

First of the lectures was a general statement of the problems before us. In recapitulation it may be said that the two forces making most for disorder are those of Nationalism and Paternalism in politics. The former had its inception, in our modern understanding of the term, approximately at the close of the Napoleonic Wars, the chief phenomenon being the rise of the German Confederation and Empire, Italia Irredenta, and Imperial-Creat Britain. The second cause of disorder, Paternalism, was discussed at length at the Business Men's Conference, at which Dr. Wenley stated emphatically that business and politics should be divorced as far as practicable, in his judgment the issues of politics being infinitely inferior to the consideration of business.

Of Unrest, he took occasion to say that the lines formerly drawn between Capital with a large C and Labor with a large L, were not in the main obtaining any longer, it being commonplace in the minds of specialists in those problems that the only practicable attitude is that of co-partnership. In this he is reminiscent of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who suggests in a recent book, Cooperation in Industry, that the old tripartite division, capital, labor and management, have given way to admit a fourth, namely the consumer.

Of Unrest, Dr. Wenley believes the staccato progressiveness of our time to be merely incidental, when one considers the immense amount of progress which has actually been accomplished since the inauguration of the industrial revolution in 1830. Over 90 per cent of the knowledge that is the heritage of modern man has been gained within that time, thus leaving only 10 per cent for the preceding period. One hundred inventions of the first rank have been consummated in that period.

Significant, too, are his prophesied future relations between farm and city, the farm being urbanized and the city, to a certain extent, ruralized. This will be made possible by the facilitated exchange between labor as employed on the farm in the summer and in the factory for the winter. The laborers specific problems may be traced to the fact that the laborer is merely an adjunct of his machine. This is attested, too, by the fact that 86 per cent of all trades can be learned in the space of 24 hours, and the longest trade consumes in learning it the space of 90 days. This is in marked contrast with the old and to the certain stabilized status of labor. When an artisan found it necessary to consume from four to seven years in the mastery of his craft.

The concluding lecture, Success, was perhaps his magnum opus. Success is purely a relative matter, determined by the standards of the society in which one finds himself. The success of the beef baron is not the success of Edison or Carrel. Since ours is a young civilization, as civilization goes, our standards of true success are somewhat ill-considered and materialistic. Thus, in an English University we should be sure to find a large proportion of the undergraduates and graduates intent on cultural pursuits, while in the American University the reverse is true, education being largely a means to a material success.

In the conferences, which were a highly satisfactory feature of his sojourn, a more intimate and detailed consideration of these questions and the forces incidental to them was possible, and all taken together, Charlevoix's first Community Week was an unqualified success.

The McCabe & Boehm Hardware of Petoskey, has purchased the entire stock remaining in the possession of the Blanchard Hardware Company and this company is at the present time transferring this stock to their store in Petoskey.

CHARLEVOIX HDW. HAS NEW HOME

MOVES INTO NEW BUILDING NEXT WEEK

Will Occupy Building Formerly Used By the Blanchard Hardware Company

The Charlevoix Hardware Company has this week made public their latest business transaction, by which this prosperous business concern will be able to continue their steadily increasing business with plenty of floor space and under improved condition.

Due to an ever advance trade the Charlevoix Hardware Company has long since outgrown their present headquarters and they have been crowded for room for the past year and this opportunity to secure large quarters was received gladly.

The Blanchard Hardware building is well known and is recognized throughout this section of the state as being one of the best built and most attractive store buildings in this territory. It was but recently built and had every asset necessary for a successful store. It is large, roomy, well laid out, with excellent display windows. It will make an idea home for its new occupant and the business should develop considerably as a result.

The Charlevoix Hardware Company will occupy the lower section of the building and although it is not a known fact, the rumor point to a new concern in the upper part of the building. The Charlevoix Hardware will take up their new quarters sometime next week. No plan as to the building vacated by them has been made but it will be used as a storage until the expiration of their lease which is several months distant.

ASK BETTER FISH PLANTINGS

STATE DEPUTIES SHOULD BE PUT IN CHARGE OF WORK

These Men Could Be Given Special Instructions by Fish Dept. at No Extra Expense

"A large number of Northern Michigan fishermen are this spring advancing the idea of some better method of planting young fish in the streams and lakes. These men, who for years have looked after the planting of the young fish, believe that the state game and fish department should train a certain number of deputies to superintend the planting of these fish.

"President George McCabe of the Petoskey Chamber of Commerce says that thousands of fish are lost every season through poor work in planting them. "Weather and water conditions are not always favorable for planting when the fish arrive," says Mr. McCabe, "but about all we amateurs can do is to plant them anyway and let them take chances. The state deputies could devote more attention to the work and see that plantings are made in places where conditions are favorable. There would be no extra expense to the state as these deputies are hired by the year."—Petoskey Evening News.

We heartily agree with the sentiment expressed by Mr. McCabe. The same condition exists in Charlevoix as does Petoskey and every community where fish have been planted. Those who plant the fish do the best they can do under the conditions. Charlevoix nimrods have planted fish in many instances under unfavorable conditions, the fish usually arriving too early in the season. At times it has been impossible to reach small feeders of our trout streams on account of snow or high water, and the fry, if planted then, stand no chance of living whatever. The state should furnish experienced men to do the planting, otherwise the results will be most unsatisfactory.

Thirty cans of brook trout fry were planted here last week and more shipments of fry are expected. What the result will be is hard to determine.

IF YOU GET A BILL—SETTLE IT

Don't Get Nasty When Asked to Settle Up

If you meet a man or woman going east, down the alley from the Courier office, with a scowl on their face and acting as if they were looking for trouble—or if they had it—speak kindly to them. They were probably one of the many who owed the Courier a bill of some kind and had received a letter from the collection agency with whom we placed these accounts.

We had about two hundred accounts running from less than a dollar upward. We spent our good money in postage stamps and bills, tried our level best to get them settled, but were finally compelled to take the steps we did.

Now the fun has started. Isn't it peculiar how easily some people's feelings are "hurt" when asked to pay a bill—by a collection agency? To hear some of them talk, they were never more insulted and outraged in their entire life. Their honesty is beyond question. They always pay their bills. Well we are glad they do—or will insofar as we are concerned.

We hope by the end of a month to have all these "distant" accounts settled. Not only for our sake, but for the sake of those who have been forgetful or negligent in the past. Please, remember, we want only what is due us—no more. And if it is possible, we are going to get it, too.

Charlevoix People at Petoskey Sunday last, about thirty-five Charlevoix people motored to Petoskey to attend a lecture on the new proposed School Amendment, given by Rev. O. T. McGinn, at the high school auditorium at that place.

From all reports the lecture was of interest and Rev. McGinn was well informed on the subject. It is understood that Rev. McGinn will deliver this same lecture in Charlevoix in about three weeks.

W. J. PEARSON FOR DELEGATE

IS CANDIDATE FOR PLACE, AT CONVENTION MAY 3

Would Represent Eleventh District at Republican National Convention in Chicago Next June

A Cheboygan dispatch says: The Eleventh congressional district convention will be held Monday, May 3rd, at Cheboygan, at which time two delegates to the Republican national convention will be named.

It is conceded that one delegate will come from that part of the district which lies in upper Michigan, and that the remaining delegate will be named from the nine counties which lie south of the Straits of Mackinaw.

The name of William J. Pearson, of Boyne Falls, has met with general approval on the northern and western side of the district on account of his successful activities with the state fire warden's department. H. K. Custin, of Alpena, is also a candidate.

The candidacy of Mr. Pearson is backed by the western counties, on the grounds that Alpena has the congressman Frank D. Scott, Montmorency county a member of the state central committee in Herman Luuden, and Cheboygan county the state senator in the redoubtable Herbert F. Baker. In naming Pearson delegate it is argued that the western side of the district will be justly recognized.

CABARET SUPPER WAS HUGE SUCCESS

American Legion Furnishes Splendid Entertainment

The Charlevoix Post of the American Legion put across another one of their parties for which they are becoming justly famous last Friday night, and did it in a manner that satisfied everybody and sent them home feeling that they had received more than they paid for.

The supper started at seven and at that time the crowd was there. During the evening it is estimated that two hundred and twenty-five persons were fed. Dancing and entertainment was carried on while the tables were full and the program was enjoyed by all. After everyone had their full tables were removed and the full floor space was given to dancing.

One of the largest crowds seen at a dance in a number of years was present. The floor was on the verge of being full but there always seemed to be room for one more couple and no one went away with a long face.

The American Legion wishes to thank the public for their attendance and particularly those who furnished for the supper and who aided in the serving of the meal. Watch their announcements for the next entertainment. It will be something different and new.

WILL RAISE IN PRICE STEADILY

Outlook Bad For Consumers of Gasoline

Supply Cannot Be Made Equal to Demand—Tremendous Gain in Autos in Past Year

Do not waste any time looking for lower gasoline—it is farther away than the rainbow's end. Higher gasoline you may look for—and, if you have good chest expansion, you may nearly hold your breath till it comes. No oil expert cares to risk his reputation by predicting how much higher it is going, but they are all agreed that it is going higher.

And that squarely in the face of the fact that a good deal more gasoline was produced in the United States last year than the year before and considerably less was exported. The production of 1919 was 10 per cent greater than the production in 1918. Stocks on hand increased during the year from 297,326,983 gallons to 446,733,43 gallons. Exports fell off about 190,000,000 gallons. That is the way things stood at the beginning of this year. And, young as the year is now, there have already been three jumps in the price of gasoline and others impending.

Why? Prophets, politicians and producers will tell you hundred reasons, all of them more or less plausible, but when you get squarely down to boot heels and blithely, the soul of the situation is this: While the supply has increased considerably, the demand has increased tremendously. The United States burned up 309,000,000 more gallons of gasoline in 1919 than it did in 1918—maybe more than that. Three hundred and nine million gallons was the actual increase in consumption but all indications are that there was a slight falling off in the use of gasoline as a solvent for cleaning clothes and dissolving oils and the like in laboratories and such places. Therefore the quantity of gasoline burned in automobile engines probably increased more than is shown by the actual increase in total consumption.

And right there after all is the one word that explains the gasoline prices—automobiles. At the end of 1918, there were about 6,000,000 automobiles in the United States. By the end of 1919, the number had increased to more than 7,000,000. The increase during the year was equal to nearly one-fourth of all the automobiles in the United States at the beginning of the year. It is pretty hard to realize just how many automobiles that is. It is enough to haul, at a single load one-third of all the people in the United States, enough to haul all the people in the United States in three loads. It is so many, that if the machines were distributed at equal distances over all the improved roads in the United States the drivers could talk to one another by raising their voices a little. And by the end of 1920, if predictions hold good, they wouldn't even have to raise their voices. There will be between 9,000,000 and 10,000,000 automobiles in use in the United States by Christmas, the specialists estimate.

The demand for gasoline, therefore, is certain to increase, and, since the supply is not now and cannot by that time be made equal to the demand, the price is just as certain to increase.

PERE MARQUETTE CANCELS 10 TRAINS

Strike Situation Cause Delay in Freight

The Pere Marquette railroad has canceled 10 passenger trains, effective immediately, and local freight trains will run every other day instead of daily. Other services is cut down to the limit. Coal shortage is the reason. The Switchmen's strike in the mining districts and general interference with traffic movement has put a stop to coal deliveries.

The curtailment of the passenger service affects Grand Rapids in the cancellation of the train to Saginaw and Bay City leaving Grand Rapids at 1:25 p. m. and the one arriving from Bay City and Saginaw at 4:30. Other trains taken off are Nos. 101 and 108, between Muskegon and Pentwater; Nos. 115 and 118, Muskegon to White Cloud; Nos. 24 and 25 on the Buchanan branch and Nos. 46 and 47 on the Allegan branch.

HIGH PRICES WILL CAUSE SHORTAGE

HIGH PRICES OR FOOD SHORTAGE WILL RESULT

Food Experts Predict Crisis if Legitimate Prices are Hammered Down

"Every attempt to force down legitimate high prices of foods will ultimately result in reduced supply and higher prices," says C. W. Wald, extension specialist at the Michigan Agricultural College, and President of the Potato Association of America. "Consumers must learn that high food prices are absolutely necessary, so long as present conditions prevail."

Farmers realize that the laboring classes are entitled to reasonably high wages under present conditions, according to the Mr. Wald, but they ask that the wage earner be made to realize that the demand for higher and higher wages will never solve the High Cost of Living. Every boost in wages to large class of laboring men draws many men and boys from the farms; thus lowering the production of foodstuffs.

"Investigation shows that there are 25,000 less men working on the farms of New York state this season than in 1919, while Ohio finds a reduction of 10 per cent in its labor supply. There will be nearly 1,000,000 acres less in crops in Ohio this year than last. Throughout the country the shortage of labor on the farms is much greater than it was at any time during the war. Thousands of farmers in Michigan will plant only such crops as they can care for and harvest with their own hands.

"If carried too far, the present boycott on potatoes may result in a potato shortage another year. The extreme prices being asked for potatoes at present are the result of a shortage greatly enhanced by lack of facilities to market the potatoes held by producers. The growers are not to blame for the present situation; in fact, because of inability to get potatoes to market they are profiting but little by the present high prices. While individuals should be encouraged to use the foods which are most abundant, the potato boycott is in danger of hitting the innocent and missing the guilty."

A UNIQUE RECORD

Home testimony for Doan's Kidney Pills, published in every locality, is of itself convincing evidence of merit. Confirmed testimony forms still stronger evidence. Years ago, a citizen of Charlevoix gratefully acknowledged the benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills. The statement is now confirmed—the proof more convincing. Cases of this kind are plentiful in the work of Doan's Kidney Pills—the record is unique.

Mrs. M. Olney, 310 W. Huribut St., Charlevoix says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills on different occasions for kidney trouble. I suffered from severe backaches and Doan's Kidney Pills greatly benefited me. Others of my family have also used the medicine for lame back and pains in the kidneys with good results."

AGAIN PRAISES DOAN'S

Five years later, Mrs. Olney said: "I have never found a kidney medicine that can equal Doan's Kidney Pills. The occasional use of this medicine keeps my kidneys in good condition. I never go back on what I have said before in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Olney had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

"Scarcity of labor and high price of seed will themselves have a very serious effect upon the acreage of potatoes planted this year, and if the growers have to fear boycotts the situation will become much worse. Consumers must realize that the only way to insure an adequate supply of foodstuffs for next year is to encourage the growers to plant as large acreages as possible. Insuring reasonably high prices (as far as is possible) and avoiding unjust prosecutions and boycotts are the only means of securing the large acreage needed."

AT THE MOVIES

Several notable players appear in "The Valley of the Giants" in support of Wallace Reid, the great Paramount-Artercraft picture which will be displayed at the Palace Theatre, Thursday, April 29th.

For the leading woman, the popular young star will have Grace Darmond, the charming screen favorite who has appeared in many pictures opposite Earl Williams and who is accounted exceedingly beautiful and talented.

Miss Darmond had several years' stock experience before going into the films and played leading roles in "The House of a Thousand Candles," "A Texas Steer," etc. She began her screen career with Selig in support of Tyrone Power, Otis Harlan and Harry Mestayer, and later went to Astor, where she did some important serials. She appeared in the Technicolor picture, "The Gulf Between," and then became identified with Vitaphone. She has that peculiar combination of dark eyes and pronounced blond hair, and is an accomplished swimmer and dancer.

Kay Laurel, the beautiful Folies girl, also has a part in the picture. Miss Laurel was one of the sensational beauties of the Ziegfeld shows, and her poses have attained worldwide fame. She has been painted by Penrhyn Stanlaws and other noted artists.

The entire cast of the "Valley of the Giants" is such as to entitle it to unusual distinction. The picture was filmed largely in the big trees near Eureka, Cal., where the scene is laid. The story originally appeared in the Red Book Magazine and is by the California author, Capt. Peter B. Kyne, whose stories of "Cappy Ricks" have been dramatized and were exceedingly popular in the Saturday Evening Post.

It is said that the subject has proved an ideal one for Mr. Reid. The hero's father, John Cardigan, goes to California and becomes the Mayor of the town of Sequoia, which he founds. His wife dies and is buried in a little amphitheatre in a glade known as the Valley of the Giants.

Comes to Sequoia Seth Pennington, accompanied by his niece. He aims to freeze Cardigan out. Cardigan holds his own for a while, but after some unfortunate investments, the old man sends for his son, who has been traveling after finishing his college career. Young Cardigan jumps into the fight, determined to do two things: to beat Pennington, and to win Pennington's niece. He does them both, but only after he has risked his life in numberless ways, and after he has shown the niece that Pennington is a crook. The Valley of the Giants is saved for the Cardigans, and John Cardigan is content.

Having elected Mr. Wilson President in 1916 because he keeps us out of war it might only be fair for the Democrats to choose Colonel Bryan in 1920 on the ground that he keeps us out of "suds."

It didn't take the coal dealers long to find an excuse for raising prices when the government control was lifted. They are as good at finding excuses as school children who play hooky.

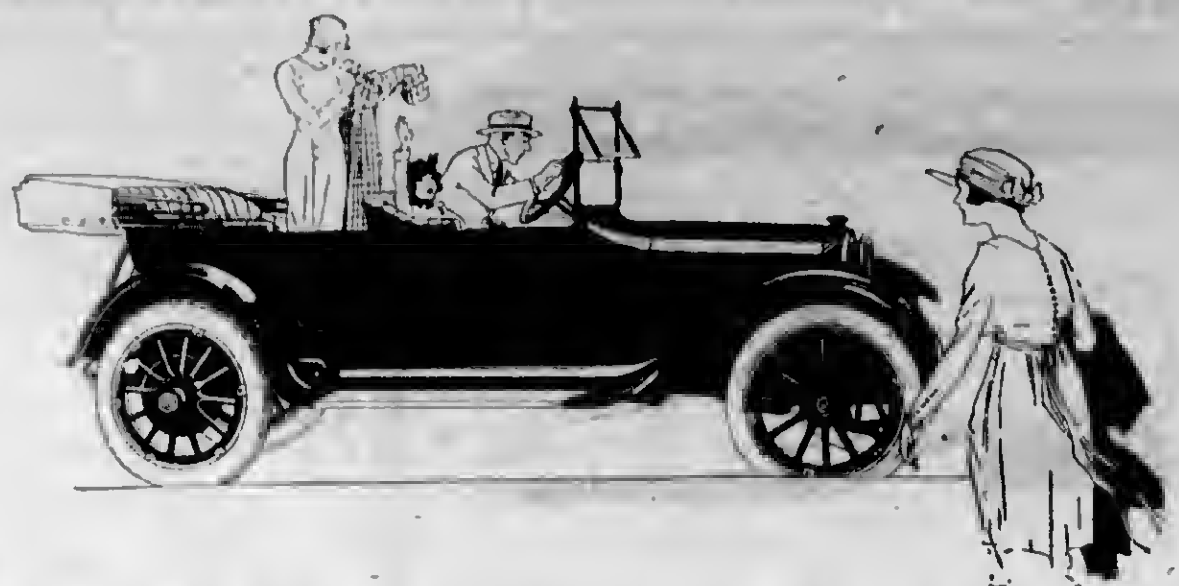

When one recalls that President Wilson sent Herron to Russia it is gratifying to note that Crane, whom he has sent to China, is not that kind of a bird.

Just Where and How Is the Money to be Spent?

A businesslike Answer to a businesslike Question

THIRTY denominations cooperating in the Inter-church World Movement have budgeted their needs. No business could have done it more scientifically.

They have united to prevent the possibility of duplication or waste. At least a million dollars will be saved by the fact that thirty individual campaigns are joined in one united effort.

Each denomination has arranged its budget under six main heads:

1 FOR THE CHURCH'S WORK

AT HOME. A score of times under this head, consider only one. Five and a half million people in the United States cannot even read and write the English language. Who is to carry forward this vast work of Americanization if the church does not?

2 FOR HOSPITALS AND HOMES.

Every year thousands of men and women are turned away from Church hospitals because of lack of room. The children's homes are compelled to turn away more children than they can receive.

3 FOR HIGHER EDUCATION.

Of the 450,000 American students in institutions of higher grade, one-half are in institutions founded and supported by the Churches. Many of these institutions have had no great endowment campaigns, but their needs are just as pressing as the needs of larger schools; and yet have only to read their list of alumni and alumnae to measure the value of their contribution to America.

4 FOR RELIGIOUS TRAINING.

At least 12,000,000 children and young people under 25 years of age are entering American life without any religious training at all. Remembering the faith of Washington and Lincoln, do you think that America will continue to produce Washingtons and Lincolns if both die out of the hearts of its youth?

5 ABROAD.

Influence came first from the Orient thirty years ago; nearly all plaques are Oriental plaques. So long as China has only one physician to every 400,000 people the Orient will continue to be a menace. So long as one-third of the babies in India die before their second year our own babies are not safe. A Christian doctor or teacher sent abroad is working for America as truly as though he worked at home.

6 PREACHERS' SALARIES.

The preacher called the "forgotten man," and well he may be. Eight out of ten preachers are paid less than $20 a week!

Each denomination has its own detailed budget, and will administer its own funds. Your pastor has copies of the budget; examine them for yourself. In the week of April 25th-May 2nd you will be given your opportunity to help. You can do it with the full satisfaction of knowing that every dollar of your gift has its post assigned to it in advance.

Every dollar for better America and a better world. When your church calls on you give—and give with your heart as well as your pocket-book.

THIS IS THRIFT

Recently the economically inclined women of Atlantic City, N. J., determined to do their bit toward ending this awful wave of extravagance,

They made up their collective mind to inaugurate an epidemic of thrift which would tumble the cost of living. Their meeting lasted quite a while. The report of their speeches and resolutions makes old Ben Franklin look like a spendthrift.

Finally they got down to brass tacks. They had talked economy. They would economize. Unanimously they voted in favor of asking the stores not to sell any more silk skirts to their fathers, husbands, brothers and sons. Then they adjourned. Why, not even Atty. Gen. Palmer could have thought up a better scheme to swat old Hi Costa Living! And everybody's happy but father and the boys.

Money spent for shoes for the baby used to be an incidental expense. Now it's a financial outlay.

If you are a dad it is well for you to step gingerly and learn your lesson with care. It is quite embarrassing for your youngest to be continually apologizing for parental delinquencies.

Hoover and Edwards led the poll in the Democratic primary, which proves that the Democrats are still strong for food and drink.

The girl with a pug nose has one glorious consolation. It isn't every one who can turn it up at the whole world and get by with it.

Uncle Sam is good pay. He began the current month owing less than $25,000,000,000. When that is paid he can own an auto.

It is true that the old kaiser has taken to drink it may be his last effort to give an imitation of Alexander the Great.

Conversations among young women are drifting to aches, pains and operations. Health seems to be getting unpopular.

The support of President Wilson for a third term nomination seems to be almost unanimous, — among Republicans.

Maybe so many farmers won't rush to the cities since daylight saving has been adopted by numerous communities.

It's easier to plan a backyard garden in January than to plant it in April.

Instinct of Birds.
The circumstance of the bluebirds being outnumbered by the rob, suggests the fact that the fear of man, which now seems like an instinct in the birds, is evidently an acquired trait, and foreign to them in a state of primitive nature. Every summer has observed to see the rob how wild the pigeons become after a few days of being tame about and to his delight, how easy it is to approach near his cage in new or unfrequented woods. — J. Decision of Character.
Another advantage of this character is that it exempts from a great deal of interference and obstructive annoyance which an irresolute man may be almost sure to encounter. Weakness in every form tempts arrogance, and a man may be allowed to wish for a kind of character with which stupidity and impertinence may not make so free. When a firm decisive spirit is recognized, it is curious to see how the space clears around a man, and leaves him room and freedom.

PRICES OF DAIRY PRODUCTS

Do Not Fully Respond Immediately to Advance in Cost of Feed—Lag Was Felt in 1917.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Higher prices of the crops eaten by live stock should find their way into higher prices for live stock products. Eventually they may, but there is what the bureau of crop estimates of the United States department of agriculture calls a "lag." Product prices do not fully respond at once to advance in feed prices. Such was the situation of farmers with regard to the prices of dairy products and other animal products from 1915 to 1918, and the lag was heavily felt by farmers in 1917.

From 1915 to 1916 crop prices increased 47 per cent, and from 1915 to 1918 about 120 per cent. During the same time the total value of animal products on the farm did not correspondingly gain, although a tendency to overtake the lag appeared in 1918.

In the meantime live stock has increased in number and price, and enormously in total value, although not enough to hold its place in the process, and it is interesting to compare the total value of live stock products with the total value of live stock itself year by year during the war. In each of the three years, 1913-1915, the aggregate value of live stock products was 65 per cent of the aggregate value of live stock. The ratio went up to 68 per cent in 1916, made a great advance to 73 per cent in 1917, and 84 per cent in 1918. Live stock value, compounded of increasing number and increasing price, lagged behind the advancing value of live stock products.

That there should have been a lag in the advance of live stock value, compared with the advance in the value of live stock products, is in accordance with experience, but these products themselves lagged in price behind the price of the crops eaten in their production. Consequently some unprofitable production of animal products may have accompanied the lag of live stock value behind value of products.

MAKING BUTTER AND CHEESE

Increase in Profits Received by Women in Many Sections Due to Improved Quality.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Farm women in many parts of the country have doubled their receipts for butter. In some instances this increase in price is due to the improved quality of the product and in others to better marketing methods. Both the better quality and the better selling have been made possible by the assistance given the butter makers by the home demonstration agents. These experts in home economics, who are sent out by the department of agriculture and state agricultural colleges, teach improved methods of making butter and cheese, as well as other household tasks, to the women who live in dairy communities. As soon as enough women in one locality are making first-class

DUCK RAISING ON INCREASE

Long Island, N. Y., Contains Large Number of Commercial Farms—There Are Three Classes.

According to the census of 1910 there were 2,908,525 ducks in the United States, valued at $1,587,164, showing a decrease in number of nearly 40 per cent as compared with 1900. It should be stated, however, that the annual census of 1900 was taken June 1, and that of 1910 April 15, which fact would considerably reduce the above percentage, although only fowls three months old or over were reported on only 7.9 per cent of the farms in the country and are most numerous in the following states, arranged according to their production: Iowa, Illinois, New York, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Tennessee, Indiana, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Ohio, the number ranging from about 225,000 head in Iowa to 108,000 in Ohio. New York is the only one of these states which shows an increase in the number of ducks, while all the others show a marked decrease. Long Island, N. Y., contains a number of large commercial duck farms which apparently are quite successful. It would appear, therefore, that commercial duck farms are increasing somewhat, while the production of ducks on general farms as a side issue is decreasing, especially in the middle West.

There are 11 standard breeds of ducks which have been admitted to the American standard of perfection. These may be divided into three classes: (1) the meat class, including the Pekin, Aylesbury, Muscovy, Rouen, Cayuga, Buff, and Swedish; (2) the egg class, which includes the Indian Runner; and (3) the ornamental class, composed of the Call, the Crested White, and the Black East India. The common or so-called "puddle" duck is kept on many farms in middle West and South and is generally of small size, a poor layer, and an undesirable type of market duck. Excepting the Muscovy, all of our economic breeds of ducks are said to have originated from the Mallard, or common wild duck.

Large Duck Farm on Long Island.

KEEP COWS CLEAN IN WINTER

Especially Difficult Task When Animals Are Confined to Stable During Cold Weather.

During the winter season when cows are housed much of the time it is especially difficult to keep them clean. The only practical way is to prevent them as far as possible from becoming dirty. The practical way to do this, suggests Percy Werner, Jr., of the University of Missouri college of agriculture, is to use the modern stall.

When the cow is tied in such a stall most of the droppings fall into the gutter, the platform remains reasonably clean so that the animal does not become coated with manure every time she lies down. The manure should be removed at least twice each day and plenty of bedding should be used on the platform.

If visible dirt is present in the region of the udder and flanks at milking time it should be removed by grooming. A covered milking pail, which can be purchased at any dairy supply house, will keep from 60 to 70 per cent of the dirt out, which otherwise falls into the milk from the cow during milking.

DISPOSITION OF DAIRY COWS

Animals Should Be Active, Even Boredering on Nervousness—Other Characteristics.

Dairy cattle should have a more active disposition, even bordering on nervousness. They should have many characteristics in common with beef cattle, such as wide head, large

So says a friend of ours named Velvet Joe. And ho just about hits the nail on the head.

Velvet is made for men who think there's no smoko like real tobacco. If you are that sort of man, listen:

Velvet was born in old Kentucky, where more than one good thing comes from. It was raised as carefully as any other Kentucky thoroughbred. But the real secret of Velvet's friendly qualities is its slow natural ageing in wooden hogsheads. Ageing in the wood never hurt anything—and least of all, tobacco.

And so we say, Velvet is good tobacco—nothing more or less. It runs second to none.

Average Production of Daughters Was 1,145 Pounds More Milk Than Their Dams.

The results of co-operative bull association work are encouraging. Of the 17 daughters of bulls in one association, 16 excelled their dams. The average production of the daughters was 1,145 pounds more milk than their dams, and 26.7 per cent more butterfat.

New Issues of Railroad Securities Given Official Sanction By the State

If the tentative assessment of railway companies, sleeping car companies, express companies, car loaning companies and telegraph and telephone companies just completed by the state board of equalization is not reduced by the state board of equalization is not reduced the primary school fund of the state will receive about $7,015,000 in taxes from these corporations. The total figures for assessment on these properties is reported by the commission as $285,255,350 for 1919 as against $279,013,200 for the previous year, a gain of $6,242,051.

This increase is considerably larger than that of 1918, when there was a difference of about $1,600,000. The figures are subject to review until May 10.

INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

The coast guard station informs the Tribune that a big liner passed up about 9 o'clock Sunday morning but they were unable to get her name. Last night about 5 o'clock the steamer Peter Reiss, bound up, dropped anchor off Lighthouse Point where she remained until this morning when she began to make her way through the ice in the south passage. These boats are the first to make the passage of the Straits this spring.—Cheboygan Tribune.

The embargo placed on all kinds of freight owing to the strike, is causing Manager John Owens of the Cheboygan Market association to do some thinking. Being unable to ship potatoes to the Detroit market where they are bringing a good price, he is thinking of chartering the steamer, E. Lanway, Jr., which can carry about 3,000 bushels, to take a cargo down. However, there is nothing settled about the matter as he is hoping that the strike will be declared off in a day or two and rail shipments resumed.—Cheboygan Tribune.

"Your money or your life," said Ward Eaton, fourteen, of Williamsburg, playfully shoving an old revolver in the face of Osborn Sage, another Williamsburg boy. Sage grabbed the gun and tried to wrench it away from Eaton, it exploded, the bullet striking Don Gibson, also fourteen, penetrating both jaws. The boy will live.

Will Wolf, a farmhand, forty-eight, of Barker Creek, near Traverse City, disregarded the warning to keep away from a vicious bull on the farm of G. D. Hammond. Instead of carrying water to the hull, he attempted to drive the animal to the watering tank. The bull charged him, breaking Wolf's arm and leg and lacerating his head. Wolf was found in an unconscious condition and died while he was being taken to Traverse City for medical attention.

The will of a western Michigan farmer has been set aside on grounds of incompetency because someone heard him muttering to himself. Now may heaven protect our heirs if there was any one within hearing distance when the fire went out after a week of May weather on the very day that the blasts of February began to blow again.

We, emphatically, are not express-

"Take it, or leave it alone" is the same uninspiring situation is going to confront us in politics.

MICHIGAN'S MAPLE SYRUP

If you get a chance to buy a bit of good old Michigan maple syrup, snap it up.

It may be your last chance.
Michigan maple syrup once a common commodity, is fast becoming but a memory.

The maple syrup on the market
today comes from Ohio or Vermont.
A pint will cost you 55 cents, a quart
$1 and a gallon $3.75.

Michigan was once noted for the high quality of her maple sugar. It surpassed even Vermont, which had made a reputation for maple sugar before the Michigan products had become commercially known.

Michigan maple forests produce not only Michiganrock Maple No. 1 which makes the flooring in the world but the best maple syrup in the world.

But gone are the days when father used to take the family out into the "sugar bush" for the annual orgie of sugar making.

With the first run of sap he made a fine, pulverized white sugar, at least 100 pounds for family use.

The next he turned into little white sugar cakes, fine grained, that wouldn't scratch your tongue. He figured on 50 pounds of these.

Of the last run, which sometimes had a slightly "buddy" or bitter taste if made into sugar, he boiled down no less than 10 gallons of thick syrup for candy for the children.

Father thought nothing of furnishing half gallon of maple syrup for a crowd of young people to boil down into wax to pull, like taffy or cool on plates of snow.

When he went into the "sugar bush" he staid as long as the run was on. The children help him lug the sap to the camp.

But it took a barrel of sap to make a handful of sugar. Filling the three or four huge iron kettles over an open fire that burned day and night, was like trying to fill a bottomless well.

No wonder they are asking $3.75 for a gallon of maple syrup, and it's a scarce article on the market.

NEW POEM OF JOHN C. WRIGHT

Well Known Author Writes Under Title "What Is An American."

John C. Wright of Harbor Springs, well known author and lecturer on Indian topics, has just written another bit of verse under the title
"What Is An American?" The poem follows:

What Is An American?
A man with just a bit of common sense,
Who doesn't act as though he knew it all;
Who doesn't sit and whittle on the fence
While waiting for the voice of fame to call.

A man who keeps himself in full control,
Who counts upon his actions more than words;
A man who has a conscience and a soul,

Who doesn't think fine feathers make fine birds.
Who values principles above mere gain,

With more regard for honor than for self;
Who'll stand a lot of grief and not complain,
Who isn't always bragging up himself.

Who, while he isn't looking for a fight,
Will not be bulldozed into doing wrong;

Who stands square-shouldered for the right,
And helps to push all worthy things along.

Who loves to aid the needy and the weak,
Who keeps the faith in all things great and small;

Who has a voice, is not afraid to speak,
And favors graft and slackers not at all.

Who's dignified, can take a thrust,
Whom flattery will never move;
Who does not veer at every gust, Who's satisfied to let his works his purpose prove.

Well-balanced, calm and not in haste,
A pleasant, earnest sort of man; Dead set against all idleness and waste—

This is what I take to be the true American

FARMER SHOULD SET A PRICE

ON HIS PRODUCTS SAME AS DOES THE MERCHANTS

Writer Claims All Farmers Should Belong to and Support All Farm Organizations

The following article, written by a farmer near Charlotte, shows he is a real student of conditions. He owns and operates a big farm near Charlotte and for fourteen months has been away from home but one afternoon. He says farmers should put a price on their products the same as a merchant does when he puts his wares on the shelf. Farming is the only business where the other fellow makes the price. The article covers the idiosyncrasies of the soil and we reproduce it for the benefit of Courier readers:

On of the greatest needs of the farmer at the present time is co-operation in distribution and marketing. The accomplishment of his purpose will be made possible, only through the introduction of methods resulting in careful, general farming and crop cost accounting. The last quarter century has witnessed an attempt to apply a universal and powerful stimulus to production only. The next quarter century must be to the farmer a business era, in which he himself must be the active participant in an individual farm and crop accounting campaign as well as an active participant for methods looking to co-operating in marketing.

The financial status of the farmer has been misunderstood. Growing press accounts of large gross receipts from special crop or enterprise, without a complete financial statement of the running expense of the farm as a whole, has misled the public in a position to defend himself on account of the lack of data on the cost of production.

While the price of farm products has risen to a high level they have not kept pace with the increased cost of production. It takes more bushels of grain, tons of hay, pounds of wool, cattle, hogs or sheep to buy any of the standard tools or necessary equipment to run a farm than it did five, ten or fifteen years ago; and the same will apply to labor.

Let us take the average price of the eight leading products of the farm of the northern states during 1919 as given by Illinois Agricultural Association, U. S. Agricultural Investigation and the Trade and Commerce Journal of Chicago. The following figures as an average in the United States, a farmer produces this food stuff, clothing and footwear material. He takes to market:

Wheat, worth to the consumer, $1.00; farmer receives $1.44; distributor, $56. Butter and eggs, worth to consumer, $1.00; farmer receives $63; distributor $37.

Fruit and vegetables worth to the consumer, $1.00; farmer receives $45; distributor $55.

Cereals, worth to the consumer, $1.00; farmer receives $60; distributor $40.

Wheat, worth to the consumer $1.00; farmer receives $49; distributor $51.

Wool, worth to the consumer, $1.00; farmer receives $11; distributor $89.

Hides, worth to the consumer, $1.00; farmer receives $10; distributor $90.

Sugar beets worth to the consumer $1.00; farmer receives $33; distributor $67.

The totals represent these figures: Articles worth to the consumer $800; farmer receives $315; distributor $485.

Hence the farmer gets $315 out of the $800 that the consumer pays. "Oh, but hold on," says the Big Five Packing Houses, which control most all the farm products of the United States, "the farmer is making money; just look at the great wealth in the farm industry." Farming is the largest single industry in our country. Take a peek into our country banks and note who holds a large percent of the assets of those banks, the farmer. Again it is whispered into the ear of the city dweller that the farmer has no overhead expenses like otherlines of industry.

Then the Big Five goes on to show Mr. Ultimate Consumer through the big city papers and magazines, that they are running their business on a small fraction of one per cent profit. This they claim is largely due to their tremendous overhead expense.

We do not doubt their statement, but we cannot help but wonder how they have accumulated hundreds of millions in less than a quarter of a century and paid salaries to some of their managers several times larger than the salary of our president; and at the same time are able to spend the major part of the summer months in the finest resorts in the (Continued on page three)

STATE GARAGE LAW STRINGENT

NEW GARAGE STATUE FIXES RESPONSIBILITY

Owner of Garage Must Make Good Loss or Damage to Car in His Care

The new Garage law of Michigan is quite binding on garage owners. No contract can nullify its provisions. Section one makes proof of damage to car while in the custody of a garage prima facie evidence that such damage resulted from negligence on the part of the garage owner.

The loss of any part of the equipment, including spare tire, while such vehicle is in custody of a garage must be made good by the garage owner according to section 2. Section 3 requires the owner of an automobile to look over his machine and its equipment before he leaves the garage in whose care it is placed, and make claim for loss or damage at once, if he has such a claim before his car is taken away.

Section 4 provides that the owner of a garage may have blanks on which may be recorded a description of the automobile and its equipment, which he may require the owner to sign before leaving his car. Refusal of the owner to sign such a receipt will be a bar to recovery of any claim for loss or damage.

Notice To those wishing to settle accounts with the Charlevoix Wood & Coal Company. The office will be open from 8:30 a. m. until 7:00 p. m. until May 10th. L. S. See 171

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS

While The Courier dislikes the idea of a public dun through its columns, and would not do so in ordinary times, but it is compelled now, owing to the high cost and scarcity of print paper, to ask all who are back a year on their subscription to pay up. Never in the history of the making of a newspaper has print been so scarce. The price is now $14 a hundred—seven times more than it was a few years ago, when a publisher could buy all he wanted at $2 per hundred. Unless the situation is relieved there will be many of the papers have to go out of business.

Again we ask you, if you are indebted to this paper and want it to come regularly to your home, see to it that you come in or send in your remittance at once. The Courier as many other papers have done in the past, has carried its subscribers from one to two and three years. We wish to ask those subscribers how they would like us to owe them for a hushel of potatoes for something else that we had purchased of them and which they had sold us in good faith, with the expectation that within a reasonable length of time we would pay, and then forget it and not pay until the account had run a year or so, and then when they were asked for it would deny the account, when at the same time they had had the benefit of the article. A great many people seem to think that a newspaper can be run on promises and that there is no such thing as settlement day. If you are one of these we want to know it, and want to get you off the list, as it is not fair to those who do pay their bills to have to carry you, and that is just what they are doing.

The Courier wishes to serve the public in a fair and impartial manner, but to do so must have your help, and the best help you can give at this time is to pay what you owe.

"ARMY IS LEMON" SAYS CAPT. LEMON

MAN FINDS DIFFICULTIES GETTING OUT OF SERVICE

Appeals to Congressman Scott to Aid Him Get Justice From War Department

Completely out of luck is Capt. A. E. Lemon, a Sault Ste. Marie physician who did his stunt for his country, first on the Mexican border and later in France during the great war. Lemon is beginning to think there really is something in a name. He has had some five or more separate and individual claims filed with the war department since his discharge, every one of which have been disallowed. Now he has taken an appeal to the comptroller of the treasury through Congressman Frank D. Scott.

When Captain Lemon first went to Fort Douglas, Ariz., he found he was handicapped greatly by lack of equipment in caring for the health of soldiers. The army did not furnish him with an X-ray machine so he sent for his own and used it for army purposes, taking it to France and using it on hundreds of Michigan soldiers. Now that the war is over the machine cannot be located and the war department refused to reimburse him for it.

Lemon also had his automobile sent to Fort Douglas in order that he might more efficiently get about the camp in performance of duty. He says he was authorized to do this. Yet he had to pay a $240 freight bill on the machine and the government will not pay him back.

Although ranking only as a captain, Lemon performed all the duties of regimental surgeon during the war. But the war department refuses to give him the pay and allowances of higher rank, claiming that another officer outranked him and should have performed the duties. Lemon claims to have developed an almost "sure cure" for seasickness which was a great help to the Michigan boys, but the powers that be will not accord him any recognition for it. Yet he says this "reflex" treatment immediately cured 75 per cent of the boys, eventually cured 20 per cent more and failed on but 5 per cent of those on whom he tried it.

While in France going through the terrible hardships of the Argonne and other campaigns, Lemon invented a device for preventing wounded and crazed soldiers, from struggling off the litters on which they were being carried to the rear. But he says the government, although adopting his device, refuses to give him any credit for it. This is Lemon's complete list of grievances against the army.

FARM BUREAU FORMS WOOL POOL

HEADQUARTERS WILL BE LOCATED AT LANSING

Marketing Association's Throughout the State Will Handle Wool From Their Communities

Removal of the headquarters of the Michigan State Farm Bureau from Birmingham, where it has been for the last year, to Lansing, will take place April 30th. This action was prompted by the purchase of a large office building and warehouse at 221 No. Cedar Street, Lansing, recently. In addition to housing the general offices of the Farm Bureau, this Lansing building will also include the seed and wool department of the organization. The spacious storage facilities of the warehouse are expected to be taxed this spring and summer following shipments of wool from the various counties for pooling at Lansing, which will begin within the next two weeks. Local assembling points are being established all over the state for the convenience of the forty-three odd thousand members of the organization. This wool will be handled on a co-operative cost basis. Other arrangements for the removal to Lansing than the desirability of having all the Farm Bureau departments under one roof are the excellent railroad facilities of that city, the geographical location and the proximity to the Michigan Agricultural College.

Preliminary plans for activities pertinent to Home Economics and Boy's and Girl's Club work in the state which will be carried on by the Farm Bureau under direction of Mrs. J. C. Ketcham, member of the executive committee of the organization, names of chairman of home Economics departments of the various counties, Farm Bureaus and names of the leaders of the Boys' and Girls' Club work in the various counties are desired so that co-operation may extensively be obtained. The various counties are asked to send these names to Mrs. Ketcham at the secretary's office as soon as possible. Home Economics and club work occupy an important part in the educational program of the Farm Bureau, though up to the present time it has been possible to do little in this connection because of pressure of problems of a more imperative nature.

Membership campaigns of the Michigan State Farm Bureau were this week under way in Hillsdale and Jackson counties, coming to an end in the latter, and with more than 2000 members seemingly certain. The total membership of the state organization now is close to 43,000. In counties where the Farm Bureau membership campaign has been completed or is now under way, Kent, Tuscola, St. Clair, Allegan, Oakland, Barry, Van Buren, Gladwin, Lapeer, Genesee, Montcalm, Monroe, Macomb, Shiawassee, Eaton, Wayne, Ottawa, Washtenaw, Livingston, Berrien, Calhoun, Clinton, St. Joseph, Cass, Lenawee, and Jackson, the County Farm Bureau will appoint the firm, individual or co-operative organization to handle the assembling of wool.

Any co-operative organization, firm, or individual selected by the County Farm Bureau organization may assemble wool upon signing contract and complying with instructions and regulations issued by the Michigan State Farm Bureau.

In counties where the Michigan State Farm Bureau membership campaign has not been completed and is now under way, county agents are requested to arrange for assembling wool in their respective counties by a responsible individual, firm, co-operative (Continued on page 9.)

TROUT SEASON OPENS MAY FIRST

Anglers Asked to Strictly Observe State Game Laws

Trout fishing season will open Saturday, May 1. The rules of the state conservation department have been issued and attention is called to the fact that it is only permissible for a sportsman to catch thirty-five trout in one day and not more than fifty are allowed to be caught at one fishing party, that is, it is unlawful for any person to have more than fifty fish in his possession at one time.

No fish smaller than seven inches in length is allowed to be caught. In case a fisherman gets fish under the regulation size he is required to throw it back into the water. This rule is made and enforced to preserve the fish and guard against any extermination of the water animal.

It is further required that all male persons over the age of 21 years who are not residents of the state must have an angler's license before they are permitted to catch fish at all. The license fee for all fish is $3 including brook trout. A fee of $1 is charged for any other fish than trout.

Nonresidents are permitted to ship or carry one day's catch out of the state providing they have the necessary coupon attached thereto.

The game laws are strict this year and game wardens have been notified to enforce them to the letter. Every endeavor will be made to have the regulations and laws of the state enforced.

WOOD CLAIMS 345 DELEGATES

LACK NUMBER NECESSARY FOR NOMINATION

On First Ballot—Lowden Second in Race With Senator Johnson

General Leonard Wood has the lead in the number of delegates instructed or committed up to this time.

The maximum claim of his managers, which has not been made public as yet as a claim, is 345 on the first ballot.

These are apportioned as follows: New England, 54; New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Pennsylvania, 72; South Atlantic states, 59; other southern states, 46; southwest states, 30; middle west states, 24; and northwest and west, 60—making a total of 345.

"It is impossible to make any fair table that would give an accurate estimate of the delegates each candidate has at this time, said worker here today. "There are so many conflicting claims. The usual number of contested delegates will present themselves, especially from the south."

Next to Gen. Wood, the candidate who has at this time the largest number of delegates is Gov. Lowden.

The fact that the manager of Gen. Wood's campaign do not claim more than 345 on the first ballot would indicate that an early nomination in the convention is not likely.

The Lowden claims include Illinois 58, but 17 are doubtful, probably for Wood, and 1 is for Johnson, having expressed himself. Most of Oklahoma and Missouri are probably justified. Two delegates in Oklahoma were chosen for Wood, but will be contested. The rest are unopposed. Missouri has 36 votes and most of them are for Lowden, and Oklahoma has 20.

Johnson's managers claim Michigan, 30 (instructed); North Dakota 10 (preferential primary); scattering, 10—in all about 50. Gov. Lowden has fewer than 100 instructed and can probably count on 150 on the first ballot. Wood has more than 100 instructed and probably 100 more commitments.

Up to this time Senator Harding has no instructed delegates.

PEAS STARTED TO SPROUT BOY'S EAR

August Peterson, 8 years old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lars Peterson, of Stephenson, Mich., was operated upon by Dr. May at Marquette, the first of last week, when he removed a pea from both ears. The doctor informed Mr. Peterson that the peas have been in the ears for a number of years and were about to sprout from the drum. The boy almost lost his hearing during the past several years and did not talk readily, because he had to watch the motion of lips to ascertain what people said to him.

HEAVY MEAT EATERS
HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel backache or have bladder trouble—Take glass of Salsa.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salsa from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salsa is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salsa is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

world. That they who want to inform the public know how to get the other fellows money I see two pictures; one of a man rising with the sun during the spring and summer months, sleeves rolled up to his elbows, tilling from 12 to 16 hours per day except time enough to eat his meals and all members of his family doing the same thing. This man is an actual producer of wealth. The other picture is a man who rises two or three hours later, takes a shower bath in an elegant equipped room for that purpose, takes a short walk for exercise, eats breakfast around 8 or 8:30 or 9 a. m., touches a button and drives to his office in as fine a limousine as modern skill can produce, with a private chauffeur to open and shut the door. This chap takes lunch at a fashionable club at noon, at about three or four p. m. he touches another button, his car drives up and he returns to his family and spends the rest of the day playing golf at his summer home. The latter gent is the fellow who fixes the prices of the products that the first fellow works, works, works to raise.

To illustrate during July and August and September last year corn was worth around $2.50 per bushel. The fellow who rode in the limousine owned the bulk of the corn at that time. When the chap with the tanned face and arms to sell in November and December, corn dropped 100 per cent quite steadily until the major part of that crop had gone into the hands of the fellow who rode in the limousine. Then corn began to rise in price and will continue to do so until the man who wears patched overalls and a last year straw hat has another crop ready to sell. Oh, but some one says "the law of supply and demand always controls." If that be true then we are entitled to an explanation why corn products continued to remain on a high level and many kinds of products going higher while corn had dropped 100 per cent below the high point.

Up jumps another chap who does not raise corn nor speculate in farm products, his name is Mr. Ultimate Consumer and he says "Why don't you farmers know the fellow who rides in the limousine owns or controls most all of the cereal, glucose, and syrup factories in the United States. Another thing this fellow tells us that he eats more corn products in cold weather than in warm, however the law of supply and demand appears to be in the hands of the fellow who rides in the limousine who never put a callous on his hand or sweat on his brow unless from playing golf or tennis. Now, if it is a settled fact that the farmer is the single largest wealth producer why should the other fellow be putting a cost mark upon his products. Let us take a look at the overhead expense of the farm. If the reader will pardon the personal allusion I will take my own farm of 120 acres for an example, believing I can make it more clear by doing so. Money is worth from five to six per cent in good sized loans.

Investment in land and equipment $30,000 at 5 1/2 per cent $16.50; Taxes $541.60; Insurance, $100; Depreciation on fence, $150; Depreciation on building, $700; Incidental upkeep, $200; Total, $3,241.60.

A farm is no different from a factory. If you allow your equipment to run down the earning capacity is reduced accordingly. Every farm faces the above overhead expense that must be met. Everything has to be paid for on a paper to a tractor or an automobile, the overhead is the first item on the cost mark.

If any of the above statements are incorrect or out of balance with horse sense I would like to have them intelligently disputed.

Then why should the farmer stand in his own light and continue to work twelve to sixteen hours a day and turn over a goodly portion of the proceeds of several of those hours each day, gratis, to the fellow in the limousine or on a private yacht?

Let us take one example to illustrate: A few years ago a few energetic beet growers got together and organized what is known as the Michigan Sugar Beets Grower's association. Its object was to get a fair portion of the profits derived from the industry and the sugar beet growers of Michigan, whether members or not, have received hundreds of thousands of dollars that the sugar kings of N. Y. City would have had in their coffers had it not been for the activity of this little bunch of men. In spite of this fact several hundred farmers in central Michigan of which their are forty or more in the vicinity of Charlotte, have signed up and "gotten in bed" with the New York sugar kings who recently under the income tax law declared a dividend of ten million, eight hundred and fifty-two thousand dollars. In spite of the increased cost of production this year's contract is not as good as last.

Apparently the giant (the farmer) who is the corner stone of all America's great wealth and industry has gone into a state of lethargy or is stalking around like a giant without bones. Time and space will not permit going into further details.

As the writer sees it, the first move of the farmer is to know what the cost of the production is. The next move is for the farmer to put a cost price plus a fair profit on his products the same as all other producers do. But some fellow says "you will get Uncle Sam after you for violating the anti-trust law." If that be true then we are entitled to an explanation why the price of our products should automatically or systematically go up and down; down, when in the hands of the farmers, and up, when in the hands of the speculators. And people keep right on eating three times a day the whole year round and produce is always the lowest when they eat the most in cold weather.

In conclusion I urge it is the duty of every farmer to support all worthy farm organizations with his time, knowledge and money for none of us know it all, but most of us know a little in our line.

Our automobile repair department will take the kink out of that motor on short order. Benj Brown Auto Sales. Adv. 15tf

How much should I give to make this a better world?

A CERTAIN man in New York filled out his income tax report.

It showed an income so large that his tax was 53%. And his total gifts to church and charity for the year were $148.

Think of it—thousands spent for luxuries and pleasure for himself; and $148 to leave the world a little better than he found it!

Most of us do better than that; but not so very much better.

Our average daily gift for all church causes is

- less than we spend for daily papers
- less than a local telephone call
- less than a third of the day's car fare
- less than 3 cents a day

No wonder that 80% of the ministers of America are paid less than $20 a week. No wonder that the church hospitals turn away thousands of sick people a year. No wonder that China has only one doctor for every 400,600 people. No wonder that every church board and charity society is forever meeting deficits, forever passing the hat.

It isn't because we are selfish; it isn't because we don't want to help. It's just because no one has ever put up a great big program to us, and asked us to think of the work of the church in a systematic businesslike way.

The Interchurch World Movement represents the united program of thirty denominations. They have surveyed their whole task, no business could have done it better.

They have budgeted their needs; no business could have a more scientific budget. They have united to prevent the possibility of waste and duplication. At least a million dollars will be saved by the fact that thirty individual campaigns are joined in one united effort.

And they come to the men or women who love America—to you—this week asking you to use them as the channel through which a certain definite part of your income can be applied to make this a better world.

Only you can determine what part of your income that should be.

It's a good time right now to answer that question. We're passing through the world just once; how much better will the world be because you passed through?

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The theme for the morning of May 2nd, will be that of an earlier date, and deferred: "Reinforcements of Faith." In these uncertain times, when the authority of every institution has been challenged—Christianity not excepted—it is essential that we should secure a new alignment and perspective. This is the first of a series designed to fulfill that purpose.

The church school will convene at 12:00 M. Let all teachers and officers make every effort to be present. The orchestra will play.

The Sunday evening Club and its sponsors were favored with a most helpful talk on "Manners" by Principal Glenn E. Loomis at its meeting at the Young cottage on Pine Point. Next Sunday the regular meeting will occur in the church, led by Mr. Clarence Bridge.

Juniors, remember the Junior Endowment at 6:00 p. m. Mrs. Saltonstall and Mrs. Cross will be in direction of a helpful service.

Fifth of the "Americanization" series will be given at the church at 7:30 sharp. The subject will be: "How Bolshevism Ruined Russia, and how it will Ruin Where Tried." This should be one of the most interesting of the entire series. Organ prelude by Mrs. LaLonde.

Miss Leone MacNeill's class enjoyed a pleasant evening at the church on Tuesday.

The Mid-week meeting will convene at 7:30 sharp Thursday evening, after the devotional hour, the study of Dr. Rauschenbusch's "Christianity and the Social Crisis" will be resumed. Are you a teacher in the church school? Then you should surely plan to be present. Ask the minister for a Reader Guide.

Our young people will give the annual May Morning Breakfast on Saturday morning, at 6:00 a. m. until all are served. The price is 35c. As our young people are putting forth special efforts for this occasion, let us aid in their success.

The minister's class will convene Thursday afternoon at 4:00 p. m.

PASSED AWAY IN MUSKOGON

Mrs. W. T. Crandall Died Monday April 26th

Mrs. W. T. Crandall an old resident of Charlevoix, passed away at Muskegon, Monday, April 26th, of ruptured appendix, where she had been spending the winter months.

The deceased was 68 years of age, being born March 28, 1854. The remains were brought here for burial at Brookside cemetery.

The funeral will be held from the house Thursday afternoon at 2:30, Rev. Pontius, officiating.

H. C. L. Hits Again

There is a rumor in Charlevoix, and from what we can learn it is well founded, that the price of a hair cut is going to 50 cents and a shave 25 cents. Some day the men of this country, goaded to desperation will retaliate upon the barbers by simply stopping at the shops to visit awhile and stand before the glass while they arrange their braids or the puffs over their ears.

Church of God
The public is cordially invited to attend the service Sunday at the chapel. Rev. Walter of East Jordan will occupy the pulpit in the pastors absence, both morning and evening.

Grange Will Meet
The Charlevoix Grange will meet at the hall on Antrim St., Monday evening, May 3rd in special session for the purpose of initiation. All members are requested to be present.

After you have tried all other forms of diversion, and are fed on life and its sensations and frailties, and just simply must have something to occupy your fagged and drooping mind, we suggest that you dig up the old family Bible and give it the once over. You will learn many things so new to you they will never grow old.

Bully! Just listen to this, you glibble tax payers! The Congressional Record contains nearly eight million words about the league of nations, and all the senate has accomplished thereby could be hidden in the eye of a Washington cootie.

And yet the situation is not entirely without hope. If the farmers go on a strike and raise only sufficient for their needs, our city profiteers and food pirates can stuff off hunger by devouring each other. We hear no objection.

No danger of the devil coming to earth these days. The profiteers would have his tail before he could hit the back trail.

Seriously, now, if congress could be stood up on a block and sold at auction, how much would you bid for nothing?

Just as an afterthought, what has become of our old friend, Dr. Cook, who lived to discover that he didn't discover the north pole?

Eighth Grade Examinations
State eighth grade examination will be held 9:00 a. m. Eastern standard time May 13, 14, in East Jordan Central High School room 10—Boys City Central School room 3. Charlevoix Bank Hall—St. James High School.

Seventh grade students may write on physiology and geography test on the morning of the second day, 9 a. m. Paper furnished.

May L. Stewart, Commissioner of Schools.

Obituary.

On March 17th Hilda (Heikila) Wightman passed away on her 16th birthday and the body was placed in a vault at Brookside cemetery.

Tuesday, April 26th, a private funeral was held at the Brookside cemetery and the body was laid to rest.

Miss Wightman was taken seriously ill in March with the "flu" and pneumonia set in immediately afterwards and her death resulted after a short illness.

She was a beloved daughter, and well liked by everyone and is greatly missed among her school mates and friends.

Too much praise be given for poor Hilda.
What is our loss is her gain. She bids no one a last farewell. She said good-bye to none. Her loving heart has ceased to beat And before we knew it she was gone;

Her cheery smile and kindly ways Are pleasant to recall. She had a kind word for each one And died beloved by all. We mourn for you, dear Hilda, Though not with out-vrill show, For hearts that mourn sincerely Mourn solemnly and low. There was a choir of angels. It was not quite complete, God took our darling little girl. To fill the vacant seat.

THINGS THAT NEVER HAPPEN

RETURN OF LANDS TO HAY CROPS MEANS LARGE SUPPLY OF BOTH MEAT AND BREAD

In Feeding America, This Is Just as Important as the Golden Grain Field.
(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

You have heard a great deal about the problems of reconstruction that are pressing for solution. But, like most men, you have probably thought of them as tremendously big problems that had to be solved, nationally and internationally, by statesmen and diplomats and high executives. They are that—but not just that. Every farmer—certainly every farmer—has a reconstruction problem all his own.

The war unbalanced the agriculture of the United States by unbalancing the agriculture of individual farms. There had to be produced the kind of food that would be transported overseas. What is pre-eminently that kind of food, and other grain crops are to an extent such. Very many farms, therefore, got too heavy on the side of tilled and cereal crops and too light on the side of hay crops and pasture. Many farmers increased their tilled and cereal crops beyond what they had any basis of experience in carrying. Labor requirements were increased. Rotation practices were interfered with. To the extent that the wheat acreage was increased, the climatic hazard was increased, because, under the extensive farm practice that characterizes American agriculture, wheat is a crop that is very sensitive to climatic uncertainty. Such a practice long continued was likely to result, therefore, not in increased food production at all, but in actually reduced food production. In the long run, that would be the inevitable result. Even, if by some miracle, the hazard of weather could be escaped, the practice would reduce soil fertility until yields would be greatly cut down. But, before that even, meat production would be harmfully reduced. For it is as true physically as spiritually that man does not live by bread alone. Very largely, he lives by meat. And meat animals and milk animals—do not grow on grain alone. Most largely, they grow and produce on green grass and dry grass—pasture and hay.

Return to Sound Farming.

These are some of the reasons why the United States department of agriculture began urging, almost immediately after the signing of the armistice and continuously since, a return to sound agricultural practice—returning to pasture and hay lots, to clover and other fertilizer-building crops, some of the land that had been used for grain during the war emergency. The suggestion has been criticized from some quarters, because in some quarters it has been misunderstood.

Specifically, the department recommended that it was not advisable to undertake to maintain the wheat acreage sown for the crop of 1919. That did not mean that the department urged a smaller food production in the country. It did mean that the department was urging an increase in the food production of the country by steady agriculture, by reducing the hazards that necessarily play into the hands of speculators, by returning agriculture to a peace basis that would insure adequate production of all kinds of food, for this year and for other years. And that meant restoring pastures, restoring hay fields, insuring food for the meat animals upon which the babies of the nation depend.

This return to sound agricultural practice is important to the farmer, certainly. But it is not more important to the farmer than it is to the city man. It has to do just as much with reducing the high cost of living as with reducing the high labor requirements and the fertility-draining practice of farming.

When, officials of the department of agriculture point out, does not key the cost of living. It is merely one of a number of co-ordinate elements.

"One honest John Tompkins, a hedger and trader," that perfectly contented man whose praises are sung in the old verse, had a habit of saying: "If I can get meat, I can surely get bread." Maybe his reasoning was faulty. But it was not a bit more faulty than that of some business and industrial leaders who say, by inference: "If we can get bread, we can surely get meat."

Lack of pastures is a serious handicap to production of low-cost milk.

The man does not live who can produce beef economically without pasture.

And, just as surely, the man does not live who can produce low-cost pork without pasture.

Milk? Beef? Pork? Is there a more important item in the high cost of living than these?

Plenty of Feed for Live Stock.

And so the United States department of agriculture, for the good of everybody concerned, continues to urge the sort of safe and sane agriculture that provides plenty of pasture and plenty of hay—which means providing plenty of meat and milk.

The farmer, unless he chose to head straight for bankruptcy, could not think of maintaining a wheat acreage equal to that sown for the 1919 crop. With decreased man power—and farm labor appears to be just as hard to find now as it was during the war—farmers cannot maintain a materially larger acreage of tilled and cereal crops than they did with larger man power several years ago. If they should undertake it as a permanent policy, city families would not only have less meat and milk than they are accustomed to, but they would actually have less bread, also.

War needs caused the plowing up of many pastures that, under peace-time conditions, are worth more in the economy of the farm in pasture or hay than in cereal or tilled crops. Some of them are back in grass now. There are others that should go back in grass. Specialists of the department of agriculture suggest that every farmer, during the winter when he has leisure to lay his plans carefully, work out his own problem of reconstruction, make his plans for planting the kind of crops next spring that will enable him, if not at once then as soon as possible, to put his farm back on its proper basis of diversification and rotation. His country agent and his state college of agriculture are ready to help him at any point where he may need help. The United States department of agriculture is ready to advise him as practically any phase of the matter. A great deal of thought has been given to the subject.

SHIPPING BY MOTORTRUCKS

Much Valuable Time Saved by Group of Farmers in Maryland, Near City of Baltimore.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A suggestion which should prove of value to many communities of farmers, particularly those who are desirous of building up a retail trade in a nearby town or city, is found in the organization of a co-operative motor-truck route perfected by a group of farmers near Baltimore, in Harford county, Maryland. Shipping by motor-truck has saved much valuable time for the co-operators. Previously they were obliged to take milk shipments to the railroad shipping points. Except for those more favorably located, this usually meant the loss of the services of a man and team two to five hours every day. At present the co-operators' trucks pass the doors of many of the farmers each day and pick up their milk and produce. Those living back from the main highway bring their products to the highway only. This saves considerable time. Full particulars regarding the management of this truck route are contained in Farmers' Bulletin No. 1032, copies of which may be had by addressing a request to the United States department of agriculture.

PROPER STORAGE FOR FRUIT

Sunshine, Fresh Air and Whitewash Are Important Aids for Absolute Cleanliness.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The first requisite of a storage place for fruit is absolute cleanliness. This cannot be assured by soap and water alone. Sunshine, fresh air and whitewash are important aids. The shelves should be washed clean and then dried, but undue use of water should be avoided, as moisture is one of the chief requisites of mold growth. A cellar may be kept dry by placing in it dishes of unslaked lime, which rapidly takes up the moisture. When the lime crumbles apart, losing entirely its crystalline character, it has become "slaked" and will take up no more water unless it is renewed. Growth of most molds is retarded by light, ventilation and low temperature. A fruit cellar which will successfully keep fruit must possess all three conditions.

TO AVOID MOTTLED BUTTER

Defect Is One of Workmanship and Can Be Prevented by Application of Proper Methods.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Mottled butter is frequently found on the market at this time of the year, and, even though it may be of very good flavor, it is strongly discredited against by the purchaser. As this defect is one of workmanship, it can be overcome by the application of proper methods on the part of the buttermaker.

Mottles are caused primarily by an uneven distribution of salt in the butter. This may be produced by insufficient working of the butter or by churning, washing, and working it at a very low temperature, or by washing or working it at a temperature several degrees higher or lower than the churning temperature.

When the quantity of butter made in one churning is much less than usual, it is necessary to work it a greater number of revolutions of the churn than usual in order to produce the same results on the butter.

Extremely low temperatures of churning, washing, and working should be avoided, because they produce so firm a butter that it is only with great difficulty that the salt can be worked uniformly into it. High temperatures of churning, washing, and working must also be avoided to prevent an abnormal loss of fat in the buttermilk and also the making of a greasy, leaky butter. Great variations in temperature

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of 'hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach, others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue in each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.

Mr. Auto Owner

Are you going to take your car out this Spring without giving it a thorough over-hauling?

If these are your intentions you'd better think twice before doing it. You wouldn't drive your car into a stone wall and smash it would you?

To drive a car two seasons without having it overhauled and readjusted amounts to the same thing. One damages the car about as much as the other.

Before taking your car out for the season let us go over it for you and replace the worn-out parts and tighten the loose bolts and bearings that will cause future trouble.

Corn is sold by farmers month by month throughout the year much more evenly than may be generally supposed. The bureau of crop estimates has ascertained that, while as much as 15 per cent of the year's sales, beginning with July 1, 1918, was sold in January, 1919, and 12 per cent in the month before, the monthly sales during the remaining ten months ranged only from 0.1 to 8.4 per cent of the year's total.

The Surrender of Sybil

By LINCOLN ROTHBLUM

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"I often wonder," said Mrs. Baldwin, one sunshiny Saturday afternoon to her husband, "how Sybil manages to retain the friendship of Harvey Pendleton."

"What is any girl up to again?" smiled Mr. Baldwin, with a merry twinkle in his eye.

"Nothing, and," laughed the girl, who in a demure frock of checkered organdy with its large Quaker collar seemed to personify innocence of any accusation of coquetry, "just because Harvey has asked me to marry him, and I didn't say 'No.' Mother says I cannot go anywhere with any one else."

"Mother is right," responded Mr. Baldwin, the verdict coming in so mechanical tone, as if of habit, that Sybil laughed again.

"That's the trouble with you men," she affirmed with a determined manner in the wisdom of her years. "As soon as you win your wish, you believe the battle is over. And furthermore," this with a very decided shake of her pretty head which nearly upset the carefully arranged hairdress, "I'm not so sure I really care for Harvey."

Mr. Baldwin frowned. Giddy of having married his only child from the moment she was old enough to grasp the fact that she could get anything she desired, provided she teased long enough, he now found difficulty in restraining these very factors he had so innocently fostered.

"You ought not to keep the young man in this quivering suspense, Sybil, as he has great cares on his mind."

"Great cares! Pooh! Why, I could sell stocks and bonds," the pert braggadoceo announced, pointing a well-manicured finger at her small self.

"Perhaps." And as Mr. Baldwin gazed with admiring love at his pretty daughter, he thought that, as far as personality was concerned, she would make a most excellent saleswoman, even if her stock in trade were refrigerators and her territory Greenland. "But in addition to his own business," Mr. Baldwin continued, "Pendleton is also in the government service."

"What is he doing?" cross-examined his questioner, still unconvinced.

Mr. Baldwin spluttered. "I am not at liberty to say."

"Oh, of course," and the highly indignant young lady, with the air of an unused martyr, skipped up the stairway to slip into a charming street costume of tinted voile, which hung in soft folds to her small figure.

A wooden clock over the fireplace, its sides bulging with hideous gargoyles in miniature (Sybil had won it at a war bazaar and insisted on its prominent position), had just struck two when she seated herself at the piano and played the novelty bits of the day in catchy time.

"Where are you bound for?" asked her mother, a feeble note of remonstrance creeping into her voice. The hanging melodies she knew from experience were the forerunner of another expedition of her daughter. The superfluous excitement was thus relieved.

"For the matinee at the Stadorium."

"Alone?"

"No. With Jean Pritchard."

"Jean Pritchard?" repeated Mrs. Baldwin in amazed ignorance, casting a helpless and hopeless glance of appeal to her husband who sat in aggravating silence. "Who, may I ask, is Jean Pritchard?"

"You may. Jean's a duck of a fellow, just from over there. He's—"

But further details were interrupted by a ring at the bell announcing the arrival of the subject of their conversation, a dapper fellow dressed in extreme faultlessness, whose rapid shifting of eyes did not induce confidence. Sybil sensed a storm approaching, and to prevent hostilities waited but a few moments after the formalities of the introduction and the couple left.

"And she is content to go out with so foreign-looking a person," remonstrated Mrs. Baldwin to her husband.

"Jean Pritchard!" he ejaculated. "I do not approve of this treatment of Harvey Pendleton."

"Nor I," he responded, recalling how he himself had danced attendance upon his wife while she made up her mind whether she could love and obey. "Perhaps we'd better forego being suburbanites and move from the village back into town again."

The bell's second sounding ushered in a strapping, bronzed man of compelling appearance. The businesslike severity of his clothes seemed to emphasize rather than detract from his muscular development.

Mr. Baldwin arose with alacrity. "Hello there, Pendleton," and he shook hands cheerily.

"Where's Sybil tonight?" the young man asked as he paid his respects to Mrs. Baldwin.

"Just gone out for a while," was the phrasing response from the diplomatic mother. "He seated and spent the evening with us."

"Don't mind if I do. Have had a very strenuous week and am pretty well tickered out," he added, although his patent vitality belied the words. "Wish Sybil were here."

Mr. Baldwin felt called upon to assist in the conversation to avoid mention of his willful daughter. "Yes, I suppose during this reconstruction period your activities would be greatly increased," he sidetracked with a very knowing look to the young man, who responded to the lead.

"The social unrest does create a little trouble," he paused and seemed to recall the purpose of his visit. "With whom'd Sybil go out?"

And to the direct question Mrs. Baldwin was obliged to give a direct answer. "With a Mr. Jean Pritchard."

Harvey Pendleton bounced from his seat. "Jean Pritchard!" he ejaculated. "Where?"

"To the Stadorium," came the answer in unison from Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin, too startled to grasp the meaning of the young man's abrupt departure as they watched with amazement a leap that cleared the steps and placed him at the wheel of his car. Anxiously they leaned from the window as the engine responded to his shifting of gears and the car lurched down the boulevard toward the central road with reckless disregard for village traffic regulations.

Pendleton was a careful driver, but as he flew along the road full speed ahead he skinned the wheels of a milk wagon, skirted the tail of a dog and cut the edge of a curb notwithstanding. Filling to slow down at the intersection point which had been too aptly termed "The Trap," because of the many accidents occurring there, he lacked opportunity to avoid the automobile coming from the opposite direction.

With quick sense of his impending danger, Pendleton turned out with a vicious swing. His car avoided collision, but brought the fender of his machine in crushing juxtaposition with the running board of the car to his right. Both machines conspicuously came to a standstill. And from the inclosed side of the other car there was extended a hand—a woman's hand—fingers wildly clutching the air, and as Pendleton collected his wits, he fairly shouted, "Sybil's hand!"

Like a flash he was within the other machine pounding insensibility into tion upon Sybil. His Sybil! The struggle was brief but effective. With an ominous click a pair of shiny handcuffs went on.

Despite fright and surprise at the opportune appearance of her rescuer, Sybil's never-absent sense of humor came to the top. "Do you always carry those bracelets around with you, my bold hero?" she archly asked.

But having spoken, she was quick to realize the moment was not propitious for humor. "Yes," he answered sharply, "ever since I've been in the government secret service."

"But—but what has that to do with Jean Pritchard?"

"Oh, he's just a choice specimen of the pretty Bolshevik variety of cunker whom the government has long wanted to deport."

Sybil gasped. Her own narrow escape arose before her and the gratitude she owed the man with whose love she had toyed.

"But what can you do with him now in this village?" she asked in anxious fear.

"I shall march him straight to the justice of the peace for safekeeping."

"But what will you do with me?"

"The same."

And he did.

JOHN D. JR., OUT FOR INTERCHURCH

WORLD'S RICHEST YOUNG MAN DODGES NO QUESTIONS—
SURPRISES DETROIT

SAYS CHURCHES MUST WORK IN HARMONY

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., when he recently visited Detroit in the interests of the Interchurch World Movement, astounded the residents of the stato metropolis by the frankness of his views. No matter what the question, he spoke his views right out.

Among other things, he said: "Some people charge that capitalists use the church to keep working men contented. They say that poor people do not attend church."

"Do you" addressing the reporters—"notice whether or not the rich attend them? I have seen no evidence that the poor desert the church any more than the rich."

"There may be individual ministers who fear to offend some rich parishioner. I do not know personally of any such case. It is absurd to say that there is any such general subservience."

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR.

"Some two" New York newspapers charged recently that my father and I have spent $30,000,000.00 to get prohibition so as to get more work out of our employees."

"I found by investigation that my father and I together have given $320,000 for prohibition. We have done it because we believe it is a great moral improvement for this country."

"Profiteering? Yes, there is profiteering. The man who charges $100 for a $50 article is a profiteer. And the working man who charges $1 for 50 cents worth of work is a profiteer."

"Neither I nor my father have had anything to do for twenty years with the price of gasoline."

"The Interchurch World Movement is imperative because the time has come when churches and Christian must cease fighting and competing with one another, and join in a united battle against organized unbelief and sin. Seventy per cent of the Protestants of America have joined in this great movement. I believe it will be the greatest force for righteousness in the history of the world."

"I said the other day that the sum sought was to be $330,000,000; a man interrupted me and said that it was $336,000,000. I asked him, 'What does six million dollars amount to? I will take care of that myself.'"

A FEW QUESTIONS ON THE PAY OF MINISTERS

Why should ministers be forced to cry for better pay? Why not turn the tables and ask the churches their reason for paying pastors less than they earn and even less than the cost of living.

An industrial corporation is roundly condemned if it pays poor wages. What, then, shall be said of the churches still paying the salary of five years ago with a dollar worth less than half what it was then?

INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

At Moir only one of the five members of the school board remains in office. When a disagreement arose, one of the five handed in his resignation to the remaining four, one of the four handed in his to the remaining three, one of the three secured his release from the remaining two, and one of the two parted, with regret but with finality, from the remaining one. And now the last would like to resign, but has no one to whom he can tender his resignation.

Residents of Caro were aroused one night recently by the sound of bells, an automobile and the cries of children and men and rushing to their windows they saw that it was the city fire department being towed to a fire by a Ford. The device was so great an improvement that it is said the chiefs in many of our small towns will now direct that all Ford owners henceforth bring their fires to the department.

The board of supervisors of Wexford county, meeting at Cadillac, appropriated three thousand dollars for improving the tuberculosis hospital at that point. They will allow the hospital to take in a number of service men who are suffering from this disease. The board voted to send the register of deeds and probate officer to their state association conventions, expenses paid, but refused a similar request from the sheriff.

Much interest is being exhibited in the beast by imitative people, with a self-improving turn of mind, and it is expected that a handsome price will be offered soon by the some profiteer.

DICKENS CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET

At the Home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Wilkinson.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Wilkinson, on Dixon avenue, the Charlevoix Dickens Club held its second annual banquet, the guests being the husbands and also Miss lone Catton.

The long tables were appropriately dressed for the occasion, the blue and yellow predominating. The floral centerpiece of yellow snap-dragons was very attractive and harmonized nicely with the place cards, which pointed back to Eastertide with their wily chicks and the egg shells fitted with salted nuts. Colored candles from their candelabra shed a soft light over all.

The fruit cocktail in orange baskets with blue melon bows added to the color scheme. Then followed the regular dinner to which all did justice. At the close of the banquet the program which had been prepared, was given and although it is not the aim of the members to make any special display of talent at this particular affair, the numbers presented were certainly a credit to the organization.

The retiring president, Mrs. Kellie L. Lewis, acted as toastmistress and introduced the following participants in a brief but charming manner.

"The Awakening of Spring," vocal solo, Mrs. Archie Livingston.
"To Him," a toast, Mrs. William Herschel Miller.
"To Her," a toast, Mr. Harry A. Craig.

"Venetian Boat Song," piano solo, Mrs. Thomas LaLonde.

"The Little God and Dickie," reading, Mrs. Mason H. Rose.

"Good Night," quartet, Mr. Thos. LaLonde, Mr. Cyrenius Beers, Mrs. Clinton G. Cooper, Mrs. Archie Livingston.

"On the Road to Mandalay," solo, Dr. F. H. Wilkinson.

Dr. Wilkinson then responded with another song and guitar accompaniment and at the same time Mr. Beers joining him in true Italian fashion, representing "Old Solomon Levi."

The lights were then dimmed.

WOULD CONNECT CHICAGO WITH NEW YORK

The Type Used in One Year to Publish Endorsements of Doan's Kidney Pills

Of the many kidney remedies on the market today, none other is recommended like Doan's Kidney Pills. Fifty thousand benefited people gladly testify in the newspapers of their own towns. Forty-five hundred American newspapers publish this home proof of Doan's merit. The type used in one year to tell this wonderful story would make a solid column of metal twice as high as the world's highest mountain. Placed end to end the lines of type would reach from New York to Chicago. These miles of good words told by 50,000 tongues sound glad tidings to any Charlevoix sufferer who wants relief from kidney and bladder ills. Here's a Charlevoix case. Don't experiment. Use the remedy endorsed by people you know.

John McCall, 905 Bridge St., says: "My back was so lame I could just about move. My kidneys were weak and acted irregularly. Dizzy spells bothered me and I would often grasp something to keep from falling. I was in awful shape when a friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. I tried them and they cured me."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the name that Mr. McCall had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., N. Y.

which added to the mysterious, while Mrs. Peter Vandermade read "The Future" from the depths of a crystal sphere. This was the closing number of an event of the club which will go down in its annals and which will bear repeating in the future.

The club holds its last meeting of the year on Monday with Mrs. C. Beers at the Waller farm.

VISITOR FIND CHANGE IN RURAL SCHOOLS

Methods Far Different Than in Years Gone By

The following communication was received from one of our readers after paying a visit to one of the county's rural schools. The reader draws a contrast between the schools of today and the schools as they were at the time of her school days:

Miss Ellen Cook with a party of young folks motored through East Jordan Friday p. m. to visit the North Wilson School where Miss Edie Cook is teaching this year.

And to one of the party at least (who is some forty years young) that visit was a revelation.

We have always in our mind associated country schools with rough wooden benches scrawled over with crude cartoons and more or less racy epigrams. A place of monotonous study—uninteresting grind. We remember when we went to school in the little school house perched upon the hill near John Henry O'Neill's farm (somewhere near where Phelps is located) being lulled to sleep many and many a time by the monotone of the class in grammar parsing Love. "I love, we love, you love and they love" and we being in the primer class and of an affectionate nature wondered why they never got any farther with it.

One tin pail and dipper constituted the drinking fountain and in pass the water was an honor, we always envied the older ones. Each child in turn took a drink and passed the dipper on not caring what they left in it, and we never seen the contribution taken up at church, but we think of it. We did sing songs and speak pieces on Friday p. m., but outside of that slight diversion all was rule.

But after looking over some of the work in the Wilson school we are prepared to say it is much different now. The country school teacher has from the "Kindergarten" to the 8th grade all in one room. The physical, mental, social and moral training all under her supervision.

There was no organ for music in drill, marching and singing. A leap into several different folios astonished us, there were free-hand cut work, pencil and pen drawing of comedy, animal and landscape subjects, one cut-out picture upon the wall was so perfectly done that we mistook it for a watercolor. There was essays written upon different subjects and illustrated free-hand. A book of health hints with cut pictures to demonstrate, and last, but not least, a nice little library of children's books and a well stocked cabinet of drugs and bandages for "first aid" work. Everything neat and in good order. We congratulate the Wilson school on having so proficient a teacher and Miss Cook on her work.

On the way home we stopped at East Jordan for lunch and arrived home happier and wiser for the trip.

M. E. CHURCH NOTES

The Rev. R. J. Slee, new District Superintendent, will preach at the Methodist Episcopal church next Sunday morning. Rev. Slee is an excellent preacher and all are cordially invited to hear him. He will preach at the Barnard church in the afternoon.

On Mother's Day, May 9th, the Sunday School will present a special program appropriate for the occasion.

As a token of appreciation for excellent service rendered the church gave the members of the choir a banquet at the church last Friday evening. The decorations for the tables were peas and crocus. Hand painted place cards were used. A varied program followed the banquet with Mrs. C. Beers in charge. Each member of the choir was asked to contribute a "stunt," which they proceeded to do. Laugh provoking stories, musical numbers, speeches, tableau, etc. were enjoyed. Dr. and Mrs. Auld served as host and hostess, representing the men and women of the church. The committee in charge deserves hearty congratulations for the splendid success of this occasion.

A large delegation of the I. O. O. F. and Rebekahs attended the annual Memorial service last Sunday morning. Rev. Candler, who is a member of the order, delivered the sermon.

RAILROADING IS OUT OF OUR LINE

We Regret Not to Be Able to Answer Questions Asked

The following communication was received this week from one of our readers who is evidently interested in the problems that are confronting the railroads at the present time and the obstacles brought about by the use of different time in the various sections of the United States.

Our Reader's statement is as follows:

Editor of the Charlevoix Courier and Hon. Mayor of Charlevoix.

Gentlemen:

As the public seems to be resting under an ill framed illusion regarding the capacity of the railroad to adopt the Eastern Time, a reader should like to ask you three questions which confront the management of a railroad, and at the same time have you publish your answer. In this manner the people will not be misled by mere hearsay.

1. What would a train crew on the Wabash Railroad do leaving Detroit on Eastern time, and arriving at the Indiana line where Central Time was in use; or if Indiana adopted Eastern Time what would the crew of the same train do on arriving at the Illinois line?

2. How would a train dispatcher of the Pennsylvania R. R., at Fort Wayne, Ind., prepare a wait order of two passenger trains at Howe, Ind., where the north switch of the passing siding extend into Michigan?

3. How is a train crew of the Pere Marquette going to deal with the problem of different times entering Chicago over the tracks of another company who run their trains on another time?

Signed A. Reader

Dear Mr. Reader: It would tickle us half to death to be able to answer all your questions intelligently, but as our experience thus far has been confined to running a newspaper instead of a railroad, we are rather afraid we will not be able to do this.

Again, if we could answer these questions in the way you evidently want them answered, we would be solving one of the biggest railroad problems of today, one that has puzzled big railroad men for some time, and having the ability to answer we are sure that we would close the newspaper office and start railroad-ing right away.

It has long been a curiosity to us how trains do manage to operate through the states you have mentioned, time or no time. And as to change in time, what is an hour more less to most of our Michigan railroads.

To be frank with you we do not know a darn thing about it, but if some one will furnish the information we will gladly enlighten the public.—Ed.

PEARSON NAMED TO CONVENTION

CHARLEVOIX MAN WINS AT DISTRICT MEETING

Forms Combination With G. W. McLain of Delta County—Selected at Cheboygan

The Eleventh Congressional convention held May 3rd, at Cheboygan named as delegates to the national convention at Chicago, in June, William J. Pearson of Boyne Falls, Charlevoix county, and G. W. McLain of Delta county. Alternates named were J. C. Harmon of Schoolcraft county and Harry Custin of Alpena.

A keen contest developed early in the day, and up to within a few minutes before the convention convened the result was in doubt. The roll call developed a Pearson-McLain combination arrayed against a Gustin-Harmon union of interests, in which the former proved the winner.

The roll calls were open, and by counties, the convention rejected a proposition calling for a secret ballot. The convention by acclamation then named the losers, as alternates, the day's work closing with general harmony. The west end of the lower peninsula part of the district succeeded by the election of Mr. Pearson in establishing its rights to recognition as the equal of the east portion, which in the past has had more than its just representation, and by the help of the central east counties, which showed that they wanted to be fair, have the counties of Alpena and Cheboygan to understand that this congressional district is rather of a large affair.

Prof. Keyworth of East Jordan, himself a candidate at the outset, showed his loyalty to his county by nominating Mr. Pearson in the convention.

Resolutions presented by Dr. C. J. Gray of Petoskey, chairman of the committee, were brief, being an endorsement of the principles and purposes of the Republican party. A minority report also came from the committee on resolutions, to instruct the delegates to Gen. Leonard A. Wood, and while the majority of the delegates were in sympathy with General Wood, they did not want to make an attack on the presidential preferential primary law in that way and the minority report, which came as an amendment to the majority report, was not adopted. Instead a motion was made and unanimously adopted to the effect that it was the sense of the convention that the presidential preferential primary law should be amended by the legislature so as to make the congressional district the unit.

John A. Galster of Petoskey made the second speech for Mr. Pearson which was well received. Charlevoix county was represented by a full delegation. Those who attended from this city were Sheriff George Weaver, Mayor S. M. Rose, City Attorney A. L. Fitch and W. J. Weikel.

PROCLAMATION

Pursuant to established custom, Tuesday, May 11th, next is hereby designated as GENERAL CLEAN-UP DAY for the City of Charlevoix. On this day let all citizens unite in a fixed purpose to improve the appearance of our city. Charlevoix has the reputation of being one of the cleanest and best kept cities in Michigan. Let us maintain this good reputation and add to it by giving special attention to our property. Remove every unsightly pile of rubbish. Correct every insanitary condition about your premises and if any such condition exists in your vicinity, which it is not your duty to correct, promptly notify the Board of Health, or any city official.

On the day named and as soon as may be thereafter, all refuse or rubbish, excepting brush and ashes, will be gathered by the city teams and removed, provided it is put in an accessible place on the side of the street or alley, in boxes or barrels.

This clean-up day is not meant solely for residences but is intended to extend to the owners and occupants of business places wherever situated. It is directed to owners of vacant as well as occupied property and applies to the owners and occupants of property along the water front. In fact, every nook and corner of the city comes under the rule for special attention.

We hope the ELEVENTH OF MAY will not find a civic slacker in this community.

Yours respectfully,
S. M. ROSE, Mayor.

AUTHOR OF ARBOR DAY VERSES

Was Killed in the Service in France

Joyce Kilmer, writer of the following verse was killed in action while on duty in France during the recent war. This verse is considered one of his very best:

Trees
I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.
A tree whose hungry mouth is prest,
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast;
A tree that looks at God all day,
And lifts her leafy arms to pray;
A tree that may in Summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;
Upon whose bosom snow has lain;
Who intimately lives with rain.
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.
Joyce Kilmer.

Unusually Large Egg
An unusually large egg was brought into this office last week by Mrs. William Sutton who lives south of Charlevoix on the Norwood road. The egg measured seven inches in circumference one way and nine inches the other and was laid by a small white leghorn hen. At a first glance at the egg we wondered if somebody had started an ostrich farm in this vicinity.

We wish to thank the kind friends, the minister and the choir, for their kindness during our bereavement.

TO INVESTIGATE SALE OF FISH

SPORTSMEN IN ARMS OVER CONDITIONS ON MANISTEE

Reports Say Fish Are Sold at Ten Cents a Pound, Some Taken From Ladder

Conditions at Wellston Dam, where state employees are said to have been selling unstripped fish have aroused local sportsmen to such an extent that state officials have been appealed to and have promised an immediate investigation.

Fish have been sold at 10 cents a pound at the dam, local men say, that never have been stripped for the state hatcheries. Fish even have been taken out of the ladders. Such actions have greatly incensed local fishermen, impatiently awaiting the opening of the legal season May 1.

A statement of conditions was telegraphed to John Baird, state game, fish and forest fire commissioner at Lansing.

Commissioner Baird referred the matter to the Michigan fish commission.

The case was outlined by telegraph to Richard E. Follett of Detroit, and John L. A. Calster, of Petoskey, members of the commission.

Commissioner Follett telegraphs as follows: "Sale of unstripped trout at Manistee dam unauthorized. Not being done. Operations there are for fish cultural purposes and conducted strictly as agreed upon with game warden department. Will personally call there and investigate the situation within two or three days."

Commissioner Calster of Petoskey, wires the following: "Your telegram referred to superintendent state fish commission and instructed immediate investigation. Unstripped fish unless injured, should not be sold at Wellston dam. This matter will receive immediate investigation."

Several local sportsmen have written letters to the state officials, and others are expected to do so if the conditions at the dam are not altered at once.

FIRST CHICAGO BOAT ABOUT MAY 15th

Michigan Transit Co. to Open Years Business Near This Date

Word received from the Chicago offices of the Michigan Transit Co. last week states that they will open their spring freight schedule on or near the 15th of May.

A little delay in the opening of the season's business has been caused on account of chartering their steamers Missouri and Kansas and being unable to get release of these two steamers at an earlier date.

Charlevoix merchants will be glad to hear of this announcement as a large quantity of goods ordered from Chicago wholesalers is ready for shipment, but on account of the various strikes and railroad tie-ups, it has been an impossibility to get a shipment by freight out of Chicago.

PROCLAMATION

The Governor of the state has designated Friday, May 7th, next as Arbor and Bird Day, requesting that the day be observed throughout Michigan for the purpose intended. The planting of trees along the streets and in public places is one of the objects and protection of birds by providing places of refuge for them is another important purpose.

Therefore, I request the citizens of Charlevoix to make plans for the proper observance of the day. It will add to the attractiveness of our town and tend to improve private property as well. If the parkway in front of your property or home needs shade trees, or if you know of any other public place that would be improved by the planting of trees, make it your business to take care of it. Young trees can be obtained near the city with little or no cost. Particularly, the women of our city are urged to become interested in this work and by lending encouragement induce the men to take special interest.

While we all think our city already well provided with shade trees, still a number of streets show the need of trees, and they should no longer be neglected.

Mr. Harry L. Oldham has been appointed chairman of a special committee to have charge of the campaign. He will doubtless be glad to give all needed information.

"I think that I shall never see
A poem as lovely as a tree."

The city council having so ordered, I declare the forenoon of May 7th, a legal holiday for the purpose of enabling everybody to participate in the proper observance of this day.

SIMON M. ROSE, Mayor.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—
DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Bread Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a tumbler full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieves congestion, also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

Stop "dosing" Rheumatism. It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. "St. Jacobs Liniment" is a harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops swelling, lumbago, backache, neuritis.

Linger up! Get a 30 cent bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Liniment" from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from "pins, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer. Rub rheumatism away.

An Interesting Story

The evolution of the telephone pole, once a seedling, then a towering tree in the wilderness and now bearing the wires that carry the messages of millions, is material for more than an every day story. The cutting, the trimming, the hauling, rafting, and drifting over the white rapids and across still lakes, all this is unusually interesting.

This year we will use thousands of these towering trees. straight cedar poles—and thousands of crossarms to help maintain and expand your telephone service. Does the lifting of the receiver bring to you the thought of what all this means in money and effort? In 1915 these poles cost $5.45 each and today they cost $14.05.

The life of the woodsman and white-water burler, the tools they use, the hauling to the railroad, the freight charges, the setting up and equipping of the poles for your service, all cost greatly more now than in 1915.

This is only an instance of how our costs have grown out of all proportion to our income. These poles, the crossarms, the wire and the labor, by the way, are Michigan products and your service is operated by a Michigan company, headed by Michigan men. Michigan business is largely dependent upon the telephone.

HEAVY MEAT EATERS

Eat less meat if you feel Backachy or have bladder trouble—Take glass of Salts.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become over-worked from the strain get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

Unusual Value—In Tires
for the Smaller Cars

Not only is characteristic Goodyear merit conspicuous in Goodyear Tires for the smaller cars, but ordinarily the first cost is found to be not greater than that of other tires; often it is actually less.

The combination of unusual value in first cost and very low final cost, of course, is a result of Goodyear experience, expertness and care employed as insistently in the making of 30x3-, 30x3½- and 31x4-inch tires as it is in the construction of the famous Goodyear Cord Tires used on the highest-priced automobiles.

For this reason more cars using these sizes were factory-equipped last year with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

Get this unusual tire value to enjoy on your Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other car using one of these sizes, at the nearest Goodyear Service Station. Get these tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes at this station.

30x3½ Goodyear Double-Cure
Fabric, All-Weather Tread..... $23.50

30x3½ Goodyear Single-Cure
Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread..... $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are thick, strong tubes that reinforce casings properly. Why risk a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of less merit. 30x3½ size in water-proof bag $4.50

NEW YORK CITY OUTREADING LONDON

By Average of Seven Reference Books to One

New York City is outreading London seven reference books to one. There is some doubt as to just where the coming census report will place the cities in point of population, but a recent report of the New York Public Library definitely passes the palm of acquisitive reading to New York. Last year, according to the report, the reference department was used by 892,289 persons. This figure is seven times as great as the last annual report for the reference department of the famous British Museum in London.

Reports received by the American Library Association which is conducting "Books for Everybody" movement, indicate the increase in the use of informative books found in New York has been proportionately great throughout the entire country. The officers find great encouragement in the general awakening of the public to the benefits which may be derived from the use of libraries.

With the aid of other library agencies the A. L. A., through its "Books for Everybody" movement, seeks to encourage the general increase of reading and to meet the growing demand in every way possible. It advocates, through its enlarged program, the extension of library service to the 60,000,000 persons who are inadequately served. It is providing more books for the blind and a library service to the U. S. Mercantile Marine. It also advocates translations of the best books about America for the 6,000,000 new Americans who cannot read the English language. These are but a few of the features of the Enlarged Program which will be financed during the next three years by a $2,000,000 fund. This fund is now being obtained by librarians, library trustees and friends of libraries, without resort to an intensive drive.

AT THE MOVIES

A superb, dramatic Paramount-Atcraft feature, "The Miracle Man," will be on view at the Palace Theatre, May 15th and 16th, is declared to be one of the really great screen dramas of recent years. It was written by Frank L. Packard and produced as a stage play by George M. Cohan and packed the Broadway theatre in the season of 1916-17, where it played for many months. The screen version is said to be even more absorbing and thrilling in its development of the striking story, which shows the marvelous transformation under the beneficent influence of an ennobling environment of four of the most notorious crooks of New York's underworld.

Hearing of the healing powers of this old man of the hills, Tom Burke and his band determine to capitalize them to enrich themselves. Little did they reckon that in their new field of operations they were destined to undergo a magical transformation, and this forms the basis of one of the most thrilling stories ever screened.

A cast of unusual strength portrays the exacting roles in the picture. Tom Meighan, well known as one of the foremost leading men on the screen, has the chief part. Others are Elinor Fair, Betty Compson, Lon Chaney, J. M. Dumont, W. Lewis Butt, F. A. Turner, Lucille Hut-ton and Joseph J. Dowling.

The island of Tasmania, formerly called Van Diemen's Land, lies off the south coast of Australia. It has an area of 26,385 square miles. It is covered by a network of ridges, termed locally tiers, which enclose a multitude of small plains and valleys. The principal industries are agriculture, mining, stock-raising and some manufacturing. Tasmania is a state in the commonwealth of Australia. It has a population of two hundred thousand. The exports are wool, gold, silver, tin, timber, fruit, grain, hops and hides.

TO THE TOWN

Farmer Jones, of Middleville, is climbing up in years, But says he is young enough, To down the profiteers.

All my boys have left the farm, And all my daughters, too.

There is no one to gather eggs, Or wash, or bake, or stew.

The boys are working in the shops, And getting darn good pay.

They only work from eight to four— And not on Saturday.

My daughters, too, are doing well, And drawing darn good pay.

They're getting twenty-five a week And half a holiday.

And now this little flock of mine Are having lots of fun,

For they can swim, and sing, as good As Mistress Michaelson.

My wife and I do all the work And toil from sun to sun,

And when we go to bed at night The work is just begun.

I'm getting sick of all this work And never time to play.

I'm going to sell the stock I have— And then to town to stay.

I'll get an easy job somewhere And earn my sev'n a day.

And then I'll have the time to spare For reading and for play.

And on my farm in Middleville, The place where I was born,

There'll be no crops at all this fall— No barley, wheat, or corn.

SALVATION ARMY SPENDS $292,951 IN MICHIGAN AID

REPORT OF STATE COMMANDER SHOWS FUNDS INADEQUATE FOR HOME SERVICE.

WOMEN'S RESCUE FEATURE AND FOOD ARE BIG ITEMS

Careful Estimate Gives 1920 Requirements At $492,060 For Worthy Aid Throughout State.

Relief in the form of food, clothing and shelter for needy families in Michigan, including those of prisoners, and the search for missing persons from this state, cost the Salvation Army $31,262.42 the past year.

The figures are revealed in an official statement made public by Lieut. Col. Albert E. Kimball, provincial commander for Michigan. The financial report does not include the Upper Peninsula, records of which are kept under another provincial jurisdiction.

Medical attention, alone for the sick poor cost the Salvation Army $4,255.11, while work among the young people, including fresh air rest camps for poor children and jailed mothers, cost $5,000. One of the largest items in the provincial commander's report is the $40,321.87 spent by the women's rescue department, a branch of Salvation Army work that is regarded as particularly vital to local communities.

The total cost of rendering service to needy humanity in Michigan, including the portion required for administering this relief in a national way, amounted to $292,951.61, which was $6,287.19 more than receipts obtained from this section of the state.

Following a careful preliminary survey of needs and requirements, the 1920 budget for Michigan has been set at $411,000, exclusive of $81,000 apportioned to the Upper Peninsula. An appeal for this amount will be made here May 10-20 to be spent here during the next twelve months for welfare purposes defined by the in the foregoing paragraph.

POOR COWS CAUSE OF LOSS

Wisconsin County Farmers Co-operating in Better-Bull Campaign—Discard Scrubs.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"Don't pay two taxes" is the timely slogan of the Door county (Wis.) live stock committee.

Few farmers realize that they are paying in addition to their regular tax a "poor-cow tax." This "poor-cow tax" is about the heaviest, robs the pocket-book, and profits no one.

"You have just paid your annual property tax. This is necessary to provide for our schools, roads, and other government expenses from which you benefit; but why pay two taxes?" is the appeal which, in the shape of a little card, is being placed in the hands of Door county owners of scrub sires. And the "prosper" who wants to be shown is pointed to results which were worked out in a farm management survey, where it was found that on 124 farms with purebred sires the average net profits were $1,102; on 460 farms with "grade" sires, the profits averaged

By Breeding to Superior Sires Milk Production Can Be Greatly Increased in Single Generation and Greater Economy Effected.

$734, and on 83 farms with scrub sires there was an annual loss averaging $234.

The scrub sires on these farms were responsible for at least part of the good or bad showing. A poor bull is an extravagance which Door county farmers cannot afford. "Watch us grow a reputation" is the enthusiastic parting challenge of the committee which is boosting better bulls in this peninsular county.

Practically every farmer's organization of the county—Grange, the Society of Equity, the Association of Thierney Men, the Holstein Cattle club—is co-operating in the better-bull campaign.

"What in reality amounts to a farm bureau—a committee made up of a representative from each township and with the county agent as managing director—is directly responsible for the county's drive to replace the grade and scrub bulls with good pure breeds.

"To keep its lead in dairying and live stock raising Wisconsin must discard its scrub sires," said the executive committee of county agents and representatives of all of the state's cattle breeders' associations.

"Count on Door county to help," said this live stock committee. "All though somewhat off to one side, the Door peninsula is still on our map, and we are going to stay there. In one of our townships, which happens to be an island six miles off in Lake Michigan, each man contracted more than a year ago to use only purebred bulls and every one agreed to stay by but one breed."

And by means of this same kind of teamwork the other townships of the county are promising to follow suit.

"The entire county is going to wage war on the scrub—only upon a much more extensive scale." The county agent spoke as if he represented men who meant business.

"The committee is out to give their county a reputation for the production of as high-class cattle as it already has for Montgomery and Early Richmond cherries."

SURE RETURNS FOR FARMERS

Bull Associations Now in Successful Operation in 21 States—More Milk Produced.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"A bull association would be a paying enterprise for our county but the farmers here simply won't pull together on any proposition."

This is the usual answer a representative from the United States department of agriculture gets when he goes into a new community and asks the individual farmers about the feasibility of organizing a bull association. But 25 bull associations have been organized in 21 states and are successfully operating. A specialist from the dairy division recently returned from a two months' trip in Kansas, Oklahoma, Georgia, Louisiana, Tennessee and Mississippi. In those states he assisted in the initial steps for the organization of 14 more bull associations.

The first bull association was organized in Michigan in 1908. Since

FEEDING CORN OR MOLASSES

Both Are Rich in Heat-Producing Elements and Relatively Low in Protein.

Corn and molasses are about the same in composition. Both are rich in carbohydrates, or heat-producing elements and relatively low in protein. Molasses is not quite as valuable as a feed as corn, but when the price of corn is $25 or $30 per ton, as it is in some places, and molasses $25 or $30, the latter is cheaper feed. The dairy cow may be fed three to five pounds of molasses daily. More than this tends to lessen the digestibility of the other feeds in the ration. Molasses is very palatable to the animal and will always produce a fresh, clean when fed. It can often be used to make unpalatable feedings more palatable. There is difficulty always in feeding molasses. It may be put in the drinking water or diluted slightly with water and sprinkled on the roughage or the grain portion of the ration.

WATCH WINTER FEED OF COW

Very Easy to Have Grain Ration So High That It Won't Pay for Itself in Milk.

The feeding of cows for milk will need to be watched more closely than ever this winter. With cows such as they now, it is very easy to have the grain ration so high that it will not pay for itself in milk or cream. A very successful eastern dairyman feeds his cows only alfalfa hay and silage with a very little amount of molasses. He feeds the silage to the cow and 20 pounds a day to the calf, thus getting them to eat more alfalfa. He admits that dairymen feeding grain will beat him in amount of milk produced, but says that his business is turned out a greater profit, doubtless true, and he is also putting all his cows into advanced registry.

THE FARMER AND HIGH PRICES

Agriculture has reached the point where high prices instead of increasing production are making it difficult and unprofitable for the farmer to produce as much as did when prices were lower.

With the whole world clamoring for farm products and willing to pay unheard of prices the farmer is unable to get men to help him till his fields. High wages paid in the cities are draining the country districts of men. Farmers facing the opportunity of disposing of crops of fabulous figures find that their inability to get help makes it necessary for them to reduce acreage. This lowers production, increases the food shortage and still further inflates prices. In New York state there has been a decrease of three per cent in the number of proprietary farmers and 17 per cent in agricultural labor. Other states show corresponding reductions.

Inflated prices have boosted land values, it is true, but unless the farmers sell out and move to town this only increases his taxes and adds another pang to his long list of ills. Fuel and clothing cost country people more than ever before, the food which they do not raise is at undreamed of prices and farm implements and supplies have doubled or trebled in cost.

These things—and some others—have brought the farmer to a state of dejection. Just now he feels the full weight of the problem, because the cities are so prosperous that the mounting cost of farm products has been covered by increased wages, but if the movement keeps up a time will come when the crisis which the farmer faces will seem very real and very serious to everyone of us.

If the shift of population from farm to city continues; if the production of food stuffs keeps on decreasing; if the farms of the country fall into disuse of idleness we may see the day when city dwellers, though rich and prosperous, will in vain bid fabulous sums for food which cannot be had at any price. If this happens the regaining of equilibrium will be a painful process but certain. For man must eat and given the alternative of staying in the city at a princely salary and starving to death or going to the country and producing food his choice can easily be imagined.—Detroit Journal.

CITIZENSHIP QUESTION

A class of aliens preparing for citizenship was asked the following questions:

What is the Constitution of the United States?

When and where was the Constitution adopted?

What was the first amendment to the Constitution?

How many amendments has the Constitution?

Who wrote the Declaration of Independence?

How many votes in the electoral college?

It might be amusing to propound these questions to almost any company of born-and-bred American citizens. How many could answer them correctly?

Americans probably will have to brush up their own knowledge if they are to keep up with these earnest, eager students who are crowding the Americanization classes. And, after all the framework of exact information has been absorbed, neither alien nor native will be good citizen unless he has absorbed the spirit of America with the letter of her laws. Unless we can teach the alien to love America at the same time that we teach him the cold facts of her history, he will be as far from true Americanization as if he had never learned a line. He will only be a loyal American in so far as he loves America. Some knowledge of the history and fundamental laws is essential to all good citizenship, but "Love is the fulfilling of the law."

HOW ABOUT YOUR JOB?

Did you ever stop to think just what your job means to you?

If you are in business it means your job pays the rent, buys the food and clothing and gives happiness to those at home. If your job is at home it means you have a chance to keep down expenses while making the place cheerful.

But that's not all—not by any means. Your job is your chance to make good, and to make better than good.

Your job gives you the chance to reduce the high cost of living by doing more and better work. Everybody in business, from managers to office boys; everybody in the home; in fact, everybody everywhere can help cut costs.

Are you giving your job the best there is in you? Are you proud of your work? Perhaps you think results are slow coming. It took Columbus years to even get a chance to try out his idea—but he discovered America. Results don't come just because you expect them. They come when you have earned them.

Your opportunity is in helping your business to make good. You can't grow unless it grows; and your business can't grow until you get busy and produce as you never produced before.

Every one in every business and every one in every home should realize that today, more than ever before, success depends upon loyalty and work. A few cannot do this for the majority. Unless you say to yourself that you are doing your best every minute of the day, you are not doing your part.

Make the most of your job. It's work that counts. Go to it, and win.

FIGURES

An authority says that to supply the pulp for paper manufacturers 9,600 acres of forest are being cut down, now, every day of the year. This is 60 farms of 160 acres each.

Big figures. Yes, and so are these: Four tons of steel are used every day in making steel pens. That's six million pens a day. Where do they go? And needles! Woman swallow some, to be sure, but what comes of the rest of the three and four million made each day? And pins. What a lot of pins are made, used and lost. Estimates are that our daily allowance is about 15,000,000. Europe makes about 10,000,000 pins a day, with the American output at about 5,000,000.

Figures are figures, but some curious cuss has figured that the world uses daily 80 tons of pepper, 220 tons of mustard and 80,000 tons of salt! And as to wool, silk and cotton for clothing! One is told that from three to four thousand tons a day are worked up into various woolen goods, but that most of it goes into clothing. And as to cotton, the estimate is that the world's shops sell every day 11,000 tons of cotton stuffs. And the little silk-worm in the mass is spinner enough so that every day of every week of every year 700 tons of silk goods are made and sold, mainly to add to the beauty of milady.

It certainly amounts into a big figure in the aggregate when the attempt is made to provide your newspaper, season your food, keep your books and write your wills, clothe you with wool, silk and cotton, and stick a pin here and there so everything will hang together.

According to the primary system a majority of the counties of Michigan which voted for Gen. Wood, are expected to instruct their delegates to favor Senator Johnson because Detroit and a few industrial centers gave him the votes. Should delegates represent the wishes of their own constituents or some distant city?—State Journal, Lansing.

Why You Should Buy Guaranteed Roofing

When you buy roofing you want durability as well as shelter. You want to know that it will last long enough to make its average cost per year a reasonable figure.

That is why Certain-teed should appeal to you. For, when properly laid, Certain-teed Roofing is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to weight.

The guarantee adequately protects your investment, but it does not accurately measure Certain-teed's life. In fact no one knows just how durable Certain-teed is, because in no case has it ever been known to wear out on the roof.

And Certain-teed is more than durable. It is weather-proof, fire-retarding and spark-proof. It effectively shelters your property.

With all these advantages, Certain-teed Roofing costs less to buy, less to lay and less to maintain, than any other type of good roofing.

See your dealer about Certain-teed. He either has it or can get it quickly from a nearby Certain-teed distributing center.

Gas in the Realm of Business and Pleasure

When Gray wrote about "pleasure at the helm" he must have had in mind the steering wheel of an automobile. Pleasure and the automobile are responsible for a gas and oil famine that is as certain to come as "death and taxes;" but pleasure is running on "high" in the golden car of prosperity, singing like a "birdie" out of place in the mechanism: "If business interferes with your pleasure then cut out the business."

Not many years ago there existed and was to be had for the taking,

STEADFAST CONFIDENCE

The following Statement Should Form Conclusive Proof of Merit to Every Charlevoix Reader

Could stronger proof of the merit of any remedy be desired than the statements of grateful endorser who say their confidence has been undiminished by lapse of time? These are the kind of statements that are appearing constantly in your local papers for Doan's Kidney Pills. They are twice-told and confirmed, with new enthusiasm. Can any reader doubt the following? It's from a Charlevoix resident:

Mrs. R. M. Mekeel, 214 Mason St., says: "I suffered for several months with kidney trouble. I was bloated quite badly and had a weak and lame back. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Metcalf's Drug Store, brought me relief."

FIVE YEARS LATER Mrs. Mekeel said: "All I have said in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills holds good today. Doan's completely cured me of kidney trouble and the cure has lasted."

such immense quantities of oil in the natural gas fields of the country that it seemed it would never cease to flow. And as President Roosevelt once observed: "In the early days the man who removed the most trees was considered the greatest public benefactor." Likewise the farmer who "mined" his soil and then left an "abandoned" farm to open up a piece of "new, cheap land," showed how much more versatile he was than the plodder who remained on the same place and kept the land producing by taking care of it.

Rich, swaggering America, has never taken the time to think too seriously about saving its natural resources, and now that the irreplaceable oil fields are unequal to the demands made upon them, you hear jokes about "Rockefeller's gifts," as the automobile owner settles with the garage man at the rate of thirty cents a gallon, or more.

But when the manufacturers of artificial gas, in common with all other industries, demand an increased price for their product, the wasters of gas and oil that flock the automobile highways, deem it high time to voice their mightiest protests. Why not? Isn't illuminating gas a matter of "business," and why should a business commodity go up when "pleasure" already demands so great a part of one's income? There must be economy somewhere—so why pay more to the public utilities that do nothing for us except to furnish light and heat?

Gas companies are unable to buy gas oil at the present price, and supply gas to the consumers at the old figures, and at the same time keep the receivers away. Of course, the production of illuminating gas by the utility corporations is accompanied with the same increased cost as obtains in production of everything: Labor, fuel, materials, and all else has doubled and trebled.

How Would You Like to Be the Gas Man?

Added to conditions that have become so common that we are apt to refer to them as "natural," is the fact that the business of producing illuminating gas is in direct competition with between six and seven million American automobiles that are engaged in using gasoline, with the result that 13,000,000 barrels used in 1919 as compared to 8,500,000 in 1918. And just keep your eyes peeled for the 1920 score sheet!

During the last ten years the increase in the demand for petroleum products has increased 660 per cent, and during the same period the production of crude oil in the United States has increased only 95 per cent. All phases of the oil refining industry have been affected; but, of course, the biggest demand has been for motor gasoline.

To "both eat your cake and have your cake," is as difficult as it is for the country to keep up with the demand of oil and petroleum products. Gas oil is one of the distillates of crude oil, and seventy per cent of the artificial gas produced in the country is made in processes which require the annual use of about 28,000,000 barrels of gas oil. With the gas industry trailing along as the tail of the gas-eating automobile-dog, while attempting to furnish the necessities of life in competition to pleasure-cars, it will be seen that the gas man is in a pretty bad predicament.

Illuminating gas must go up in price, even though the processes of franchises and old-burgains with city governments are hard to disturb—for while the public usually gives in inch-by-inch to its utilities, it will not see them "bust," or put in so bad a hole that they have to resort to that other alternative of "poor gas," with a low heating value. The gas man is having his share of difficulties, and while "pleasure at the helm" will not give up any considerable part of the road, nevertheless the fairness of the American public may be depended upon to meet so serious a problem in a candid manner.

Investments Must Pay Returns

Since the whole American public broke into the "investment class," there has come a better understanding of what is meant by the interest returns on stocks and bonds. Liberty bonds are teetering between $86 and $98, and the purchasers know that the reason exists in the amount that they will earn for invested capital. The railroad situation in the United States is emphasized by these conditions.

With an increase of less than two per cent in locomotives and cars over five years ago, the railroads of the country are now moving about 50 per cent more traffic than they were then. But the limit in operating efficiency has apparently been reached, for in the last two years despite every effort the amount of freight traffic actually moved has seldom run two per cent above that moved in 1917.

The situation reflected by these facts is full of menace to every man, woman and child in the country. Increased production is vitally needed and we can not have increased production without increased transportation. That is self-evident. In fact, no permanent reduction in the high cost of living can be obtained without an increase of transportation by railroad, since almost every commodity produced and consumed in the United States in any considerable quantity must be moved once or more by rail, either as raw material, as a finished product or both. Moreover our population is growing and will continue to grow. If the railroads cannot move any more freight than they have been doing in the past four years they must either increase their facilities or industry will be throttled and investors will fail to earn an adequate return on invested capital. This latter contingency means nation-wide bankruptcy, business depression, widespread unemployment.

The logical conclusion is that it is essential to every class of the people of this country that there shall be an early and large expansion of the facilities of the railroads. This can only be accomplished by the investment of vast amounts of new capital, which in turn can only be provided by the government or secured in the ordinary way—that is, by the sale of railroad bonds and stocks to the public.

The public has decided that government management is not a desirable policy. Therefore it is up to private management to finance the needed extensions. There is one thing only which will enable the railroad companies to raise the billions of capital that they need by the sale of stocks and bonds—and that is, net operating income—sufficient to make investment in their securities attractive to those who have money to invest in stocks and bonds.

BETTER BREEDING BIG HELP

Most Economical Way Furnished to Obtain Large Producing Cows—Use Best Helpers.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

In dairying large production and profit go hand in hand. Breeding furnishes the most economical way to obtain large-producing cows. The purebred bull, with generations of high-producing ancestors back of him, must be used for breeding, and only the best helpers from the best cows should be chosen to be the dams of the next generation.

DEAL ONLY WITH DAIRYMEN

Not Safe to Buy Dairy Animals at Stock Yards—Calves, Physically Unfit, May Result.

In buying dairy animals it is important to deal only with dairymen. Do not buy from men who purchase calves at stock yards to ship back to the farmers, because it is not always possible to determine the breeding of the calves; and calves that are physically unfit may be shipped.

INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

A man tells to an editor who started poor twenty years ago and has retired with a comfortable fortune of $50,000. This money was acquired through industry, economy, conscientious efforts to give full value, indomitable perseverance and the death of an uncle who left the editor $48,999.00—Pella, Iowa, Chronicle.

After the recent tornado Edward Garret, of Vermontville, picked up in his field a letter, dated 1861, which had been blown there from an adjoining township. The postal department is badly demoralized, but if some of the more windy candidates are elected, we may expect that under the next administration we will have this new type of special free delivery almost everywhere.

W. D. C. Germaine was this morning committed to the Traverse City state hospital for the insane on a permanent order issued from the court by Judge Fred H. Pratt. The order makes him a public ward, with a proviso that when the Germaine estate is probated, if W. D. C. has any means of support, it shall become a private rather than a public ward.—Record-Eagle, Monday.

We would like to inquire whether Germaine is any more insane today than when he was mayor of Traverse City and has been ever since. He has been a persistent and flagrant violator of all law, both sacred and statutory. The proper insane asylum for that duck is connected with the institution presided over by our friend Otis Fuller, and located just outside the limits of the city of Ionia.—Elk Rapids Progress.

SUNDAY, MAY 9TH IS MOTHER'S DAY

People Old and Young Urged to Properly Observe Day

Sunday, May 9, has been designated as Mothers' Day by Governor Albert E. Sleeper, and the people of Michigan, both old and young, are urged to observe the day. In his proclamation the governor says:

"Although its observance dates back but a few years, Mothers' Day has already become a national institution and is fittingly and tenderly celebrated by all classes and conditions of people throughout the land.

"It is well that we should pause amid the hurry and bustle of life and let our thoughts go back to the days of long ago, as we cherish the memory of the mothers who have left us. While they were with us their chief concern was our welfare and comfort and happiness, and the mothers of today are animated by the same spirit of devotion and sacrifice. Indeed, nowhere else in human life is the spirit of unselfish service so well exemplified as in the devotion of mothers to their homes and families.

"Therefore, that we may pay a special tribute of affection to the mothers who still live and honor the memory of those who have gone from us, I, Albert E. Sleeper, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby designate and set aside Sunday, May Ninth Next, as Mothers' Day and I call upon our people, both young and old, to gather in their several places of worship and take part in services appropriate to the day, and by the wearing of a red flower for the living mother and a white for the dear departed, to symbolize their love and reverence for the mothers of the nation.

"Let me suggest too that absent sons and daughters take this occasion to visit, if possible, the mother in the old home, or, where such a visit is impossible, that they send a message of cheer and greeting. By this may mothers know that in the rush of affairs they are not forgotten.

"In accordance with a resolution of the Congress of the United States, I further request the people of Michigan on the day aforesaid to display the United States flag in their homes and in other suitable places, as a fitting expression of their desire to pay homage to American motherhood."

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

An extended account of the service of Sunday, May 9th, will be found in another column. All over the land men, women and children will be united in the observance of a day set apart for the loving remembrance of her to whom they owe the greatest gift. Let this city be a unit in this service! We shall be glad to welcome all, especially those who have no regular church home.

Congratulations to our young people on the splendid success of the May Morning Breakfast and those older ones who aided so efficiently.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet with Mrs. Will Taylor, on Dixon avenue, at 230 p. m. A full attendance is desired.

The Cecilians will meet for practice at the usual hour Thursday evening, under Miss Bement's direction.

At 7:30 p. m. Thursday evening will convene the regular Mid-week Service, with the devotional hour and study class.

Boys! Be promptly on hand at the Minister's Class at 4:00 p. m. Thursday afternoon. Something special.

A new departure in the evening service will be taken with next Sunday evening. Broken by occasional variations, the minister will deliver a series of informal lectures on popular subjects of general interest. The theme for the evening of May 9th, will be "1793 and 1917." From a historical and ethical point of view these should be most helpful.

Card of Thanks
We desire to express our sincere gratitude and appreciation to those who assisted us during our recent bereavement, especially to those who took part at the funeral services, those who furnished flowers, etc., and extended words of sympathy in our hour of bereavement. W. T. Crandell and Family.—Adv. 1811

LEADING CITIZENS OF STATE UNITE TO ASSIST NEEDY

THIRTY-FOUR MICHIGAN NAMES ON LIST OF VOLUNTEERS FOR HUMANITY.

EVERY COMMUNITY TO BE ENROLLED IN GREAT CAUSE

Will Seek Means For Carrying On Relief Through Salvation Army Home Service.

Thirty-four leading citizens of Michigan have entered their services to assist in providing relief for their needy fellowmen, as members of the Michigan State Citizens Committee for Service to Humanity. It was announced by Edwin Penoy, of Detroit, state chairman, as follows:

Frank J. Adams, Rogers City; Fred M. Ager, Detroit; Mrs. E. A. Blakeslee, St. Joseph; M. D. Bryant, Traverse City; Leon C. Chace, Petoskey; G. M. Clark, Bad Axe; W. Glen Cowart, Coldwater; Mrs. Caroline Bartlett Crane, Kalamazoo; G. J. DeKema, Holland; J. Dallas Doet, Flint; Herbert H. Daw, Midland; M. M. Duncan, Ishpeming; W. N. Ferris, Big Rapids; Eugene Foster, Gladwin; A. H. Gansser, Detroit; Mrs. L. R. Hannan, Traverse City; William Webb Harmon, Menominee; J. B. John, Nowago; Henry Knowlton, Cadillac; Harry Larwill, Adrian; George Miller, Ann Arbor; J. W. Moore,oughton; Henry S. Meyers, Caro; Glen Overton, Allegan; Dr. William M. Payne, Suttons Bay; Richard Pearson, Sandusky; Thomas Reed, Sault; R. Perry Short, Saginaw; O. E. Sovereign, Bay City; Charles E. Townsend, Jackson; Hugh VanDewacker, Muskegon; G. H. Wood, Monroe; Nelson Sharpe, West Branch; and James McNaughton, Calumet.

Every section of the state is represented in the personnel of the committee which will seek means of providing food, clothing, fuel, medical attention, household aid, social welfare and kindred necessities for the less fortunate persons with whom the long established home service activities of the Salvation Army come in most direct contact.

Funds to carry on this service in 1920 through the Salvation Army will be sought during the national appeal, May 10 to 20. Meanwhile every local community is being organized in an effort to spread a thorough understanding of the value of such service to mankind everywhere.

Chairman Penoy made public a copy of a resolution adopted by the American Legion of Michigan, in which the Legion declares it "desires to place its membership on record as heartily supporting the work of the Salvation Army for the suffering and needy in time of peace and urges its members everywhere to encourage the carrying on of humanitarian work in our state through the Salvation Army, and to lead their personal aid and influence to any organized movement that will enable this splendid organization to continue."

Value of Green Vegetables.
Though green vegetables and fresh fruits have little food value, they are universally desired by mankind. The Journal of the American Medical Association says this is explainable by the fact that they seem to be a safeguard to health. The recent studies of C. R. Tishborne and L. B. Mendel on the properties of green leaves show that these contain large quantities of the vitamins which, though not food, are necessary to health. According to these investigators spinach contains far more of the vitamin that promotes normal growth than do whole wheat, soy beans, eggs, meats, milk or potatoes.

It Was.
The habitual customer, Mr. Peep, would often condescend to chat with the head waiter. One day he said very seriously:
"Look here, I don't often complain, but this pepper of yours is half pepper."
"Oh, no!" said the head waiter indignantly. "I see to that myself. We grind our own pepper."
"But I tell you it's half pepper," said the customer, "and I'll prove it! Peep—half 'p's. You see!"

The Pampered Pets.
"Hartouse, call up Mrs. De Billou and ask for Phil."
"Yes, ma'am."
"Phil wishes to bark to him over the telephone."

Locals Boys Run Up Large Scores on Both of the Opposing Teams

The Charlevoix High School baseball team started the season off last week with a rush, playing two games and winning both.

On Wednesday of last week they met the Boyne City team on the local diamond and defeated them by a score of 12-1. Saturday they played Petoskey here and defeated them 28-3.

The Charlevoix team for this year is very well balanced and in good condition and should make a very good record for itself in northern Michigan baseball this season.

Charlevoix-Boys City Game
This game was won by the superior hitting of the Charlevoix team and the effective pitching of See.

Weststaff and Cunningham were the stars at bat for Charlevoix, Weststaff getting three doubles and a single in five trips to the plate. Cunningham secured two doubles and a single out of five times up.

See pitched a fine game and was steady throughout. He struck out twelve men and allowed five hits all of which were made in the last two innings.

The Petoskey team proved very easy and an unusually high score was made. Again the hard hitting and excellent pitching of See won the game. Twenty hits were made during this game for a total of twenty-eight runs. See struck out fifteen men during the game and allowed four hits.

PETTY THIEVERY AND VANDALISM

Sneak Thief Appropriates Coat and Wheel at Night

Residents from various parts of the city have reported several acts of petty thievery and vandalism which should be severely dealt with if the culprits can be apprehended.

An overcoat and bicycle was taken from the porch of a north side resident the other night. The owner of the wheel is anxiously looking for the stolen property.

County Road Commissioner, O. D. Hammond reports that some time during Saturday or Sunday evening, auto drivers, ignoring signs stating the road north of Greensky Hill was closed to traffic, drove to the point where his men had the roadway prepared for laying concrete, removed a number of poles laid down to stop traffic, broke a padlock which fastened a chain across the road, and drove over the roadbed, scattering the loose gravel right and left and causing damage to the road bed.

He cannot understand how any person in their right mind would spend the amount of time necessary to remove the poles and break the lock, when it would take less than twenty minutes to drive back and take the lower road to the north.

Someone will be prosecuted for these offenses if apprehended—and we hope the lesson given them will prove of value, not only to the violators, but the general public as well.

COMMERCIAL ASSN. HOLDS MEETING

WILL BEGIN THIS SEASON'S CAMPAIGN

Every Possible Effort Will Be Put Forth to Better the Coming Season

The Charlevoix Commercial Association took a new lease on life after hibernating for several months, and at its meeting last Thursday night underwent a process of reorganization and took hold of new activities.

At this meeting J. L. Crane was chosen as president of the association and Harold Bedford as secretary. Committees were appointed and old committees re-organized.

Every possible effort is to be put forth this coming season to better the interests of Charlevoix. New hotel projects will be sought for and a general advancement of the city's welfare will be the aim of the association.

An effort will be made to attract industries that would add to the city's growth and special attention will be given the future summer resort enterprise. This is the city's buried card and Charlevoix must play it to the best advantage. All indications point to the largest resort season of history, and it is up to this place to get their share of this business.

The Commercial Association will direct an advertising campaign that is sure to draw people of the city seeking a cool, attractive resort in which to spend the hot summer months.

We have everything to offer them in the line of natural resources and attractions and once we can convince them that Charlevoix is the place for them to spend the summer, the rest is easy.

Several promising projects are now under way that are of great importance to the welfare of the city and their success would bring about a big change.

Public co-operation is needed and it is the one thing sought by the Commercial Association. They want the help of everybody in this community in aid to build up the city and increase its business. Every extra dollar brought into this town means just that much more for the people of the city. Why not dig in and bring it here?

Friday night the Association will serve a banquet at which all persons interested in the welfare of the city and who are willing to aid in promoting the city's future are urged to be present. Turn out and give the town your support.

WARN SOLDIERS ON LAND GRANTS

WESTERN HOMESTEADS FOUND VERY UNATTRACTIVE

Preferential Rights for Ex-service Men Are a Delusion—Preference Goes to Squatters

Michigan posts of the American Legion are in receipt of the following letter from Lyle D. Tabor, state adjutant, relative to Oregon and California land grants. The letter is a copy of a bulletin issued by Franklin D'Oller, national commander. It follows:

"With further reference to Service Bulletin No. 11, dated March 26, 1920, attention is directed to General Land office circular No. 669. This gives full and complete information concerning Oregon and California land grants.

"Particular attention is called to the fact that while approximately 260,000 acres are open to entry, the number of desirable homesteads is very limited.

"We are also in receipt of a letter from Gerald J. Murphy, director service division, which says in part:

"It is urged that publicity be given to this matter, particular attention being called to the marked paragraphs of the bulletin and the letter. Many ex-service men seem to consider that these lands offer them an opportunity to obtain a desirable homestead. Nothing is further from the truth. The following is quoted from a communication received from the Department of Oregon:

"Scores of ex-service men who have come to Oregon keen for settlement on quarter sections of the 360,000 acres of Oregon and California railroad land grants thrown open with preferential rights to ex-service men are returning to their homes in the East. Far from being rich agricultural or valuable timber lands the major portions of the tracts are rocky and unattractive. The preferential rights for ex-service men are a delusion for the real preference goes to the squatters who have first choice of the valuable tracts. A man with less than $2,000 cash or available in short notice cannot hope to make a success by settlement on any of the tracts offered and even then it will mean four or five years of strenuous efforts before he can expect a return on his investment. It is asked that a general warning be posted to discourage men of small means from taking the heavy chances involved in such a venture. Even advertising is considered as advisable to stem the tide of would be settlers who are coming here with rosy visions of a 'little Grey Home in the West' only to face cruel disillusionment.

"It is believed that a real service can be done to the men by seeing that calling particular attention to the fact that 'The number of desirable homesteads is very limited'."

IMPORTANT MEETING OF MASONIC ORDER

Big Men of State Lodge Present at Meeting

A meeting of considerable importance was held by the Masonic Lodge at their temple Monday evening.

Grand Master, Chas. B. Eddy, of Grand Rapids and Grand Lecturer, Frank O. Gilbert, of Bay City, member of the state lodge were the guest of honor on the occasion.

Very interesting talks were given by both of these men which were greatly enjoyed by all of those present. Work was given in the Third Degree for purpose of instruction.

Thirty-nine visitors from East Jordan and Harbor Springs were present bringing the total attendance up to one hundred and twenty-five.

After the close of the lodge work a supper was served and a social hour enjoyed.

Notice to Launch Owners.

Warnings are being sounded by all coast guard stations relative to federal marine regulations. Owners of motor boats sixteen feet in length or longer are reminded that the boats must be equipped with fixed engines and must display registration numbers. A number must be carried on each side of the prow of the boat. There must be on board two copies of navigation laws or pilot rules. Receipts for payment of the federal excise tax must be carried on undomesticated pleasure boats.

TRY WALKING GOOD EXERCISE

GASOLINE SHORTAGE IS BECOMING ACUTE

Local Dealers Under Orders to Sell But Two Gallons to a Customer—Outlook Bad.

The Standard Oil company at this writing has given out orders to local dealers to sell but two gallons of gas to each customer, this rule having been adopted during the present shortage or inability to obtain gasoline shipments.

Regardless of the inability of railroad companies to deliver gasoline shipments, it shows that there is an actual shortage and that this will be more acute in the future. If the Standard people had competition here in the gas-selling business, it would make little difference, as the supply is regulated entirely by the production of crude oil wells of the country.

We have been informed that the Standard Oil company has purchased a lot at the corner of Antrim and State streets, supposedly for the purpose of installing tanks and conducting a gasoline station. Even with this addition gasoline will be as hard to obtain if the source of supply has reached its limit of production.

The fellow with the light car, easy on gasoline, has a decided advantage over the one driving a locomotive, and the shortage of fuel is going to force all car makers into producing cars that will be more economical in their use of gas, which means lighter cars.

In the meantime oil companies for the production of more oil are being formed every day, as you can tell from your mail, and this has been helped much by the known scarcity of gasoline. Undoubtedly the supply will be considerably added to by new wells developed, but it must be remembered that millions of new motors using gas as fuel are born every year. It will be advisable to conserve on the use of gas as much as possible until some new kind of power has been developed that can be practically applied to the motors.

We have a lot of oil-holding shales to be drawn on but the process will be expensive. Gas prices are sure to go much higher. The cost of living is going to be considerably increased, particularly in the motor line. We can wear overalls, and also we can walk? And there's no exercise comparing with walking, they tell us.

EIGHTH GRADERS AT BANK HALL

County Examination to Be Held This Week

PAPERS FORCED TO BOOST PRICES

Both Dailies and Weeklies Increase Price First of Month.

Among the Michigan dailies who have been forced to raise their subscription price on account of the high cost of paper and labor are the Saginaw News-Courier, Grand Rapids Evening Press, Detroit News and Journal, Jackson Morning Press and other prominent state dailies.

Among the weeklies to raise their price from $1.50 to $2.00 a year are the Gratiot County Herald, one of the largest weekly papers in the state and others are soon to follow. Increased production cost is given the reason. Newsprint continues to advance, its total advance since pre-war times being close to eight hundred per cent.

The publisher of a country paper who desires a new supply of newsprint is allowed to make out an affidavit, stating the amount of paper on hand. This sworn statement, together with his order for more paper he is allowed to send to a paper manufacturer. And when the manufacturer, after scrutinizing the affidavit, decides that the need is very great, and ships that order, the country publisher is allowed to pay whatever price the manufacturer asks for it. And after being allowed to do all this, you still hear many of the country editors howling that there is no longer any freedom of the press.

ORGANIZE NEW MEDICAL SOCIETY

COMPOSED OF NORTHERN MICHIGAN PHYSICIANS

Will Tend to Promote Closer Harmony Among the Physicians of This Territory

At the meeting of the physicians of this section of the state last week which included the doctors of Charlevoix and Antrim counties, the Emmet County Medical Society, the Tri-County Medical Society from the territory around Cadillac, and the Grand Traverse and Leelanau County Medical Societies, a new organization was formed which is known as the Northwestern Michigan Clinical Society.

Dr. R. B. Armstrong of this city, was elected president of the organization. Dr. Fralick, of Maple City, was made vice-president, and Dr. B. H. VanLeuven, of Petoskey, secretary and treasurer.

The object of this organization is to promote a closer harmony between the physicians of this section of the state which will tend to better the service in which they are engaged. It will further develop the medical efficiency of this section and will enable the physicians to carry on greater work and make use of the available clinical material.

The society will work in conjunction with the extension of the University of Michigan.

Meetings will be held four times a year, at different parts of this section and the next one may be held at Petoskey in September. Cadillac will no doubt get the meeting following that. At the various meetings men from the University school will conduct clinics.

TEACHERS WATCH PLANTING OF FISH

Made the Trip on Steamer Bruce Saturday

The teachers of the Charlevoix public schools spent last Saturday afternoon on Lake Michigan watching the process of fish planting.

The trip was made on the Steamer Bruce which was planting white-fish on this trip. After returning from the big lake the teachers were given a ride on Pine Lake.

They all reported having the best kind of a time and found that fish planting was most interesting.

The "Miracle Man."

The "Miracle Man," a Paramount Arterial picture, will be shown on the screen at the Palace Theatre on Saturday and Sunday evening of this week. Manager Monn is to be congratulated on securing this attraction, as when it appears here it will be the first time it has been shown in any theatre north of Grand Rapids.

If troubled with headache or in need of glasses, consult J. Leahy, the Optometrist, at the Hotel Charlevoix, Monday, May 17.—Adv. 191t.

KETCHAM'S TALK WAS ENJOYED

MASTER OF STATE GRANGE SPEAKS AT POMONA

Marion Center Grange the Mecca for Charlevoix Grangers on Thursday Last Charlevoix Pomona Grange held a very successful meeting with Marion Center grange on Thursday afternoon and evening of last week. Members of the order were present from all parts of the county and unusual interest was shown in grange work.

The doings of the day commenced with a pot luck dinner at the noon hour. It was a real farmers dinner which means there was plenty to eat and drink. It might be stated here that if one wants a real good meal, make it a point to attend a grange meeting or a meeting where the farmers' wives furnish the eats. There is always well loaded tables and an atmosphere of welcome premeates the dining hall.

After dinner grange was called to order in the fifth degree by Overseer Frank L. Bird, who acted as master in the absence of Bert Fuday, pomona master, whose resignation was accepted by the grange. After routine business was transacted, the meeting was turned over to the lecturer, who had provided a fine program.

The leading speaker of the day was John C. Ketcham, Master of the State Grange and lecturer of the National Grange. Mr. Ketcham, who is one of the best known men in the state, gave an interesting and clear talk on grange work and its objects. Mr. Ketcham, who has been master of the state grange for the past eight years, stated this was to be his last appearance as master, as he had received all the honors due any man and had come to the conclusion that it was better to resign the office before its members wanted him to, than to continue until the members desired him to vacate. He wished it understood, however, that his being a candidate for congressional honors from his home district had nothing to do with his determination to quit his present position. His remarks were given close attention by his delighted hearers, both during the afternoon and evening talks. Several numbers on the program deserve special mention and were applauded by those fortunate enough to be present.

During the evening session the reminder of the program was carried out. State Master Ketcham again addressing the audience. The meeting was a success from start to finish. Members of Charlevoix grange who furnished special music are to be congratulated. The next meeting will be held with Maple Grove grange June 22.

GROUND, NOT SUBJECT TO TAXATION

Supreme Court Settles Question in a Recent Decision.

The supreme court, in an opinion just handed down, sustained the contention of the Bay View Camp Grounds' association at Petoskey that it could not be taxed for highway improvements in view of the terms of the provisions of the act under which the association was incorporated.

This provided for an agreement with Bear Creek township, Emmet county, in which the grounds are located, by which the association was given the right to collect money for highways and spend it within its own grounds. Under a later act, which did not specifically repeal the incorporation act, the method of taxing for highway improvements and repairs was changed and the association refused to pay the taxes for three years. Suit was instituted by a citizen to provide for the sale of the grounds for the taxes, but the court holds that the incorporation act was not repealed and the association is not bound to pay the tax.

DRINK HOT TEA
FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hainburg Breast Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Rub Pain and Stiffness away with a small bottle of old honest St. Jacobs Liniment

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 30 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Liniment" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out of your back and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly!

"More Power"

You know what happens when a car runs dry for lack of gasoline—it is just naturally out of business.

In other words you can't run a car without gasoline. A telephone company, or any other company, is in exactly the same fix; it can't run unless it gets enough financial "power" to keep the employees working "on all cylinders", and to insure proper operating conditions.

WE MUST HAVE

You also know that it takes more "power" today to keep a business going than it ever did before. Workers must be paid more if they are to meet the increased cost of living, also everything that goes into the building and re-pairing of property has gone up in price.

So long as you furnish the necessary "power" we will see to it that the telephone keeps running.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT SUCCESSFUL MEN

Good ideas are as plentiful as the leaves on the ground in autumn; and, like the leaves, they are kicked aside as worthless by the average person.

He simply does not recognize them; or, if he does, he hasn't the nerve or energy to back them up. To the average man, a weekly salary, with the boss doing all the worrying, looks like a much better bet.

Meyer Gerson is different. If he weren't he would be getting about twenty dollars a week as a clerk. He owns a cigar store at Broadway and Forty-seventh Street, New York, which is about as large as an ordinary pool table. Nevertheless, its owner claims that he does more business in his special line than any other store of its kind in that neighborhood.

One day last fall Gerson got an idea—just a plain business idea. It looked good to him, and the more he thought of it the more eager he became to try it. Friends tried to talk to him out of it.

"You're crazy, Meyer!" one friend said. "You've been very lucky here; but if you go after the idea you'll lose every cent you have."

Gerson smiled at his friend's prediction, and continued with his idea. "There was nothing wonderful to it," he declares. "You see, one of my competitors had operated for years a store at the corner of Forty-second Street and Sixth Avenue. One day the landlord decided he could get more money by making three stores out of the one. The tenant objected to having his space cut down and to being asked to pay more rent in addition; but the landlord wouldn't make any concession, so the tenant finally moved out."

"The landlord then asked six thousand dollars a year for the small corner store, which wasn't much larger than a bookkeeper's desk. Yet, in spite of the limited space, I figured that I could make it pay. It was at this stage that my friends laughed at me and predicted financial suicide."

"Other dealers told me that I was going out of my mind. They said that with the existing competition and the high cost of stuff no independent dealer could afford to pay more than three thousand five hundred dollars a year in rent. When the manufacturers and jobbers heard that I was after the store they threatened to cut down my credit to practically nothing. It was lucky for me that I was doing a good enough business at the other store so that I could afford to pay cash for most of my stuff; for when I actually leased the new store the manufacturers and jobbers lived up to their threat."

"I opened the little place in December. At the end of the first day my cash register showed that I had taken in a few cents over $371. Even then my friends thought it was just a 'flash,' produced by the novelty. But I thought differently; and the best proof that I was right was that every day's business turned me in a good profit."

"When I had been there less than three months the landlord said that the former tenant wanted to get back into the little store, and wanted to know if I would sell out. I told him I'd sell, provided I was paid for my trouble. I gave him my figure and a week later he returned to say that my terms would be met."

"I moved out immediately, taking with me my entire stock and fixtures, after having made about eighteen thousand on the deal. Now friends drop into my store and tell me what a clever fellow fellow I am! But I don't see anything clever about the thing. It was just a good idea, and I went after it. Hundreds of other dealers knew that the store was on the market, but none had the nerve to take a chance with it."

The average person wouldn't have touched that cigar store with a telegraph pole. He thinks that unless he can invent some mechanical contrivance he stands no chance of earning a comfortable income or accumulating a fortune. He doesn't realize that a good idea is an abstract invention—an invention for service or progress. And the man who keeps on the alert is bound sooner or later to run across a good idea.

It may come to him from an unexpected source. A cabinet-maker, for instance, doesn't have to design a new style or invent some tool in order to advance himself. He is just as apt to run into some idea that has absolutely nothing to do with his trade. As a concrete illustration note the following:

A certain man worked in a furniture factory, where his salary was so small it didn't even permit him to buy his luncheon. So his good wife, as desert she used to give him a put one up for him every morning, piece of homemade crumb cake, of which he was very fond. One day the man didn't feel hungry, and gave his cake to a fellow worker, who, in turn, divided it with a friend. The two liked it so well that they offered to buy a piece every day. On hearing of this, the wife suggested that the husband take the cake along every day, saying:

"What you get will pay our insurance." Before long the fame of the cake spread until every man in the shop insisted upon getting a piece for his luncheon. As a result, the wife opened a place to serve coffee and cake at noon. She was swamped with patrons from various factories. The husband finally gave up his job to help his wife. At the end of the first year their profits more than doubled his earnings for the previous two years.

Now, had the same man tried to open a restaurant at random in some other part of the city it's very likely that he would have failed. With the cake, however, he had a definite idea to back up. Had the average man been asked to bring extra pieces of cake, he would have looked upon it as too much bother, never dreaming that he was passing up an opportunity to get out of the rut.

An idea doesn't always hold the same amount of value or offer an equal chance of success to everyone. What may appear to be absolutely worthless to Tom may loom up as a sure-fire thing to Dick. Not infrequently, success depends upon what you tackle and how you go after it. A multimillionaire is justified in

IS IT "JUST A COLD"?

Charlevoix People Should Ask Themselves This Question.

Don't say: "It's just a cold."

It may turn into backache, rheumatic aches, achy joints.

Or other serious sickness that comes from weak kidneys.

Colds are due to congestion. Congestion makes the kidneys overwork to filter the blood.

Colds often leave the kidneys weak. First break the cold;

Then use Doan's Kidney Pills to avert the kidney dangers.

Let this Charlevoix resident tell you about them.

Mrs. Albert Lemieux, 704 State St. says: "A heavy cold settled on my kidneys, causing me much suffering. My back got so sore I could hardly get around. Spots appeared before my eyes, blurring my sight. I can never forget how badly I felt. I had dizzy spells, also. Mornings I felt more tired than upon retiring. On the advice of a druggist, I tried Doan's Kidney Pills and three boxes removed the trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Lemieux had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Friendly rivalry among milk producers and dealers is an important feature in the improvement of the milk supplies of cities, says Department Circular 55, "Milk and Cream Contests." The two kinds of contests—the one in which the dairymen prepare their own samples of milk or cream especially for the contest and the one in which samples are collected on the street without previous notification to the producers—are discussed in detail. The discussion includes the method of preparing milk and cream for entry in contests, the method of scoring on cards prepared by the dairy division of the bureau of animal industry, shipping and handling at destination, laboratory equipment for conducting contests, methods

SHADE TREE PLANTING

Every spring should see Charlevoix beautified by more shade trees. The following suggestions may well be remembered:

1. Don't plant too close together. Fifty to sixty feet space between trees is much better than the common rule of thirty-five feet.
2. Use narrow top trees for narrow street.
3. A street must have foliage that will withstand smoke, dust, pests, and a root system not affected by paving.
4. Mixing different kinds of trees on one street does not usually look well. A row all of one kind looks uniform and pleasing.
5. Property owners should be glad to pay for planting in front of their real estate, which will add far more than the cost of the improvement to the value of their holdings.

WHERE'S THE DIFFERENCE

A person who steals a loaf of bread for a starving family is a thief, and he is sentenced to a term of years in jail while his family continues to starve. A person who steals a million dollars is usually termed a magnet, very clever fellow. Sometimes he is apprehended, and a part of the huge fortune he has stolen is diverted to big attorney fees, and after a number of continuances of his case, various loop holes are pointed out to him and he escapes. The poor man, on the other hand goes to jail, and there you have what we call justice. Queer thing is justice.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens
So Naturally that Nobody can tell.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe. Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

for violating the law—a flagrant violation of the law. Everybody in the United States remembers that. But does anyone remember when the fine was paid? It never was paid.

Last summer a laboring man in a nearby town was caught with a half-pint of whiskey in his pocket. He was thrown in jail, dragged into court the next morning and fined twenty-nine dollars. With him, it was a case of "dig up" or go back to jail. He sent for his wife who brought twenty-nine dollars along with her, and the fine was paid. Chances are that if he had had the necessary quantity of the circulating medium to pay the lawyer to fight the case, he too, might have gone scot free. No attempt is made here to evade the fact that he violated the law. No desire exists to oppose the enforcement of the Michigan dry law. But the fact remains that he was punished.

This discrimination, on the part of Justice, is playing some part in the chaos which now exists. High priced lawyers for years have made monkeys of Uncle Sam and his department of law enforcements, while individuals less fortunate in the possession of worldly goods are warned not to monkey with the law, and they are given the limit, which is enforced if they do. The bootlegger, or the petty thief, if caught with the goods is punished. He seldom escapes. The profiteer the multi-millionaire violator of the law has the "goods" always with him. He is seldom punished. Why?

With only six per cent of the population of the world, and only seven per cent of the land, it produces:

- Sixty per cent of the world's supply of copper.
- Forty per cent of the world's supply of lead.
- Fifty per cent of the world's supply of zinc.
- Sixty per cent of the world's supply of aluminum.
- Sixty-six per cent of the world's supply of oil.
- Seventy-five per cent of the world's supply of corn.
- Sixty per cent of the world's supply of cotton.
- Forty per cent of the world's supply of silver.
- Fifty-two per cent of the world's supply of coal.
- Forty per cent of the world's supply of iron and steel.
- Eighty-five per cent of the world's supply of automobiles.
- Twenty-five per cent of the world's supply of wheat, refines eighty per cent of the copper, and operates forty per cent of the world's railroads.

AT THE MOVIES

Hailed by critics as one of the greatest motion pictures ever produced, the Paramount-Artcraft feature "The Miracle Man" will be displayed at the Palace Theatre on Saturday and Sunday next. It is the screen version of George M. Cohan's play that scored so emphatically on Broadway some months ago, and which in turn was based on Frank L. Packard's famous novel. No picture in recent months has had so much praise lavished upon it for the dramatic quality of its story, its keen characterization, and beautiful photography.

The story of "The Miracle Man" centers around an old patriarch of the hills who has gained a reputation for his power to heal the sick and crippled. To him come a band of unscrupulous crooks from the slums of New York—Tom Burke, their leader; Rose, The Frog, and the Dope—who have conceived the scheme of capitalizing the dealer's gift and taking the money for themselves.

What follows is one of the most absorbing stories ever unfolded on the screen. In the hands of such talented players as Thomas Meighan, Elinor Fair, Betty Compson, Lon Chaney, and W. Lawson Butts, the development of the chief characters under the influence of the deaf and blind patriarch is portrayed with admirable skill.

The new Marguerite Clark film, "A Girl Named Mary," which is being shown at the Palace Theatre, Tuesday, May 18th, is in no respect a "stunt" picture but there is one episode that shows a train wreck with notable realism. There is no attempt to show the fatal crash when it happens. Rather the scene depicts what happened a few moments later. The shattered coaches, the heroic work to rescue the maimed, and the other vivid details are shown in a clear and colorful manner. This is one of the fine features of this delightful little picture of the crisis in the life of Mary Healy, a girl stenographer, the role being played by talented Miss Clark.

This picture will be shown for the benefit of the Ladies' Literary and Sewing Club of the M. E. church, who are now selling tickets.

Ten miles used to be a long way

WHAT a difference in these motor-car days, when every point in the county is hardly more than "just around the corner."

People's ideas are changing, too.

They're beginning to figure out how much it is costing them to keep a car. And the man who is doing the greatest amount of figuring is the man with the moderate-price car.

II

There still seems to be a notion in some quarters that any tire is good enough for a small car.

That's not what the man who owns it thinks.

In recommending and selling U. S. Tires we are trying to see his side of the proposition—finding out what he wants in a tire and giving him that.

III

Large or small, U. S. Tires are built to only one standard of quality—the standard that produced the first straight side automobile tire, the first pneumatic truck tire.

Every tire that bears the name "U. S." is built the best way its makers know how. It isn't the car, but the man who owns the car, that counts with the oldest and largest rubber concern in the world.

IV

As representatives of U. S. Tires in this town, we offer you the benefit of our experience and advice in settling your tire problem.

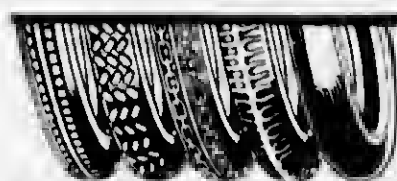

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S. Nobby.

For ordinary country roads—The U. S. Chain or Usco.

For front wheels—The U. S. Plain.

For best results—everywhere—U. S. Royal Cords.

Flying High

The man who remarked that "it beats all how expenses keep up" must have been studying the banking situation of the country, from which it appears that the discount operations of the Federal Reserve Banks during February totaled $6,517,439,082, which is an increase of 30 per cent over the total for February, 1919. War paper constituted 85 per cent of the total discounts for February of this year, but the proportion of war paper in the total of customers' paper rediscounted decreased from 36 in February, 1919, and 22 per cent in January of this year, to 16 per cent for February, 1920. The decrease in the relative volume of war paper is accounted for in the Federal Reserve Bulletin as "due in part to the diminution in the volume of outstanding Government securities, in part to the progress made by the public in absorbing such securities as long-time investments, and also to the abolition of the preferential rate previously granted." According to the Federal Reserve Bulletin "the improvement of the financial position of the Government is closely dependent upon the continued maintenance of a policy of economy." With the American public calling on their bankers to such an extent as to make it necessary to shoot six and a half billions or securities—mostly Liberty bonds, through the banks in this manner, there is only one inference—and that inference is that as individuals and as a people we are "flying high."

Although the war ended a year and a half ago our government expenditures are still tremendous. It has recently been reported that England has "balanced the budget," bringing it about that Government expenditures are less than Government receipts. But over here on this side of the water there is but little evidence of the reduction of public expenses.

Official reports give the Government's total expenditures from April 16, 1917, to March 31, 1920, excluding principal of the public debt, at $37,455,645,853 and the receipts for the same period excluding principal of the public debt, were $14,198,247,793. The excess of the disbursements over receipts for the war period was $23,247,398,060, and this amount represents the increase in the public debt, or the amount the country went behind. This great sum is represented in Liberty bonds, Victory notes and War Savings securities that are outstanding.

The Soldiers Bonuses

The one big drive for economy seems to be in the determination in Congress to prevent the former soldiers from getting their bonuses, which it is estimated would cost the government $2,000,000,000. The proposal to issue bonds to former service men is opposed by the Treasury Department and the other custodians of the public finances on the ground that a bond issue for the necessary amount could not be floated on the basis of interest which governed the Liberty loans—and if it could be put over, that it would further disturb the credit of the country, which already appears to have its maw full of Liberty bonds and other war paper.

Another evidence that we are flying high is shown in the payments of nearly a billion dollars into the Government treasury during March of the first installment of the income and excess-profits taxes for the year 1920. The reaction comes in the virtual strike of possessors of large incomes against investing in taxable securities except at higher rates of interest than were ever known before. Thus the cost of capital is boosted to take up the slack imposed by the government taxing process. Industry eventually assumes the burden, and it is represented in the higher prices of everything that is produced. Since the investment market fails to function, three per cent and five per cent interest is no longer attractive, and eight and ten per cent is expected from industrial stocks and other securities.

Making the Mare Go

The "money turn-over of the country" is terrific in its intensity, as shown by the Federal Reserve statements, but the mere act of paying up on Liberty bonds and then selling them or borrowing on them until your poor old Uncle Sammie groans under the load, doesn't get the country anywhere. The process has been so theatrical that the liquidation seems almost like using "stage money." But when it comes to capital for industry the story is different, as there is not a free flow of money, such as is essential to the prosperity of trade and industry. There is a homely old saying that "it takes money to make the mare go," and the absence of the essential capital to make the investment market healthy is traceable to a large extent to the operations of the excess profits taxes, income taxes and inheritance taxes. The fadists started in to outdo Henry George in schemes for levying taxes, and during the war they put over so much of their program that they succeeded in demoralizing the investment market just at a time when railroad and industrial reconstruction needed to be unhampered in order to perform those obligations which the public insistently demanded.

It cannot be overlooked that the government expenses are out of all reason, and that there is every need for retrenchment. The economy cheese knife could pare public expenses by the billions, and it would be to the best interests of the country to "do this little thing," and to get rid of non-essential bureaus in the government service by the wholesale. Obviously the reduction of government expenses to a point well within the government revenues is one of the crying public demands.

Bullying the Public

The recent strike of disgruntled railroad employees who refused to live up to the arrangements of their unions with the railroad companies, under which the railroads of the country are being operated, has emphasized the fact that the public does not propose to stand idly by any longer and see its common rights trodden upon by anybody. Citizens from all walks of life volunteered to keep the passenger trains running during the outlaw strike, and a number of trains were operated out of New York to the suburban towns with business men, town officials, engineering students and clerks as volunteer firemen, trainmen, etc. The New York Evening World commented editorially that "such railroad experience as it could muster furnished willing citizen firemen and trainmen," and that it "moved a goodly member of trains and demonstrated that if necessary it could move many more." Evidently the time has come when a strike without public support is precarious, and it is also evident that the public will no longer let itself be walked over and bullied; but on the contrary this same public has demonstrated that it is willing to take matters into its own hands—and emerge as master of the situation. It is doubtful whether there has ever been so splendid an example of the ability of the public to take care of itself as was shown in the outlaw strike and there is a striking indication in the events that have occurred of the great change in sentiment toward the railroads. Evidently the public has come to realize that their interests and the interests of the railroads are interests in common. This changed attitude of the public towards the railroads is plainly reflected in the broad and statesmanlike way in which the Interstate Commerce Commission is now going about its task of carrying out the provisions of the Transportation Act through which it is hoped to put the railroads on a solid credit foundation so that they can adequately expand and carry on efficiently the business of the country.

GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT

Get less meat if you feel Backache or have Bladder trouble—Salts fine for Kidneys

Most forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night. To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jai Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jai Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

EIGHTH ANNUAL TROUT SUPPER

PROGRAM AND EATS ALL THAT COULD BE ASKED FOR

Team Captained By F. O. Gillett Capture Large Number of Trout —History Made.

The 8th annual trout supper, held at the Blue Hall on Tuesday evening, May 4th, was a success both as to the splendid supper and the program of speeches and music which followed, and if anyone who was present went home dissatisfied, they would indeed be hard to please.

A good feature of the supper this year was the early hour at which it was served, the hour being set for 6:30 p. m. and the supper being actually served within thirty minutes of scheduled time, something of a record for affairs of this kind.

The team captained by F. O. Gillett won over the forces headed by E. H. Boss in number of trout caught and as usual the losers were forced to stand a lot of good natured joshing, but as Captain Boss has called for a recount and has kept the heads of the fish preserved in alcohol (wood) for that purpose, there may be a reverse in the result.

G. E. Townsend acted as master of ceremonies and, demonstrated fully that should he ever give up the banking business he could make good by touring the country as a toastmaster and after dinner speaker.

One of the best numbers on the program was a short talk by Mrs. Donald Patterson in which she explained the way in which the trout supper, as an annual event, first started eight years ago and how by hard work by the committee in charge and the co-operation of the balance of the members, it has made a success.

D. E. Clow, as one of the speakers, somewhat surprised those present by nominating, electing and then re-electing Leonard Wood as president of the United States. His statements, however, were questioned by some of the other speakers. Mr. Clow having just returned from the district convention at Cheboygan, was surely in a position to know what he was talking about, so opposing remarks carried no weight.

E. R. Harris, Donald Patterson and C. E. Bearss gave short snappy talks, none daring however to touch on politics so Mr. Clow had a corner on this subject.

The musical part of the evening's entertainment was perhaps the best yet offered at one of these affairs. It consisted of instrumental duets by Mesdames Clow and Taisey, a musical recitation by Mrs. Taisey and horn duets and solos by the Bearss brothers, Hubert and Howard.

The committee, who had charge of the supper, consisting of Mesdames Bearss, Peebles, Nelson, Eastcott and Gidley, had certainly worked hard and faithfully and too much credit cannot be given them for the success of the evening.

J. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be in Ellsworth, Tuesday, May 18th. Office at the Hotel Orient. Glasses guaranteed to fit.—Adv. 1911

DAIRY

CUSTING HIS BOARDER COWS

Iowa Dairyman Cuts Down on Feed Cost by Eliminating Unprofitable Animals in Herd.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
A good example of what co-testing associations are doing to help dairymen cut unprofitable milk producers is shown in the experience of an Iowa dairyman who reports that through the co-testing association he learned that one cow was paying him $2.40 for each dollar's worth of food, while another returned only 58 cents. This dairyman lost to time in selling the poor cow and five others which showed by test that they were not paying for the feed they consumed. This year he will be able to produce milk at less cost, thus increasing his profits. He writes, "I have cut down on the feed cost by eliminating the boarders, and can still further reduce it by using more clever and alfalfa than was available last year."

TESTS SHOW GERMS IN MILK

Multiplication of Bacteria Causes Rapid Deterioration—Value for Food Lessened.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Extensive experiments conducted at the government farm, Beltsville, Md., show that milk drawn into a sterile pail from dirty cows contained an average of 3,267 bacteria per cubic centimeter, while milk drawn from clean cows whose udders and teats were washed immediately previous to milking had a content of only 4,947 germs per cubic centimeter. These tests were made immediately after milking. Naturally on stanchion milk with the greatest leak would deteriorate most rapidly, due to the contamination of the germ. According to its value as a human food product, it would be greatly reduced, while its consumption on the city market would be especially scrutinized, and in some cases punished by the health authorities.

Private stanchion every dairyman to maintain his cows in an attractive, cleanly and sanitary condition every day in the year. In any way the appearance of the cow is an accurate measure of the value. In the same degree that neglected fences, overrun fence rows, unclean buildings and unclean machinery typify the shiftless, neglectful farmer, dairy cows which are dirty indicate the milk farmer who does not safeguard consumers against contaminated milk.

FOUNDATION FOR DAIRY HERD

Young Calves From Good Cows Are Satisfactory for Start, Say Government Specialists.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
It is not always necessary to purchase all mature animals in establishing a herd. Young calves from good dairy cows are a satisfactory foundation for starting a dairy herd. In the opinion of specialists, ordinarily the method advocated is to grade up common cows with a purchased bull, requiring a number of years of patient selection and breeding—a period sometimes discouraging to an energetic dairyman. Frequently this causes farmers who want results too quickly to change breeds.

BEGIN HOT WATER DRINKING IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

If you wake up with a bad taste, bad breath and tongue is coated; if your head is dull or aching; if what you eat sours and forms gas and acid in stomach, or you are bilious, constipated, nervous, sallow and can't get feeling just right, begin inside bathing. Drink before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will flush the poisons and toxins from stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and cleanse, sweeten and purify the entire alimentary tract. Do your inside bathing immediately upon arising in the morning to wash out of the system all the previous day's poisonous waste, gases and sour bile before putting more food into the stomach.
To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became loaded with body impurities, get from your pharmacist a quarter pound of limestone phosphate which is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.
Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Men and women who are usually constipated, bilious, headachy or have any stomach disorder should begin this inside bathing before breakfast. They are assured they will become real cranks on the subject shortly.

LEGION PUSH FOR MEMBERS

LESLIE T. SHAPTON POST OF CITY WILL BE BUSY

Service Men's Organization Asks Moral Support of Citizens in Big Campaign

The American Legion will hold a campaign for new members this week, the dates of the push being May 17-22. This drive will be different in that no financial aid is asked.

Leslie T. Shapton Post, No. 226, of this city, will be very active rounding up service men who have not yet joined the legion. Membership committees are actively on the job and will keep right at work all through the drive.

The great American public which has been the "drive" in so many intensive efforts of the last several years, has cultivated a fine taste in campaigns. It has come to be able to spot a good drive from one that is poorly handled. It can distinguish points of variety in a campaign. It has become a connoisseur in appeal.

The public, then, will be quick to recognize the essential difference of this American Legion effort.

Not "Drive" But "Push."

In the first place, it is not a "drive," but a "push." Back in the dim days of the early publicity experts borrowed the word "drive" from the slang of the day. Every one who went out after something fell into the easy habit of calling his campaign a "drive." Then, when it came time for the men who really knew what a war "drive" was to go out after new members for their Legion, they found that the word "drive" was puncheon as a blank cartridge. They had to dig themselves up a new word. So they called their campaign a "push," which is a great deal farther in implying relentless effort and resistless force.

A feature that the great general public should be quick to realize is that they, members of the public, will not be called on to contribute anything except good will. Positively no money contributions will be expected or received from them. They will be expected to exhibit their friendship, but not their check-books.

Only some three million men are eligible to take active benefit of the Legion campaign. The organization now has enrolled more than a million and a half former service men and women, leaving some three million who can belong but who do not.

The "push" then, is aimed directly at this minority. All of the combined efforts of the million and a half of their fellows will be devoted to bringing the absent into the fold. Which means that every legionnaire will have to take on and convince two comrades.

Only about one man in twenty is eligible to join the Legion. It is perfectly safe to say that hundreds of thousands of loyal Americans would give a good deal if they were eligible, by reason of active army, navy or marine corps service to come into the Legion. But they cannot, and it is only three million who are privileged to take advantage of the "push."

Asks Interest of All

But the Legion has no intention of passing up the general public, simply because it is not asking anything from the public. The Legion keenly desires to interest every American in its "push" because it believes it is to every American's interest to be interested, which is not as ambiguous as it sounds.

While only one American in twenty may be privileged to come into the Legion, every American must support, in his heart the Legion's platform, "For God and Country." Leaders in every field of American life have gladly and spontaneously endorsed the Legion's aspirations. It is widely recognized, although less than fifteen months old, as the greatest force for the established order in these United States.

That the general public feels that prominent citizens have come forward to lend their aid. General Pershing has endorsed the campaign and urged eligible army men to join the Legion.

Various welfare and civic organizations have endorsed the "push" and have volunteered to lend speakers and equipment to help make it a success. So the general public shows that it refuses to stay out. If a citizen cannot come in himself he intends to do his part to see that the eligible men do come in.

Wants All Service Men.

The Legion intends making special efforts to capture those men—and there are hundreds of thousands of them—who have every facility for joining a post, but who are the victims of inertia.

They belong in, and they know it. The Legion plans to get them by back-flashing an application blank into their faces and painlessly extracting their names and dollars.

Incidentally, the campaign will reach into the far corners of the earth. Already the Legion has posts in fourteen foreign countries, and these outposts of Americanism are expected to join in the "push" and extend the Legion's frontiers.

TWO HAMPTON BOYS MAKE CHANGE

Further Advancement in Their Respective Lines.

Word has been received that Harold and Victor H. Hampton, sons of W. E. Hampton of this city, have each made a new move, that will advance them a few notches nearer success.

Harold Hampton for several years has been at Ford, Ont., where he was president of the Canadian Lamp & Stamping Co. He recently resigned this position and has taken a more advantageous position with the Standard Varnish Co. This new move will take him to Cleveland, Ohio. He expects to move his family to that place in the near future.

Victor H. Hampton, since his discharge from service has been located in Detroit as attorney for the Gleaners.

He has resigned this position and on May 15th entered into partnership with Albert Sherman, a well known attorney. Their offices are at 1626 Dime Bank Building.

FIRST BANQUET WAS A SUCCESS

OVER SIXTY PRESENT AT HOTEL CHARLEVOIX

Charlevoix Commercial Association Invites All Interested in Charlevoix to Become Members

The first banquet of the Charlevoix Commercial Association held at the Hotel Charlevoix last Friday evening at 6:30 p. m. was a success, both as to attendance and the purpose for which the meeting was held.

After a fine fish supper the meeting was called to order by President J. L. Crane and the minutes of the previous meeting read and approved. Mr. Crane gave a brief outline of the work planned by the association, the need of co-operation among its members, and as this was practically the first regular meeting of the association held this year, asked each person in the room to become a member. The response to this suggestion was spontaneous, and out of some sixty men present everyone signed up as members of the association.

It had been planned by the committee in charge of the banquet to invite outside speakers, but owing to the short time between the time the previous meeting was held and the night of the banquet, it was found impossible to secure one and local men gave short talks on various subjects.

Judge F. W. Mayne was the first person on the program and spoke at length, touching several subjects. His remarks were well received and made a deep impression on his audience.

Speakers to follow were: A. A. Swinton, R. I. Lewis, E. B. Ward, O. D. Hammond and others, who spoke long lines of interest to all.

It was decided to hold a banquet of this kind the first Friday evening of each month. Membership to the association is open to everyone interested in Charlevoix and community. This means both business men, private citizens, and residents of rural communities. The object of the association is to organize a body of men to work for the welfare of not only Charlevoix, but for rural communities as well. If you have a proposition along business or social lines that will benefit the community, make it a point to attend these meetings and place your proposition before them.

ORGANIZE BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUB

BACK MOVE TO INTEREST COMMITTEE SAVES COUNTY YOUTHS IN FARMING TAXPAYER $7,500.00

Fifteen Boys and Girls From Charlevoix County Have Chance to Get Into This Club

The Boys' and Girls' club department at the M. A. C. and Armour's Farm Bureau are co-operating in Michigan this year making an attractive proposition to the boys and girls who are interested in growing potatoes and incidentally a free trip to the International Live Stock Show at Chicago in November.

The purpose of the work is to increase the knowledge of boys and girls in growing potatoes and to demonstrate the value of maintaining soil fertility.

There must be at least ten and not more than fifteen boys and girls between the ages of ten and eighteen, sign up for this work. Those who carry on this work agree to prepare the ground and care for one-half acre of potatoes. On one-half of this plot there must be applied 200 pounds of a 3-8-6 fertilizer. This fertilizer will be furnished by Armour's Farm Bureau, free of charge. When the fertilizer is received the contestant signs an agreement to carry on the work and when finished to furnish a complete report to the college and Armour's Farm Bureau, not later than Nov. 15, 1920. In case this report is not made the club member agrees to pay for the fertilizer at market price.

Armour & Company are putting up $250.00 in prize money, same to be used in paying the expenses of the five best potato growers of the state to the International Live Stock Show at Chicago next December. The basis for award will be made by the club leaders at the college. The winners will be taken care of by the Armour people and the best of care and entertainment will be provided and special trips will be planned for the winners. After the winners return from Chicago they will write a story of their trip a copy of which will go to the club department at the M. A. C. and one to Armour's.

The Charlevoix County Farm Bureau believes this is a good chance for some Charlevoix county boy or girl to go to Chicago next December and that there should be fifteen boys and girls who should get into this work. Every boy or girl who is interested should write W. E. Wing of Boyne City. The first fifteen boys or girls who will call Mr. Wing on the telephone or write him will be enrolled. More details about plans will be given later.

MONEY FOR EDUCATIONAL BUILDING

Raised By the Three Bells School District

In order to help raise money to pay off the indebtedness on the educational building put upon the fair grounds last year, a box social was held at the Three Bells School.

The fore part of the evening was spent in playing games after which the children rendered a program. Miss Stewart was present and gave a very interesting and helpful talk on educational matter. Following this the boxes were auctioned off. Mr. Will Grunt very ably acted as auctioneer and twenty-three dollars and twenty cents were raised from the sale of boxes. The school board allowed the children five dollars for piling twenty cords of wood in the shed. This was donated toward the fund making a total of $28.20.

Three Bells has every reason to be proud as Miss Stewart told us this was more than was raised by any of the other schools. Hurrah for Three Bells!

Big Money For Potatoes

During the past week, several farmers have taken home checks for from $300 to $1,750 for potatoes sold at the Muncie market. Muncie, probably, was where the school teacher propounded the old problem, "If I have 100 bushels of potatoes and sell them at 60 cents a bushel, what do I get for the whole?" and a pupil answered, "If the other farmers bear of it, you get a horse laugh."

COUNTY RETIRES ROAD BONDS

County Treasurer Explains Method By Which County Finances Will Be Bettered

At a recent meeting of the Charlevoix County Sinking Fund Committee held at the office of the County Clerk $100,000.00 worth of county road bonds were retired thus saving the county taxpayers 5 per cent interest on this amount of money for the next fifteen years which amounts to about $7,500.00.

This committee consisted of Charles Emrey, Richard Lewis, Malcolm McDonald and E. C. Chew.

The money obtained from the sale of these bonds was appropriated to the building of the East Jordan-Ells-worth road and the East Jordan-Ells-mira road both of which are now under construction. Each road was awarded $5,000.00.

County Treasurer Charles Emrey, has disclosed a plan by which the financial conditions of the county will be bettered to a great extent. At present Charlevoix county is raising by taxation a large sum which is applied upon the county road fund and a comparatively small sum which goes toward the county sinking fund.

The plan of the county officials is, to enlarge the amount of money in the sinking fund and decrease that awarded to the county road fund. With this money in the sinking fund the road bonds issued by the county can be retired and the money transferred to the road fund giving the county the same amount of money with which to do road work and at the same time saving the taxpayer the 5 per cent interest that the bonds bear.

Another good feature of this plan lies in the fact that it reduces the amount of the county's bond issue. At present this county is bonded to its limit. If anything should arise that demanded the raising of a certain amount of money in a hurry the county would not be able to issue bonds because of the fact that it has now issued its entire allowance. By retiring these bonds it would leave a way open to raise funds if any emergency should demand it.

PEOPLE CALLED SPECIAL ELECTION

In Wilson Township to Decide School Question

The township board of Wilson township met at the town hall on Friday, May 7th, to consider the petitions submitted to the clerk, asking that a special election be called to submit to the school electors the proposition of forming a single school district in Wilson township. They found that more than enough signatures had been submitted to make the calling of such an election necessary, and have posted notices calling this election on June 3rd, at the town hall.

The township unit would do away with all district boundary lines making it possible for each child to go to the nearest school without the payment of tuition and without other permission, except that of the township school board. Instead of five school boards in different parts of the township, one school board of five members would be elected, and these officers would have the powers of the Board of Education in a graded school district. They would have the right to consider where it is best to transport and where it is best to keep the one-room schools open. While it would not make possible a consolidated school, except with the consent of the school electors at a later election, it would at the present time equalize the tax rate throughout the entire township; lessen the expense of the conduct of school affairs and put the township in shape for any further movements that may be desirable. There seems to be a big demand for a change of some sort, and the big majority of electors who signed the petition seem to think that this is the change most needed at this time.

Costly Errors Give Game to East Jordan—Pitcher's Duel Between See and Gunderson

The Charlevoix High School baseball team lost their first game this season last Wednesday at East Jordan, making total of two games won and one lost thus far.

From every standpoint but one Charlevoix should have won the game easily, but too many costly errors threw the game away. The final score was East Jordan 5, Charlevoix 4.

The Charlevoix batters were far superior to their opponents securing nine hits to their five and always when they were most needed.

The game from the beginning was a pitcher's duel between See of Charlevoix and Gunderson of East Jordan. See had the better of the battle throughout, allowing but five hits, while Gunderson allowed the Charlevoix players nine. Ragged support and many errors robbed See of well earned game. Both See and Gunderson are reported to be the best pitchers in this section this season.

This week Charlevoix is playing a return game with East Jordan here and the boys are confident that they will reverse the score this time. The East Jordan boys are equally confident and the games should be a mighty good one from start to finish.

GIBSON TO MAKE TRIP TO EUROPE

GOES TO NEW JOB AT BATTLE CREEK NEXT AUTUMN

During Trip He will Visit Europe—Makes a Statement, Upon Resigning Present Position.

John I. Gibson, who has accepted the secretaryship of the Battle Creek Chamber of Commerce, will not report there until September 1, as he and Mrs. Gibson will carry out their original intention of visiting Europe this summer.

Mr. Gibson, has, however, resigned as secretary and manager of the Western Michigan Development bureau, after ten years' service, explaining that his acceptance of the Battle Creek position is due not only to his love for "the old home town," but to a desire to avoid the travel his more recent employment has entailed.

The Western Michigan Development bureau was organized in 1909. The purpose of the organization was to improve and advertise the agricultural opportunities of Western Michigan and protect investors against land sharks. Headquarters were planned for Grand Rapids, but as the movement met with but little support on the assumption that it was a private enterprise the officers were removed to Traverse City, where Mr. Gibson has spent a greater part of his time.

The bureau, under Mr. Gibson's management, has conducted an active advertising campaign for western Michigan throughout the entire country by means of exhibits of farm products, lectures, moving pictures, stereopticon slides, newspaper and magazine advertising and in the publication in all forms of educational information about the agricultural resources of the state. These efforts have brought thousands of settlers into the state all of whom have been aided to get the most out of their investment and helped to produce that far which their lands were particularly fitted.

Mr. Gibson was one of the original organizers of the Pike Tours, which resulted in the building of the West Michigan pike from Chicago to Mackinaw, and later organized the Michigan Tourist and Resort association. He also organized the Michigan Potato Growers' association and was the first executive officer.

Recently in co-operation with the United States government, Mr. Gibson supplied the department of the interior with a complete survey of all cut-over lands in Michigan and has constantly worked for a soil survey and classification.

Troublesome Times.

"I have little to say," says Mr. Gibson in retiring from the Western Michigan development work, "except to warn the people of Michigan that we are facing troublesome times in the matter of food production. Condition on the farms are so alarming that I fear to think or talk about it. I have met many business and manufacturing associations whose members are conscious of these conditions. They are willing to talk about improvements and ready to acknowledge what must be done, but we get nowhere in the final analysis. We are all too eager to consider the effect on our private affairs, what it will mean in each particular business to release men for the farms. What is required is concerted action, all over the state. When a man from the farm is released by a factory to go back to the farm he must not be hired by another factory or by other interests. Until that is made clear and operative, we shall continue to consume more than we produce."

She was able to save the horse and two cows that were in the stable. She then called for help to try and save the house, but only four of the neighbors heard the alarm. INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT SUCCESSFUL MEN

The fact that others give a certain idea a wide berth shouldn't stop you from going after it, provided you have analyzed it thoroughly, are fully equipped to handle it, and have faith in it. But don't stake your entire bank roll on ideas with which you are not familiar. In fact, you don't have to. You should be able to dig up ideas that you know thoroughly.

If the opinion of one person, or of a few, kept everybody away from ideas, success to-day would be somewhat of a curio. Leo Feist, the music publisher, for instance, would never have purchased the song "Over There."

After "Over There" had sold 450,000 copies it was thrown on the market by the original publisher. Several firms made offers for it, the highest being $15,000, until Leo Feist raised the bid to $25,000, an offer which put all the others out of the running. The wisecracks said that Feist was going out of his mind; that, at $25,000, he would be buying the biggest lemon of his career.

But Feist didn't think so. And he hadn't gone into the matter blindly. Before making his offer he had analyzed the situation and discovered that the song was practically unknown in the West, owing to the original publisher's lack of distribution facilities. Feist had an idea that "Over There" would, if properly exploited, pass the two million mark in sales. It looked to him like the song of a century.

Now, as about one song out of every ten thousand published reaches this two million record, you will readily see that he wasn't picking any sinecure for himself. Those who had lost out on the bidding said that Feist would be lucky if he sold another half million copies. Nevertheless, he took over the song for $25,000, and started an extensive advertising campaign. At the end of five weeks he had disposed of 600,000 copies. He has gone far beyond a two-million-copy sale and has not only made money on the sheet music, but cleaned up a fortune on the mechanical royalties.

Feist simply had an idea, that of bringing two things together—the West and "Over There."

F. W. Woolworth did the same thing in another way. And it was an impatient employer who gave him the chance. Mr. Woolworth was instructed by his employer to gather some remnants from several shelves, make a job lot of them, and get what he could. He did, and then stuck a sign up offering any article for five cents. The rapidity with which the remnants disappeared at the bargain price gave Mr. Woolworth his idea for a five and ten-cent store. The average man would not have seen any idea in the quick sale, and would have forgotten the matter as soon as the remnants had been sold. Mr. Woolworth borrowed money to try out his idea, and although it failed to get across in several cities he stuck to it until he had turned defeat into victory. As a result he accumulated a fortune of some forty million dollars.

Sometimes an idea has to do with your own natural or acquired ability. Charlie Chaplin gets a million a year because he had faith in an idea pertaining to himself.

It isn't so long ago that he was earning a small salary in vaudeville. When the movies became all the rage he got the idea that he could make a success of acting for the screen, but no one believed him. Nevertheless, he kept after the producers until one finally gave him a contract and sent him to California. The head director on the coast, so the story common out there runs, didn't relish the idea of Chaplin having been engaged over his head, and refused to give the new-comer even a chance to work.

Now, Chaplin had a contract that called for his weekly salary, whether he worked or not; and had he been the average man he probably would have been satisfied to draw his salary and let the director and the producer fight it out. But he was there to prove that he could make people laugh, so he hung around, waiting for a chance.

It was chance that finally threw an opportunity into his path. Another director had been told to go to the races to get some views, and as he was about to leave, the head director, referring to Chaplin, said:

"I wish you'd take the pest along with you, so I'll get a few hours of peace."

Chaplin went. When the camera man was all set for action, Charlie suddenly had an idea. He figured that he could lend some comedy to the pictures by walking in and out of the range of the camera, just as a rube would on seeing pictures taken for the first time. The director liked the idea and offered no objections.

Back at the studio when the prints had been developed, Chaplin insisted that the head director look at the pictures. To get rid of "the pest" the director did look at them; and what he saw convinced him that the new comedian was a find. What Chaplin has accomplished since then is known to millions.

And there is Joseph B. Schuster who was just an ordinary barber a few years ago. An idea, which he worked out, has put him into the millionaire class today. Where he worked the boss made a practice of using about thirty towels a day for several hundred customers. Each towel, after having seen service, was run through boiling water and used again. The same razor, cup, brush and comb were used on customer after customer without getting any real cleansing.

Mr. Schuster got the idea that a barber shop with every article immaculate, and with every customer getting a perfectly clean towel, razor, cup, soap, comb and brush, should be a big success. The fact that the public had put up with slipshod methods didn't worry him. He

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take Salts for Back-ache or Bladder trouble—Neutralizes acids.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urino-s waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull aching in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

MEMORIAL DAY

Memorial Day is almost here—the day which is most strongly twisted into heart strings of the nation. It is the day when with solemn ceremonies we dedicate anew our love and fealty to the defenders of the nation and in loving memory decorate our soldier graves with fairest flowers.

This year will cause wounds hardly healed to break out afresh. Old griefs will wake to life again. Our youthful dead are so close to us that we grieve as a nation—not as sections of a nation.

It does not matter whether the beautiful decoration day ceremonial began with the act of a few warm hearted southern women or with an order from General Logan. The claimants to having been first to observe the day each have their adherents but after all what does it matter. The great thought should be: How will we spend this day so fraught with sorrow and grief? Will we make of it a high holiday with feasting and dancing or will we devote it to deeds which will perpetuate the memory of our beloved dead?

A program for the day which includes the planting of an out-door stage in park or playground for the use of future generations has been arranged by the director of recreation of the Michigan Community Council Commission at Grand Rapids and may be had for the asking. There is a place for every organization in the city on the program and yet so simply is the arrangement made that it can be easily prepared with but little expense.

The result will bring a community interest that will last through the generations to come. On the stage so planted will be given future Memorial day ceremonies. Fourth of July orators will welcome such a rostrum and the school children will hold high festival there at the close of school. It will serve to fill many needs and will always be a thing of beauty and memory. What more fitting way could be found to mark this day of grief and solemnity?

After the ceremonial, for the sake of the children and their ideals, let us spend the day quietly. Let each group include some veteran of one of our great wars and let him tell the stories of his experiences, so that the children may learn history from those who helped to make it.

And as we go through the solemn ceremonies we will temper our grief for our beloved dead with an abiding faith all is well with them. That they are at rest and have found peace and contentment in that great

"Somewhere," which we cannot place but which our hope and love creates.

PALMER'S PROMISE AND PALMER'S ACCOMPLISHMENT.

The departments of justice is reported to be preparing to abandon its campaign against the high cost of living, because it has been unable to accomplish much. The newspaper files now show that the department of justice made many brave assertions of what it intended to do. Last August Attorney-General Palmer promised vigorous action against profiteers large and small. In the same month he said that definite progress was being made against the high cost of living. In September he sent word to Indiana that profiteering should be made unpopular, and in October he was warning beet sugar wholesalers that 10 cents a pound was enough to charge. In December, he asserted that food prices might be expected to decline with the advent of the new year. He issued a statement when the five big packing houses were "dissolved" assuring the country that much more had been accomplished for the American people through this compromise than would have been possible in a long drawn out legal battle. The promise made were full of encouragement but they were not fulfilled. The attorney-general would have made a great record had the handlers of necessities taken him at his word and reduced their prices. Instead of that many prices were increased. So the time has come, it seems, when promises will be reduced to a minimum. The attorney-general is engaged in seeking the democratic nomination for president. Meanwhile, it must be expected that he can give too much attention to cutting the living costs. The whole campaign of the department to reduce food prices is somewhat reminiscent of the king of France who marched up the hill—and then marched down again.

The latest scheme for a bonus to the soldiers involves "a tax of one per cent on final retail sales of all businesses having a total sales in excess of $1,000 a year." Why not be frank about it, and say, a tax of at least one per cent and probably much more on all retail purchases? That is of course what it would amount to. No power on earth could prevent the dealers from adding the amount of the tax to the selling price of the goods, so that it would be the purchaser who would have to pay for it. Nor would such a tax upon purchases be confined to concerns doing more than $1,000 business a year. When the big fellows put up their prices to cover the tax, the little ones would follow their example. And while the seller of the goods would in form pay the one per cent tax, the purchaser would in fact pay two or three per cent more for his goods. If the people of this country want such a system, why, that is the sort of system they want. But at least let them understand precisely what the thing means and what its result would be.

It isn't surprising that some of our most enthusiastic boosters of the un-American league of nations are opposed to the defense by the United States government of American life and property in Mexico in view of the fact that Carranza has been so deep in the deal to hand control of the oil production of Mexico to European interests.

Vice President Marshall says the churches ought to practice what they preach. If Mr. Marshall ever re-reads the platforms upon which he was elected he ought to realize that there are institutions other than the churches which seem to need this advice worse.

The New York Times continues to compare Mr. Wilson to Lincoln. There was once a fond owner of a Missouri mule who imagined whenever the pet brayed he was listening to a nightingale.

The European diplomats who are suggesting the "pooling of war debts" do not seem to be insisting with the same enthusiasm upon the pooling of territorial acquisitions and indemnities.

PAYS $103,000 TO ITS EXHIBITORS

PRIZE REWARDS WORTH WHILE AT MICHIGAN STATE FAIR ENCOURAGES THE BEST.

MANUFACTURERS BUSY IN PREPARING THEIR GOODS

A record sum in premiums will be paid the people of Michigan this year by the Michigan State Fair, which will be held in Detroit, Sept. 3 to 12.

G. W. Dickinson, Secretary-Manager of the fair, says that the total amount of prize money offered by the fair will be more than $100,000. This is a large increase over any previous year, and it is one of the largest sums offered by any state fair in the United States.

"The way to get good exhibits," says Mr. Dickinson, "is to pay liberal premiums for them. When a farmer has put in a year's full time on a prize animal or breed, or several years' time as may very possibly be the case, he believes that he is entitled to a prize-reward that is worth while."

"Our primary purpose at the Michigan State fair is to promote the raising of the very first-grade products of the farm, so our policy must be such as to make our encouragement worth while. Every year since I have been manager of the fair, I have offered bigger premiums and more of them. And every year, we have not only had better exhibits, but the public has patronized our fair in such increasing numbers that our gate receipts profits have more than made up the difference."

"We want farmers from every part of the state to let us know what they have. The state will be surprised this fall at the tremendous number in which the manufacturing concerns of Michigan have decided to show their product at the fair. To keep the whole fair well-balanced, the farmers must show a similar enterprise—and it will be worth to a white."

MICHIGAN FAIR NOW LARGEST IN WHOLE U.S.

Largest state fairs in the United States are those conducted by Texas, Iowa, Minnesota and Michigan. The exhibits of these great states run along up and back, but last year, Michigan Fair went into the topmost position.

The others followed in this order: Minnesota, Iowa and Texas. G. W. Dickinson, Secretary-Manager of the Michigan fair, believes that this year's show, Sept. 3-12, will confirm the Wolverine State in its position of supremacy. Michigan's industrial cities, entering great exhibits of manufactured products, help the success of the show, and the farmers of the state are not lagging.

MICHIGAN STATE FAIR TOLD IN A NUTSHELL

Dates, Sept. 3-12.
Place, Detroit.
Million attendance predicted this year.

Now largest fair in nation, and admittedly the country's standard.

As indicating interest, exhibit space nearly sold out now.

All profits go into bettering the fair.

G. W. Dickinson, Secretary-Manager at Detroit, promises many new improvements this fall.

Helpmates at Reasonable Prices.

In Mongolia there are only two modes of marriage: capture and purchase. The cost of a wife varies from five camels for a young girl to thirty or forty camels for an old widow, the latter being quoted higher than all other classes. In statements relative to price obtained in Mongolian society it was brought out that a wife may be bought for five pounds of rice in that country.

Auto-intoxication.

Auto-intoxication is self poisoning and has nothing to do with the modern auto. It is due to toxins produced by bacteria within the body, from putrefactive decay of its poisonous products or from bacterial fermentation in the intestine.

Mechanical Stoking Patent.

The first patent for mechanical stoking was taken out in 1783, the invention of James Watt.

"Dead Fruit"

Leaving baseball, football and boxing aside, there is no longer a great disparity between woman's and man's athletic prowess. But whether the women should be permitted to compete with the men in the golf, tennis, shooting, and other championships is debatable ground. If the men oppose it, one can hardly blame them, for it must be years before victory over a woman will be regarded as anything but "dead fruit" and defeat as anything but a disgrace.

Origin of "A 1"

"A 1" is a symbol originating in the Lloyd's Maritime Insurance association denoting a ship that has been found first-class in construction and equipment. The "A" is for good construction and the "1" for good equipment.

Bowls and Democrats

When Cleopatra vamped Antony they were wont to "wander through the streets, and note the qualities of people." In those early days of which Brer. Shakespeare wrote there was not as much difference in people as now, and if the drama depicted by Theda Bara decked in her scant costume gave us a correct line on Cleopatra we will have to assume that the dress making profession was usually on a strike, and that cops were not making any arrests for abbreviated wardrobe effects. COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Council Chambers, May 17, 1920
The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date Mayor Rose presiding. Aldermen present, Geneit, Hamilton, Levinson and Washburn.

Minutes of meeting held May 10th, were read and approved.

Enter Ald. Wood.
Moved by Levinson seconded by Washburn that the petition of Anna McGeehan for permission to construct cement sidewalk on Petoskey avenue, north side of Int 7, block 6, Dixon's second addition, be granted.
Motion prevailed.

Moved by Wood seconded by Washburn, the Electric Light Committee be authorized to purchase the necessary fire equipment for the Electric Light and Water Plant.
Carried by following aye and nay vote. Ayes, Geneit, Hamilton, Levinson, Washburn and Wood. Nays, none.

Moved by Wood seconded by Levinson adjournment.
Archie Livingston, Clerk.

the "qualities of people" were not so varied then as now, for those were the early days when Antony hoisted his glass and commanded "Fill our bowls once more; let's mock the midnight bell." And Theda Bara leads us to believe that Cleopatra would lift her bowl, and defy midnight bells by dancing all night till broad daylight.

Quality in "bowls" excites the Nations politics, and it is said that Mr.
Bryan will "force" a prohibition plank in the National Democratic platform. In consequence he has bourbon democrats squealing with rage that "the shirt of Nessus is upon me" because they do not want prohibition in their platform. And they would duck it if they could.

The issue, in the opinion of Democrats at the Capital, evidently cannot be side-stepped and there is, in consequence, gloom in the "bowls" of the politicians.

Making the Railroads Function

There is a determination in official and railway management circles to get the railroads of the country up-to-date. That is the reason why there has been so much talk in Washington about a half billion dollar treasury loan to the railroads for the immediate purchase of cars and engines in order to relieve the serious equipment shortage. Senator Cummins convened a conference between the Interstate Commerce Commission of the Senate and Representatives of the leading New York financial institutions at which expert investment advice was solicited as to the capacity of the market to absorb new railroad securities.

Telegraph appeals to Washington for more freight cars, coming from farmers, livestock raisers, lumbermen and other western agricultural interests have been received by members of Congress, the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the Car Service Commission. This has been supplemented by personal visits of grain and livestock men who have come to Washington from the Middle West to personally appeal to Senator Cummins, and Chairman Esch of the House Committee. The shippers are insistent that the alarming shortage of cars, which has existed for a long period, shall be cared for.
They say that there will be heavy losses during the coming crop-moving season on account of a lack of cars to handle their products. At the Washington conference it developed that the turning over of car and locomotive plans for the manufacture of war materials has resulted in a three year's shortage of orders for the new equipment, which is estimated at 225,000 freight cars, 7,000 passenger cars and 3,200 locomotives.
Railroad executives estimate that nearly one-half of these requirements must be met this year. The estimated cost of new equipment needed to make up the total war deficiency is $1,300,000,000, of which the estimated cost of the minimum 1920 requirements is $610,000,000.

The Railroads and Wall Street

Under the theory of the old-time political campaigners the railroads and Wall street controlled the country and worked hand in hand.
There must have been some mistake about this, since now, in their dire need, there is no investment money available in the great financial districts of the country for the weaker railroads. The stronger railroad companies who have placed their orders for $140,000,000 worth of new rolling stock and equipment have been warned by the investment bankers that the market will not absorb more than $100,000,000 additional of their securities. These loans in the market are costing seven and one-half per cent to eight per cent. Of the $300,000,000 fund in the Transportation Act, only $250,000,000 is available for new capital expenditures, and half of this is needed for additions and betterments, leaving only $125,000,000 for equipment.

If maturities of weaker roads have to be met from this fund, the balance for equipment will be even less.

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK AND BEAUTIFUL

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.
Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy, and you look years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

According to information received by Senator Cummins it appears that the builders of cars and engines will not be able to make any material deliveries until late in the crop-moving season, and that the bulk of the equipment will be delivered in 1921.

The Dye Industry

That the Senate sometimes get excited very easily was emphasized by the amount of surplus conversation occasioned by the alleged discovery that the DuPonts were attempting to corner the American dye market, to the exclusion of all future German competition. It would seem that almost since the age of man began we have been told that the only people in the world who could make dye stuffs were the Germans. The Du-Ponts, with a genuine determination to utilize their great munition plants for the purposes of peace, have about worked out a permanent solution of the dye industry that will leave us free from German domination of dependence. A year or two ago this sort of thing was "heralism in industry." All of a sudden some of the Senators get excited about it and become fearsome lest the DuPonts might not only be able to control the domestic situation, but would also control the dye business of Japan and China. It is to be hoped that while the speech-making is going on in Washington that this great enterprise of the DuPonts will succeed in putting over their dye-making plans in Delaware—monopoly and all—or at least monopoly enough so that we may be forever free from receiving dyes from Germany.

Unfortunately there have been several hold-ups in the program of freeing ourselves from the needs of German potash, and when Congress gets through fighting the war and declares peace, the Germans will doubtless immediately start sending us shipments of potash. This situation could be avoided if the nitrate plants and other industries that sprang up during the war, were developed to their fullest purpose in order that they might furnish the proper restorative for the soil.

Government By Speech Making

One of the closest students of national life is Samuel G. Blythe, the magazine writer. Mr. Blythe has made a discovery, and it is a wonder someone hasn't mentioned it before.
He says that Washington is governed by the spoken word—by speechmaking rather than deeds. Success, he believes, has been measured by oratory and the manner of remedy-ing evils has been to dictate a speech on the issue, to deliver it, and after giving it the widest publicity to let it go at that.

There are thousands of politicians in the country whose achievements could be scheduled under the above heading of "assets."

The country itself is about due to make its appraisements of its public servants, for this is election year.
And the probabilities are that "the spoken word" and "speech-making" will become the gauge for measuring the qualifications of those who will do the governing of the country.
Just like Mr. Blythe has said!

What'll Be the Issue?

A year ago the issue in American politics was "The League of Nations."
A little later it was: "Booze, or no booze?"

Now: "The soldiers' bonus."

Thus "Americanization" wobbles!

News From the "Front"

Several thousand "war workers" who completed their usefulness in Washington many months ago, and and have failed to resign, will be dis-

Edward Rugg, Kalkaska county sheriff three and one-half years, has resigned, effective June 1, because he cannot live on the $500 annual salary and fees, which since Jan. 1 amount to only $46. Rugg says, "My father was sheriff of this county twenty-six years ago and drew the same salary and obtained fees running into hundreds of dollars annually. The only difference between them and now is flour then sold at 50 cents per sack, potatoes at 10 cents per bushel, and fees were fifty times greater. Sheriff Rugg is referred to as "Honest. Ed." and has preferred to act as peacemaker in scores of cases rather than obtain fees through making arrests.

small amount of insurance. The fire engine and department from Vanderbilt were called to the scene and succeeded in saving nearby buildings and lumber. The plant had just been placed in shape for the season's cut.

A port Huron fisherman found in the St. Clair river a sealed vinegar bottle containing a note dated November 13, 1913, and reading, "Good bye, good bye, as the ship goes down.
I must leave now." The note is regarded as a hoax, and people are waiting to see whether a letter, written and mailed on the same date will not arrive presently to explain it.

An up-state editor, struck by the fact that conversation among young men, when they talked of wages, always ran in such terms as $75 a week, "$65 a week and expense account," and "$50 a week and commissions that bring it up to $80," decided to investigate for himself.
The jobs listed by a Y. M. C. A. employment bureau, he found, offered seldom more than $30 a week, and he concluded that the average paid, and that the large stories we hear are mere boasting for effect. Further light will be thrown on the subject, however, when he ascertains not the
the figure at which they are taken.

What

about your Home?

MAKE a list of the things which really ought to be repainted about your home —front porch steps, roof, screens, inside floors and stairs, furniture and walls. Then let us show you how little it will really cost and how easy it is to make the home attractive. The cheapest-in-the-end way to keep up a home is to have things painted when they need it, and Heath & Mil-for you to use. They are thoroughly dependable and

WEISS BUYS BLUE STORE BUILDING

Will Make Extensive Changes and Repairs

A deal was closed last week which will cause considerable of a shift in business affairs of Ellsworth.

Wallace Weiss purchased the Blue store from E. R. Harris and will remodel the building and move in about June 15th. This will cause the present occupants, D. E. Clow & Co. and H. L. Dawson, to seek new quarters. Mr. Dawson has, we understand, made arrangements to occupy the Davey building, which will be altered and repaired, and Mr. Clow will probably move his stock into the old pool room building next to the bank.

The Struik property occupied at present by Mr. Weiss will probably collapse as soon as the goods are removed and as a result every business place in town will be occupied.

EDITORIALS

Charles Edward Miller writes: "For five years there has been worldwide famine in facts." Yes, he didn't keep us out of war but he did keep us out of the facts while Geo. Creel was on the job.

Secretary of Agriculture Meredith says the business men must eliminate all useless employees. In other words they must not follow the example set by the Washington governmental departments.

Sir Auckland Geddes says: "It is essential that there be respect and sympathy and understanding between the British Empire and America." The way to bring that about is for each nation to attend to its own business and not try to put anything over on the other.

felt confident that the public would be willing to pay well for cleanliness. His friends told him he was too finicky, and that the busy business man wouldn't patronize him. Women might take to his pink tea idea, but there weren't enough women with beards to make it pay.

Schuster kept after his idea, however, until he interested several others. Finally a company was organized, and the first shop was opened in the Hudson Terminal Building in New York. It was a success from the start. Since then, other shops have been opened in the Pennsylvania station, the Commodore Hotel, Times Square, and elsewhere. Not one of the shops is able to handle the trade that wants to be served.

In each shop Schuster's ideas are in practice. Every customer gets a newly laundered towel, a fresh comb, brush, cup, and razor. No towel, comb or brush is used twice the same day. Each is put aside, after having been served, to be thoroughly washed and sterilized that night.

Before touching a customer, each barber must wash his hands. And a manager is in every shop to see that he does. Sometimes it takes several months to break a new barber into the habit of washing his hands. But he has to do it. And the man who introduced these sanitary methods has accumulated a fortune for himself and others.

HONORED AT UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

Has Been Elected to National Honor Society

According to an account taken from the Almont Herald, Herbert Taggart formerly of this city has been honored by the University of Michigan, by being elected to the National Honor society Phi Beta Kappa. Selection for this honor is based upon scholarship and personality and fifty-six were chosen from a class of one thousand four hundred students.

The Phi Beta Kappa fraternity is the oldest of the Greek letter fraternities, having been organized at William and Mary College, Va., in 1776. Chapters were organized soon after at Yale, Harvard, Dartmouth and other colleges. At present nearly all the Universities and larger colleges of the country have chapters. It is not a secret order, but is strictly an honor society, none being eligible to membership except those who have attained a high degree of scholarship.

AT THE MOVIES

One of the features of "Fools Gold," which comes to the Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday, is the scenery and settings. These are unusually beautiful. The picture was filmed in the great Northwest; many of the scenes were taken in the famous Cascade mountains where the scenery is ideal for picture making. Laurence Trimble, who directed this feature, found as much good material for location that he was constantly at a loss which of all the excellent locations to select. The result of the combination of good scenery and excellent photography is a wonderful production. An all star cast including Mitchell Lewis, Florence Turner and others makes the picture a special interest.

Reports from the Vitagraph Brooklyn studio reveal that "Daring Hearts," which will be shown at Palace Theatre on Friday was built into complete form by unusual production system. The main story phases of the subject were filmed first, and the subject could have been put together and issued in short order. But Vitagraph is said to have woven together other elements that required long effort. Photographers and directors were sent through portions of Alsace for special scenes.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Rev. Allburt, minister of the First Presbyterian church in Petoskey, will speak in the church on Sunday, May 23rd, exchanging work with Mr. Van Kirk during that day.

The Junior Society of Christian Endeavor will meet at 6:30 p. m. in the church parlor, under the leadership of Mrs. Cross and Mrs. Saltonstall. At the same hour the Sunday Evening Club will hold its regular meeting in the room below. Last Sunday evening we had a most interesting and instructive lesson on Birds, led by Mrs. Bailey. Rev. and Mrs. Allburt will have charge of the service on next Sunday evening. All young people of the church and congregation are urged to be present.

The Missionary Society will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. Harsha. Mrs. John Burns is the leader and the topic is, "Languages of the United States."

The deaconesses will meet Friday afternoon at the close of the Missionary program.

The morning service on Sunday, May 30th, will be appropriate to Memorial day. The minister will speak on the subject, "God and the War-Makers."

Their Name Is Legion

Harold had told me that his friend Robert was coming over with him to play after school. So when my son showed up without Robert, looking much disappointed, I asked the reason. Roused to Indignant Protest

HAVE ROSY CHEEKS AND FEEL FRESH AS A DAISY—TRY THIS!

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons

To see the thrice of healthy bloom on your face, to see your skin get rosy and clear, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside-bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of Limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the poisons, day's indigestible waste, old bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of Limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanse, sweeten and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatic twinges, also those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside-bathing will have them both looking and feeling better in every way.

John S. Haggerty, President Michigan State Fair.

John S. Haggerty, though one of the busiest manufacturers of Michigan, takes plenty of time to help foster the Michigan State Fair of which he is President. The administrative work falls on the shoulders of G. W. Dickinson, Secretary-Manager, but Haggerty maintains a close touch at all times. Last year, when the crowds got so big at the gates they could not be handled, he had pickets torn from the fence. Then he stepped in and acted as gate-keeper. In private life, he manufactures bricks. He has a model farm, and is a good road enthusiast.

MILLION TO MEET AT STATE EXHIBIT

MICHIGAN NOW HAS LARGEST FAIR IN UNITED STATES—DATES SET ARE SEPTEMBER 3-12

PROFITS GO BACK INTO CONTINUOUS BETTERMENT

An attendance of a million is predicted for the Michigan State Fair at Detroit, Sept. 3 to 12, this fall.

This estimate is based both on the public interest which has been shown in the fair so far this year, and on natural increase which may be expected over last year's showing.

When the last person passed through the turnstile at the 1919 show, the Michigan Fair had taken rank as the largest-attended institution of its kind in the United States. Every effort is promised by G. W. Dickinson, Secretary-Manager, to make this year's exhibition once again the nation's standard.

"Michigan's state fair," says Mr. Dickinson, "has become the greatest institution in the commonwealth for bringing its people together. No other activity fostered by the state brings any where near so many of its citizens together on common terms."

"In one way, it is the state's greatest educational institution. The character of fairs has changed greatly in the last few years. No one who attends a real fair nowadays can come away without having been mentally broadened and instructed. The city man sees the vast agricultural resources of Michigan; the farmer sees the cities' manufactured products which have given this state so advanced a position in the industrial world."

Every satisfactory feature of Michigan's fairs in the past will be retained this year, and many new ones will be added. Greatly increased gate receipts have made the fair profitable in late years, and under the state law, every cent of profit must go back into the permanent property and the annual exhibition.

Mr. Dickinson's policy has been to put on a better and better fair as the receipts warranted. And every time he has spent more money to put on a better fair, the public has insisted on attending it in such crowds that profits automatically increase. Then the annual circle is broken of plowing those receipts back into a better fair and a better show.

EXHIBITORS MUST HURRY TO GET INTO STATE FAIR

Exhibitors who plan on entering the contests at the Michigan State Fair, at Detroit, Sept. 3-12, this fall, will have to hurry.

So great has been the demand for space in the various buildings that G. W. Dickinson, Secretary-Manager, announces that he is all sold out in certain lines. Others are filling up fast. Mr. Dickinson is loath to close out any certain space without having heard from desirable exhibitors of previous years but the pressure for space is growing.

MICHIGAN STATE FAIR GREATER THAN EVER

G. W. Dickinson, Secretary-Manager, announces that it will in reality be far more than a million-dollar proposition. In exhibits, in premiums paid, in variety of farm crops and manufactured products shown, he declares it will be far greater than even last year's record breaker. It is now one of the largest state fairs in the United States.

CITY BUSINESS MAN TAKES BRIDE

Louis A. Moon Married at Petoskey Sunday

Quietly eluding their many watchful friends, Miss Elizabeth R. Galster of Petoskey and Louis A. Moon, of this city, were married Sunday afternoon at Petoskey. Later they drove to Oden, enroute to Detroit and other points on their wedding trip. At the wedding they were unattended.

The bride is a daughter of John J. Galster, and is stockholder in the Palace Theatre at Petoskey, in which she has taken an active part in the management. She moved to Petoskey several years ago with her parents, and has gained a wide circle of acquaintances.

The groom is the proprietor and manager of the Palace Theatre in this city and is one of the city's successful business men. He formerly conducted a general store at Boyne Falls. The newly married couple will make their future home here.

Baptist Church

Last Sunday, Rev. Joshua Roberts of Tawas City, director of Baptist Rural work, preached in the church both morning and evening, to large and appreciative audiences.

Our subscriptions to the New World Movement are coming up nicely, but there are still a number who have not reported. Can you not send in your subscription cards, so we will be able to close the work sooner?

Next Sunday the usual services will be held. Preaching at 11:30, Bible school at 12:45. B. Y. P. U. at 7:00, and preaching at 8, city time.

Mrs. Nellie Taylor, of Harbor Springs, spent the Sunday at the home of the pastor and attended the services in the church.

Mrs. Rice came home last week after spending two months' visiting in Arkansas and Illinois.

The County W. C. T. U. held a delightful session and lunch in the church last Friday.

Rival

It seems strange that the English word which means a competitor of some sort should have come from the Latin word "rivalis," pertaining to a stream. But we can easily imagine that the neighbors who lived along the river bank and used the same source for water would sometimes quarrel about their rights and perhaps become enemies.

CONFIRMED PROOF

Residents of Charlevoix Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Charlevoix, who so testified years ago, now say the results were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Charlevoix kidney sufferers.

Mrs. John Hull, 102 W. Lincoln Ave., Charlevoix, says: "I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for they have done me worlds of good. 'I suffered from an attack of lumbago. I tried various remedies but got no relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. In a short time they entirely removed the trouble. A short time ago my back and kidneys troubled me again but Doan's Kidney Pills brought me relief promptly.'"

FIVE YEARS LATER, Mrs. Hull said "I can speak just as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills as I did when I recommended them before. I use this medicine occasionally and it keeps my back and kidneys in good condition."

GOVERNOR CONTEST A FREE-FOR-ALL

RACE GIVES EVIDENCE OF BEING LIVELY ONE

O. B. Fuller Will Have Little Opposition for Auditor General Post—State Gossip

Three formal announcements during the past week have pushed Michigan's gubernatorial race for 1920 into a free-for-all class. The latest aspirants are, Frank B. Leland and Frederick G. Martindale, both of Detroit and Casius Glasgow of Scottville.

The fact that two of the candidates will be mighty factors in Wayne county with Alex Groesbeck and Horatio Earl, also figuring in the vote, has upset political dope and boosted the stock of the up-state candidate Milo D. Campbell and Luren D. Dickinson.

Race Will Be Lively
Speculation is now rife as to whether the lists will be closed. Some doubt it, but whether or not, a seven-sided race promises to give Michigan more gubernatorial campaign excitement than she has witnessed in some time.

Reports reaching Lansing indicate that there is a tendency on the part of the old line "regular" Republicans in Wayne to swing to Campbell, because the possibility of electing a Wayne governor looks hopeless. These forces are particularly opposed to Groesbeck, largely because of his failure to abate rising prices, despite his lengthy probe and investigation last winter.

The report that Governor Sleeper would enter as a third term candidate seems to be nothing more than a wild rumor. The governor has had a desire to represent Michigan in the United States senate, before he retired from political life, and observers attach only importance to a move for a third term in this respect.

Sleeper Has Great Power
Few doubt that with the present field of candidates, and the powerful political backing Sleeper has, he would make a most formidable candidate. And, they argue, should he step out of the political light for two years and attempt to "come back" when the senatorial campaign is on, his chances would be nil.

Personally Governor Sleeper would not turn down an opportunity to go to Washington as a Michigan senator, but such a step entailing removing from the state, or at least an absence of nearly 11 months a year and the governor has a strong feeling to want to spend the remainder of his days in the state that twice honored him with the executive chair.

Vaughn Will Retire
It is assured in the race for secretary of state that Coleman C. Vaughn of St. Johns, three times elected to that post, will not be a figure. Mr. Vaughn has definitely decided that he will step out this year, leaving the fight to two candidates thus far mentioned, State Senator Charles Deland, of Jackson and Henry Croll, Jr., of Eaverton.

There is small indication that O. Fuller of Delta county will have opposition for the post as auditor general. Mr. Fuller has been an exceedingly satisfactory official to the Republican and Democratic ranks.

Frank E. Gorman, who has served state treasurer since his appointment last year to succeed Samuel Bell, when the latter resigned to become a member of the public utility commission, will in all probability a candidate for re-election, and without opposition. There have been reports of others seeking this post, so far have failed to materialize.

Four Seek Attorney General
Four candidates have been mentioned for attorney general to succeed Alex J. Groesbeck, whose campaigning will be confined to his race for governor, and should these four into the race, it will make it lively. Those prominently mentioned are Paul Woodworth, of Bad Axe, a son of Fred Woodworth, Sleeper's son and present food and drug commissioner; H. E. Chase of Grand Island, Charles Nichols of Ionia, who in the recent Newberry trial member of the defense counsel, Verline Wiley of Sault Ste.

Marquette. The judges to the supreme court named by the electors in the other election to fill the vacancies caused by the death of Justice Under and the resignation of Sharpe and Justice Clark, now serving on the supreme bench, were appointed, and both will be candidates for re-election.

"Warm" Summer in View
Usually the election of a supreme court judge takes place in the spring election, but the law provides that in the event of a vacancy, the office shall be temporarily filled by the governor and an election held in the fall.

With an issue to be more or less raised because of President Wilson tossing the peace treaty in to the presidential campaign, advocating the condemnation of the Lodge reservation; with a seven-or-more-sided scrap on for governorship, and a lively contest in view for the attorney general's berth, Michigan has in store, one of the "warmest" and most exciting political summers that she ever experienced.

OLD SOLDIERS ARE EXEMPT

FROM TAXATION ONLY UNDER CERTAIN CONDITIONS

Must Make Affidavit That the Property is a Homestead in Actual Use—The New Law

A good deal of difference of opinion has been occasioned in many counties in the state by Supervisors enforcing the new law in reference to soldiers' exemptions. Section 7 of the General Tax Law as amended by Act 331 of P. A., 1919, clearly defines what old soldiers and sailors and to what extent and under what conditions they are exempt from taxation.

Especially the popular belief that all soldiers and sailors are exempt and to the full extent of their property, and whether they make affidavit or not is a mistake.

The new law says section eleven: "Eleventh. All real estate to the value of one thousand dollars used and owned as a homestead by any soldier or sailor of the federal government who served three months or more during the Spanish-American, Civil or Mexican war, and all real estate to the value of one thousand dollars used and owned as a homestead by any wife or widow of such soldier or sailor; Provided, however, That should such homestead exceed in value the sum of one thousand dollars, it shall be exempt only to the amount of such sum: Provided further, That any soldier or sailor or the wife or widow of any such soldier or sailor desiring to accept the benefits named in this section as to the exemption from taxation shall annually make and file with the supervisor or assessing officer an affidavit stating under oath that he was a soldier or sailor of the federal government during the Civil, Mexican or Spanish-American war for a period of not less than three months, and in case it be the wife or widow of a soldier or sailor making such application, such affidavit must state that she is the wife or widow of a soldier or sailor of the federal government at the present time, who served not less than three months as such soldier or sailor during the Spanish-American, Civil or Mexican war. The said affidavit shall be sworn to before said supervisor, assessing officer or any officer authorized to administer oath and then filed with the said officer in his office, where the same shall be open for inspection. Any person making a false affidavit in any particular for the purpose of exemption from taxation shall be deemed guilty of the crime of perjury, and punished accordingly. Provided, however, That this exemption shall not operate to relieve from the payment of taxes any of the persons hereinbefore enumerated who are the owners of taxable property of greater value than three thousand dollars.

Methodist Episcopal Church

PROCLAMATION BY THE MAYOR

Owing to considerable dissatisfaction among our citizens, the confusion of conducting business in a community where two different times exist, and the presentation of petitions signed by leading citizens for and against the so-called "day light saving plan," it is my decision and also that of a majority of the Common Council, that the City of Charlevoix go back to what is commonly known as "railroad time." This action is taken with a view of eliminating, if possible, all argument for or against the time we are now working under.

Therefore, I request that at midnight, the evening of May 31st, 1920, all timepieces in the City of Charlevoix be turned back one hour. Dated, May 26, 1920. Signed: S. M. Rose, Mayor.

ROAD BUILDING MAY BE STOPPED

STATE UNABLE TO DISPOSE OF BONDS

No More Bridge Contracts to Be Let Until Situation Changes—Outlook is Bad

Road Commissioner Hammond is in receipt of the following letter from State Highway Commissioner Frank F. Rogers, relative to the existing conditions regarding road building. According to his letter, the State Highway Improvement Loan Board is unable to dispose of sufficient bonds, at usual rates, to finance the building of roads already commenced, without undertaking the building of roads that have been planned.

In some sections of the state public sentiment is against the building of public highways at all, due to the shortage of labor, believing, as they express it, that all available labor should be engaged on farms in the production of food supplies, thus doing all possible to relieve the threatening shortage along this line.

The situation right here at home is along this line. Commissioner Hammond states thus far it has been an impossibility for him to hire men enough to successfully carry on his road building operations. The same condition exists in all parts of Charlevoix and other counties. His present working crew consists of men who have not heretofore been employed as farm laborers, and it may be his decision to continue his road building operations with small crew during the present, finishing only work already under construction. His action, however, has not yet been fully decided. Mr. Rogers letter, which follows outlines the general condition in the state:

May 11, 1920.
Board of County Road Commissioners, Charlevoix, Michigan.

Gentlemen: Under present conditions there appears to be serious question as to whether state highway bonds can be sold. The bond market at the present time is very weak and the outlook for the immediate future apparently offers no hope of early relief. As a result of this situation it is necessary that the letting of new contracts shall be postponed until general conditions improve, unless some method can be found of disposing of the bonds other than in ordinary channels. At the last meeting of the State Highway Improvement Loan Board the following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, owing to the financial situation throughout the country and the prevailing high rate of interest on securities of all kinds now being issued, there appears to be serious doubt as to the ability of this Board to sell State Highway bonds under the conditions prescribed by Act 23 of the Public Acts of 1919, extra session.

Whereas, the continuance of the present road building program of the state and the letting of additional contracts for the improvement of highways and the construction of bridges will necessarily require the raising of money by the sale of bonds, therefore

Be It Resolved, that in view of the present conditions and the premises aforesaid, it is the opinion of this Board that contracts for the construction of roads and bridges, in addition to those now outstanding, should not be entered into by the State Highway Commissioner, except in cases of imperative necessity, unless and until the financial situation so far improves as to permit of the sale of State Highway bonds in accordance with the statute."

In some counties of the state local interests are insisting on the building of some roads that are of vital necessity, and offers have been made to assure the purchase of state bonds in amount sufficient to cover the state's portion of the cost of such roads. In recognition of this situation the loan board adopted a resolution as follows:

"Whereas, it appears that in several counties of the state the construction and improvement of sections of trunk line roads are strongly urged locally, and whereas, it appears that in such cases it may be possible to dispose locally of state highway improvement bonds in an amount sufficient to meet the state's portion of the cost of such work, therefore

Be It Resolved, that the State Highway Commissioner be, and he hereby is, authorized and advised to make plans for and proceed with such projects in cases where proper assurance is furnished him that a purchaser or purchasers will be found for state highway bonds in the required amounts."

This Department will, of course, be guided strictly by the direction of the Highway Improvement Loan Board. As matters now stand the course suggested by the resolution above quoted appears to be the only feasible one.

We cannot therefore let new contracts for trunk line construction or for bridges to be paid for partly or wholly by the state, unless assurance is given that sufficient bonds will be purchased locally to meet the state's portion of the cost and thus to enable us to carry on the project.

Very truly yours,
Frank F. Rogers,
State Highway Commissioner.

ANNUAL MACCABEE RALLY TUESDAY

"Bees" From All Parts of County Meet With Local Hive

The annual Maccabee rally was held Tuesday, May 25th, in this city. Ladies from all parts of the county attended the meeting and it is estimated that about 100 were present in the afternoon.

The meeting was held in the I. O. O. F. hall and proved very interesting. Mrs. Holthe of Muskegon, Past Commander, and Mrs. Maywood of Petoskey, deputy of the Grand Hive, were the presiding officers.

Last year the rally was held in East Jordan and next May it will be held in Boyne City. The ladies left Charlevoix about 6:30 p. m. in autos and voted the meeting a success.

20,000 FARMERS GONE TO CITY

IN MICHIGAN ALONE WITHIN THE PAST YEAR

This is Not a Guess But Actual Survey—Auto Factories Robbing Farms of Help

The number of men that have left the farms of Michigan during the past three years is three times as great as the number of Michigan men that died or were killed in the Civil War. It would require the present male population, over 15 years of age, of Lansing and Flint to replace them. There are enough vacant farm houses in Michigan to conveniently house the population of Grand Rapids. The number of farm houses vacated within the past 12 months could easily accommodate all of the people in the city of Jackson with homes.

8.74 per cent of the farms of the state are wholly idle this year, an area of approximately 1,668,000 acres, equal to about five ordinary counties. The total men and boys over 15 years of age on the farms of the state is 230,000 or 82.5 acres to be worked by each man or boy.

These figures are based upon a complete survey made during the past four weeks by the Michigan Crop Reporting Service under the joint supervision of Mr. Coleman G. Vaughn, Secretary of State and V. H. Church, Field Agent, U. S. Bureau of Crop Estimates, and aided by the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction a blank was mailed to each rural school director asking for a report upon the farms of his school district. The compilation of these reports shows that 18,232 farms are idle this year as compared with 11,831 last year. While the abandonment, which in many cases is temporary because of the lack of tenant farmers, is least in the best farming sections, it is found to be a community movement. Many districts show no abandonment, but where families began leaving the act seems to be contagious until, in some cases one-third to one-half of the school district has migrated to the city. In the south-central district only 4.7 per cent of the farms are idle, and in some counties only three per cent. In the northwest district of the Lower Peninsula, 19.4 per cent are idle and occasional counties report 25 per cent or more.

This abandonment does not tell the whole story. A large percentage of men on farms are past fifty years of age and without help. The average size of farms is 91.5 acres, and there are but 11 men and boys to each 10 farms or but one man or boy to each 12.5 acres, with many of these unable to do a full man's work. There are 30,300 vacant houses on farms, 10,000 of which have been vacated within the past year.

Of the 276,000 men on farms three years ago, 46,006 have since left; 20,000 of them during the past year. This unprecedented exodus from farms indicates that city and industrial life have become more profitable and satisfactory than farm life. A recent preliminary survey conducted by the State Farm Bureau shows similar and comparable results, and that there would be a decrease of 15.8 per cent in the average of cultivated crops this year as a result. Its report also shows that the number of dairy cattle has decreased 11.3 per cent during the past year.

As Michigan is only typical of the conditions found in most of the other states, it is evident that the production of farm crops will decline as long as the present situation continues, and as long as the cost of producing these crops follows so closely the price the farmer receives. With a steadily decreasing supply and increasing demand, the price of food will continue to advance.

The only remedy is a reversal of present conditions through an increase in the number of food producers and a corresponding decrease in the number of non-producers of food. This reversal will only come when the remuneration for growing food crops becomes as great in proportion taking into account investment, risk and labor, as that of other occupations; and when farm life takes on attractiveness equal to that of city life.

Big Value in Tires for The Smaller Cars

Back of the manufacture of Goodyear Tires for the smaller cars is the same purpose, to supply high value in the product that is behind the manufacture of the Goodyear Tires that equip the most expensive automobiles built.

This purpose is expressed by the enormous resources, extraordinary skill and scrupulous care applied to the manufacture of Goodyear Tires in the largest tire factory in the world devoted solely to the 30x3-, 30x3½-, and 31x4-inch sizes.

The effect of this endeavor is noted in the fact that last year more cars using these sizes were factory-equipped with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

It is also noted in the fact that if you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other car requiring one of the sizes mentioned, you can secure Goodyear Tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes at the nearest Goodyear Service Station.

30x3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread..... $21.50

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT SUCCESSFUL MEN

Someone might be inclined to say that only the big towns offer ideas and opportunities. Oskaloosa, Iowa, isn't a big town, and yet Frederick Knight Logan made a fortune from an idea he picked up there.

Logan is a musician. Some years ago he journeyed to New York to win success, and there he became musical director to several stars. His real ambition, however, was to become a successful composer. He had a dozen compositions published, but none ever amounted to anything. Then he returned to his home town to teach music and give local musicals. In New York he had been an artistic and financial failure. But he still had faith in himself.

One day while walking along the road in Oskaloosa he came across a stranger strumming on an old guitar. Over and over the man thumbed a weird strain, and when Logan inquired as to its origin, the man replied:

"It's as old as the hills, mister."

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if kidneys feel like lead or bladder bothers you—Meat forms uric acid

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he has seen lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

My grandfather used to play it. He told me he heard the Indians play it when he was a boy."

Logan gave the man a dollar, and started for home with the weird strain haunting him. He felt that it was common property, and decided to develop it into a waltz.

The original melody was so weird and yet so plaintive that he felt confident it would appeal to most persons. As usual, friends advised him not to bother with it. They said it was too weird, unmusical and unromantic. But Logan didn't agree with them. He published the number and sent dance orchestras to about one hundred leaders.

About two months later F. J. Forster, the Chicago music jobber, received a few small orders for "Missouri Waltz." He had never heard of the title before, didn't know who published it, and had to let the orders go unfilled. As time passed, and the orders for "Missouri Waltz" kept increasing, Forster got the idea that a hit was sneaking out, and he instructed his manager to go out and find the publisher. For two weeks the manager was unable to learn anything. Then by accident he ran across a leader with an orchestration.

Having discovered the publisher, Forster had his pianist play the waltz. "That sounds like a hit," Forster remarked, after hearing it played.

"If you call that music," the pianist returned, "I can sneeze grand opera! Take a fool's advice and don't try to buy it."

Forster had no idea of buying it at first. He had been successful as a jobber, but he had lost a fortune in several attempts to establish himself as a publisher. Still, he was sure there was a fortune in "Missouri Waltz" as a high-priced number. He tried to interest three big New York publishers, but they all turned it down, saying the waltz was a joke. He didn't think so, and wired Logan to come to Chicago immediately at his expense. When the pair met, Forster said:

"I think you have a wonderful piece of property in your 'Missouri Waltz.' In the past I never made much of a success at publishing, but I'm the largest jobber in the West, and I think I can put the waltz over. You can look me up at the banks and go through my books if you wish. If you're willing to let me handle it, I'll give you a good advance and five cents a copy royalty. Then I'll gamble every cent I have on it."

Logan liked the way Forster talked and the deal was closed. But when Forster tried to interest dealers in the new edition they laughed at him and refused to handle it. Later, some musical leaders who had paid for an orchestration sent the music back and asked for something that was worth playing. The phonograph companies refused to make records of it, saying that no sane person would care to listen to such rot. Even some of Forster's own relatives implored him to give up his crazy idea.

Still he refused to quit. The wise-ones in the music game used to tell him that he was trying to push a Missouri mule in his "Missouri Waltz." Nevertheless, Forster flooded the country with dance orchestras. A month after the last one had gone out the orders commenced to arrive. They were very small at first, but they continued to grow. At the end of three months the orders took a sudden spurt. The first big order was for a thousand copies, which came from the coast. Soon the thousand-copy order became an everyday occurrence. Then the phonograph companies changed their minds and everyone wanted it. Dealers who refused to handle it at the first wired for copies. One leader who had returned an orchestration to Forster at the beginning wired from the coast, saying:

"Rush me two dance orchestras of 'Missouri Waltz.' Everyone out here is mad about your number. Looks like I'll have to play the darn thing after all."

To date "Missouri Waltz" has passed the two million mark. Logan has been paid more than fifty thousand dollars in royalty, and Forster has made about one hundred thousand.

With Logan and Forster it was just another case of bringing two things together—the melody and the public. Had either man become discouraged at the start, Logan would be still teaching, with Forster still wondering how it would feel to be the publisher of a national hit. Since then Logan and Forster have cleaned up on "Blue Rose Waltz," and "Moonlight Waltz." Throughout the country Logan has been written up in newspapers as the "Waltz King" of America.

Sometimes, like Logan, you will need the assistance of others to put over your ideas. When you do, make sure you don't hook up with a self-satisfied person. Get in touch with a worker and a fighter, one who has a definite aim in life and who can see the value in your idea. A man whose sole ambition is to get an auto,

SPECIAL SERVICES
SUNDAY, MAY 30th

All Church Members to Attend
Congregational Church

The theme of the morning of Sunday, May 30th, will be "God and the Wreathmaker." At this special Memorial service, the G. A. R., the Women's Relief Corps, and the American Legion will be our guests. There will be music by a quartette, and other features.

Our guests of the evening are the members of the graduating class of the Normal, on the occasion of the Baccalaureate Sermon, the theme being "Who are the Educated?" There will be special music at this service as well. The public is cordially invited to share our fellowship and labor.

The Sunday Evening Club were fortunate in Rev. Allburt's leadership at their last meeting. A special feature is in store for them next Sunday evening at the usual hour. And—did you miss the Pine Point picnic. We're sorry if you did, for thanks to everybody, everybody had a splendid time.

Mrs. Cross and Saltonstall will lead the Junior Endeavor at the usual time and place.

At the Mid-week Service, after the half-hour of devotionals, the third chapter of Rauschenbusch's "Christianity and the Social Crisis" will be undertaken.

Boys—at the church at 8:30 a. m. Saturday morning.

AT THE MOVIES

"When the Clouds Roll By"
Douglas Fairbanks' big new show is a genuine novelty. We have come to expect great things from Doug Fairbanks; we sometimes wonder where he can possibly get any more new ideas from. Yet he comes along with a picture like this and simply carries us off our feet. "When the Clouds Roll By" is so new and original in story and action, so far away from anything that has been attempted before, that we go on record now with the prediction that every laughing, thrill-loving man, woman and child in town will be talking about Fairbanks and his picture at Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday.

FROM COAST TO COAST
A Remarkable Chain of Home Testimony. And Charlevoix Adds Its Voice to the Grand Chorus of Local Praise

From north to south, from east to west; In every city, every community; In every state in the Union Rings out the grateful praise for Doan's Kidney Pills.

50,000 representative people in every walk of life Publicly testify to quick relief and lasting results. And it's all for the benefit of fellow sufferers.

In this grand chorus of local praise Charlevoix is well represented. Well-known Charlevoix people. Tell of personal experiences. Who can ask for better proof of merit?

Charles Hebert 405 May St., Charlevoix, says: "My back and kidneys gave out on me, causing me much suffering. My back was so sore and lame I could hardly go about my work. My kidneys were out of order and this caused me a lot of annoyance. Dizzy spells bothered me when specks floated before my eyes, blurring my sight. I was in bad shape when I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills but they soon had me feeling fine. Three boxes cured me. Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Hebert had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y."

CIRCUIT JUDGE DISCHARGED JURY

None Other Than Non-Jury Cases to Be Tried This Term.

On Monday, the opening day of the May term of court, Circuit Judge F. W. Mayne discharged the jury and the only cases to be tried during this term will be those not requiring a jury.

The May calendar was a large one. In fact, it continued more cases than any calendar for some time. Many of the cases were ready to be tried and others not, so the judge decided that by allowing the jury to return to their homes, most of them, being men from the rural districts, and their time badly needed on the farm, that more good could be accomplished than by keeping them from their work.

On the calendar were scheduled twenty criminal cases, eleven cases of issues of fact of law and nineteen cases in chancery.

During the coming weeks the time of the judge will be occupied by hearing divorce cases and other cases not requiring a jury.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT JUNIOR HOP

Beach Hotel Casino Was Filled to Overflowing

The annual Junior Hop was held Friday evening, May 21, in the Beach Hotel casino, the music being furnished by the Petoskey orchestra. The Junior Hop is probably the final high school social affair of the year and the work of the Juniors was shown in the success of the party. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Crimmins and Supt. and Mrs. H. A. Craig were the chaperons.

LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Bring Back its Color and Lustre with Grandma's Sage Tea Recipe.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients by a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.
White, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthfulness and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, prevention or prevention of disease.

Certain-teed Is Easy to Lay

Certain-teed Roofing can be easily laid by anyone who will follow the simple instructions enclosed in every roll.

You don't have to hire experienced roofers. You don't even have to worry about finding skilled workmen. They are mighty hard to get these days.

This fact means two things to you. You save the difference between the wages of skilled and unskilled men. You get your roof laid quickly by men who can be easily obtained.

But Certain-teed Roofing provides far more than a roof that is easily laid. It is guaranteed for five, ten or fifteen years, according to weight. It has never been known to wear out on the roof. It is weather-proof, fire-retarding and spark-proof. Though there is a shortage of many kinds of roofing, you can always get Certain-teed Smooth-Surfaced Roofing.

See your dealer at once. He either has Certain-teed or can get it quickly from a nearby Certain-teed warehouse.

or a yacht, may be a wonder for a while; but once he gets his hands on the bauble he is apt to slow down on the job, which may prove fatal to both of you.

Look at every idea that comes to you as you would pore over your first hundred-dollar bill. Analyze it carefully to make sure that it isn't a counterfeit. See how many arguments you can find against it, supposing it were presented to you by some other person. Then eliminate the defects, not by desire or indifference, but by logical reasoning. If necessary, revamp the idea; for a revamping frequently turns probable failure into success.

And, above all, mix and make friends. The more friends and acquaintances you make, the more likely you are to run across ideas and markets. Listen, absorb, and think. Once you get hold of a real idea don't be afraid to back it up. If you're not afraid, you'll have others reading about you, instead of finding yourself always reading about others. And the high cost of beans, butter, and steak won't concern you, but will be food for thought for the fellow who prefers a small, but sure, weekly salary.

The Worth of a Brick
In the right place and when needed a brick is worth a whole lot. Just a few years ago you could buy common brick at $7 a thousand. Today we are compelled to pay $22 per thousand—and we use a lot of them.
The clay costs more, getting it out, shaping, burning, shipping, unloading, all cost much more because the demand is high, largely due to the widespread resumption of building which was held up by the war. Labor costs, too, are a factor, a big factor, today.
The brickmaker and bricklayer right now earn more than ever before.
Then we must use cement along with the brick in our manholes and buildings, and that is away up, the increase in five years being more than 100 per cent.
Clay conduit, which we use by the dozen, carloads has increased nearly 300 per cent. Tearing costs have advanced from $4 to $12 a day. Trenching costs are up proportionately.
All these items greatly increase the cost of your telephone service, but our rates did not increase proportionately. How are we to pay the bill?

BAND OF GYPSIES VISIT THE CITY

Six Ford Cars Loaded Down With Tribe Members and Equipage

Six Ford cars loaded with a tribe of gypsies and equipage, drove through the city during the early part of Monday afternoon, headed as they stated for the Soo. Each car contained an average of six or seven people, counting the children.

Shortly after dinner a telephone message from Ellsworth informed city officials that the band had been driven out of Ellsworth and were headed this way, and by the time they reached the city, the police force was on the job.

Charlevoix did not escape a visit from members of the tribe however. Several of the female specie visited the stores and various places of business, telling fortunes and picking up anything they could lay their hands on. In one of the local pool rooms a man was relieved of a two dollar bill while he was watching another fellow have his fortune told. The amount of thieving done here amounted to little as the bunch were ordered to move on. Sheriff Weaver looked them over and found several of the drivers without operator's licenses. They were brought before Justice Collins and fined $15.00 and costs, which they paid and departed.

WHO WANTS TO PLANT A GARDEN

School Board Has Sufficient Ground For Many

How many people want to put in a garden this spring and do not know of a piece of ground to expend their energies on. The board of education has decided to accommodate as many as possible and will turn over the land adjacent to the south side school house. Get in line—first come, first to get a garden.

It is the plan of the board to plat off all available space and those who want a garden can have it without charge. Those who want a garden are requested to see the board at once. The board also suggests that as many as possible who take lots get together and have the plowing done the same time, thus avoiding confusion and plowing in different places when practically all could be done at one time.

Who wants a garden—get in line at once.

GAS SHORTAGE PRACTICALLY OVER

One Car Already Here and Two More on the Way

The gasoline shortage was relieved last week by the arrival of one tank car of gasoline, and two more are on their way to Charlevoix. Each garage has received a limited supply from the first car and as soon as the other two arrive there will be plenty of gas for all.

Local garage men have been assured by officials of the Standard Oil Company that no shortage of gas will occur in Charlevoix during the resort season, as special measures will be taken to protect this locality in this respect. The oil company realize that extra large amount of gas is needed here and will undoubtedly see that we are supplied with all that is needed.

On Wednesday of last week Petoskey received two cars and several more are on their way. The arrival of these cars relieved a serious shortage, as but little gas was left in the city.

"WHEN THE CLOUDS ROLL BY"

BIG SEVEN-REEL SPECIAL and the best picture Fairbanks ever made

Noah said it—"When the clouds roll by we ought to have good weather." And after forty days the sun did shine. Douglas Fairbanks is the same kind of optimist—yet he has all life's troubles. A nightmare such as you've never seen or heard about. A flood scene that will sweep you away with excitement and realism. A scene that you will never forget. This picture is a genuine novelty and a hundred laughs and a hundred thrills. We want every laugh-loving, thrill-loving man, woman and child in town and vicinity to see "Doug" in "When the Clouds Roll By." We are going to make a special low price of admission on this Big Special of 15 cents for children and 30 cents for adults—including war tax. Also Kinogram News reel will be shown. Don't miss the best picture that "Doug" has ever made.

THURSDAY, MAY 27th—Vitagraph presents Corinne Griffith in "The Climbers." Good show. Taken from Clyde Fitch's stage success of the same name.

FRIDAY, MAY 28th—Vitagraph presents Gladys Leslie in "The Midnight Bride." The tragic tale of a girl who forsook her old love for a new one and nearly wrecked the happiness of many. Also a one reel Snub Pollard Comedy "Waltz Me Around."

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 2nd—Universal presents Monroe Salisbury in "Phantom Melody." One of your favorite stars in a thrilling and wonderful story which holds its appeal throughout. Also the last episode of Elmo the Mighty "The Unmasking." You will all want to see who the Phantom Rider is and how Elmo wins out.

FUNERAL HELD SATURDAY, MAY 29

Gladys Wexstaff Succumbs to Tuberculosis After Long Illness

Gladys Wexstaff, 16 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wexstaff of this city, died at her home on Lincoln avenue, Thursday, May 27, after a long illness from tuberculosis.

Gladys attended school here, and was a member of this year's sophomore class, until she was forced to give up her studies because of failing health. During the winter months her condition did not appear critical and it was hoped that with the spring and warm weather she would be able to be up and around again. She was out a few times lately, but was taken worse Wednesday, death coming about noon Thursday.

Deceased is survived by her parents, a younger sister and brother, Arthur, all of this city.

Funeral services were held Saturday, May 29, from the Congregational church conducted by Rev. Van Kirk. Interment at Brookside cemetery.

SOLDIER DEAD RIGHTLY HONORED

Memorial Day Observance Was a Credit to City

The city's hero living marched in memory of its hero dead Monday and the last resting places of the departed ones were decorated with flowers, and a fitting program carried out at the cemetery.

The parade was formed on Bridge street at 9:30, headed by Charlevoix's veteran drum and pipe corps, followed by veterans of the Civil war, survivors of the Argonne and Chateau Thierry, those who served as well on other well known fronts "over there," sailors who were on the various battle ships and subchasers—all veterans now regardless of service or action. Members of the W. R. C. in autos, school children in buses and marching afoot and civilian conveyances—all made their way to Brookside and did their bit towards observing the day and it menning in a manner which was a credit to themselves as well as the community.

What a Difference?

Seven years ago we bought 20 lbs. of sugar for $1.00 by buying $2.00 worth of other groceries and it took a bushel crate or a soap box to hold our purchases. Today it takes the whole $3.00 to buy 12 pounds of sugar and takes about 12 days to complete the transaction.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank, under State Supervision, will be glad to receive your savings account. Absolutely security and courteous treatment to all.

THOUSANDS WILL BE LOST ON FRUIT

IF CANS AND SUGAR CANNOT BE OBTAINED

Michigan Farm Bureau Busy Trying to Get Preferential Treatment—Good Fruit Year

To prevent loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars to Michigan fruit growers, the Michigan State Farm Bureau is actively at work endeavoring to get preferential shipping rating for canning plants in Michigan. The majority of the 100 canning plants in the state may be unable to operate on their scale this summer, because of inability to secure cans, coal and sugar.

Paralysis of the railroads by the recent switchmen's strike and the resulting jam of freight and empties at many important junction points is responsible for the predicament of the canners.

With a good fruit year in prospect and an excellent market in sight, one of the busiest seasons in sometime faces the canneries if they can get the necessary cans, coal and sugar for operations. Practically all of the plants have their cans ordered in the east, but can't get shipment. They are not only having difficulty in getting coal shipped them, but also in the purchase. And sugar, while scarce, is almost prohibitive because of the soaring price.

While these canneries can operate without sugar, they can't without cans and fuel. At this time of the year, usually they are stocked with both. The Interstate Commerce Commission will be appealed to by the farm bureau in efforts to get the canneries that will permit cans and coal to be shipped to them on the grounds that the foodstuffs involved represent a public need.

The sugar problem places the canneries in a quandary. If they can without sugar, they are unable to put out their usual brands, and their usual trade is disappointed. If they use sugar at its present price, a considerably higher price for canned goods next winter is certain. For example, two canneries in Berrien county last year paid approximately $50,000 for sugar needed. This year the same quantity of sugar will cost approximately $125,000.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank, under State Supervision, will be glad to receive your savings account. Absolutely security and courteous treatment to all.

FLAG DAY PROCLAMATION

By the Governor
In paying homage to the flag of our country we honor not merely a piece of bunting but those things for which the flag stands, liberty, justice, equality. The flag of the United States symbolizes the national ideals for which our fathers were willing to give their lives, and in our day their sons have proved that they too are ready to defend to the uttermost "Our great, free institutions which are the hope of the home as well as the nation."

It is proposed this year to celebrate, in conjunction with Flag Day, June twelfth as Neighbors' Day to promote nation-wide neighborliness, and June thirteenth as Community Sunday to impress men and women of all faiths with the spiritualizing influence on the individual of unified neighborhood service.

Therefore, I, ALBERT E. SLEEPER, Governor of the State of Michigan, do issue this my Proclamation, and urgently request that Monday, the fourteenth day of June, 1920 be observed as Flag Day.

I further suggest, in compliance with the request of the National Neighbor's Day Committee, that Saturday, June twelfth and Sunday, June thirteenth be observed respectively as Neighbors' Day and Community Sunday.

On these three days let flags be displayed on both public and private buildings.

Let us honor the flag.

Albert E. Sleeper, Governor.

HIGHWAY MAPS TO BE READY SOON

Says Com. Rogers—State Divided in Two Sections

Advance proofs of the official maps of the Michigan state highway commission which will be put in distribution to serve as guide data in connection with the standardized numbering and marking of trunk line roads have been received and approved by State Highway Commissioner Frank E. Rogers and soon will be off the press.

The folders include two maps, one of the Northern Michigan and one of the south section of the state. The Northern Michigan section of the map includes all of the upper peninsula and that portion of the northern end of the lower peninsula down to about the north line of Alcona, Oscoda, Wexford, Kalkaska, Grand Traverse and Benzie counties. The division between the two maps is on a horizontal line just at the southern tip of Grand Traverse bay.

The maps are plainly printed in three colors, black, blue and yellow. The yellow is a sort of background color. The map is outlined in black and the trunk line roads and their big, plain circled figures are in dark blue. With the markers in place and one of these maps in hand, the stranger may go anywhere on Michigan trunk line highways without once inquiring the way.

The maps will be sold at cost to the state. The retail price will be 15 cents. In wholesale lots they may be had for from $12 to $13 a hundred.

AIM TO HAVE 100,000 MEMBERS

DRIVE TO COMMENCE HERE IN AUGUST

Each City and Township to Be Canvassed By Local Men and State Bureau Officials

Charlevoix County Farm Bureau, with the help of officials from the state's central office at Lansing, will inaugurate a huge membership drive sometime in August, during which time an effort will be made to induce every agriculturalist in the county to enroll as a member. The present plans are to make a farm to farm canvass, the state officials co-operating with the local farm bureau.

Charlevoix county at present has a well organized farm bureau, but there are hundreds of farmers in the county who are not members. The aim of the drive is enroll these men as members, thus forming one of the strongest bureaus in the state.

All that a board of commerce is a business interests of a great city, and plus the machinery to be of material assistance to its farmer members in the marketing of their products and the purchase of supplies, the Michigan Farm Bureau is intended to be to Michigan agriculture.

Its operations are strictly of an economic nature the Farm Bureau being completed divorced from the taint of politics that has wrecked many promising organizations in the past. It is interested in a political way only in measures affecting it and its members and not in aspirants for office. No state or national public office holder or seeker can be an official of the farm bureau.

Its membership now is approaching 60,000, with approximately half of the lower peninsula canvassed and the prospects are that within the year the membership will include 100,000 farmers of Michigan. Sanilac county, with more than 3,000 farm bureau members, has the largest county farm bureau membership in the United States.

Departments of the state organization include marketing, seed, wool and traffic. Dor D. Buell, former president and general manager of the Cadillac Potato Growers' Exchange, one of the greatest co-operative farmers' institutions in the country, is in charge of the marketing activities of the state farm bureau, which include sales of members' products and purchase of necessary supplies. This department now is working to affiliate the operations of the co-operative elevators in the state, and also to promote better marketing methods for the cherry growers.

The state farm bureau wool pool, operated on a strictly cooperative cost basis, is the first venture of this sort ever attempted in Michigan, and its success is assured. Hundreds of thousands of pounds of wool already have been pooled and the big warehouse purchased at Lansing for this purpose has proven inadequate, forcing the obtaining of additional warehouse space. Upwards 2,000,000 pounds of wool is expected in the pool.

In charge of the seed department is J. W. Nicolson, formerly with the Michigan Agricultural college. This department is operated to sell the best of Michigan grown seed at home, and to place any surplus on the best of outside markets. High grade seed of other states will be handled on the same cooperative cost plan, as is true in the wool department, for the benefit of farm bureau members in Michigan.

The traffic department is operated for the benefit of the state organization and also the scores of county and local farm bureaus, which are the units through which the bulk of the business done by all of the farm bureau departments is transacted. It is conducted along exactly the same lines as a similar department in a big manufacturing department in a big manufacturing concern or board of commerce, paying close attention to ratings, classifications, inspections and giving service on claims and routings. Frank E. Coombs is the manager.

Working with all of these departments is the secretary's office, in charge of which is C. A. Bingham, who has been secretary since the state farm bureau idea was first launched in Michigan early in 1919, and J. P. Powers, as assistant secretary.

Auto tires and tubes are selling at 25 per cent discount at Brown's Garage.—Adv. 221f.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Rub Pain and Stiffness away with a small bottle of old honest St. Jacobs Liniment

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil works to the spot only once. It takes the ache and pain right out of your back and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly!

Why a Majority of the Smaller Cars Come on Goodyear Tires

Last year more cars using 30x3-, 30x3½-, or 31x4-inch tires were factory-equipped with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

This is plainly a result of the high relative value produced in these tires for the smaller cars by Goodyear's enormous resources and scrupulous care.

They represent the same intense endeavor to supply utmost satisfaction in tires that has laid the basis for the marked preference which exists everywhere for Goodyear Tires in the larger sizes.

This real Goodyear value in tires is available for your Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other car using one of these sizes, at our nearest Service Station. Go there for these tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

30x3½ Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread..... $23.50

30x3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread..... $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are thick, strong tubes that reinforce casings properly. Why risk a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of less merit. 30x3½ size in water-proof bag..... $4.50

QUIT MEAT IF YOUR KIDNEYS ACT BADLY

Take tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Drink lots of water.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

She Kept Her Locks Dark and Glossy, with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

At the Melrose township school contest held here Monday 24th, Clarion won first place in exhibit work for a two-room school and Walloon Lake first place as a one-room school.

THREE BELLS

We are having some good warm weather to make the crops grow.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gaunt called on the David Gaunt family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bearss and F. H. Wangeman's folks drove to Northport last Saturday.

Bert Earl spent part of Saturday at the George Simmerman home and the rest time at the D. Gaunt home.

Glenn Lane graduated from the East Jordan High School this year. Their graduation exercises were last Friday night.

Mr. Burgess and Mrs. Blanshan had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. David Gaunt Sunday. Mr. Burgess preached at the school house in the afternoon.

There were seven in our school who wrote on the eighth grade examination. Six of them passed, who are as follows: Rosabelle Lane, Bertha Simmerman, Irene Looze, Virginia Lehmann, Anita MacDonald and A. J. Wangeman. Virginia Lehmann got first place and she has to give a valedictorian at Ironton when they meet.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONER'S NOTES

Improvements in Rural Schools

Educators tell us that the greatest percentage of failures which any grade should have is 10 per cent, that is that at least 90 per cent should pass each year. We are to understand of course that 90 per cent is very poor return, but should be the poorest returns that any school should have.

The one-room school is not efficient and we hope some day to solve this problem by consolidation, but while we have the one-room school with us—we must improve it all we can.

The state at large reports 55 per cent of the children from one-room schools writing the eighth grade examination receiving diplomas. In Charlevoix county in 1918, there was a return of 34.9 per cent who received diplomas in 1919, 73.3 per cent received diplomas and in 1920, 83 per cent passed the examinations. To do this the teachers have worked might and main, competing in exhibit work with other schools, preparing for mid-year tests, and improving their libraries. They will be happy to hold it to its present average or if possible to attain the minimum fixed by educators.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

By J. E. Jones

Politics the Main Interest

Most of the administrative branches of the Federal government are head over heels in politics—and Congress has a hard time to keep going because most of its members are plumb dafty over the political situation. The only diversion is the performance of Honorable Josephus Daniels and his sea-faring men who are holding post mortems over the part the Navy performed in the war. The chief interest in their quarrels surrounds the telling of secrets that had better never been told. Mr. Bryan has a habit of disagreeing with the Democratic party leaders that is enlivening, and the Republican candidates have made one another envious by their tales of the sizes of their campaign funds. The pre-convention disclosures are proof to the old saw about politics making strange bedfellows.

Breaking the Railroad Jam

The Interstate Commerce Commission has been active in its efforts to put the railroads back "on the map." A few days ago plans were inaugurated for rerouting thousands of loaded cars that had accumulated in the principal railroad centers over the most direct routes, regardless of costs or the preferences of individual consignees. The vigorous measures furnish promise of breaking the jam that has been preventing operating the railroads of the country in a healthful manner.

Politics and the Railroads

For a dozen years at least the railroads of the country have been regarded among the assets of the politicians, and the one who could block the administrative plans of the greatest number of railroad lines was considered the most successful "statesman." When the Government itself finally got the roads tied into a hard knot through public operation, it was decided that it was high time to give the owners of the lines a new opportunity to make a real business out of railroading. Howard Elliott, representing the rail executives, has pointed out to the Interstate Commerce Commission the fact that freight rates have been raised 71 per cent in England; 140 per cent in France; 100 per cent in Belgium; 40 to 100 per cent in Italy; 70 to 140 per cent in Holland; 200 per cent in Sweden; and 150 per cent in Norway. The increase in the United States has been about 40 per cent, as against increased operating expenses of fully 100 per cent. The railroads in asking an average increase of 28 per cent in freight rates state that the amount will enable them to pay the additional billion dollars that has already been granted in wages to the railroad operators.

While the railroads are thus trying to catch up through the Interstate Commerce Commission the trainmen are pressing through the Railroad Labor Board, which is another Government institution, for an additional billion dollars increase in their wages. Doubtless many railroad employees are underpaid, and there will necessarily be some wage increases.

A Chance to Draw the "Dead Line"

The Interstate Commerce Commission and the Railroad Labor Board apparently have the opportunity to check the everlasting circle of increased costs, and to act in the interests of the public in an effective manner, by establishing a definite and more or less permanent basis of freight rates, and wages; first by raising the rates to a point that will make railroading a good business proposition for investors; and then by an adjustment of wages that will be equitable. There are many people who are hoping that these two Federal agencies will firmly and courageously meet the issue, and furnish an example for other industrial activities of the country in adjusting their affairs to a very definite and specific standard.

Weights and Measures

For many years we have been hearing about the benefits of the "metric system." I have been reading all about it in a bunch of literature furnished by both sides—and my first reaction is that weights and measures are well "propagandized."

The fundamental unit of the metric system is the meter, the unit of length. It sounds well! A meter is 39.37 inches. Fractions always afford a bum start,—but that's "metrics," and the metric measurement is vouched for as being as "correct" as the wife-of-Lot.

Ever since British diplomacy taught us how to get "free tolls" at the Panama Canal, and "freedom for democracy" on European battlefields we have been prone to compare our own standards with those of Britain. In weights and measures the British gallon is approximately 20 per cent larger and the British bushel three per cent larger than those in the United States. A ton in British weight is 2,240 pounds avoirdupois. There are "arabes" in Egypt; "arshines" in Russia; "candy" in India; "catty" in China; "fralls" in Spain; "rotelles" in Syria; and "suns" in Japan,—and all these represent units of weight.

The metric system is being urged because it can be applied internationally, just as we adopt Hungarian rhapsodies and German spasmodics for our musical instruments. That's where skill gets in its work. But when it comes to using the new scheme vocally there are snags, and it is a big undertaking to make Americans substitute liters of milk, where quarts were good enough before; or a dekameter of denim for ten yards in the language of the United States.

Doubtless, the metric system has many strong points; but to a lot of people it vibrates a good deal like the "international" psalms or psalms of the Socialists—and they sound like something that should be suppressed.

Reckless Youth

The War Department is literally raking the country with a fine tooth comb in an attempt to deliver discharge certificates to 7,059 service men who were in the late war.

Liberty bonds to the value of $127,150 belonging to 2,543 ex-service men have been returned to Washington by the Post Office Department because of incorrect addresses.

The Service and Information Branch of the War Department has been a regular messenger bureau for former soldiers. It has found them jobs, looked after their travel pay and bonuses, and straightened out things in thousands of ways. "The United States has provided every kind of service that can be suggested for the ex-service men," remarked an official of the War Department, "and if there is anything due any former soldier all he has to do is let us know about it." In order to make the work more effective twenty-five field men are working in different parts of the country, and local organizations of citizens are being formed in the different communities to "finish up the job" that was started when Uncle Sam threw his hat in the ring in April, 1917.

Perhaps it is not surprising that out of four million men 7,059 should neglect getting their discharge papers; but the percentage is nevertheless rather startling, since it may indicate what part of humanity there is that "would forget that it had a nose on the face unless it was fastened on."

Reckless youth forgets its "discharge papers" and the Liberty bonds that it has paid for—and likely this is the same small percentage of youth that talks the bolshevik stuff.

Meanwhile the Government insists that the boys [that bore its colors shall have their titles read clear, and it wants citizens to help in locating these reckless young chaps who do not realize the importance of these matters to their future.

ure. Citizens who can be helpful in this work will be rewarded by the satisfaction that they are still "doing their bit" towards our boys—and it is always worth the trouble to help one of "our boys," even though he is the personification of the don't give a dang" sort—for that is only a temporary ailment, and it deserves sympathetic treatment while it lasts.

Immortality at the Public Crib
One of the big problems in Washington concerns the getting rid of the surplus war workers, who apparently regard their position as "related to immortality." Members of Congress are constantly using their influence to "save the scalps." There is an insistent demand throughout the country for rigid economy, and it is a popular belief that Washington shall set the example in "paring down" expenses.

Hilda, a hen belonging to Fred Perdue, of Battle Creek, is reported as setting a wonderful example for these times by holding down two jobs at once. In one nest she has a setting of eggs which she cherishes fondly for 23 1-2 hours of the days, and yet each afternoon at a certain time she deserts this nest, walks to another near by, and lays a fresh egg for her owner's marketing. Co to the hen, thou sluggard.

The Oakland county farm bureau estimates that there will be a decrease of 2,200 dairy cows in that county this year, but luckily, even if all the cows should go out of business many of us have been learning to get along with condensed milk.

It is no uncommon thing, says a story from Grand Ledge, to see a man on the streets of that town clad in a pair of $3 overalls that cover a $19 pair "britches." In fact, you can see right through this overall movement—there is no use of a laboring man trying to disguise himself.

Michigan's primary school fund will receive $6,995,690.96 in taxes from railroad, express, sleeping car and car loaning association and telephone and telegraph companies, as a result of the work of the state board of assessors in assessing such corporations at $284,433,700. The taxes paid last year by the same companies were $5,630,330.60, all of which will go into the primary school fund to be pro-rated among the school districts on the basis of school population.

Arthur Betts brought over 550 pounds of suckers from Bois Blanc and Deputy Fish Warden Summerfield happened to be on the dock and seeing that over ten per cent were under size, confiscated the whole catch. Mr. Betts did not know there was any such provisions of the law and acknowledged that he was at fault, and when Judge King heard the case he let him off with the payment of $13.70 as he was well satisfied that Mr. Betts' statement was true. There are few fishermen here who were aware of such restrictions. —Cheboygan Tribune.

Herbert F. Baker, of Cheboygan, was elected president of the Michigan Potato Growers' Exchange at the May meeting of the directors of Cadillac to fill the vacancy resulting from the resignation of Dorr D. Buell. Mr. Buell, who is still a director of the spud organization, is now market director for the State Farm Bureau. A. B. Large has succeeded Mr. Buell as general manager of the exchange. Mr. Baker lives upon and operates his 320-acre farm nine miles west of Cheboygan. Farming is not a fad with Mr. Baker, it is the business at which he makes his living and at which he has worked all his life with much more than average success. —Cadillac Evening News.

What's become of the prejudice against automobiles because they frightened the horses

NOW cars are everywhere. The horses have gotten used to them—and so has everybody else. Think of it! This year the American people will spend nearly a billion dollars on tires alone.

Tires are one of the biggest items on the car owner's bills.

Hardly a Saturday, when you motorists drop in to "tune up" for a Sunday trip, that one or more of you doesn't tell us something of value to our business. Sooner or later it comes back to you in Service.

Service is what the car owners of this community are looking for nowadays.

And especially the small car owners, who put service first in figuring their motor-ing expenditures.

Just because a man has a moderate-price car is no reason why he should get any less service out of his tires.

We believe that the man with the small car is entitled to just as good tire service as the man with the big car—and both are entitled to the best tire service they can get.

That's why we represent U. S. Tires in this community.

And why more car owners—large and small—are coming to us every day for U. S. Tires.

Come in and talk to us about tires. We're here to help you get the kind of tires you want.

SCHOOL CLOSURES IN DISTRICT NO. 9

Pupils Enjoy Picnic in Campbell's Grove and Motor Trip

School closed in District No. 9 on Friday of last week and was enjoyed by the children of the primary and intermediate grades by a picnic at Campbell's park and by the higher grades by a motor trip to the Crystal Beach Hotel on Torch Lake owned by the teacher, Mrs. Taisey.

We are proud to have as our guests of the evening Sunday, the graduating class of our High School for the year of 1920. On this, the occasion of the baccalaureate sermon, the minister will speak from theme: "The Economics of Experience." The public is invited.

Mr. R. E. Lewis addressed the final meeting of the Sunday Evening Club with marked effect. This organization of our older young people has been attended with enthusiasm in its initial efforts. With its resumption in the autumn, it is hoped that there will be for it a larger sphere of usefulness.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

CHARLEVOIX TROOP NO. 1, B. S.
A. ORGANIZED

Local Council of Five Leading Citizens With Rev. Harold A. Van Kirk as Scout Master

In response to a steadily increasing demand, there has been organized in Charlevoix troop No. 1, B. S. A. In order to secure affiliation with this great body of over 400,000 American boys and their leaders, it is necessary that certain regulations shall have been complied with. An concerns the organization these are as follows:

1. There must be secured a charter from the National Headquarters at New York.

2. This must be solicited by a Local Council of five responsible citizens, who are interested in the welfare of boys. The present Local Council is composed of Messrs. A. F. Bridge, Lisle Shanahan, Archie Livingston, Dr. W. W. Mitchell, and R. F. Sloan. It is the duty of the local council to exercise general supervision over the work, and to advise the scoutmaster and his assistant.

The immediate director of the scouting program is the scoutmaster and his assistant, who must be men of over 21, and fitted by sympathies and training, to direct the scouting program. The present scoutmaster is Harold A. Van Kirk, assisted by W. C. Bellinger.

And the boy, who is after all, the pivotal point in the program, has to meet certain strong requirements. He must be at least 12 years of age and capable of passing the three main tests of scoutcraft one after the other in due time.

Prior to this, however, he must have taken the scout law, which is as follows:

On my honor I will do my best—

1. To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the scout law;

2. To help other people at all times;

3. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight.

1. A scout is trustworthy. A scout's honor is to be trusted. If he were to violate his honor by telling a lie, or cheating, or by not doing exactly a given task, when trusted on his honor, he may be directed to hand over his scout badge.

2. A scout is loyal. He is loyal to all to whom loyalty is due: his scout leader, his home, and parents and country.

3. A scout is helpful. He must be prepared at any time to save life, help injured persons, and share the home duties. He must do at least one good turn to somebody every day.

4. A scout is friendly. He is a friend to all and a brother to every other scout.

5. A scout is courteous. He is polite to all, especially to women, children, old people, and the weak and helpless. He must not take pay for being helpful or courteous.

6. A scout is kind. He is a friend to animals. He will not kill nor hurt any living creature needlessly, and will strive to save and protect all harmless life.

7. A scout is obedient. He obeys his parents, scout master, patrol leader, and all other constituted authorities.

L. T. Stocking Addresses Commercial Association at Regular Meeting Friday Night

Interest in the success and accomplishments of the Charlevoix Commercial Association was never more demonstrated by business men and farmers of Charlevoix and vicinity than shown by the attendance at the regular monthly meeting of the association held at the Hotel Charlevoix last Friday evening.

In attendance there was a substantial increase over previous meetings and in enthusiasm it reached the one hundred per cent stage. It has been shown time and time again that if a community wanted anything, and wanted it hard enough, they usually got it. And right along this line Charlevoix business men are working.

L. T. Stocking, president of the Traverse City Commercial Association, gave an excellent talk along the line of community development. He related what had been accomplished in Traverse City during the past five years and urged members to work along the same or similar lines. "The real community spirit must be shown by all," said Mr. Stocking. "Every man, woman and child must put their shoulder to the wheel and boost; there must be no laggards; a real citizen is an asset to the community in which he lives, not a liability."

John B. Johns, secretary and general manager of the Newaygo Portland Cement Co., was the next speaker. Mr. Johns reviewed the local situation and stated he could assure the citizens that in "weeks," not years Charlevoix would have a cement plant in operation.

His remarks were followed by short talks by "Uncle" Geo. H. Van Pelt, G. V. Nash, Si Beers, Frank, L. Bird, Elmer Ingalls and others. The association, by resolution, unanimously adopted a motion to assist in any manner towards Charlevoix celebrating the Fourth of July. Initial steps were also taken toward the formation of plans for a regatta here in August, and committees were appointed to take the matter in charge.

The next regular meeting of the association will be held the first Friday evening in July. Every member should be present and bring a friend, if possible, who is not a member of the association. There is no limit as far as membership is concerned. A good way to show your loyalty to the town you live in is to enroll as a member of this association.

CANDIDATE ONLY ON ONE TICKET

NEW PRIMARY LAW AND THE CHANGES

Many Changes in 1919 Primary Law Not Generally Known to the Public

Attention is called by Clark Brown, head of the compilations division of the department of state in which bureau are handled election and primary matters, says the State Journal.

Chief interest of these attaches to the amendment enacted last year by the legislature which provides that the name of no candidate shall be printed on any primary election ballot unless there shall be filed by the candidate, an affidavit, attesting that he is a member of the political party under which he has filed petitions.

This was designed to prevent a man running on two tickets as Henry Ford did in the 1918 senatorial primary. Attorney General Alex. J. Groesbeck, prior to the presidential preference primary, held this did not apply to candidates for the highest office in the land.

The 1919 amendment provides that should a person become a candidate on any party ticket other than his own party, as shown by his affidavit, for the same office or for any other office at the following primary, his nomination on any other ticket shall be void and his name shall not be printed on the ballot at the regular election following.

Should a person be nominated on any other ticket, Mr. Brown points out, for the office for which he is a candidate, or for any other office, by having his name written in or posted on slips, the nomination on such party slip shall be void. Should a candidate be nominated on more than one party ticket by having his name written in or by the use of slips at an election at which he was not a candidate for any office on any party ticket by reason of having filed a petition and affidavit, he shall elect within five days after the official canvass on which ballot he wishes his name to appear, and unless such election is made, his name shall not appear on either ballot.

Another change requires county clerks to make returns of certified statements of votes within five days after the primary election instead of ten days as in the past.

Cities and townships by provisions of another amendment are given authority to direct that the polls be held open until 8 o'clock in the evening.

Mr. Brown also points out that 4 p. m. on July 31 is the last day on which filings for candidates may be made.

Candidates for governor and lieutenant governor are required to have 5,377 signatures on the Republican ticket; Democratic, 2,860; Prohibition, 30; Socialist, 96; Socialist Labor, 21; New party, 3,000.

PAY HOMAGE TO SOLDIER DEAD

Remains of Ray Solomon Expected to Reach City Friday

Word was received here Monday by local Red Cross officials that the remains of Ray Solomon, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Solomon of this city, had been exhumed from its resting place in Salisbury Plains cemetery, England, and was on its way to this city.

A later telegram confirmed this information, stating that the remains had left Hoboken, N. J., Wednesday morning and would probably arrive in Charlevoix either Friday or Saturday.

Ray was 21 years of age and died March 20, 1918, of pneumonia shortly after his arrival in England on his way to France. He was a member of the 155th Aero Squad and was one of the first of our home boys to answer the call, offering his services in April, 1917. He spent some time in training camps, later being sent overseas and died in a hospital near Salisbury.

When the remains arrive in Charlevoix they will be escorted to their last resting place at Brookside cemetery by members of the American Legion and ex-service men. Business houses will be requested to close, and all honor paid to the departed one.

Take no chances on an old tire or tube when you can buy new ones at 25 per cent discount. Ben. Brown. Adv. 22tf.

CHARLEVOIX TO CELEBRATE 4TH

PLANS UNDER WAY FOR MONS-TER PARADE

Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan Loyal Legion Members to Take Active Part

Plans are well under way to pull off a monster Fourth of July celebration in Charlevoix this year, the business men working in conjunction with members of the American Legion of Charlevoix, East Jordan and Boyne City.

The celebration will be in the form of a home welcome, the usual features of a celebration of this kind also taking place, including fire works, athletic sports, music, hall games and other stunts that will interest and entertain the hundreds of people who will visit the city on this date.

Charlevoix has never celebrated the Fourth without having a crowd. People come here to celebrate from all points in this section. It is the natural place to come and has all the attractions to draw a crowd. And it is expected the celebration this year will be no exception.

The success of the day depends largely upon the co-operation of our citizens. Each one is asked to do his or her part by offering assistance to the committees in charge, decorating your homes and business places.

One suggestion that will make a hit with all visitors is to place large banners or cards on every home and business place bearing the words "Welcome to Our City." Provide seats on your lawn and invite those seeking a quiet place to sit and rest to be your guest. Make them feel at home and extend the hand of welcome to them. If this is done not a visitor will leave the city without feeling they had received a hearty welcome and had the time of their lives.

As yet plans are not entirely completed, but committees to carry on the different branches of work have been named, who are rapidly bringing the matter to a close. E. B. Ward has been chosen chairman of the Fourth of July committee, and in our next issue the names of other committees will be published. If you have a suggestion to make that will be helpful to the committees in charge, don't be bashful in making it.

The Courier has been asked to announce that any person or persons desiring to conduct an eating place or lunch counter, no concession fee will be asked. The matter of feeding the thousands who will be here in a serious one, and those in charge of the celebration will offer special inducements to those desiring to conduct a place of this kind. Watch these columns for a complete program in our next issue.

PAY DOG TAX BY JUNE 15TH

CENSUS GIVES SHERIFF LINE-UP ON UNTAXED DOGS

All Untaxed Dogs to Be Killed
After June 15th—Hunting Dogs
Excepted While Hunting

Sheriff Weaver calls attention to the new law which was recently passed relative to the collection of dog taxes. This law provides that a census shall be taken by the supervisors when the assessments are made on the real estate of the townships and villages. Blanks are provided which give a record of the owner or keeper of the dog, markings and age. These blanks must be properly filled out and sent to the county treasurer.

The supervisor of every township has a list of the taxable dogs of his township and it is his duty to see that the tax is paid. Before June 15 every supervisor must report his list to the county treasurer, who then compares these lists with his list and in that way he is able to find out all the delinquent taxes. A list of the delinquent taxes is then sent to the sheriff whose duty is to kill the animals. The prosecuting attorney is also provided with a list of the owners who have failed to pay tax and he will at once commence the necessary proceeding against the owners of the dogs.

Dogs are taxable as soon as they are four months old. Therefore if a dog should become four months old by July 1st, the tax would be one-half of the entire year tax. All dogs must have a tag and wear it, except hunting dogs when they are out hunting. If a dog has lost its tag, it is not necessary for the owner to replace its tag, but to go before a notary public, and have an affidavit made to the effect that the dog tag has been lost and another will be provided.

The act provides that any person may kill any dog which he sees pursuing, worrying or wounding livestock or attacking persons and there shall be no liability on such person in damages for the killing. Any dog that enters any field or enclosure outside of an incorporated city unaccompanied by its owner shall be termed a public nuisance and may be killed while in the field.

Any person or police officer violating or refusing to comply with this new law is liable to a fine not exceeding three months, or both fine and imprisonment.

Sheriff Weaver says that this law will be enforced to the "dot" in this county and anyone valuing his pet dog had better get a license tag before June 15, or said animal will be missing.

TRAIN CRASHES INTO AUTOMOBILE

AT CROSSING NORTH OF ELLS-WORTH DEPOT

Louis Orlowski Sustains Broken Leg and His Little Daughter Minor Cuts on Face

Louis Orlowski, of the firm of S. Orlowski & Son, wholesale and retail grocers, sustained a broken leg and his little daughter, a cut tongue and a deep gash in her chin, in an accident at Ellsworth last Friday afternoon, which might have easily resulted in injuries of a more serious nature.

Mr. Orlowski, accompanied by his wife, two children and Mrs. F. E. Cartier and little daughter, left Charlevoix shortly after one o'clock Friday afternoon for a short auto trip, and reached Ellsworth about two o'clock. Some time was spent driving about the country and between three and three thirty the party drove through Ellsworth, Mrs. Orlowski and Mrs. Cartier leaving the car and entering the general store of George Klooster & Son to make some purchases.

While waiting for the ladies, Mr. Orlowski and the three children drove about the town and had driven down the hill east, crossing the Pere Marquette tracks, turning south near the depot and had started back across the tracks just as the afternoon north-bound train reached the station.

The car had reached the railroad crossing when Mr. Orlowski discovered the approaching train, and in an effort to get out of the way quickly, stalled his engine. The pilot of the engine struck the car almost squarely broadside, pushing it ahead some 200 feet before it came to a stop.

Within a minute a crowd had collected, who lifted the car from the pilot of the engine, and removed it to the side of the tracks. Both rear wheels were broken, only short stubs of spokes remaining, while the front wheels were not injured. The front left door was broken off, the running board jammed flat against the side of the car, and a deep hole driven into the side of the body.

When Mr. Orlowski realized it was impossible for him to avoid a collision with the train, his first thought was for the safety of the children in the back seat, and he, from all appearance, opened the car door and was only able to get his left foot out, when the pilot struck him, pinning his leg between the automobiles and some part of the pilot, badly crushing it between the knee and ankle. The impact of the engine striking the auto, and dragging of the rear end of the car along the track gave the children in the back seat a severe shaking up which resulted in the little Orlovski girl receiving a bad cut in her chin and a cut in her tongue which required several stitches to close. The other two little tots escaped with slight bruises.

The entire party returned to Charlevoix on the train and Mr. Orlovski and his injured daughter were taken to Charlevoix hospital, where the best of medical attention was given.

Examination of his injuries revealed a compound fracture of the leg, an injury that will take some time to heal and painful to an excessive degree. The little girl's injuries were not of a serious nature and she was removed to her home Tuesday afternoon, while Mr. Orlovski's injury will keep him in bed for weeks.

That every occupant of the car was not more or less injured is more than can be explained. Had the rear doors of the car sprung open, and the little ones thrown out underneath the train, nothing but a miracle could have saved them from terrible injuries or instant death.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE— DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a glass of Salts to flush Kidneys if Bladder bothers you—Drink lots of water

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

PINE TREE REFORESTATION

The public domain commission is shipping large quantities of small pine trees to Cheboygan for reforestation of Northern Michigan. Nearly every express coming north is bringing to that station large shipments of the trees for distribution along points on the D. & M. railroad. The trees are being shipped from the Higgins lake state forest.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

By J. E. Jones

What Are The Railroads Worth?

The long disputed question as to the actual value of the railroads of the country seems about to be cleared up through the investigations now being made by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The Government has been at work for years in making a valuation of the properties and nearly $30,000,000 has been expended. But up to within a few days ago there has been no comprehensive picture as to what the reports will finally disclose. It now seems that on the basis of these reports the railroad valuation will show the aggregate worth of all the roads of the country to be greatly in excess of the value shown on the carriers' own books, more than $2,000,000,000 in excess of their capitalization, and more than $6,000,000,000 in excess of the present aggregate market value of their stocks and bonds. The forecast, based upon the completed field reports of the government engineering experts for nearly 52,000 miles of road in all parts of the country shows the cost of reproduction of 50 railroads on the basis of 1914 costs of labor and materials, when prices were about half what they are today. These roads, including the land they occupy, cost $3,203,782,543. They are carried as investments on carriers' books at $3,158,275,156.

The ten largest roads in the list of fifty, based upon the reports of the costs of reproduction as of 1914, are illuminating. The attention of the commission has been directed to the fact that the New York, New Haven & Hartford inventory shows a reproduction cost of $124,000,000 in excess of the company's own statement of investment; the Boston and Maine, an excess of $80,000,000; the Rock Island, an excess of $47,000,000; the Great Northern, an excess of $34,000,000; and the Big Four an excess of $15,000,000.

Are the Minimum Figures

The railroad valuation figures that have just been brought to light through the Interstate Commerce Commission hearings, and which have been presented by Thomas W. Hulme of Philadelphia, vice-chairman of the conference committee on valuation for the carriers are to be regarded as minimum figures. On this point Mr. Hulme says: "Wherever there is a difference of opinion between the local engineering forces of the government and representatives of the carriers, the government engineers put in the figures that they deem to be the minimum, so that the supervising officers of the Bureau of Valuation in Washington may have the opportunity in the first instance to consider the claims of the carriers as to what additional amount should be allowed. In such large inventories involving such great amounts it is but natural that there should be some errors and numerous differences of opinion, which, when considered, result in material increases in the total of the inventories as first tendered to the carriers. Aside from questions of fact which are individual to a carrier, there are great differences now existing between all the representatives of the railroads and the representatives of the Bureau of Valuation as to costs of grading, track-laying and surfacing, general expenditures, and interest during construction."

Tears and Greenbacks

In the passage of the soldiers' bonus bill the spectacle was presented of Republican and Democratic members of congress playing for credit for having passed the bill through the lower house. Senator Thomas exposed the insincerity of the lower branch of congress by pointing out that "the house set aside its rules, by a bare majority." This was done without a record vote, but when there was a roll call upon the bonus proposition, says the Senator, "the widely-advertised and ostentatious virtue of more than two-thirds of its members withered away like violets in July sun. When the final result was announced, the remnant of the opposition was too small to be significant of anything more than the roll call is the supreme test of moral fortitude." Senator Thomas in commenting further made reference to the significance of this legislation being in the forefront on Memorial Day. "It beguiles the grief of the nation," he said, "that while laying flowers and laurel wreaths upon the graves of the dead to highly resolve at the same time to replenish the pockets of the living; thus grief and joy, despair and hope, mingle our devotions with our proposed legislation. "Tears for the dead" and greenbacks for the living." What Senator Thomas says does not necessarily settle the controversial points concerning the soldiers' bonuses, and even though he has characterized the legislation as a "raid upon the treasury," there is a universal division of opinion as to what are the merits or demerits of a class of legislation of this kind which adds two or three billion dollars of additional taxes upon the people of the country at a time when rigid economy should be in force in legislative expenditures. However, it is very questionable whether statesmen or politicians who spend the money belonging to the public, succeed in carrying with them into public life the essential understanding of the meaning of the word extravagance, which they affect in private life and carry in to their own business affairs. Another Senator, in referring to legislative extravagances, has used unvarnished words. Senator Reed of Missouri, told congress that it voted $600,000,000 a year for the army, "without batting an eye. You expend a million dollars a day to keep soldiers in Europe who ought to have been back here twelve months ago, and it does not disturb the peaceful serenity of your dreams." INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

The East Jordan gum factory, manufactured its first gum Thursday. East Jordan believes this factory will develop into a fine thing for that city. It is expected a raw gutta plant will also be established.

East Jordan public schools closed early this year in order to allow the building to be razed and a new $80,000 high school building erected. East Jordan graduated twenty-one this year.

Dr. Harold Silverstein of Boyne City, while on his way home from Detroit with a new car on Wednesday evening of last week met with a mishap south of Mancelona. The highway at the point the accident occurred curves sharply and the driver of an approaching car evidently became confused and crowded the Doctor too far over and it became a question whether there was room to pass. The Doctor applied his brake and headed toward the ditch and broke his wind shield when he came in contact with the bank. The flying glass marred his forehead and raked his scalp, but no serious damage was done. He brought the car through under its own power and is thankful that the results were no worse.

M. R. Keyworth, secretary of East Jordan Chamber of Commerce and superintendent of schools in that city, widely known hunter and sportsman, advocates that Michigan 1921 legislature pass a law providing for a bounty on foxes, and that the bounty be paid by county treasurers. Mr. Keyworth contends that with the killing off of the foxes small game such as partridge, quail, etc., will increase to great numbers and provide the finest of hunting for a large number of Michigan sportsmen. The Northern Michigan sportsman believes that every county should get behind the move and ask their representative and senator to vote for such a law at the next legislative session.

How Far That Little Seed Casts Its Roots

Senator Reed was speaking in defense of the congressional seeds. He declared that the distribution of seeds has been pictured before the country as a "congressional graft." He commented: "It is like a great many other claims that are put forward, no one sees fit to deny them or explain the facts upon which the charge has been accepted as a fact."

Since the days of antiquity the little government seed has been held up as a wanton extravagance. But Senator Reed says that it is all wrong, and he gives plausible reasons why free seeds should not be abolished. "I have not the slightest doubt in the world that there is not an item in all the appropriations made by congress that so directly and immediately benefits all the people of the United States as the item in the appropriation bill which provides for the distribution of seeds," said Senator Reed. "The man who thinks that seeds sent out through the country, planted and reproduced, do not pay for themselves many times over is a very peculiar sort of an individual. Here is a community that has just an ordinary kind of tomato. Some one sends in and gets from the government a superior variety, and one of the good old ladies in the community raises them in her garden. All the other women folks get that seed the next year. The result is that the little package of seed that is sent out from Washington may be the cause of the introduction into an entire county of a superior variety of that product. This has gone on for years. I have no doubt in the world that the seed sent out from Washington have produced in products one hundred thousand times the value of the entire cost."

The department of labor in its investigations has not been able to discover any particular reduction in the prices of food stuffs. Meat products have declined somewhat, but the ultimate consumer has not noticed the difference at the butcher shop. The farmers are talking about a strike because they, in common with everyone else, are paying exorbitant prices for everything they buy. A half million soldiers left the farms to go to war and it is estimated that only fifty thousand have returned to farming as a livelihood, the majority being attracted by high wages paid in the industries. The exportation of food stuffs in April of this year was fifty per cent less than for the same month last year, but even though there were no exports whatever it is estimated that the greatly reduced acreage in crops planted this year would not be sufficient to take care of the needs of the nation. The 1920 crop is a short one, and some of the reasons for it are enumerated above. It is reasonable to suppose that so long as crops are short prices will remain high.

HOME BALL TEAM WINS FIRST GAME

Loeb Farm Team Proves Easy Picking for Locals

The first ball game of the season to be played by the Independent team took place before a fair sized crowd at the school house grounds on Saturday afternoon of last week. When the boys clashed with a team representing the Loeb farm of Charlevoix, the final count being 11-5 with the home boys on the long end.

The first half of the game was a pitcher's battle between Elzinga of the locals and See for the Loeb team, both pitchers receiving excellent support. The game went to the sixth inning with the score 1-0 in favor of the visitors before the Ellsworth boys found their batting eye and from then until the finish the game was a slaughter.

Wilson of the home team was the hitting star of the game, with a home run, a triple and a single in five times up. Elzinga pitched fine ball for the home boys and with the exception a little wildness at times, had things his own way. In the eighth inning he retired with a top heavy load in favor of Shaeffer who continued the good work to the end.

A return game will probably be played at the Loeb farm Saturday, June 19th.

FISHING REPORTED BEST IN YEARS

Finny Tribe Fairly Jump Into Boats of Sportsmen

Fishing has opened up fine in the lakes around Ellsworth and from present indications it will be the best season in the history of the town. The bass season does not open until June 16th, but pike, muskies and pan fish have been (litterly) coming into the boat for bait during the past few days. Frank Russell, whose home is in Chicago, but who is spending the summer months with Landlord Hartman at the "New Orient," and who has fished practically all the lakes both of Michigan and Wisconsin, has been getting his share of the finny tribe claims that the lakes in this vicinity are the best for bass of any he has ever seen. Mr. Russell speaks from experience as he made two trips to the bottom of the lake to look over the grounds during the past week. He is not, however, particularly fond of the lake water as he says it reminds him too strongly of the Chicago city water both as to color and flavor.

TWO INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

NORTH BOUND PASSENGER TRAIN HITS CAR

Driven By Louis Orlovski of Charlevoix Breaking His Leg and Injuring His Daughter

An accident which might very easily have resulted fatally for four people occurred at the Center Street Railroad crossing last Friday afternoon when an automobile driven by Louis Orlovski of Charlevoix, and containing beside himself his two little daughters and the little daughter of F. E. Cartier of Charlevoix, was struck by passenger train No. 1, due at 3:38 p. m. and badly demolished.

Mr. Orlovski's left leg was broken in three places and he was otherwise bruised and shaken and one of his little girls who happened to be in the front seat was badly cut about the head and face and was unconscious when taken from the car, but quickly recovered and is now getting along O. K. The other occupants were uninjured.

Mr. Orlovski's injuries were looked after at the hospital at Charlevoix and at last reports he was getting along fine.

Mr. Orlovski with his wife and children and accompanied by Mrs. Cartier and little girl were spending the afternoon in town and while the ladies were at Klooster's store, Mr. Orlovski had driven to the depot and was on his way back to drive up town when the accident occurred.

The car a new Dodge touring car had been but recently purchased, and it was the opinion of witnesses that as it was driven onto the track and the driver saw the train approaching he became slightly confused. Be that as it may, the car stalled directly on the track and was struck squarely and carried several rods past the crossing before the engineer could stop the train. Luckily the car remained right side up for had it turned over both driver and passenger would have been killed and it is extremely fortunate that results were no worse than they are.

WARNING ISSUED TO ALL MOTORISTS

Fast and Reckless Driving Must Be Stopped—Observed Speed Laws

Fast and reckless driving of automobiles and other motor driven vehicles is to be rigorously combatted in Charlevoix, both city and county, this year, is the information given out by those who will enforce the speed laws. Open cut-outs are to be closed and speeding drivers to be slowed up, it is stated.

They have no desire to work any injustice to anyone. All are anxious to prevent as many accidents as possible before they happen, and we expect to secure the co-operation of all motorists in our effort.

"It should always be remembered by drivers that children do the unexpected: they dash into the street quicker than a car can be stopped, and for this reason, drivers should always have their machine under control. All are urged to drive slowly when passing children or school houses; and corners should always be turned slowly.

"Under present regulations, drivers' licenses may be suspended for a year for reckless driving, which means driving in a manner that endangers life or property, irrespective of the speed limit or leaving the scene of an accident after causing injury to a person or damage to property without giving your name and address and offering assistance.

"Always give pedestrians proper warning signals and don't think your responsibility ends by merely honking your horn. It is the driver and not the pedestrian that brings danger into the street. Brakes should be tested often and kept in condition. Don't imagine you are within your rights if you go at the maximum speed allowed by law."

POSTOFFICE NOW IN SECOND CLASS

Change Means Additional Help and Increased Salaries

On and after July first the East Jordan postoffice will be in the second class. Such is the information on given out by the Postoffice Inspector Murphy of Grand Rapids last week. The East Jordan Postoffice has been entitled to this classification for a number of years but owing to wartime conditions the government officials deemed it advisable to continue the office as it was—in third class.

Owing to the third class rating, Postmaster Hudkins has been handicapped in trying to maintain a first-class service as he was only allowed clerk-salary in accordance with the office's classification.

The new rating gives Postmaster Hudkins additional help and an increase in salaries to all employees.

Mrs. Myers gave the above statement October 3, 1916 and on May 4, 1920, she added: "The cure Doan brought about has proven permanent."

BLACK SCHOOL SCORED HIGHEST

At Marion Township Day Held Last Wednesday

Marion township school day was held last Wednesday at the Marion Center grange hall. It was attended by one of the largest crowds that has gathered there for some time.

The morning was devoted to outdoor sports in which the five schools represented took part. The Black school scored the highest number of points and received the first place banner. The Johnson school received second place and the Phelps third.

The ladies of the Marion Center grange attended to the dinner arrangements and everybody pronounced the dinner one of those for which Marion Center is famous.

After dinner an excellent program consisting of numbers from each of the five schools in the township was given.

A class of seven members received diplomas from the eighth grade. Rev. Harold VanKirk gave the commencement address in an interesting and pleasing manner. The valedictory was given by Fae Otto of the Johnson school. Miss Otto is not only valedictorian of Marion township but of the entire county.

For the second year the Johnson school taught by Florence Maddough was awarded the first place banner on the exhibit of school work done during the year. The Black school taught by Signa Thorsun, received second place. Third place went to the Nowland school taught by Miss Datis Dean.

TRI-CITY CELEBRATION TO BE A ROUSING ONE

Charlevoix Will Celebrate on Monday—Ball Games, Sports, Sight-seeing Parade and Music

With the co-operation of Boyne City and East Jordan, there is absolutely no reason why Charlevoix's Fourth of July celebration will not be a record breaker. The two above mentioned cities have agreed to the proposition put up to them by the Commercial Association, and will co-operate in the movement to celebrate at Charlevoix this year, either of the two cities next year, and year after year celebrate once every three years in each of the three cities.

Charlevoix's committees have the plans well in hand and a complete program of the days activities will be ready for distribution by the first of next week. One feature that will make a hit is the sight seeing parade scheduled to start at 10:30 in the forenoon and last until the noon hour.

The parade will be led by veterans of the Civil war, followed by members of the Loyal Legion of the three cities and all ex-service men. Each of the three cities will be represented and every owner of an automobile or truck is urged to get into line and render whatever assistance they can. Other entertainment features of the day will be a ball game between Charlevoix and Boyne City, athletic sports in at least four places simultaneously, band concert, fire works and other events not fully decided as yet.

It is also planned to conduct the celebration along the lines of a home coming. Citizens are asked to let their aid by placing convenient seats on their lawns and in public places. A sign bearing the words "Welcome" should be posted in a conspicuous place on every home. All should join in the effort to make a lasting impression on the thousands of visitors that Charlevoix has extended the hand of welcome to them.

Two bands have already been engaged and possibly a third will be secured. There will be something doing every minute during the day of an entertaining nature. The committees who have the celebration in charge are:

Chairman, E. B. Ward.
Secretary, D. F. Meach.
Treasurer, S. M. Rose.
Publicity and Advertising—A. J. Fisher, Ira Adams, A. D. Crimmins.
Sports—Charles Emrey, W. W. Mitchell, Mason H. Rose, R. L. Lewis, Robert Bridge, H. A. Craig, E. See, Jr., Leo Powers.

Parade—J. M. Saunders, Richard Ammett, Harry L. Hooker, D. S. Nyton, George Finnean.
Reception—F. H. Wilkinson and members of the Loyal Legion from Boyne City, East Jordan and Charlevoix.
Decorations—R. F. Sloan, Oluf Ordrum, J. B. Parsons, John Winean, Samuel T. Gilbert.

MARRIED TUESDAY AT HOME OF BRIDE

Robert Bridge, Assistant Cashier of Charlevoix County Bank

Robert Bridge, assistant cashier of the Charlevoix County Bank, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bridge of this city, and Miss Marion Morris of Lansing, were quietly married at 8:00 p. m. Tuesday evening. Only the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties were present. The groom is well known in Charlevoix, having lived here since his early childhood. He is a graduate of the public school and later completed a four year business administration course of the U. of M. "Bob," as he is usually called by his friends, is one of Charlevoix's most promising young business men and is a leader among the younger set.

The bride, Miss Morris, while not a resident of Charlevoix, is well known here, having spent several summers in the city. Her brother, Robert Morris, owns a fruit farm on the shores on the south arm of Pine lake, and the family usually have spent a greater part of the summer months there.

Those who attended the wedding from Charlevoix were Mrs. A. F. Bridge, Clarence, mother and brother of the groom, Miss Horatio Iddings and the Rev. Harold VanKirk. After a two week's tour in the east the bride and groom will return to Charlevoix. The Courier and a host of friends unite in extending congratulations.

VISIT HOME OF CHILDHOOD DAYS

Relatives of Capt. Hulme Drive to Maple City

Sunday and Monday of this week were days of more than ordinary interest to surviving near relatives of the late Capt. Hulme of this city, who made the trip to Maple City, Leelanau county, by auto, and visited the scene of their childhood days.

The party were composed of Mrs. Elizabeth Beattie and son, Forrest, Lewis Shapton, wife and son; Herbert Hulme, wife and daughter, and M. K. Chew, wife and family of six children of Hayes township. Among the visitors to whom the trip and visit were most interesting were Mrs. Beattie, Mrs. Chew and Mr. Hulme, daughters and son of the late Capt. Hulme.

Although the former home, which since their departure has been purchased by Leelanau county as a home for the poor, had undergone numerous changes and is at the present time one of the modern farms of western Michigan, there still remained traces of the playgrounds of their childhood days and brought to memory many instances of their younger days.

The return trip was made Sunday and the visit is one that will long linger in the memory of who went.

FOUR BOATS FOR SUMMER RUN

MICHIGAN TRANSIT CO. ANNOUNCES NEW SCHEDULE

Missouri and Illinois to Make Weekly Trips Between Chicago and Detroit—The Schedule

Judging from the recent announcement of the Michigan Transit Co. Charlevoix will have ideal boat service this season from both Chicago and Detroit. Two new additions have been made to the fleet this season, the Puritan and Illinois, and the services of the Kansas has been discontinued indefinitely.

The company's fleet this year consist of the Manitou, Puritan, Missouri and Illinois. The Str. Manitou will resume her services to northern Michigan points, leaving Chicago June 25, on the same schedule that she has been operating on for several seasons past, with the exception, however, that on her trip leaving Chicago Friday evenings at 6:30 p. m. she will stop direct at Petoskey, both north and south bound.

The S. S. Puritan will take the place of the Missouri, operating on Lake Michigan. Her first trip from Chicago will be Monday, June 28, and will operate practically on the same schedule as the Missouri did last season, with the exception that on her trip leaving Chicago Mondays, she will stop at Charlevoix north bound. She will make three trips a week, Mondays as far as Charlevoix and Grand Traverse ports; Thursdays and Saturdays leaving Chicago at 7:00 p. m. for Ludington, Manistec, Onkema and Frankfort.

The Strs. Missouri and Illinois will operate between Chicago and Detroit in passenger, freight, express service. Missouri will leave Chicago on her first Detroit trip Wednesday, June 30, stopping at Charlevoix, Petoskey, Harbor Springs and Mackinac Island in both directions.

H. S. PRINCIPAL MARRIED AT CADILLAC

Announcement of Wedding Received in City Monday

Announcement of the marriage of Glenn E. Loomis, for the past three years principal in the Charlevoix schools, to Miss Anna Ruth Healey of Cadillac, were received by their many friends here Monday, the wedding taking place in Cadillac on Saturday last.

During his connection with the Charlevoix schools, Mr. Loomis proved one of the most popular and well liked instructors the city has ever employed. He not only proved his worth as an instructor, but in lodge work and other local activities was considered as one of the "live wires" of the community. His departure from Charlevoix is deeply regretted by hundreds of close friends.

The bride, Miss Healey, is a resident of Cadillac and one of the leaders in the younger set. On her occasional visits to Charlevoix she made many friends.

The Courier joins the many friends of both bride and groom in extending sincere congratulations.

COUNTY POLITICS ARE WARMING UP

Two Candidates Out After Office of Representative

Voters of Charlevoix county will have the opportunity of choosing between two men, at least, for the office of representative at the August primaries.

Jacob E. Chew of South Arm, township, East Jordan, made his announcement several weeks ago, and the next one to enter the race is former county surveyor Ernest A. Robinson of Boyne City.

Mr. Chew has held the office for the past two terms, and has performed his duties with faithfulness and absolute fairness. As a representative of agricultural interests, he has strived in all manner possible to better the conditions in this line. His past record is a clean one as will be the one he makes if again elected to the office.

Mr. Robinson has for several terms served the county well as surveyor, and is well known throughout the county. The announcement of both candidates in this issue of the Courier.

PETOSKEY ELK IN WILD HERD

STATE NOW HAS FIFTY OF THESE ANIMALS

Old Bill Killed When He Attacks B. C. & A. Passenger Train at Hillman

Petoskey and Northern Michigan people are interested in knowing what became of the four elk removed from the city park two years ago and turned over to the state game department to be turned loose in the cover land in Cheboygan and Alpena counties says the Petoskey Evening News:

At about the time the animals were shipped from here the state turned loose its other elk and since then the herds have been roaming the wilds of Cheboygan, Alpena and Roscommon counties. Freedom has proven profitable for the herds have increased fully one hundred per cent.

From 1914 to 1918 the herd of twenty-four elk secured from the government herd in Yellowstone park failed to increase. It was kept in the enclosure in Roscommon county and did not do well. In 1918 the herd was turned free, an four elk were secured from Petoskey city park and two from Ionia park and these were also turned out in the cover land.

The inventory of the herd just made public shows the herd increasing and being cared for by farmers, sportsmen and deputies in those counties. The animals are not very wild and practically every land owner is their friend.

Old Bill, the old giant bull of the herd, has made his last charge and his bones are whitening in the woods near Hillman. Old Bill had a mania for attacking gray teams of horses, and anything of that color and was becoming dangerous when the passenger train on the B. C. & A. railroad defeated him in fair fight. Old Bill saw the steam from the passenger engine as he was climbing the railroad bank and immediately charged. He met the engine head on and was thrown, crushed, bleeding and lifeless clear over the right-of-way fence. Old Bill is no more.

MAKE FINE CATCH OF LAKE TROUT

M. J. McCarthy and George Cook Capture Big Ones

Steel-head and Mackinaw trout fishing is reported as being about the best this season for several years, and a number of fine catches have been reported.

The record catch made so far this season was that of the string of nine Mackinaw trout caught Tuesday afternoon by M. J. McCarthy and George Cook. The largest trout among the nine weighed 16 1-2 pounds and the smallest about four pounds. Several of the nine tipped the scales around the eight pound mark.

The boys started out about three-thirty in the afternoon and were back by eight. The good fishing, both of lake trout, rainbow and steel-head, in Pine lake and lake Michigan is known the country over. It is due more less to the efforts of local sportsmen to keep our streams and lakes well stocked. Let the good work go on and the reward will be ample.

CITY TO VOTE ON CHANGE OF TIME

Will Settle Controversy By Direct Vote of People

Charlevoix's wrangle and dissatisfaction over the matter of which to run under will be settled by the direct vote of the people on Tuesday, June 29.

Petitions have been presented to the council, signed by nearly every business house in the city, to change back to "fast" time. Others are opposed to the change, and want to continue under the present time. The council is in the air and has decided to bring the proposition to a vote and settle the matter one way or the other.

If you are in favor of "fast" time, vote for it. If for "slow" time, express yourself at the polls. And when the votes are counted stand by the majority, no matter which way it goes.

The polls will be opened at 8:00 a. m. and close at 8:00 p. m. The men whose services are required to conduct the election have offered to donate their time free. It is to be hoped the matter will be settled for all time.

STORM PLAYS FREAKISH PRANKS

Destroys House But the Ten People in It Escapes Injury

Thursday's electric and wind storm played some queer pranks in many places throughout Michigan, took a number of lives, destroyed considerable property. In Detroit four high school baseball players were killed and eight others badly injured when lightning struck a tree under which they had taken shelter. On Belle Isle several persons were also injured.

At South Boardman the lightning struck a house, broke out all the windows, stripped the paper from the walls and practically wrecked the place but did not injure any of the ten persons in the house at the time. Locally the storm did little damage other than putting the light plant out of service for about three hours and burning out fuses in telephone and telegraph lines. East of Charlevoix on the Boyne City road, a number of telephone poles were blown down, but no other serious damage has been reported.

At Petoskey lightning struck a tree and a light pole and put electric lights out of commission for a time. However, the rain which accompanied the storm is said to have been worth a great deal to farmers and fruit growers.

WANTS TO BE ROAD COMMISSIONER

Well Known Auctioneer Announces His Candidacy

W. E. Byers, the well known auctioneer, makes formal announcement in another column of this issue, as being a candidate for the office of county road commissioner on the Republican ticket at the primaries held August 31.

For some time it has looked as if this office would "go begging." In other words no one seem to want it. Not that there was anything wrong with the office, but good, live road builders, men fitted for this office, could draw better salaries than this office offered.

In regards to Mr. Byers all we can say is that if he develops into a good road builder as he is auctioneer, Charlevoix county will have one of the best men of any county in Michigan. The work will not be new to him as he has had considerable experience along this line in the township where he formerly lived. He has the ability to handle men, which will greatly help him in the work. This is Mr. Byers' first appearance in the political arena and he will no doubt receive a handsome vote.

HARDING AND COOLIDGE CANDIDATES

Chosen to Lead Republican Party to Victory in November

The Republican National convention at Chicago, Saturday evening, nominated as the Republican presidential candidate Senator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, and as his running mate the convention named Governor Calvin Coolidge, of Massachusetts.

On the eighth ballot the leaders Gen. Wood and Governor Lowden remained deadlocked, with Sen. Harding in the race, and Sen. Johnson dropped to fourth place. On the ninth ballot delegates began breaking away from the leaders in large numbers. Governor Lowden released his entire delegation as did many other candidates. At the end of ninth ballot Harding was far in the lead. At the opening of the tenth ballot the landslide began and Harding swept on to a popular victory amid cheers and scenes of wild confusion.

Only one ballot was necessary to select a running mate. Governor Coolidge being practically nominated before voting began, so popular was the demand for him from all sections of the convention hall.

FIND BODY OF MAN ON SHORE

Sturgeon Bay Presents Mystery Which is So Far Unsolved

The body of a man who is believed to have been a sailor or deckhand on some lake steamer, was discovered Saturday on the shore at Sturgeon Bay, in the north part of Emmet county, by a number of fishermen at that point. From the condition of the body it was believed that the man met death about two weeks ago. It is thought he fell overboard from some ship.

The man's hair was dark brown, he was about forty-five years of age and weighed about 165 pounds. No papers or other means of identification were found. The body was buried in Bliss cemetery.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

End Pain and Stiffness away with a small bottle of old honest St. Jacobs Liniment

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 30 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Liniment" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out of your back and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly!

Mark Howard, brother to Noah Howard, who came from Ohio recently and bought one of the John Skelton's farms, burned out Tuesday evening losing nearly everything.

We are pleased to say that word has been received from William Clark and family saying they arrived at Coldwater safely and that Mr. Clark stood the trip much better than was anticipated.

CONDITION OF MICHIGAN CROPS

CONDITIONS OF ALL CROPS BELOW NORMAL

Prospects for Bumper Fruit Crop is Very Flattering—Trees Need More Spraying

While the condition of all of the small grains is from two to five per cent below normal for the United States, the lowest condition of any of them in Michigan is only one per cent below the ten-year average. This fact, together with the prospect for a good crop of fruit of all kinds, is the encouragement offered by the June crop report issued by the Michigan Co-Operative Reporting Service under the direction of Coleman C. Vaughn, Secretary of State and Verne H. Church, field agent, U. S. Bureau of crop estimates. The acreages of all spring crops, upon which a report has been made to date, are below normal due to the decreased rural population. The rain-fall during May was very light, in consequence of which the growth is very dry and crops will suffer materially unless rain comes soon.

Winter Wheat: Wheat varies in condition from very poor to very good, the state average being 77 per cent, as compared with 80 per cent last month, 97 per cent one year ago, and 77 per cent the ten-year average. The condition is lowest in the southwestern and south-central counties, where the Hessian fly has done much damage and where there was a considerable winter-killing. Some fields were plowed up and given over to other crops, and others were harrowed and spring grains sown in with the wheat. The remaining fields are more or less spotted. In the central and east-central counties there are many excellent fields and these have made considerable improvement during May. The condition is good in the northern districts except the northeastern counties of the lower peninsula.

The estimated amount of wheat marketed at mills and elevators during May is 533,000 bushels, a total of 11,470,000 bushels since August 1, 1919. The estimated amount still remaining on farms is 2,012,000 bushels.

Spring Wheat: The marked increase in the acreage of spring wheat during the last two years from 12,000 to 85,000 is being followed by a sharp decline. The poor crop of last year discouraged many from planting this year, and there is practically no acreage in many counties. The estimated acreage is only one-half that of last year, and the total production is placed at 666,000 bushels. The condition is 87 per cent.

Oats: Notwithstanding the backward season and the delays incident to wet weather and scarcity of farm labor, the acreage exceeds expectations. It is estimated at 98 per cent of that sown last year, or 1,446,000 acres. The stand is generally good and the crop has been in good condition, although now it is beginning to suffer from lack of moisture. The present condition of 87 per cent is one per cent better than one year ago and one per cent below the ten-year average. The crop indicated is 48,434,000 bushels.

Barley: There was a marked increase in the acreage of barley from 1915 to 1918, from 85,000 in the former year 300,000 in the latter. In 1919, the acreage dropped to 280,000, and the present estimate shows a further decline this year to 258,000. The condition is 90 per cent which is the same as the ten-year average and one per cent better than one year ago. From this condition the forecasted production is 6,018,000 bushels.

Rye: Rye suffered some from the cold winter and spring. The condition has dropped from 89 to 80 per cent during the past month. Much of the straw will be short, thin stands are frequent, and occasional fields have been abandoned. The condition is now one point below the ten-year average and 11 points below that of one year ago. The indicated production at this date is 11,773,000 bushels.

Hay: The condition of all hay is 82 per cent, four per cent below that of June 1 last year and of the ten-year average, and two per cent below that of last month. The backward season and lack of rain are responsible for the low condition. Many clover seedling failed because of the dry weather last summer in various parts of the state, and many were ruined by grasshoppers in the northern counties of the lower peninsula. The condition of clover meadows is 84 per cent, or four per cent below the ten-year average. The acreage of alfalfa is two per cent larger than last year, and the condition is 94 per cent. This is the same as one year ago and four per cent better than the ten-year average.

Fruits: The prospects for all of the fruits is very flattering at this date. A heavy bloom is reported from all sections, and fine weather has prevailed during the time so that a heavy setting should result. More spraying than usual is being done this year.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

Efforts are being made by the Michigan Farm Bureau to assist in combatting the grasshopper pest which is devastating hundreds of acres in the northwestern part of the state this year. A carload of 30,000 pounds of poison has been shipped to Benzie county for distribution among the farmers there. Other counties reported as needing assistance badly are, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Leelanau, Mason, Charlevoix and Wexford. These insects breed rapidly in the cut-over lands of that section and are especially destructive to seedlings and young growths. Many farmers who have had crops ruined are deserting the territory or contemplating doing so.

Arrangements have been made by the Farm Bureau to financially assist the Michigan Livestock Shipping Exchange. Efforts of this association are mainly directed toward the establishment of livestock associations in communities over the state.

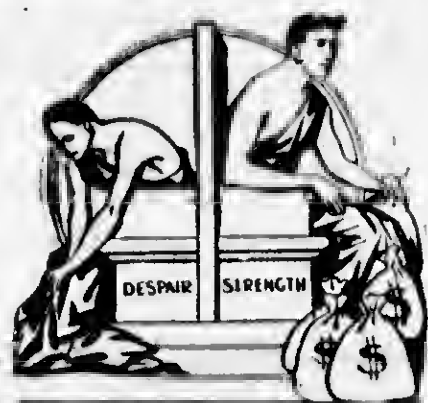

To accommodate the tons of wool rolling into the wool pool at Lansing, another large three-story warehouse has been acquired by the State Farm Bureau. Approximately a million pounds of wool already are pooled, with prospects for a million more being included.

Preparations for the State Farm

Bureau Drive in the near future is coming along nicely. The state speaker will be at the Pomona grange held at Maple Grove Grange hall, June 22. He will tell us what the Farm Bureau is and what it is doing. We believe a good crowd will be present.

Numerous complaints have been received recently of damage being done by the striped cucumber or melon beetle as it is called. This is a little striped beetle that is found in melons, squashes, and cucumbers. The method of control is to apply arsenate of lead liberally as a spray.

THINK IT OVER

People who are inclined to cry out "Let Uncle Sam do it," might profitably give some thought to Russia.

The Uncle Sam of that great store house of natural resources and potential wealth and happiness is the Soviet system of government.

There is nothing to indicate that Russians are reveling in riches or laughing with the joy of living.

The Soviet system of state and general Socialism seems to be working out as a gigantic failure. The people starve, though Russia once had grain to export. They go unclothed, though once on the fields of Turkistan provided the cotton for its great textile industry. They freeze, despite the coal and oil fields and timber resources.

"Socialism is all right when it starts with the 'divvying-up' process. It won't work when it comes to creating something to divvy." Thus has many a self-reliant American reasoned, and Russia furnishes him the latest proof.

The Soviet did well at the start. It plundered alike the palaces of the rich and the homes of the thrifty. It ran the railroads built under a better system of life than its own. It was clothed from the accumulated store of a happier day.

But now it is in evil times. There

All lady Maccabees are requested to attend the next regular session of White Rose hive where the delegates of Charlevoix county report will be given. Business of importance to be transacted.

INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

A farmer had just come up to town for a few days. Before he started he had promised to bring his daughter a pair of earrings, cheap, but pretty.

"Yes, sir," said the clerk. "You want something loud, I suppose?" "Well, I don't mind if one of them is a little loud," replied the farmer. "My girl is slightly deaf in one ear."

Because of the menace of the forest fire in the Grand Traverse region the state fish, game and forest fire commissioner has appointed Edward Tholman, of Yuba, and Harry J. Ells, of Nessen City, as deputy state fire wardens, to devote full time to fire patrol and fighting until October 15th. This gives Warden Crow, in addition to his three deputy game wardens, who are also forest fire officials, two men who will be constantly on patrol when they are not actually engaged in combatting fire. The district has been divided and each man has territory to cover. They are equipped with Ford cars, buckets, shovels and other implements with which to extinguish blazes.—Traverse City Record Eagle.

A Grand Rapids man, says a news paragraph, was found unconscious and hanging backward over a picket fence after he had attempted, "while riding a bicycle, to avoid collision with an automobile." This teaches us that we should never try to avoid collision with an automobile while riding a bicycle, but should instead always be riding in the automobile.

Take no chances on an old tire or tube when you can buy new ones at 25 per cent discount. Ben. Brown.—Adv. 22tf.

Dr. J. Leahy Weds

Ask any of the many Charlevoix people who are using them. The one answer is "in our opinion, the best machine made." A phone call brings one to your home. INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

Archie Ramey became quite saucy when warned by Marshal John Bailey not to drive his auto so fast on the streets last Sunday, and finally struck at the officer, who proceeded to give him a good trouncing. Bailey then put Ramey in the lock-up and Monday he paid a fine of $5 for speeding. A more serious charge of resisting an officer may be preferred against him.—Mancelona Herald.

Thirty thousand pounds of poison were shipped by the Michigan Farm Bureau from Lansing last week to Benzie county in the fight against the grasshopper pest, which is worse this year than in several years. Other counties, including Leelanau, Kalkaska, Mason, Manistee, Grand Traverse, Wexford need aid. Scores of farmers already have eggs ruined by the pest and are deserting the territory.

Saturday night the Campbell Stone company's plant at Afton was totally destroyed by fire, involving a loss of $80,000 to $100,000. The fire started in the top of the limekiln and was followed by an explosion of the gasoline tank. The plant is located on the Blackwood branch of the Michigan Central where two hundred feet of track was destroyed also four cars.—Cheboygan Tribune.

A medical report says insanity is on the increase in the state. Suspected cases, it is said, were at first tested by determining whether they could memorize the names of all the candidates for governor, but following this severe trial those in the first mild stages gradually grew worse, and themselves finally became candidates; so the method has had to be abandoned.—Detroit News.

A Mount Clemens woman was offered $1,000 for telling an untruth, but if the law of supply and demand is allowed to operate unimpeded, we feel sure the market will remain considerably below that figure for the commonest products, such as those concerning the exploits of the youngest, the price of the hat, the amount of the husband's salary, etc.

and gives much better protection. Put it on the stem and under side of the leaves if possible.

We are very pleased to note inclination on the part of most of the farmers to fight the grasshopper pest this year. They have appeared in large numbers from some eight to twelve miles farther west than last year. The results obtained from the poison bait method last year substantiates our belief that crops and seeding can be saved by its use, but it will not give results unless it is persistently, consistently and intelligently used. The cheap grasshopper poisons that have been used in former years, are extremely hard to obtain. We have had no money with which to buy them early and are doing our best to secure a supply at this time. In the meantime, the only poison we can recommend that is just as good as paris green. It will do the work but is more expensive. If a few dollars invested in paris green will save your seed it is a mighty good investment. You cannot afford to lose it whatever the cost. This is the next method of mixing the poison bait.

The Poison Bait: Mix dry one bushel of sawdust and one pound of poison. Dissolve a scant pound of salt and a half-cup of black-strap molasses in a gallon of water. Mix with the sawdust and poison and add all the water it will take without running off. Scatter this as you would sow grain wherever the hoppers are beginning to do damage. Better do this the last thing at night so the bait will be ready for the hungry hopper in the morning. It will not do the work after it dries out.

Remarks: Old sawdust is better than fresh sawdust. Paris green and white arsenic are the kinds of poison to use. Do not use urseate of lead or arsenate of calcium, they will not give satisfactory results.

A recommended formula for a homemade fly repellent is as follows:
2 1-2 Oz. Crude Carbolic Acid.
2 1-2 Oz. Turpentine.
2 1-2 Oz. Oil of Tar.
5c worth of Tannin.

Make up to one gallon with kerosene. Use in atomizer sprayer, as a spray on cattle in stable night and morning.

Certain-teed Roofing Resists Fire

Certain-teed Roofing is fire retarding and spark proof; consequently your fire risk is greatly reduced when Certain-teed roofs your buildings.

Burning embers carried by the wind from nearby fires are always a menace to old fashioned, inflammable wood shingle roofs. Certain-teed forms a permanent protection against sparks and embers and all such carriers of fire.

Because of the great risk of general conflagrations in congested districts, and of the lack of safe fire protection in the outlying and rural districts you should get this Certain-teed protection on your buildings.

In addition to being fire resisting, Certain-teed is a most economical roof. It resists all forms of weather attack—rain, sleet, snow, sun, etc. It is guaranteed by the manufacturer for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to the weight you select.

There is a scarcity of many types of roofing products—you can always get Certain-teed Smooth Surfaced Roofing, the most economical and serviceable roofing to be obtained.

See your dealer at once. He either has Certain-teed or can get it quickly from a nearby Certain-teed warehouse.

TO BE AWARDED ON BASIS OF MERIT

Tribe of Ben-Hur Establishes Several Scholarships

Scholarships in many educational institutions will be established by the Tribe of Ben-Hur as one feature of a memorial to the founder of the society, the late D. W. Gerard. Action to this effect has been taken by the delegates to the supreme meeting of the order representing nearly every state in the Union. The Ben-

Hur Memorial Scholarships will be awarded on the basis of merit to members of the society after a competitive examination and will be placed in technical, art, music, professional, and trade schools as well as colleges and universities. Ample funds without assessment of the members will be provided to insure a constantly increasing number of scholarships and the first awards will be made in 1921.

Another feature of the memorial to the founder is the old home of General Lew Wallace in Crawfordsville, which will be maintained as a literary shrine to be visited by members of the order and admirers of the book Ben-Hur for all time. It was in this home that Wallace wrote the greater part of his masterpiece, Ben-Hur, the tale of the Christ which became the inspiration of D. W. Gerard in organizing the Tribe of Ben-Hur in 1894. Gerard and Wallace were friends, neighbors and comrades in the G. A. R. and it is therefore peculiarly fitting that the Wallace home should become the Gerard Memorial.

The Supreme Meeting of the Tribe of Ben-Hur adjourned June 3rd, after re-electing Dr. R. H. Cernad Supreme Chief, J. C. Snyder Supreme Scribe, and Dr. J. F. Davidson Supreme Medical Examiner.

AT THE MOVIES

A favorite with two generations as a novel, "Told in the Hills" has been adapted to the screen and is coming to the Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday as a Paramount-Artcraft production with Major Robert Warwick as the star. No effort has been spared to make it a picture of unusual merit. In the supporting cast are Ann Little, Eileen Percy, Wanda Hawley, Tom Forman, Monte Blue and Hart Hoxie. The scenes were photographed in the most picturesque sections of the Rockies, and a whole tribe of full-blooded Indians act as extras.

The familiar story of "Told in the Hills" centers around Jack Stuart, played by Major Warwick, who sacrifices his future to marry a girl whom his younger brother has wronged. He retires into seclusion in the Montana Indian country. He becomes a Government scout, and, after many dramatic adventures, finds happiness. The picture was directed by George Melford.

CANNED GOODS GOING TO BE HIGH

On Account of Great Scarcity of Sugar and Labor

Canned goods next winter are going to be sky-high in price, and scarce, despite abundant crops this summer of fruit and vegetables, according to the Michigan State Farm Bureau.

Advises received from the fruit and vegetable growing sections of the state show that labor for picking is almost impossible to obtain, and that the prospects are that thousands of dollars in these commodities will be lost because of inability of farmers to harvest them. Further reports from the canneries show that practically all are preparing for greatly curtailed operations this year. Buying of fruit and vegetables by these establishments is reported as reluctant. This curtailment is due mainly to higher prices, shortage of labor and scarcity of coal.

Because of these facts, the Farm Bureau urges that consumers of canned goods place their orders this summer with their local dealers. This will permit these dealers to pass the orders along to the wholesalers and canners, thus eliminating much speculation as to the probable demand, and thereby enabling canners and wholesalers to operate on a shorter financial margin and reduce the ultimate cost of these commodities to consumers.

HAVE 52 BILLION FEET OF TIMBER

Statistics Show There is a Great Plenty in Michigan

Appropos to the visit to Hancock of officials of a woodenware factory for the purpose of considering the establishment of a plant is the report presented to the Chamber of Commerce meeting by President Field on the timber resources of the state in general. Mr. Field's data was obtained at the recent deep waterways convention held in Marquette.

"You gentlemen," said President Field, "will be startled and agreeably astonished as we were to learn there are 52,000,000,000 of feet of standing timber in Michigan today. More important than that is the fact that 79 per cent of this timber is in the upper peninsula. We learned a great many things about the upper peninsula resources at the Marquette meeting, but by no means the least important was the timber resources of our peninsula."

President Field's statement gives a discolored eye to oft repeated statement that lumbering in Cloverland is just about a thing of the past. He asserted in strong terms that there is sufficient raw material in the northern peninsula to keep factories engaged in the manufacture of woodenware going for decades to come. Manufacturers, he added, no longer care to concentrate their activities in one community, but prefer branching out and because of this fact the Copper country stands the best chance in its history, to land some of these industries.

COW INJURED IN PECULIAR MANNER

Foot on Hind Leg Nearly Severed By Scythe

Albert Reynolds, a prominent farmer of Hayes township, lost a valuable Jersey cow last week in a peculiar manner.

Mr. Reynolds had tied the cow near the barn on a long chain. A little later he took a scythe and cut some grass which he fed to the cow, and left the scythe lying on the ground within the length of the chain.

In some manner the chain became wound around the handle of the scythe and the cow in her efforts to escape came into contact with the scythe, almost severing her hind foot, her injuries being so serious they were obliged to kill her. According to Mr. Reynolds, the cow was the best in his herd of several and the loss amounts to considerable.

What Is Telephone Service

It is because the telephone is so intimately yours—because the daily benefits from this service are so far-reaching and vital, that we are coming to you with a message.

This is in line with our wish to give the people of Michigan the very best and most extensive telephone service that could possibly be desired. And to do this we must have your friendly and complete co-operation.

In order to give that co-operation you naturally need and are justified in asking an intelligent understanding of the telephone business.

It is our purpose, therefore, in this and succeeding announcements, to tell you, among other things, exactly what the Michigan State Telephone Company is, what the giving of service involves, and to discuss with you present conditions and plans for the future.

The conduct of any public service corporation carries its share of unending problems—problems that are as vital to the public which it serves as to the company itself.

These problems cannot and in fairness should not be solved by the corporation alone. The public is too vitally interested and where public interest is so intimately involved, the public's judgment must have every consideration.

It is our purpose, therefore, to make these announcements as though we were all in council, where all have free opportunity of discussion.

Among the problems that will undoubtedly come before us are matters of service—why it is that there sometimes are apparent delays in getting a number, why you sometimes get the wrong number, etc.

The problem of telephone extensions also is a very vital one. Everyone should know why it is impossible under present conditions to install apparatus promptly for every new subscriber.

And we will want to discuss with you very frankly the rate problem, and tell the real crisis that confronts us in the face of constantly increasing costs of labor and material.

But it is neither our desire nor our intention to limit the discussion to published statements of our own.

We invite you to ask us by letter about those points that we may overlook or may not have made sufficiently clear.

To care for these answers promptly, we have established a special service to provide you with the necessary facts.

Where a large number of questions on any one subject indicate a general interest in that point, we will publish the questions and answers in these columns.

We will likewise be pleased to have you visit any of our exchanges and see for yourself some of the things telephone service involves, and how we endeavor to meet the demands placed upon us.

It will be our purpose to speak frankly, to acquaint you with every phase of the "telephone problem," and to maintain this open-minded attitude permanently.

We believe that this will result in a relationship that will make our mutual ideal of good telephone service for Michigan a practical reality.

OLUF NORDRUM ACCEPTS RESPONSIBLE POSITION

Promoted to Position as Manager of Producing Department of Booth Fisheries Co.

Oluf Nordrum, for the past twelve years local manager of the Booth Fisheries Co.'s plant in this city, has been promoted to the position as manager of the producing department of the same company with headquarters at Chicago. He will leave Tuesday next to assume his new duties.

In the removal of Mr. Nordrum, Charlevoix loses one of its best citizens, and man who has taken a personal interest in the advancement and welfare of the city. Prior to his coming to Charlevoix he was connected with R. Connable & Sons, The Connable Fishing Co., A. Booth Packing Co. and Booth Fisheries Co. of Petoskey.

During his twelve years' residence in Charlevoix he has taken an active interest in the affairs of the city, in lodge work was recognized as a leader and year after year worked with tireless energy to increase their membership. He belonged to but few lodges that he has not been chosen to fill its most important offices.

During the year 1912 he most satisfactorily held the position as mayor, and at other times has served on the board of public works, various important committees, and at the present time is secretary of the board of education.

Before assuming the duties of his new office he will take a long trip for the purpose of visiting branch offices of the company in various states, taking in the lakes and rivers and acquainting himself with the territory over which the duties of his office involve.

Charlevoix will be one of the cities to be frequently visited on his trips of inspection, and even though his home is in Chicago, he will be met with the same spirit of fellowship as if he was with us in our daily life. As yet his successor has not been appointed.

WHAT TIME SHALL WE WORK UNDER

Matter to Be Definitely Settled by Special Election

Charlevoix will settle for all time the question of working under "fast" or "railroad" time at a special election to be held on Tuesday, June 29.

The subject has been uppermost in most people's minds for some time. Petitions from both sides have been presented to the council and school board. "Fast" time was tried out and then changed back. Many claim, and we are of the opinion they are right, that the logical time to work under is that known as "fast" time. It gives the working man an hour of daylight in the evening which under the former time he did not have. It allows the business man to close his store, and he and his clerks can enjoy an hour out-doors, that he otherwise could not enjoy. It cuts down the electric light bills, and allows the day laborer more time after his day's work is over. It inconveniences no one outside of those in the employ of railroads and those who make the trains, and this class of men in Charlevoix are greatly in the minority.

The polls on special election day will be open from 8:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m., giving every voter a chance to cast his or her ballot one way or the other.

Let's settle the matter for all time at this special election.

ANOTHER FINE CATCH OF FISH

Eighteen Beautiful Lake Trout Caught in Half Day

Another record catch of lake trout was made Tuesday by G. M. Herman of Kenilworth, Illinois, and Fred Coon of this city.

The catch numbered, eighteen, the total weight being 117 pounds. The boys started on their trip in the forenoon, returning to the city about three in the afternoon. They caught their fish by trolling between the mouth of the harbor and south point. Lake trout and steel head fishing was never better than this spring, and catches from three to a dozen are frequent occurrences.

LIQUOR LAWS ARE VIOLATED IS CLAIM

Source of Booze Supply Being Investigated By Prosecutor

The Roynce Citizen, in a recent issue, makes the following comment on the reported violation of the liquor laws in Charlevoix county: "Beginning last Tuesday and continuing throughout the week, Justice Nurko's court was the scene of considerable secret activity. A number of witnesses were brought over from Charlevoix, examined and affidavits taken and on the strength of the testimony thus obtained, warrants were served on Roy Pant of Charlevoix and Birney Newson of Burgess—a cluster of buildings between Charlevoix and Ilay Shore.

Newson is charged with selling and furnishing liquor, officers claim there are four distinct charges against him. When first brought into court here he stood mute and refused to talk save that he demanded an attorney, on Saturday he again appeared, this time accompanied by his lawyer, waived examination and was bound over to the August term of the circuit court. As yet he has not furnished the $5,000.00 bond required. Roy Pant was charged with purchasing and furnishing to others liquor obtained from Newson. He also waived examination and was bound over to the next term of court.

"The officers are still following a hot trail and expect soon to land other transgressors of the liquor laws."

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COUNTY FAIR

NORTHWESTERN SHOWS OF DETROIT FOR ITS MIDWAY

Charlevoix County Fair is Now Recognized as Being the Best in Northern Michigan

The Charlevoix County Agricultural Society announces that it has secured the northwestern shows of Detroit for its midway. This outfit has contracted to furnish a merry-go-round, a big Eli Ferris wheel and a new Whip. The Whip will occupy about the same space that the Red Cross dancing floor did in 1918 and will be located where the dancing floor was. From that point up to the grand stand the concession space has already been reserved. Opposite the whip will be a tent show which uses one hundred feet of frontage. The merry-go-round, which is the best one that has ever been on our grounds, will be at the usual place, located between the educational building and the floral hall. Several shows will be in this space also. The Ferris wheel will be set up just at the south end of the educational building.

The fair management takes great pleasure in making this announcement as a cash deposit from this concern assures their presence. It is the first time in our history that we have been able to get such a large outfit to help us make the fair a big one.

In addition to the northwestern shows and the twenty concessions which they will bring there will be at least thirty more concession stands which will make the biggest and best midway that has ever been on our fair grounds.

The Charlevoix County Agricultural Society is each year putting on a bigger and better fair and our county fair is now recognized as being the best fair in northern Michigan, notwithstanding the attempts of some of our neighboring fair associations to become bigger by calling themselves district fairs. The Charlevoix county fair is in truth a district fair and if the fair association in any of our adjoining counties should decide that they would rather join with us than to hold a fair in their county we would be very glad to welcome them. For the present we are content to call ourselves a County Fair and to welcome the exhibitors from the adjoining counties.

Notice In accordance with numerous requests from our summer visitors the hours for the opening of the library have been changed giving a total of three hours more for service each week. By the use of this new schedule all the patrons may be accommodated. Library hours to go in effect Thursday July 1st:

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 10:12 a. m. to 2:30 p. m.
Thursday, Friday, Saturday 2:30 p. m. to 7:30 p. m.

MANY SPECIMENS OF FINNY TRIBE

ON DISPLAY AT THE LOCAL FISH HATCHERY

Manager A. T. Stewart to Be Congratulated on Arrangement for Benefit of Public

A. T. Stewart, manager of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, is receiving many compliments on the display of the finny tribe he has arranged at the local station.

The center room of the hatchery, facing the west, has been converted into a public reception room. Tanks constructed of glass, are arranged around the room, containing different specimens of fish, making an ideal arrangement and one that will attract hundreds of people who daily visit the beach and government buildings.

As one enters the room the first display is the large tank of gold fish which occupies the center. Here one sees many of those beautiful fish, with their glittering bodies floating lazily about the tank. Some entirely of the golden color, others of gold and black. To one who has never been fortunate to see them at close range, the display is of more than usual interest.

To the north is a tank of lake trout, large in size and beautifully marked. The next tank contains Rainbow trout—the next Speckled trout and the next German Brown. Every specimen of the trout family are beautifully marked and at once creates a desire to don the old fishing clothes, grab the rod and reel and hurry to the nearest stream in an effort to land at least one.

On the south side of the room is a tank, its contents marked "a happy family." It contains fish of several varieties including perch, suckers, lawyers, and a good sized rainbow trout.

To the west of this tank is one which contains three beautiful whitefish. To one who has seen these fish on the local market the sight is most pleasing, as here one is able to view them in their native state.

The display will prove to be one of the best attractions Charlevoix the Beautiful ever offered to its hundreds of summer visitors, and Manager Stewart is to be congratulated for the interest he has taken in the display at the hatchery.

HOME TEAM LOS-ES TO PETOSKEY

IN FIRST GAME PLAYED ON VISITORS GROUNDS

Unfair Decisions of Umpire Gets Raise Out of Fans—Outplayed Opponents But Lost 8 to 6

Before a crowd of between three and four hundred enthusiastic fans, Charlevoix lost the first game of a series to be played this summer to Petoskey by a score of 8 to 6.

As it was the opening game, for the Northern Amateur league, considerable interest was shown in the outcome. Charlevoix outplayed their opponents and should have taken their scalp, had it not been for numerous unfair decisions of the umpire at times when the bases were covered. The boys have no sore spots, however, and it is hoped at future games umpires who know the difference between a ball and a strike will be chosen to render the decisions.

Petoskey's battery was Hansford and Slocum. Charlevoix used Smith and Hallett as pitchers and Sanford and Jones as catchers.

Charlevoix started the scoring in the first, two hits and three outs going for two runs. In the seventh an error and three outs allowed another run, and in the eighth three hits, a walk and a fielder's choice sent three more runners scampering across the rubber. Petoskey had three big innings, starting with the third. Three hits and walk turned the trick, while in the fifth three hits, two walks and a hit batter resulted in four runs. In the eighth three hits and a walk allowed the eighth run.

Umpires—Lindig and Wallace. Scores—Worden and Vought, Bases off balls, by Smith 5, by Hallett 1, by Sanford 2. Struck out, by Smith 5, by Hallett 3, by Hansford 16. The home team will play Pellston on the latter grounds Sunday and will play Boyne City on the home grounds July 5.

Following is the schedule of games to be played during season:

June 27—Harbor Springs at Charlevoix; Charlevoix at Pellston; Petoskey open date.

July 3—Pellston at Petoskey; Harbor Springs at Petoskey.

July 5—Boyne City at Charlevoix.

July 11—Petoskey at Boyne City; Charlevoix at Harbor Springs; Pellston open date.

August 1—Boyne City at Harbor Springs; Pellston at Charlevoix; Petoskey open date.

August 8—Petoskey at Pellston; Charlevoix at Boyne City; Harbor Springs open date.

Prior to this for over a year she was chief operator at the local exchange. She is a young lady of excellent character and during her residence here made many close friends.

CARELESS AND UNLAWFUL DRIVING

Cause of Death of Glenn McBride of East Jordan

After careful examination and going over all evidence, the coroner's jury decided that the death of Glenn McBride of East Jordan was caused by carelessness and unlawful driving of one Gordon Sweet of the same place.

The lad was riding his bicycle and was crossing the street near the Northern Auto Co. The Ford car, driven by Sweet, was on the wrong side of the road and was being driven at an unlawful speed, and in making the turn around the corner struck the boy, breaking several ribs and otherwise injuring him. He was taken to a physician's office and later to his home where he died about three hours after the accident.

Whether a charge of criminal negligence will be made against Sweet is not known at the present time.

MUSIC, SPORTS ENTERTAINMENT

ALL WILL BE WELL ENTERTAINED ON JULY FIFTH

Charlevoix Preparing to Care for Record Breaking Crowd—The City Will Be Ready

The plans for the monster Fourth of July celebration to be held in Charlevoix on July 5th, are completed with the exceptions of a few minor details, and the city is making ready to entertain the largest number of people in its history.

Word so far received from Boyne City, East Jordan, Central Lake, Ells, worth and other small villages indicate a big majority of their inhabitants will spend the day here, and without doubt the city will be taxed to capacity.

Bands from Boyne City and Central Lake, besides local orchestras, will furnish music throughout the day, and if the plans of the committee do not miscarry, there will not be a dull moment the entire day.

Along the line of special features will be Prof. Hubert Bearss, champion bag puncher, who will appear before the people several times, forenoon and evening. Sky-Eagle, Indian Chief, will give a fine exhibition of fancy rope throwing and war dances. Two drum corps, besides other attractions, will furnish entertainment.

Street and water sports will take place at different stations during the afternoon, and those who desire will have the opportunity of seeing a good game of ball between Boyne City and Charlevoix.

The night-seeing parade at 10:30 a. m., is expected to be one of the biggest features of the day. At this early date those in charge have assurance that a large number of cars and trucks from neighboring cities will enter the contest. A cash prize of $25.00 is offered for the best decorated car or truck.

Every business place and residence of Charlevoix extends a welcome. Places for those who desire a quiet resting place will be provided at all private homes. The hand of welcome will be extended by all.

Gillett-Zylstra Nuptials

MONEY GOES TO PRODUCER

REAL PURPOSE OF THE STATE FARM BUREAU

Is a Strictly Co-Operative Institution and Sells to its Members on a Cost Basis

Concern over the rapidly extending activities of the Michigan State Farm Bureau has been expressed by some business interests, who, not understanding the purpose of the farmers' organization, believe they see competition that might cause them a loss in trade. To shed light on this subject and end misunderstandings, the following statement is issued from the State Farm Bureau headquarters:

The State Farm Bureau is strictly a co-operative institution, doing a selling and purchasing business for its more than 60,000 members on a cost basis.

Business men engaging in activities which do not make for unnecessary handling of farm products or farm supplies, and not inflating values of such products or supplies, have no reason to be apprehensive of competition with the Farm Bureau. The organization has enough to do without attempting any activities of a commercial nature which would conflict with any businesses now satisfactorily and efficiently serving the thousands of farmers in the state or any groups of those thousands.

Purpose of the State Farm Bureau is to see that products of the farms of its members are sold and distributed as economically as possible and that the purchases of supplies for these farms are made as economically and as efficiently as possible. Obviously, it is more economical to do business in large volume than in small; hence, pooling of commodities for sale and orders for purchase by farm bureau members must be the program of the organization.

Of course, this pooling arrangement affects some interests by taking business away, but those interests represent a mighty small minority when compared with the benefited majority composed of the farmers and ultimate consumers of their products. The only interests affected are middlemen, superfluous handlers, doing business largely in a speculative way.

For example, in the Farm Bureau wool pool direct shipping of the farmer's wool to the Farm Bureau warehouses for grading and sale direct to the mills eliminates the local buyers and the jobbers who in the past have each taken a profit of several cents per pound on the wool handled by them. Under the pooling arrangements, this profit which the local buyer and the jobber ordinarily took, goes direct in to the pocket of the farmer. In this particular commodity, the pooling arrangement cannot be of great benefit to the ultimate consumer, as it is "unfinished" when leaving the farmers hands and must be prepared at the mills for the consumer.

However, there are many other farm products which could be set down for consumers much more cheaply if unnecessary handling between farms and cities were eliminated. For example, potatoes, fruit, etc. These go from the farmer to some rural assembler who sells to a jobber, who sells again in the city, always once and sometimes two or three times before the commodity reaches the consumer's kitchen.

When the consumer sees the advantages of co-operation with his neighbor, and acts, then there will be cheaper food products available in the cities and the reduction in cost will be made without forcing the producer to sell below cost.

R. F. D. CARRIER BREAKS HIS WRIST

While Cranking His "Lizzie" Shortly After Return Trip

Orson Everets, R. F. D. carrier on Route 4, is carrying his right arm in a sling as the result of an accident about noon, Saturday.

He had made his daily run over his route and reported at the post-office on his return, and had left his car standing in the alley just east of the Courier office. After completing his work and was about to start the car, the pesky thing "kicked," badly breaking his right wrist. The break will lay him up for some time.

COST OF HORSE BLEMISHES SILAGE IS EXCELLENT FEED

Defects Cannot Always Be Prevented, but One Bad Spot Will Prove Expensive.

A horse trader's report from one of the Western selling points says: "When present, blemishes take off up to $50 or even more from the price of first-rate animals of the same type." Blemishes can't always be prevented, but it is good business to try to prevent them, for, as can readily be seen, one bad spot in the makeup of a horse may mean the difference between profit and loss on him. Outside of precautions to prevent injury the only safeguard against blemishes is to breed only sound ones to sound stallions. Sometimes a colt will be curly or otherwise defective, in spite of all that can be done to avoid such weaknesses, but that is no argument against trying to produce only the good ones.

ADDITIONAL FEED FOR PIGS

Scalded Middlings, With Milk Added, Placed in Shallow Trough Is Fine for Porks.

When the pigs are about three weeks old they will want to eat more than the milk they can get from their mother. A small shallow trough should be placed where the sow cannot get to it. Scald some middlings, stir and pour in some milk. Put into the feed about a tablespoonful of molasses. Drive the little pigs carefully over to the trough. They will get the odor from the molasses, put their noses to the feed, lap it and begin to eat.

PROPER QUARTERS FOR PIGS

Animals Should Be Kept in Dry Pens and Fed in Clean Troughs—Prevent Chilling.

Pigs should always be kept in dry, clean quarters and fed in clean troughs. They should not be allowed to run out in cold rain or allowed to become chilled in any way. Sows running through filth and then being suckled will often cause pigs to scour.

Particularly Adapted to Dairy Animals and Should Be Combined With Some Legume.

While silage is excellent feed for dairy stock, it should be combined with some leguminous feed, such as clover, cowpeas, or alfalfa, owing to its insufficient productive qualities. The leguminous material will correct the deficiencies of the silage in dry matter, protein and mineral constituents.

DAIRY NOTES

The profitable marketing of dairy products is very important.

Grass by itself is not considered a balanced ration for the milk cow.

The general farmer is finding that the dairy cow is a valuable asset to his farming operations.

Improvement of the herd comes through the sire. Therefore, make sure you get a right good one.

Grass, hay, corn fodder and other roughage which may not have a ready sale are economically utilized by the dairy cow.

In order to make the dairy herd return a profit in this time of high-priced feeds, we must feed the cows intelligently.

For the same reason that it pays to groom horses, it also is invaluable to apply the brush and curry comb vigorously to the cow daily.

William Fender, of Midland, lies at Petoskey hospital suffering from injuries received at Alba when an exploding stock of dynamite destroyed one eye, and possibly the other, tore all the flesh from one hand and severely burned his face and body.

The accident occurred in the woods where Fender was working for the Ward Lumber company, and he was rushed to Petoskey where painstaking work by the hospital staff has made his recovery probable.

Manistee admits she had a decline in population during the last 10 years, but watch out for her—she may be trying to attract an unfair share of the sight seeing tourists, as the city that left some of her population drift back to the country.

A man from Ohio recently moved to a farm east of Mancelona, bringing his family of 13 children. It isn't stated whether his idea is to solve the farm labor problem or to solve the problem of transporting farm products to the city by consuming all the products on the farm.

Carl Quinlan, of Petoskey, now living in Detroit, narrowly escaped death by drowning last week in Detroit river. He became exhausted while bathing at Belle Isle and drifted down the Detroit river nine miles, being rescued at Encore. He was clinging to a plank when rescued. A few minutes after being taken from the water Mr. Quinlan collapsed, but word from Detroit states that he has recovered and was spending a few days with his brother, Will Quinlan.

It is alleged that the Litchfield man who collided with a telephone pole one day last week lost control of his car because he was driving through a sandy stretch of road, although it is admitted that his name is Spooner.

Even with its population of 1,130 men, Jackson prison now reports a shortage of help in its various industries. That number of men ought to do a lot of work, but perhaps conditions there are coming to be like they are on the outside—it takes nearly all of them to keep the others at it.—Detroit News.

A Belding man was attacked by sleeping sickness on his way to work but oddly enough, unlike the rest of us, he showed no improvement and continued to grow worse even when he returned home.

Religious news from Goodland: "Rev. Raher and sons," says the Goodland reporter for the Lapeer Press, "were quite busy sowing their onion seed the first part of last week, and if the Lord prospers them as He did last year they will have lots of onions for sale next autumn."

A hotel porter in Ann Arbor has been sentenced to 10 days for stealing valuable articles from hotel guests for gifts to a girl friend. The offense is that in a hotel only the proprietor and the guests are supposed to act that way.

The binder twine plant, at the state prison at Jackson has orders for 12,500,000 pounds of twine. There promises to be considerable difficulty in filling the order, too, as the shipment of sisal from the south has been delayed, and while the labor supply is good, there is always danger that it will be depleted by a sneak-out.

Daily Thought.

Restoring Elasticity of Rubber.
Rubber articles that have become hard recover their elasticity in a short time if placed in 3 per cent carbolic water or 3 per cent aniline solution. In the case of the carbolic solution it must not be forgotten that black goods exposed to it become gray. If it is desired to preserve the black or red color of the goods, that, too, can be done. A 1 per cent solution of potassium permanganate is employed. It is true that this smells unpleasant, but the restoration of elasticity is quite considerable.

WORKING FOR BETTER BULLS

Missouri Community Disposes of Eighteen Nondescripts, Using Six Purebreds Instead.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

How a bull association transformed a community with 18 nondescript bulls into a community with one-third that number of good purebred sters from high producing ancestors is explained by an extension worker of the dairy division.

When a bull association was started in a community in Webster county, Missouri, the best bull in the community became a standard for the bulls selected by the bull association.

The Type of Animal That is Gaining Popularity Because of the "Better Sire, Better Stock" Campaign.

All of the new bulls, then, are as good or better than the best bull that was in the community before.

Before the bull association was organized the 18 bulls in the community were valued at $1,355, an average of $75.28. One or two of these bulls were purebreds and the rest were largely grades and scrubs of mixed dairy and beef breeding. After the association was formed these nondescripts were disposed of and six purebred dairy bulls were purchased at a total cost of $1,537, an average of $256 an animal.

The more efficient utilization of the association bulls resulting from organization of the association made it possible for the six purebred bulls to take the place of the 18 bulls formerly maintained. The reduction in the number of bulls also resulted in a corresponding reduction in the cost of maintenance to be charged to each cow.

The improvement in the quality of the bulls seemed to have a marked effect on the class of cows kept in the herd, and in less than one year after the association was formed the number of purebred females in the community increased from two in July, 1918, to 42 the following June. The large amount of good which resulted from the transformation of a scrub-bull community into a community of good purebred sires is an agricultural improvement hard to parallel, especially when it is considered that this change was made with an expenditure of only $10 more per farmer, and that the use of good sires will result in a lasting improvement to dairy cattle of the community.

Find Measurement for Sound.

Sound, though seemingly a very definite manifestation of activity, is peculiar among physical phenomena for its lack of units or means of measurement. An American physicist has finally arrived at a method of expressing sound values in watts, making absolute measurements with new and rather complex apparatus. A standard source of sound, called a "phone," is made adjustable in tone by changing the volume of the resonator and the tension of wires supporting a mica diaphragm.—From the December Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Makes Sure of Victim's Death.

Though the elephant's eyesight is poor, his hearing and sense of smell are acute, and he covers about 12 feet in one stride. When he grips his victim in his trunk he crushes him to the ground. Then, if he has tusks, he jams great holes through his body. Wherever he kneels on his victim. Then he wheels ponderously and sits on the body, rolling his tremendous avoirdupois back and forth, utterly squashing it. Finally he stamps on it, battering it into the ground.—Exchange.

Edwin had seen a cemetery where there were many mausoleums. One day he said to his mother: "When I die, I don't want to be buried in one of those garages in the cemetery."

Punctilious Elephant.

A little six-year-old boy was attending the circus, accompanied by his mother. When they reached the elephant Edwin was allowed to feed it peanuts. The elephant raised his trunk to his head and Edwin said excitedly: "Look, daddy: he's snorting 'em!"

Famous Statue of Liberty.

In 1855, on the 28th of October, the Statue of Liberty, presented by France to the United States and placed on Bedloe's Island in New York harbor, was unveiled. The total height of the colossal statue is 306 feet. The pedestal rises 155 feet and the statue towers 151 feet above it.

SALTS IF BACKACHE AND KIDNEYS HURT

Drink lots of water and stop eating meat for a while if your bladder troubles you.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery is the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and lazy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water acids and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

FAVOR RAISING FALL CALVES

Expert of South Dakota College Gives Reasons Why Farmers Will Find It Profitable.

Several reasons why farmers find it more profitable to raise fall calves are given as follows by Prof. C. Larson of South Dakota State college:

A cow that freshens in the fall will produce about 20 per cent more milk during the year than one that calves in the spring.

Dairy products bring the farmer about a third more money in winter than in spring.

Winter dairying allows of more and cheaper labor after the field work is done.

Winter dairying avoids flies that cut down the milk flow and bother the milk-fed calves.

Calves dropped in the fall will do well under good winter care and when spring arrives they are ready for pasture with the other young cattle.

Avoid mating too early in the fall. Wait until December and January.

DAIRY NOTES

Nail up that loose board on the cow stable.

Pumpkins make a good feed for dairy cows.

Before milking wash the cow's udders and flanks and wipe with a damp cloth.

Keep the milk tightly covered at all times, and protect utensils from flies and dust.

It is equally important that the cow barn be kept clean and an abundance of good bedding thrown around at all times.

In dairying labor may be utilized at a more uniform rate throughout the year than in nearly any other farm business.

For the complete development of a calf it is necessary that its mother be properly fed and cared for before the calf is born.

MAY CUT DEER HUNTING SEASON

Belief Prevails That Period be Reduced to 10 Days Following Hearing

While no definite decision has been announced by Commissioner Baird, the recent hearing at Marquette is expected to result in shortening the open season for deer hunting to ten days.

The hearing was held as a result of petitions from many northern counties asking that the season be closed entirely. The law provides that after the meeting, at which both sides are entitled to be heard, the state game commissioner shall make the final decision.

The former season was twenty days, from Nov. 10 to Nov. 30, and the expected season is Nov. 20 to Nov. 30.

Mrs. John Jolliffe died early Tuesday afternoon at her home on south side, after an illness covering more than a year, the direct cause of death being a cancer.

Deceased was born near Goodrich, Ontario, Canada, her maiden name being Maria Cummings. Her first marriage to Will Meggison occurred in 1893. To this union one daughter was born, Miss Emily, who lives in Charlevoix. She was married the second time about two and one-half years ago to John Jolliffe. Two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Nixon of Sault Ste. Marie, and Mrs. Margaret Rutledge of Saskatchewan, one brother, William Cummings also of Saskatchewan and her husband survive her.

4,284 POPULATION OF BOYNE CITY

Nineteen Twenty Census Figures Show Slight Decrease

The 1920 census figures of the population of Boyne City give the number of inhabitants as 4,284. According to the Boyne Citizen, the city will be back to the 5,000 mark within a short time and attribute the loss in population to the removal of several large industrial institutions, among which were—Mill No. 1, the planing mill, the VonPlaten mill, Badger Woodenware plant, Elm Couperage plant, Handle factory, Piano factory, Brick yards, Bolted Basket factory and Silo plant.

However, several live industries still remain in the city, and with the addition of new industries under way and about to locate there, the population of the city will soon reach its former number.

TRAINED LEGISLATOR FOR THE WHITE HOUSE

The Republican Publicity Association, through its president, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following statement from its Washington headquarters:

"With the election of Warren G. Harding to the presidency, government by theory and institution will give place to government by experienced experts, based on proved principles of sound national management. Instead of a professor from an institution of learning seeking to apply to the Federal government the dogmas of college curriculum we shall have a trained legislator and executive who will confirm his administration to the lessons he has learned during a term in the United States senate preceded by two years as lieutenant governor of his state and four years as a member of the Ohio senate.

"When Senator Harding enters the White House on March 4th next he will have completed six years service as a senator from his state—six years of apprenticeship for the work of Federal administration. As never before in the history of the country, the past seven years demonstrated how necessary it is that the chief executive shall have had that previous acquaintance with the legislative branch of the government indispensable to a proper appreciation of his relations to it. Mr. Wilson's complete failure to comprehend the point of view of congress, and his refusal to concede to the duly elected representatives of the people the part the constitution decreed that they shall play in national affairs, have been responsible for the almost constant friction that has existed between them. The cost of the people of that lack of coordination can never be expressed in dollars and cents, but it has been enormous; and, in addition, national prestige has suffered a setback that will require the most careful attention from a Republican administration to repair.

"Not only has Senator Harding learned in the school of experience of the relations between the executive and legislative branches that must be maintained if our government is to continue to express the popular will as our forefathers provided in the constitution, but he has learned to respect the opinions of his fellow senators and of others chosen by the people to represent their views. It is here, again, that the Wilson administration has signally failed to perform its allotted part in our scheme of government. It has been totally impossible for the Wilson type of mind to conceive that is not infallible, and to realize that the views of the people can be more nearly expressed through the composite expression of their leaders than through the utterances of a single individual. His has been a safe-man government, uninfluenced by the opinions of accepted authorities.

"Every act of the senate, and of congress, necessarily is a compromise product—a composite of the thought of the members who compose the majority of that body. It is not too much to say that an act of importance never passes the senate that is entirely acceptable to any senator. Every senator has surrendered some of his personal preferences in order that the act become a law, and in that surrender he has admitted his own fallibility and recognized that the voice of the many is more likely correct than his own individual opinion.

"That is the school in which Senator Harding's conception of popular government has been formed, and to those tenets he will hold the executive department once he has taken control. His Cabinet will be composed of men of recognized authority in the problems of their particular department, selected to act as real aids to the president in the performance of his duties, rather than to furnish plausible support for executive opinions already made known. President Harding will personally the policies adopted by the Republican party as a whole and embodied in its national platform, and in the carrying out of those policies the country will witness the closest co-

WESTERN GROWTH SLACKENS

Westward the center of population of the United States seems to have ceased to take its way, at least for the present, judging by the returns so far in from the 1920 census. The progress westward has been interrupted hitherto since the first settlement of the country and the census of 1910 was notable for its record of phenomenal gains in population in the far west. The state of Washington ten years ago showed a 120.4 per cent increase in a decade, 22 of its cities having more than doubled their population. Seattle, which gained 194 per cent between 1900 and 1910, shows a gain of only 33.1 per cent in the past decade and Spokane, which made an increase of 183 per cent, now shows a slight actual loss. Cities of California and the Rocky mountain states show a similar slowing up growth.

There is still a great deal of out-door in the more recently settled sections of the country but House Greeley's famous advice, "Go West, young man," has not the same appeal as when he uttered it. The wild and woolly west exists chiefly in the movies. The great centers of population there are as sophisticated as the east. The cost of living is as high, and travel from one big city to another is more of an undertaking. The northwest is recovering from its growing fever following the Klondike rush and is settling down to more intensive cultivation of its opportunities. The demand for labor in munition factories during the war, which brought many thousands of Negroes northward, doubtless took many workers and their families from west to east. Meanwhile the adventurous lure of the Canadian northwest has taken many American farmers over the border.

In the United States as a whole the early indications are that the rate of increase in population has again declined. From 1790 to 1860 it continued at about 35 per cent. It fell to about 25 per cent in 1870 and continued at that figure until 1890, when it fell to 20 per cent. A marked falling off in immigration during the war has contributed toward a further decline, but it is also significant that the birth rate has been dropping. The full tide of population appears to be turning westward from Europe again and it seems likely that there will be greater opportunities for the newcomers than ever before. The country is not overcrowded, much as it is overcrowded and underhoused in spots.

It is doubtless very sad that there should be more deaths than births in many German cities, but we really cannot see that anybody is responsible for the fact but the Germans themselves. Perhaps the balance would be more favorable if they would only learn to take care of their babies, as civilized nations do, and not have them die like flies in a frast. With all their boasted science, they have for many years had one of the highest infantile death rates in the world.

A Paris cablegram says that an inventory of American war stocks shows that 50,000 cases of infants underweight, baby socks and baby bonnets have turned up. Maybe they were sent over to fit out some of those infant republics we are now advised we went to war to create and support.

President Wilson said that the Knox resolution failed to provide freedom of the seas or disarmament. Wherein it bears a striking resemblance to the treaty Mr. Wilson brought home from Paris, which procures neither.

What worries President Wilson most is that his mandatory over the United States Senate doesn't seem to be working.

Canada has turned in a bill against Germany for the cost of the war. If this country were to do that Germany would have to be disposed of at sheriff's sale.

Reaping machines. Over two hundred different reaping machines have been patented. The first one was invented in the eighteenth century, but failed through its intricacies. The Rev. Patrick Bell appears to have originated the first practical machine of this class in 1823, and it was first used in 1827, the principle being that on which the best machines are now constructed.

Stolen Fruit. From the Indiana Printer, Chicago, Ill.: "On the bottom of a printer's calendar we read the following statement: 'Dull business is often traced to economy in printers' ink.' True, indeed. As we look on over the great field of business we find that the firms which have made the most notable successes are those that have used printers' ink most freely. Emphasize those facts when talking to customers—but first take a dose of your own medicine."

MICHIGAN FAIR IS PLANNED FOR ALL

SECRETARY-MANAGER DICKINSON SAYS MUST HAVE BALANCE BETWEEN FARM AND CITIES.

NO CATERING TO CLASS IN PLANS OF EXHIBITS

"A show for all the people of Michigan," is the idea of G. W. Dickinson, Secretary-Manager of the Michigan State Fair, now busily engaged in plans for this year's exhibit, Sept. 3-12 at Detroit.

"I have never agreed," said Mr. Dickinson, "with the idea that the fair should cater particularly to the farmer—or to the city man or to any other class.

"It must be always true that the backbone of the fair is the agricultural exhibits, and one of the prime objects of the fair is to encourage better crops and farming methods. But if we had to rely on farmer attendance and farmer support for the state fair, we couldn't break even in a money way.

"The ideal arrangement is to have a plentiful exhibition of farm products to show to the city man, and an equally interesting lot of city-manufactured products to show the farmer. In that case, you have educated both of them, and you have also given a liberal bit of instruction to the great body of the public which makes the fair possible.

"The time is coming when the Michigan State Fair will be almost a continuous performance.

"Of course, the big events each year will be grouped in a fair about 10 days or two weeks long. But there is no use having the grounds idle the rest of the year, and I am confident that a number of features can be made to run profitably almost all the year around. The fair of the future will become more and more rounded-out and complete, having a perfect balance between the agricultural and the manufactured exhibits."

Subjugate. When an army was conquered in Roman times, it was obliged to "pass under the yoke" as an evidence of defeat in the hands of the enemy. This "yoke" was sometimes made by setting up two spears and putting a third across the top. Our English word subjugate (derived from Latin "sub," or under, and "jugum," or yoke) thus contains in its composition a spectacular custom from the military life of the Romans.

THINGS THAT NEVER HAPPEN

By GENE BYRNES

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

By J. E. Jones

National Engineers Society

A clearing house for the engineering thought of the country was created through the organization of the Federated American Engineering Societies, at an organized conference of national, local, state and regional engineering and allied technical organizations, recently held in Washington. From the standpoint of engineers the federation of their organizations is one of the big events, and a large number of societies have participated in creating the plan. Calvert Townley, who acted as chairman of the gatherings, referred to "engineering as the common language," and it looks as though the unification of all these societies will affect a sort of engineering Esperanto that will appeal to all classes of engineers for better efficiency, since means have been supplied that will provide for joint action on matters of common concern. The word "engineer" has a lot of elasticity and it covers a multitude of necessities of the human race. More than 100,000 engineers, of all varieties, were represented by delegates at the big Washington gathering. These included chemical engineers, electrical engineers, mining and metallurgical engineers, agricultural engineers, civil engineers, mechanical engineers, marine and naval engineers, safety engineers, radio engineers, heating and ventilating engineers, automotive engineers, and engineers of every known variety whose specialists range all the way from refrigeration to handling substance with subduced fire in the form of electricity.

The meetings of the engineers proved to be of unusual interest, and as engineering and efficiency are naturally synonymous terms, it is a noteworthy engineering achievement that the efforts of a number of the more progressive engineers of the country to bring engineering minds into closer contact where their ideas and efforts will be fused for the good of society as a whole, has succeeded.

The object of the new national organization is to further the interests of the public through the use of technical knowledge and engineering experience, and to consider and act upon matters common to engineering and allied technical professions.

The council is to co-ordinate the activities of state councils and of local affiliations whenever these activities are of national or general importance or may affect the general interests of engineers. In effect it will be the federal reserve bank of American engineering.

Reconstructing the Telephones

The Bell telephone system is making a tremendous effort to pull itself out of the hole in which it was left by the government operation. 35,418 new telephones were installed in New York City in four months; but notwithstanding this unprecedented record there are still over 64,000 applications for phones on the waiting list in the metropolis. The telephone company, in a statement recently issued, says: "It is safe to say that no industry has been more forehanded in providing for emergencies than the Bell system, and yet day after day the mails bring reports of broken promises and materials vitally necessary to the work of construction are delayed."

It is the same story in every industry—the story of a lack of supplies, and the continuance of lagging production. While the telephone business is being "reconstructed," after having been drafted into the war, it finds that it can not get supplies for extending its lines and placing new telephones. Possibly this is due to the fact that in the days of Mr. Burleson's postal management of the wire lines he destroyed the source of supply that must first be "reconstructed" before private operation can expect to function normally.

The Higher Railroad Rates

Many shippers from different parts of the country who have been appearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission are urging an increase of passenger rates, as well as freight rates, to meet the railroad situation. There has been no one, in the hearings, to question the necessity for increased railroad rates, but the manner of making the increases has been discussed in all its phases. The railroad companies have asked that the increased rates be applied to freight alone, but some of the commissioners are inclined to distribute the burden among passengers who travel and the shippers.

The probabilities are that everybody will be satisfied with increased rates before the situation is solved, since the railroad workers are pushing their claims for increased wages at the hearings in Chicago. If the increased freight rates that are asked for are granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission the amount will be only sufficient to take care of present railroad financing, so that increased passenger rates will likely be necessary to provide for expected wage increases.

Families and Firesides

According to Stone and Webster, there were 23,292,887 families in existence in the United States in 1916, and the number of dwellings in the country numbered 20,263,051. In 1920 there were 25,319,443 families and 20,900,000 dwellings. While families have been increasing in a healthy manner, showing an increase of 2,026,556 in the period covered, the number of dwellings has increased but 636,949. Dwellings, we assume, mean places of all kinds where families live—with or without the conveniences that are called "modern." From these figures it seems plain that if the country was caught on its housing facilities in 1916, that it is short a million to a million and a half of houses. Pittsburgh is reported 10,000 houses short, and Detroit is two or three times as bad off.

"The great activity in building operations which was expected on the return of peace has not materialized," says the Stone and Webster Journal. And then there follows this comment: "Why should it? The wages which the building trades are receiving are almost prohibitive and they are demanding still more, so that no contractor will take a lump sum contract. Building materials have advanced—not the twenty-five per cent estimated in the case of the landlord as being profitably high—but 100 per cent or more, and no one will say that the end is yet in sight."

The wide contracts between the number of families and the supply of firesides is surely lamentable, but there is little to indicate that there is any probability of relief in sight. The law of supply and demand has evidently been upset by price-fixing, profiteering, and too much regulating by the government, and perhaps after awhile new roosts will be created for homeless heads.

Problems for the Wiseacres

Besides the election of a President and a Vice President there are other incidental matters that the electors of the country will be called on to settle. Four hundred and thirty-five representatives in congress are to be selected. At present the majority in the lower branch of congress is Republican, but most of the time during recent years it has been Democratic. It will be a fight in every congressional district to turn the balance. Thirty-three senators are to be chosen. At the present time the party strength stands 49 Republicans, 46 Democrats and one vacancy. Based upon the complexion of party control in the thirty-two states having elections the Republicans appear to have the best of matters, but the Democrats, who have been "sorter laying low" have quit conceding anything, and they are getting ready for their San Francisco to match up with the Republican Chicago. The results of next November may look easy to political partisans, but the wisecracks who wear out lead pencils and smash adding machines in making their calculations are free to admit that the contest throughout the country does not give any assurance of a walk-away to either side.

Who Wants to go Back-To-The-Land?

After the Civil War we had the homestead law, and then came the timber and stone acts. In those days when agriculture was promoted because it was the backbone of the nation every measure intended to aid the farmer and to make new farmers, was pushed to the limit. The greatest concern nowadays appears to be in building good roads for automobilists, and in finding new ways so that the farmer can live in town and enjoy "community life." All this is well enough, but the fact remains that the country is dropping behind in agriculture. There is a lot of enthusiasm for the cash bonuses for soldiers but none at all for plans that will be furnished substantial assistance, to young men, who if aided, might join in a "back-to-the-land" movement.

AFTER EIGHT YEARS

Charlevoix Testimony Remains Unshaken

Time is the best test of truth. Here is a Charlevoix story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

Mrs. John Cook, 307 Mason St., Charlevoix, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for kidney disorders and backache and they have always given me splendid results."

OVER EIGHT YEARS LATER, on May 4, 1920, Mrs. Cook said: "I haven't had occasion to use Doan's for some time, as they made a cure which has lasted."

Whenever Bobby's mother gave him money for candy, she advised him to buy a little of good quality rather than more of a cheaper kind. Child-like, he was loath to do this, but one day he came back home with a few pieces of excellent candy, and when he had finished it he remarked: "Mother, I see now that the cheaper it is, the gooder it ain't."—Boston Transcript.

Chinese Skillful Candy Makers

The Chinese are very skillful in making confectionery. They are able to empty an orange of its pulp entirely and then fill it up with fruit jelly without one being able to find the smallest cut in the rind or even a tiny hole. Indeed, they even empty an egg in this manner and fill it with a sort of almond nougat without one being able to find the slightest break or incision in the shell.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and poison-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh. Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject. Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

The Oxide Test
A uniformity test of lead oxide is reproduced above by greatly enlarged photomicrographs, not retouched. The dark spots or fragments are oxide particles. Plate follows oxide of the best quality produced in the open market. Note the lack of uniformity in the size of the particles compared with Plate II which shows Gould Made Oxide. Dreadnaught Plates made with Gould Oxide give uniform resistance to demargination. No weak spots but most quality of the whole plate surface.

GENERAL FARM NOTES

The way to fight the weed is to keep it from producing seed.

You can't expect to get crops from land that you always treat rough.

The idea of top dressing alfalfa to prevent the winterkilling is comparatively new.

Destruction of grasshopper eggs by fall plowing, disking, or harrowing is recommended whenever practicable.

Experiment stations tell us that a ton of straw contains more organic matter and more nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium than fresh manure.

WATER FOR COWS IN WINTER

If Highest Production is to Be Maintained Drinking Water Must Be Warmed.

Cows frequently refuse to drink the water in an icy trough. A cow must be thirsty, indeed, before she will fill herself with freezing water. It is necessary, in view of the fact that milk contains about 87 per cent water, to warm the drinking water for dairy cows if highest possible production is to be maintained. Unless the cow drinks a sufficient quantity of water her milk production will diminish, and she will not drink enough unless it is warm. Suitable shelter from cold rains and raw winds is another comfort which the cow will repay in milk.

DAIRY COW AS SOIL BUILDER

Farmer is Beginning to Recognize Value of Animal on Farm Where Fertility is Low.

The farmer who lives on a farm on which the soil has become slightly depleted in the past few years is beginning to study fertility and recognizes the value of the dairy cow not only as a soil producer but a soil builder as well.

Referendum.

Referendum is a Latin word now Anglicized. This and several kindred words are derived from the Latin verb, refero, I bear, I carry, I give back, from re, back; and fero, bear. The word referendum is a neuter noun, and it means the submission of a proposed public measure or law, which has been passed upon by the legislature, to a vote of the people for ratification or rejection; that is, the legislators refer or carry back the measure to the electorate.

Listening to "Fish Stories."

Norwegian fishermen are using a species of submarine telephone to aid them in their work. A microphone is lowered from a fishing boat and connected by a wire to a telephone in the boat. The fishermen listen at the instrument and when the fish hold on meeting the listening device reports the disturbance. Scientific American.

Borrowed Sunshine

By DORA H. MOLLAN

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

This is a story of two days in the life of Joan Carruthers—two days separated by two weeks. On the first, Joan stood, her face pressed against the window pane, engrossed in her one and only amusement. For when one has risen no further than salesgirl in a large department store, there is but little left over for extras, and when one spends five evenings every week at school and a sixth and part of Sunday in study, there is little left over for frivolities anyway.

Joan was studying stenography as a means to an end; not that she liked it so well, but it stood for shorter hours and more money. Most of the girls in the store had been, of course, and went to dances and shows with them—and married them and led lives just like Joan's mother's over again, and Joan remembered that only too well.

Now, as it arose like a picture, blotting out for the moment the entrancing one actually before her eyes, the color-note of that old life was a deadly drab. Not one ray of sunshine had penetrated into their dark basement home. Not a single bit of material or spiritual brightness had it contained. Joan's mother had been a little drab wisp of a woman, with all the joy of life knocked out by her drunken, morose husband. Well, she was at rest now! Joan didn't know where the father was, and didn't want to. As she shuddered at the thought of him, the picture changed like a fade-away and the one really before her eyes gained added brilliancy by the contrast.

That scene typified everything Joan's life had lacked and for which she was struggling. Even the one thin, watery beam of sunlight that found its way into her third floor hall room was reflected from the window directly across the narrow street. The apartment back of those windows over the way, so near in actual distance, was miles removed from the sphere of Joan's life. To look into it was, to her, like a peep into fairyland.

There lived a beautiful lady and a wondrous prince, in a country of gorgeous colors—and with one sweep of the blue and orange curtains over those windows all that could be shut from her sight, Joan prayed hard that they might be forgotten tonight, for a third person was present in that room.

This third person, masculine, was by name Strickland—Dr. Stanton Strickland—and by nature endowed with a full share of good looks. Of the first of these facts Joan was ignorant; the second she guessed. To her he looked a Greek god—or a movie star! Joan didn't know, either, that the prince was just plain Mr. Bertram Smith and the beautiful lady his wife and sister to Stanton. Neither did she know the subject under discussion, but she could see by the glow from the orange shaded light—for her own dim gas jet was dark—when they all arose and passed through a door into another room and so out of sight. Also, that before going, the visitor lighted a cigarette and threw the match on a stand close by the window.

But even emptied of its glorified occupants the room fascinated her. She would have one like it some day. If working hard would bring it! How that orange light brightened everything—was reflected everywhere, even on the curtains; on one in particular, the one nearest where the visitor had sat! Joan came to, suddenly, from her dreams, and looked hard at that particular curtain. Suddenly she turned away, opened her door and fairly flew down the two long flights of stairs.

Into the street she sped, and across it. Breathlessly she ran up the stone steps of the house opposite, the house of the reflected sunshine, and pushed and pulled again and again the button of the electric doorbell.

It seemed ages before anyone came, and Joan had time to wonder whether she was doing the right thing. Finally the door was opened by a stupid-looking

What Wonderful Laundry Work!

MAKES CHILD'S PLAY OF WASH DAY

So easy, simple and yet so thorough. Everything from the heaviest blankets to the finest laces made sweet and clean without the slightest effort and without any wear or tear on the clothes. Let us place one in your home for trial. A demonstration will convince you it is the machine you have long wanted. We also have Thor Mangles and Ironers. A phone call will bring one to your home.

ELECTRIC SWEEPER-VAC

Removes every vestige of those unsightly lint balls, threads and embedded dirt that most cleaners leave behind them. The Sweeper-Vac not only removes every speck of lint, threads, hairs and embedded dirt from rugs and carpets, but also cleans hardwood floors, linoleum, rubber matting, upholstery, mattresses and stairs. Ask any of the many Charlevoix people who are using them. The one answer is "in our opinion, the best machine made." A phone call brings one to your home. Use it, test it in every way, and if it does not perform the work we say it will, ask us to take it away. But so far, we have not been compelled to do this. Housewives, with the shortage of domestic help, cannot get along without one.

her at the room, then sank back with a little moan of pain.

They gave her a sleeping potion and put her to bed. So ended the first day.

The fortnight has passed. The burns are healed, the bandages gone. But on Joan's left hand something has been substituted that binds tighter than any bandage. She stands in a broad ray of sunshine watching Mrs. Smith hang silken curtains of bronze gold hae. Through the door strides—a Greek god? Or could it be a movie star? No; just a big-hearted man who has dedicated his life and knowledge to humanity. He puts an arm around Joan.

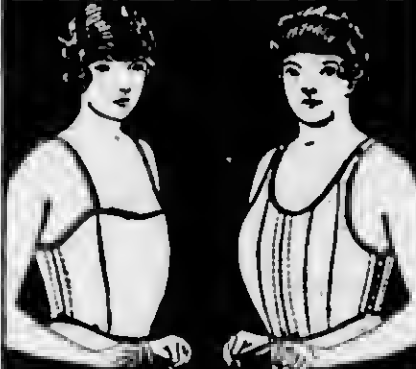

"Just see the beautiful sunlight, Stan," she says, "and to think—I'm not away off across the street, looking in, but actually living in it—with you! Oh, Stan, if I can only help you bring it into other people's lives, as you have brought it into mine!"

"I didn't bring it to you, little wife; you flew straight into it—but I'm going to keep you there always."

Originally "Easterling."

Sterling in such applications as sterling silver, has a curious history. The people, especially merchants, from Germany, were called Easterlings, because the country lay east of England. About the time of King Richard, money coined in Germany came into great demand in England. Men skilled in minting were imported into England, and the coins they produced were called easterlings; after the name of imported workmen. By the tendency of abridgment that seems inherent in all languages, the first part of the word was dropped, and the word became sterling.

LOST TO BELLAIRE IN RAGGED GAME

Both Visitors and Home Team Give Poor Exhibition

Ellsworth lost to Bellaire last Thursday in the second game of the season to be played by the locals, the score of 16-12 showing the class of base ball played by both teams. Error upon error was made by both teams and these, coupled with free hitting, were responsible for the large score. Bechtold, who started the game for Bellaire was batted out of the box in the 4th inning and Cook who relieved him with the score 8-7 in favor of the locals managed to get credit for a win, although wild and hit hard at times. "Hill" was the hitting star with two singles, a double and a triple in six times up.

Batteries, Bellaire, Bechtold, Cook, and Hill. Ellsworth, Schaffer, Elzinga and Wilson.

Ellsworth will play the Loeb team on the Loeb grounds on Friday afternoon of this week.

Pork in Olden Times.

Pork was the chief meat consumed in all countries in Europe down to the middle ages. Immense droves of pigs were kept by Charlemagne in his forest in the ninth century. In his "History of the Inquisition," published in 1817, Lorenz states that in Spain those who did not like pork were tried by the Inquisition as suspected Jews.

Discovery of Asphalt.

Asphalt, with which so many roads are paved, was found by accident. For a century in Switzerland natural rock asphalt was used to extract the rich stores of bitumen it contained. It was noticed that pieces which fell from the wagons and were crushed by the wheels formed a marvellously fine road and this led to its adoption as a road material.

Novel Foot Rest.

A satisfactory foot rest or accelerator extension may be made from an ordinary strap hinge. One-half of the hinge is fastened to the floor boards while the other rests on the accelerator. All that is necessary to operate the accelerator is a slight pressure on any part of the free half of the hinge.

G. W. Dickinson, Secretary-Manager, Michigan State Fair.

Michigan's state fair is the largest in the United States, and its Secretary-Manager, G. W. Dickinson, of Detroit, is known among other fair managers as the nation's best. In six years, he has changed the fair from a money-loser to a money-maker, cut out all undesirable features, reduced the bonded debt $80,000 and erected $250,000 of buildings out of profits. This year's fair is from Sept. 3 to 12.

Face Unpleasant Tasks.

A man harnesses himself when he does the thing he does not want to do. It's easy for a fellow to be happy when he is pleased with himself and his job. But often the job is hard to work. Sometimes it's disagreeable. Left to ourselves we would let the job slide. The weak man will not force himself to do anything he does not want to do. He thinks he's a free lance and that he shows his independence by refusing to do what he does not like. The very opposite is the fact. That man is biggest and best who does the thing he does not want to do the best it can be done.

Chilean Nitrates Needed.

In spite of the prophets of disaster, the war did not ruin the Chilean nitrate industry. Instead, military needs created an unprecedented demand. Now that this has ceased, the Chilean producers are once again predicting ruin, but El Industrial of Antofagasta says there will now be a greater demand than ever for fertilizer, and that artificial nitrates have failed even to rival the natural product of Chile.

PETOSKEY WILL HAVE TWO DAY CELEBRATION

Five Bands, Aero Planes, Spectacular Fire Works, Etc.

Death-defying stunts high in air by pilots of the Rosenswift Airplane company of Grand Rapids, the scaling of the highest church steeple in the city by a bear-footed "human fly," parachute jumps, a gorgeous street parade with beautiful floats in the long line and a night ablaze with the most spectacular fireworks are some of the things that will mark Petoskey's celebration of our nation's natal day this year.

As the glorious Fourth falls on a Sunday the celebration will be held in advance, and so many are the attractions provided by the committee, of which John L. A. Gaister, president of the Petoskey Chamber of Commerce, is chairman, that two days have been allotted to the celebration. These days are Friday and Saturday, June 2 and 3.

Five bands will vie with each other in dispensing music and the city will be beautifully decorated with the patriotic colors. The aviators will demonstrate the "Falling Leaf" the "Death Spin" and will loop the loop. No passengers will be permitted in the planes during these exhibitions.

Petoskey has made arrangements to care adequately for all who come. The facilities of the city for handling great crowds during the summer months all have been placed in readiness, and it is promised that no visitor shall find any of his or her needs neglected.

HOPPER LOSS MAY RUN OVER MILLION

Northern Michigan Counties Crying for Aid From Scourge

Cadillac region and practically all of northern Michigan is still crying for aid from the grasshoppers scourge. The insect menace is rapidly becoming more acute and already $1,000,000 worth of the 1920 crop has been destroyed. Fields are being completely leveled, hedgings are being eaten as fast as the shoots show above the ground, and wheat, beans and corn are blighted as effectually as though swept by a forest fire.

Appeals are being made to the state to get poisons into the stricken territory soon or thousands of farmers will be driven from the farms. Two tons of white arsenic ordered from Detroit, reported still in Detroit where the express office had held the consignment, because the packages were slightly overweight. It is this red tape that must be cut, say officials of the Michigan Potato Growers' exchange, which is handling the poison orders.

Wexford county supervisors last spring appropriated $1,000 to fight the hoppers. This amount is sufficient to buy 5,000 pounds of arsenic, or sufficient to treat 15,000 acres of land, or two-thirds of a township.

It will cost $24,500 to properly cover Wexford county with grasshopper poison and the farmers of that section cannot spend this much money without state aid. The crop is doomed.

Millions of hoppers are making their appearance on the cut-over land of the eastern part of Charlevoix county and unless something is done immediately, the entire district will be swept clean of all vegetation.

Monday June the 28th, is the date when J. Leahy the Optometrist will be at the Hotel Charlevoix, glasses guaranteed to fit.—Adv. 25tf

AT THE MOVIES

"Down on the Farm," United Artists' latest release, opens when the champion rooster of the ranch puts the sun to work in the morning of what proves to be the busiest little city ever experienced on any farm. From that comment until the close of this Mack Sennett five-reel comedy sensation that will be shown Saturday and Sunday at the Palace Theatre, every resource of the enormous Sennett studios in the suburbs of Los Angeles is involved with results, thrilling comic, hilarious, farcical and furiously funny. Thrills are divided by laughter; suspense is relaxed in grins, and dramatic action of grave significance is interrupted by comedy episodes such as only Mack Sennett can devise.

"Down on the Farm" is an unusual comedy of that type of quality that is derived from its unique blending of many elements—comedy and travesty; satire and straight drama; character delineation and grotesqueries, humor and pathos, merry and grave moods. It is a surface attack on the emotions and will not fail to set motion picture fans in a whirl of shifting sensations. It is Mack Sennett's genius in fullest revelation.

Hall Caine's splendid romance of life and intrigue in modern Rome "The Eternal City" with Pauline Frederick as star, will be displayed at the Palace Theatre next Monday. Pauline Frederick appears in the role of Donna Roma.

This special production put on by the ladies of the Catholic church for the benefit of the church. Prices 10 and 25 cents including war tax.

WAR ON APPLE LEAFHOPPERS

Destructive Insect May Be Materially Checked by Spraying—Injury Done to Leaves.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The apple leafhopper, a destructive insect that occurs in nearly every state of the Union, may be materially checked by a single spraying with 40 per cent nicotine sulphate in the proportion of 1 to 1,500, combined with soap, according to the bureau of entomology of the United States department of agriculture. The solution should be applied against the first brood nymphs. The same treatment made three or four weeks earlier is effective against the rose leafhopper.

Curled, Distorted Leaves Caused by

though this species is seldom injurious enough to justify a special application.

The apple leafhopper causes serious injury to apple nursery stock by extracting the plant juices from the terminal leaves. As a consequence the leaves gradually become undersized and fail to function normally, thereby retarding the growth of the trees. The rose leafhopper feeds on the lower leaves and produces white or yellow spots on them.

SIMPLE RULES FOR PRUNING

Absence of Deadwood Will Greatly Enhance Value of Orchard to Prospective Buyer.

In pruning, the following simple practices are observed by leading farmers. In cutting out branches which shade the rest of the tree they cut those from which it is difficult or impossible to harvest the fruit easily with a ladder. They cut out all the dead wood. It will drop off eventually, but the absence of dead wood is one of the signs of a well kept orchard and will greatly enhance the value of the orchard to a prospective buyer.

They also cut off all the suckers on the trunk and main branches unless they wish to start new branches near or the ground. For some time the suckers will only be consumers of the tree food and will be nonproducers.

The first principle of large production of first-class fruit is a large bearing surface, exposed to the sun as much as possible. Many believe they can more easily prune to get sun while the leaves are still on the trees.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office, in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 23rd day of June A. D. 1920.

INLAND LAKES TO OCEAN ROUTE

MEN INTERESTED TO MEET IN DETROIT JULY 22

"Lakes-to-Ocean" Movement of Great Importance to Michigan and All Lake Shore States

Ever since the day, now some generations ago, when the country realized that its advancement was measured by its transportation facilities, men have dreamed of a gateway from the inland states to the sea. The question is as old almost as the search for the historical "northwest passage."

Today, after years of discussion and study, it has become a national issue to determine whether the waterways which lose themselves in the Atlantic, shall become connected for navigation purposes and form an outlet for the products and materials produced by the states west of the Alleghany mountains. Practical men and theorists have studied and figured and the last of the evidence is being compiled, preparatory to final action.

Action is to be forthcoming as the result of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater congress, to be held at Detroit, July 22-24 when all the authorities and supporters and students of the Great Lakes to the Sea movement will assemble. Out of the sessions, which will consider every angle of this enterprise, there will come a policy, workable and reasonable, to put this project through.

The congress will hold its sessions in the auditorium of the Detroit Board of Commerce, which organization is acting as host for the delegates and visitors. Among the speakers scheduled to discuss this project are: Herbert Hoover, wartime food administrator; Charles E. Townsend, United States Senator from Michigan, father of the Lakes-to-Ocean movement; Medill McCormick, United States Senator from Illinois; Senator Miles Poindexter, of Washington; Major General Lansing H. Beach, Chief of engineers, U. S. A.; Julius H. Barnes, former president United States Grain Corporation; Gardner S. Williams, American Institute of Consulting Engineers, Ann Arbor; Congressman A. P. Nelson, Wisconsin; Senator Atlee Pomerene, Ohio; Charles Evans Fowler, New York, American Society of Civil Engineers; J. W. Short, former vice-president, American Grain Exporters Association, Omaha; Charles K. Anderson, of New York, vice president, American Manufacturers' Export Association; W. L. Ross, president Clover Leaf railroad; Harry H. Merrick, president Mississippi valley association.

At the banquet to be held the evening of July 22, Senator Irvine L. Lennox, Wisconsin, and Dr. R. S. MacElwaine, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, will be the principal speakers.

The congress will be welcomed to Michigan by Albert E. Sleeper, and Mayor James Couzens will speak for Detroit. Charles H. Campbell, president of the Detroit Board of Commerce, will preside. Senator Charles E. Townsend, of Michigan, will outline the plan and indicate its need. He is regarded as one of the sponsors of the work.

The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater association represents a union of fourteen states, as follows: Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana, Ohio, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska. Enthusiastic co-operation has been forthcoming since the beginning of this movement from the Dominion of Canada which will be ably represented at the meeting. Advance notices indicate that the congress will be attended by more than 1,500 delegates from all over the United States.

It is planned to cover the waterway project from every standpoint involved, financial, engineering, political, international, economic, as to the power it will develop for other uses, how it will affect other mediums of transportation commodities and time required.

The results and findings, it is planned, will be submitted to congress in the United States and the parliament in Canada, who will be responsible for the completion of the waterway.

Mayor S. M. Rose and president J. L. Crane of the Charlevoix Commercial Association have been asked to appoint delegations to attend the Tidewater congress at Detroit next July. A number of prominent business men of the city have also received invitations to attend the congress. It is hoped that Charlevoix will be strongly represented at Detroit. The congress invites all interested to attend its delegates. The local committee in charge of all arrangements are: William H. Adams, chairman; R. J. MacLean, vice chairman; Tom L. Munger, secretary.

KNOCKED DOWN AND BADLY INJURED

Miss Mary E. Clarke in Hospital as Result of Accident

Miss Mary E. Clark was badly injured Thursday evening of last week by being knocked down by a young lad riding a bicycle, while crossing the street at the corner of State and Clinton streets.

The accident happened about nine o'clock in the evening. Miss Clarke was crossing the street and on account of the blinding lights of an automobile, did not see the young lad on the bicycle, nor did the rider of the wheel see Miss Clarke in time to avoid a collision.

She was knocked down by the impact, her side and arm badly bruised, and suffered a severe scalp wound. She was carried to the home of T. G. Finucan and first aid rendered and later taken to the hospital. Although suffering intensely from the shock and injuries, she is on the road to recovery and it is now thought will be able to be removed to her home with the next week or ten days.

WORK UNDER STANDARD TIME

SUCH IS THE DECISION OF CHARLEVOIX VOTERS

Proposition to Change Time Defeated
By Vote of 170 Yes to 229 No
—Small Vote Polled

The city of Charlevoix and its inhabitants will jog along and operate under what is known as "railroad time," for such is the result of the special election held Tuesday, the final result of the ballot being 170 for the change and 229 against.

Little interest was shown by the voters of the city, as the number of ballots cast indicate. At this time of the year every person is working at top speed, and could not or did not take the time to visit the voting booths.

Looking at the proposition from a financial standpoint, there is little argument on the part of the "slow" time advocates. The hour of daylight meant a saving to every user of electricity in the city. Not only this, but by adopting "fast" time, it would relieve the city during the time the peak load, or "excess" electricity is consumed. This meant of course, decreased returns for the city electrical plant, but at the same time lightened the load right at the time when a saving was most needed. The result will be that during the height of the resort period, the city's electrical equipment will be loaded beyond its present capacity.

The result of the ballot from the three wards is as follows:

	YES	NO
First ward	18	46
Second ward	100	107
Third ward	52	76

Total votes cast 399.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES GET BENEFIT OF INCREASE

Ranging From $100 to $200—Salary Increases Amount to $35,000.00

Immediately before adjournment, congress enacted a law increasing the salaries of all employees of the postal service. The salary increases the first year, which began July 1, will total more than $31,000,000. The increases average from $100 to $200. Congress has not yet said the last word on postal wages, states Representative John McCrate of New York. "Under the circumstances attending the vote on the report of the postal commission it was not possible to present amendments. No member of congress can fail to realize that if the postal service is to meet the requirements of the country it is absolutely necessary that the fair and just demands of the postal employees shall be met at the earliest possible moment."

DEER SEASON NOT DECIDED

PUBLIC DOMAIN COMMISSION SOON TO SETTLE IT

Northern Peninsula Strongly in Favor of Shortened Season for One Year

The final result of the recent hearing at Marquette in reference to shortening the open season for deer, will not be definitely known until the next meeting of the Michigan Public Domain Commission.

The law provides that in the event that the free holders of any county desire the above change, they must first petition the game and fire commissioner. Subsequent to receiving this petition, Commissioner Baird held a hearing at Marquette, at which place the question was argued pro and con.

The next step provided by the statutes is that the commissioner shall make a recommendation regarding the requested change, if he thinks it advisable, and issue the order.

Commissioner Baird is expected shortly to issue a definite order which will not be effective until it has been confirmed by the public domain commission.

The commission meets early in July and the result of the meeting will govern the fate of the deer hunters of the state.

Sentiment in the northern part of the state, where deer hunting is common, is decidedly in favor of a closed season for one year and possibly more. Lower Michigan hunters lean towards leaving the season as it is.

Commissioner Baird is believed to favor a season shortened to ten days and effective but for one year, leaving the question open to the action of the legislature of 1921.

One of the residents of the northern peninsula, upon being advised that the season would possibly be shortened, remarked, "Good, that would give the home boys 355 days to hunt instead of 345."

MARRIED THURSDAY AT BRIDE'S HOME

Dr. W. W. Mitchell and Miss Anna
Ruth Hooper Happily Wed.

Announcement of the wedding of Dr. William W. Mitchell of this city to Miss Anna Ruth Hooper of Alma, Michigan, were received last week, the marriage taking place at the home of the bride in the presence of immediate friends and relatives.

Both of the contracting parties are well and favorably known in Charlevoix, where they have a large circle of intimate friends and acquaintances who unite in extending them their most sincere wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

The groom, "Doc" as he is more familiarly known, is a one of Charlevoix's young men who have made good in his profession, a graduate of Charlevoix public schools, later completing a four-year course in dentistry of the U. of M., and at the present time is enjoying a fine practice in his home town. He is also one of the boys who did his part in the late world war and is considered one of the city's hustling young professional men.

The bride is a graduate of Alma College and during the years 1918-19 was teacher of languages in the Charlevoix Public School. She is a highly accomplished young woman and will receive a hearty welcome among the residents of Charlevoix, especially among the younger set.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell will be at home to their many friends at 219 Park avenue after July 6.

The Inn, Charlevoix's leading summer hotel, will open its doors for 1920 season Thursday morning, July 1, with a larger booking and better indications for a successful season than in previous years.

For the past six weeks a large force of men have been at work placing the hotel in readiness for the opening, with the result never before in its history has this popular resort hotel presented as spick and span appearance as this season.

A. I. Creamer, who has managed the hotel for the past ten years, starts the eleventh season with an efficient staff as follows: Frank L. MacDonald, assistant manager; John P. Colden, chief clerk; Leland N. MacDonald, cashier and book-keeper; A. M. Cresmer, steward; Thomas Seale, chef; Miss Mary Powers, house-keeper; Myles L. Carr, head waiter; Miss Ruth Durfee, stenographer, and Miss Margaret Saunders, dancing instructor.

Weekly dancing parties will be features of entertainment most enjoyed, as well as access to the well kept tennis courts and play grounds adjacent to The Inn.

PRIMARY LAW NOT UNDERSTOOD

SECRETARY OF STATE AN-SWEARS MANY QUESTIONS

Petitions Must Be Filed Not Later Than July 31, at 3 p. m.—Many
Out for Governor

Securing signatures to the petitions of candidates and filing the petitions now is the principal business of Michigan politicians. As a result there are multitudes of letters to the secretary of state and attorney general as to the method which the primary law provides for conducting this part of the campaign. Few voters in Michigan seem to have anything but a hazy idea of what the primary law says as to the manner in which a candidate shall go about obtaining a place on the ticket.

Here are some things the seeker after office must and must not do. He must file a certain number of names and he must not obtain more than a certain other number of names. All must be bona fide names of electors and all petitions must be on file by 4 o'clock on the afternoon of July 31. The law requires each candidate to file petitions bearing the names of 2 per cent of the total party vote of the ticket on which he or she proposes to run and prohibits obtaining more than 4 per cent of the same number. The first clause is for the purpose of requiring the candidate to show that sufficient number of voters are interested in his success to make him a bona fide candidate, while the maximum is intended to prevent any candidate securing a monopoly in his district by getting the names of all the voters on his own particular petition.

For legislative office either congressional or state, those candidates whose districts lie wholly within one county file their petitions with the county clerk of that county; all others file with the secretary of state.

For governor this year the bevy of Republican candidates must file petitions bearing 5,377 names; the Democrats must file 2,860, the Socialists 96, the Prohibitionists 30, the Socialist Labor 21. These figures are official by Deputy Secretary of State Fitzgerald and are based on the vote cast at the last election.

MERRY GARDENS OPENS JULY FIRST

Prizes, Novelties and Toys to Be Distributed

An epidemic of "dancitis" is sweeping over Charlevoix. The dance craze has taken an effective hold and promises to be the leading form of pleasure in the city this summer. The Merry Gardens, formerly the Roller Rink, under its new progressive management, will undoubtedly become one of the most popular dance and amusement halls in the state.

At no time has Charlevoix offered as big an attraction in the field of amusements. People for miles around have made preparations to be present the opening night, when a carnival will be held and prizes, novelties and toys will be distributed.

Many who are not in the habit of dancing will come solely for the purpose of hearing the Greenwich Orchestra of Chicago, which is one of the leading exclusive dance orchestras in the country, offering music which will be decided contrast to what we have been accustomed to. Every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday throughout the summer dancea will be held, an entirely new feature being planned for each night.

REDUCE TAXES OF WAR VETERANS

Spanish War Vets Under Same Heading as Others

Spanish American war veterans now enjoy the same exemption as veterans of the civil war with reference to taxes on their home. Under a bill recently passed, all veterans of the war with Spain will have $1,000 chopped off their assessed valuation. For instance—a Spanish-American war veteran whose home is assessed at $2,000, the assessment will be placed at only $1,000.

BENEFIT OF FRUIT GROWERS

Correct and Helpful Suggestions Are Freely Given by Department of Agriculture.

Fruit growers should know definitely what they are spraying for and when they are spraying with. There are many fake "experts" who go from farm to farm and offer for sale poisonous insecticides, but they do not know one insect from another, nor what will harm the trees or kill the bugs. If the fruit grower wants really correct and helpful directions, let him write his problems very plainly to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. He will get freely the best the present market affords. Perhaps no department of the United States government is more sympathetic or more helpful or better equipped than the department of agriculture. Use it. It likes to be used. That is what it is maintained for.

PROTECT TREES IN ORCHARD

Owners Should Be on Lookout for Rodents and Do Everything to Prevent Harm by Pests.

Owners of orchards, especially young ones, should be on the lookout for mice at this season and do everything possible to prevent the damage that is done each year by this serious pest of young trees. Is the warning that is being issued by the horticultural division of the department of agricultural extension, Purdue university.

In 1897, on the twenty-third of November, the patent for the Crompton loom for weaving cloth was issued to William Crompton of Taunton, Mass.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

By J. E. Jones

Redistribution of Labor

Thousands of workmen engaged in the making of men's clothing have been thrown out of employment during the month. At the same time advertising pages of the metropolitan newspapers are carrying bold announcements of reductions in prices of these goods, that show very clearly that the country has been overstocked. The big shoe factories of the country have been making reductions in their crews, and at the same time metropolitan shoe dealers are grudgingly lowering their profiteering prices. The munition towns, which include Bridgeport, Hopewell, and Jessor points have been hit hard by industrial conditions, and many of the places are already in the class of "deserted villages."

For several years people have been deserting the farms, evidently preferring industrial occupations which permitted them to live in the large cities, closer to the movies and the white lights. With Europe at war there was plenty to do for everybody, and when the United States got into the mess the greatest accession to the industrial rank still found a shortage of labor. All of this industrial activity has borne its fruits, and it is not strange that it has been found that there are too many guns and revolvers around Bridgeport, too many ships at Hog Island, and more powder than is needed at Wilmington. At the same time Detroit seems to be catching up with herself in the manufacture of benzine buggies. The strike in the steel industry last fall caused the wage-workers of the country to blacklist the steel trust.

The result has been that there has been an under production in this field.

The inventory discloses the unmistakable facts that in a large number of industries that have been considered in the "first class" by wage-workers that production has caught up with herself and that there is already a surplus of labor. In some other fields of employment in the industrial line, where the work has not been so alluring, or the hours as short, or the pay as big, the day of the over-supply of labor has not yet arrived, although it is noticeable that these institutions are catching up with their orders.

Still, there is work for everybody to do. The farms of the country are crying for helpers, and every man out of a job in the cities can get back to work if he will forsake the bright lights and become useful as well as ornamental in caring for the growing crops that are to feed humanity during the coming months. There is neither an over-supply of labor in the country, as is indicated in some of the industries, nor a shortage of labor, as the conditions on the farms would lead some to believe. The situation simply calls for a radical redistribution of people who are willing to do useful work.

Out-Britished on Oil

The British boast that they control practically all visible or potential oil fields of the world outside of the United States. At the same time there are large British oil holdings in this country. The British government has been backing up its capitalists in extending their holdings in oil lands, while the United States has done little outside its own borders, except in Mexico. While our own country had a long start on the rest of the world it now appears, in the face of an oil shortage, that Great Britain is our chief competitor in oil production. The United States adopted the plan of other first-class powers in providing oil burners for its big ships. Now that there is not an adequate supply of petroleum, it appears that naval development is hampered. Evidently the United States had been out-manoeuvred by the British. Incidentally, it may also be stated that the British have been getting more than their share of sugar sweets out of the world market; and it is partly due to their superior generalship and commercial enterprise that the Cuban crop, even during war time, was in a large part diverted to England, whereas, by all the rules of the game, this sugar should have been at the disposal of American consumers.

What Will the Harvest Be?

An estimate of the department of agriculture places the probable wheat crop of 1920 crop at 781,000,000 bushels. This is a very large drop from 1919 and five years previous to that time. In addition there are 41,032,000 acres of oats 7,437,000 acres of barley now growing. Providing the work of the harvest is successfully carried on the country will likely not be very bad off, since the European market will not be as strong as it has been in recent years. The difficulty that can be foreseen at this time will be in harvesting the crop and in transportation. At the hearings now being held under Federal authority, attempts are being made to straighten out the railroad situation, and to make the legislation by which the roads were returned to their owners efficient to the point of making the railway properties pay returns on the investments while at the same time enabling them to secure new equipment and make extensions. The sober thought of the nation, as it is being digested at the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing, seems to indicate that the railroad problems will be successfully solved.

Utilities Are Economically Sound

The rising cost of power produced by steam and oil has shown its effect in most articles of manufacture, while all of the public utilities have been in a disturbed condition because it was not easy for them to increase the price of their products to the public. Many of the best engineering authorities upon the subject believe that the water power bill which met the approval of both branches of congress would have a tendency toward stabilizing the public utility situation. The Stone and Webster Journal says that the pre-war judgment of investors "that no business rests upon a more secure foundation than that of the electric light and power companies has been proven during the extraordinary stress of the last five years." There is hardly a line of business in the country, large or small, but that has its ups and downs. The public utilities have had theirs and results show that they are able to weather adverse storms, just the same as have agricultural, railroad and banking interests.

Crowding the Ships

All the people who used to go to Europe "every year" but who have had to stay home for a while and see their own country and learn its beauties and superiority over decadent lands, are trying to get across the pond again this summer. The steamships announce that they are all "sold out" until fall.

At the same time hundreds of thousands of Europeans who returned to their native lands after 1914 to engage in their great national pastime of war, are trying to swell the figures of immigration, and ten thousand aliens a week have been returning to the United States since early spring. Doubtless there are a million more to come, and they will all get here sooner or later, depending upon the capacity of ships.

Farm Products

Out of the war there came the agitation by former secretary of interior Lane favoring a back-to-the-land movement. But Mr. Houston who was then secretary of agriculture, was not in sympathy with opening more farms. It was his idea that the present farms if properly worked would supply crops enough to meet all demands.

This latter view is the essence of the idea embodied in the farm loan act which has proved itself an excellent method for a man who owns a farm to purchase another one. But the whole policy of the government has furnished but very little aid to the man with few or no assets to engage in farming.

Charlevoix proof is what you want and the statement of this highly respected resident will banish all doubt: Daniel Himebaugh, 107 W. Upright Ave., Charlevoix, says: "I had a lame back and backache. Our Ambition : Ideal Telephone Service for Michigan

The Michigan State Telephone Company has set itself earnestly to the task of making the telephone service in Michigan as near ideal as possible.

To us, ideal telephone service is summed up as follows:

First—When the service given present subscribers is as intelligent and as nearly perfect as human ingenuity and mechanical accuracy can make it.

Second—When every home and business, that has any use for a telephone, has one.

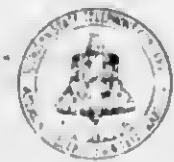

Third—When there is a mutual understanding between the Telephone Company and its subscribers, that fosters confidence and encouragement and courtesy.

The attainment of such an ideal calls for the best brains, the nimblest fingers, the most careful training, the expenditure of vast sums in buildings and material—yet it is a task that we are entering upon with all the enthusiasm of an age when mighty things are being accomplished.

There will be many obstacles and discouragements, but honest effort will overcome them all.

It is our purpose in these announcements, from time to time, to tell you of the progress we are making, and if we can know that we have your confidence and co-operation it will lend strength to our efforts and courage to our hearts.

Entered at Charlevoix Post Office as second class matter.

Two more governorship announcements were received last week. Attorney-General Groesbeck made his formal entry on Monday, followed by Lt. Governor Dickinson the next day. Both have been figured in all gubernatorial gossip for some time and in the judgment of many of the best observers they will be the two leading candidates in the contest. They are on even terms in this particular—both are cordially hated by the Newberry organization, although of late there has been signs of a little more friendliness on the part of the Newberry men toward the state's attorney. Today this is the list: Alex Groesbeck, Frank B. Leland, Frederick C. Martindale and H. S. Earle, all of Detroit; Milo D. Campbell, of Coldwater; C. L. Glasgow, of Nashville, and Mr. Dickinson. Detroit, with its million population, is naturally going to cut some figure in primary matters, but you can also put it down that the trio of upstarters will each receive a comfortable vote in the metropolis. In our opinion Martindale and Earle can already be dismissed from serious future consideration, leaving the big bulk of the Detroit vote to split between Leland and Groesbeck. Campbell, Glasgow and Dickinson are going to split the rural vote and if they keep close together they will nominate a Detroit, but if one of the three should show a big

Arrangements for Big Event Are Completed—Success of Day Up to Weather Man

It's up to the weather man now whether or not the big celebration set for Monday, July 5, will be a success or failure. And if a failure, it will be due solely to weather conditions, not from efforts of committees in charge of the celebration.

Everything has been done to entertain the thousands of people that will be here on this day. Committee after committee have reported final arrangements completed. Nothing has been neglected nor overlooked, and it will be a strange state of affairs if one person returns to their home on this day dissatisfied or disgruntled.

Not only will there be entertainment during every minute of the day, but Charlevoix's citizens themselves have arranged for seating places at their homes for those seeking a quiet place to rest.

The sight-seeing parade will form on State street, opposite the Court House, at 10:00 a. m., and will follow the line of march from Bridge Street to Dixon Avenue; Dixon Avenue to Mercer Boulevard; Mercer Boulevard to Division Street; West on Division to Michigan Avenue; Michigan Avenue and Bridge Street to Park Avenue; West on Park Avenue to Clinton Street; East on Clinton Street to Bridge Street; South on Bridge Street to Mason Street; West on Mason Street to Antrim Street; East on Antrim Street and Belvedere Ave. to Ferry Avenue South on Ferry Avenue to Stover Road; west on Stover Road to State Street; South on State to Park Avenue.

Petoskey band will give a concert on the streets, after which the big display of fireworks will be shown.

HOLD BANQUET AT HOTEL ORIENT

Stockholders of Produce Co. to Receive a New Dividend

About thirty stockholders in the Ellsworth Produce Co. attended a banquet at the New Orient Hotel on Friday evening of last week, at which the year's business was gone over, and arrangements made for the coming year's work.

A. B. Shieler of McBain, and J. Madison of Lansing, were the speakers of the evening and as both are business men of exceptional ability and confined their talk strictly to business affairs. They were thoroughly enjoyed.

A 15 per cent dividend on capital stock and a 5 per cent rebate on purchases were declared both to be paid in cash on July 1st.

The checks coming to the stockholders will run from twenty to sixty dollars, and these coming at a time when cash proceeds from the farm are small, will be appreciated.

All members express their approval of the administration of the Produce company's business during the past year and are more than pleased with the financial results, especially as they have been receiving the highest prices for their produce and buying their feed, seeds, etc., as cheap as could be purchased anywhere else.

They also wish to thank Landlord Hartman for the courtesy and excellent food and service during the supper.

GREAT SUCCESS RAISING PHEASANTS

Farmers Daily Realize Great Benefit From Having Birds

If the present success in Ringneck Pheasants culture keeps up, the territory surrounding Ellsworth will be a sportsmen's paradise when the season opens on these birds a few years hence.

Farmers in this vicinity are rapidly realizing that the quickest way to clean up the grasshopper pest is by getting the country stocked with these beautiful game birds, and a good many have secured eggs from the state game farm at Mason, Mich., and are spending what little time is needed to properly care for the setting hen and the young birds.

Henry Black, just north of town, has been the most successful so far with a hatch of fifteen chicks from fifteen eggs, one bird being killed in the nest, however, but leaving fourteen lively, healthy chicks over one week old. No care is needed for the birds after the first week as their food is mainly grasshoppers and other insects of which they destroy countless numbers.

The mature birds are hardy and can stand any amount of cold and snow, those hatched and raised in this vicinity last year nearly all surviving the cold and snow of the past winter.

The male pheasant is considered one of the most beautiful game birds on the American continent, but aside from beauty and food value, they more than repay for the time and expense with their destruction of noxious weed seeds and insects.

OBJECT IS TO RESTORE FARMS

MICHIGAN STATE FAIR OFFICIALS WORK TO THIS END

19,000 Idle Farms in Michigan and How to Make Them Pay Will Be Big Feature

To restore 19,000 Michigan farms to productivity, to avert the threatened food shortage, to bring about a greater balance between Michigan cities and Michigan farms—these, it is announced, will be the main purposes this fall of the Michigan State Fair.

George W. Dickerson, Secretary-Manager, says that the fair will be more serious in tone this year than ever before. Carnival and amusement attractions are to be but sidelines, he declared, and the main emphasis of the exposition to be directed at what he terms "the vital problem of food production."

"Ten years more of our present tendency," said Mr. Dickerson, "and Michigan farms will be depopulated. The census figures show us that New England's deserted farms are coming to our own state. In our most fertile lands, we find farm after farm vacant, and the others are cultivated only to fractional capacity."

"You can talk about coal problems, and public-utility problems, and housing problems, but the big difficulty this state must solve is the food-production problem."

Michigan Agricultural College and the United States Department of Agriculture will co-operate this fall in putting on a complete farm show designed to demonstrate how the biggest results can be obtained with the smallest amount of man-power. A display of all labor-saving machinery is to be featured.

The fair last year drew the largest attendance in the United States, and this year Manager Dickinson estimates 1,000,000 persons will attend it.

BOOK THE BEST OF ENTERTAINERS

Citizens' Lecture Course Program to Be Best in Years

Those in charge of the Citizens' Lecture Course are to be congratulated in their choice of entertainers to appear on the 1920-21 program.

In all there will be five numbers, all top-notchers and entertainers of note. The Grupee Co., a musical number, has one of the best cellists in the country, besides a pianist, violinist and soprano. This group of professionals are on the Edison staff and you have without doubt enjoyed hearing their productions on your own phonograph.

Charles Sanford, lecturer, is well spoken of at places where he has appeared and will be one of the drawing cards of the course.

One number, especially, that all should hear, is the Stolofsky Trio, Miss Stolofsky, violin soloist, appeared before a Charlevoix audience last season and made a hit here as well as elsewhere.

The Great Lakes Co. is a string orchestra of the highest class, and Miss Bernice Ladd, impersonator and reader, will furnish an evening's entertainment well worth your time.

ANNUAL MEETING CO-OPERATIVE ASSN.

Plan for Basket Picnic and Entertainment During Entire Day

The annual meeting of the Charlevoix Co-Operative Association will be held at the warehouse, Saturday, July 10, at 10:00 a. m., standard time, for the consideration of the annual reports of the officers and employees of the association for the preceding calendar year, and also for the election of directors and the transaction of such other business as may come before the meeting.

Dorr D. Buell, director and former president of the Michigan Potato Growers' Exchange, now marketing director of the Michigan State Farm Bureau, will be present and talk on the marketing and purchasing questions as are being worked out by the organization.

The association will furnish the coffee and all are asked to bring baskets and enjoy a good picnic dinner during the noon hour.

AT THE MOVIES

When a pretty Fifth Avenue Miss who speaks proper English attempts to reconcile herself for a while, at least, in a most sordid neighborhood, unusual events are destined to happen. This theme forms the basis of "The Hoodlum," the second production starring Mary Pickford produced by her in her own studios and which will be seen July 5th at the Palace Theatre.

"The Hoodlum" is essentially a comedy romance picturing the distress of the fashionable Amy Burke who decides to reside in the tenements in order to be with her father whose life work depends upon a successful book on sociology.

Amy makes great friend of Dish Lowry, a tenement chap who is a past master at shooting craps, evading cops, and helping the unfortunate; old Peter Cooper, whom no one seems to know, and a struggling artist who was wrongly sent to the penitentiary to cover up a crooked deal of Amy's rich grandfather. It is a fact however, that the artist does steal Amy's heart.

How Amy adjusts family matters by almost landing herself in jail makes a fast moving comical story.

In giving to the public his latest screen effort, "The Mollycoddle," which is the third of his United Artists Corporation productions, Douglas Fairbanks presents the most costly motion picture of his career, representing an expenditure of more than a half million dollars. The picture will be presented at the Palace Theatre, July 10th and 11th.

The enormous cost of "The Mollycoddle" was due to the star's desire to continue the policy he inaugurated when he became an independent producer and member of the "Big Four." At that time he declared that money would be secondary and that it would be his aim, with each succeeding production, to eclipse all previous efforts.

That Fairbanks was not merely talking when he announced his intentions was evidenced with the release of his first and second United Artists' offerings in which it was plainly seen that considerable money

CHARLEVOIX WELCOMES RECORD-BREAKING CROWD

Thousands of People Visit City Monday and Assist in Observance of National Holiday

Charlevoix's Fourth of July celebration held Monday was one of the most successful ever held in the city, or in northern Michigan for that matter. At eight o'clock in the morning the people began to arrive and by eleven o'clock the city held one of the largest crowds in its history.

Hundreds of visitors were here from Boyne City, East Jordan, Ellsworth, Central Lake, Petoskey, Harbor Springs and from cities as far north as Pellston and south to Traverse City. During the height of the arrival, the roads entering the city were lined with cars of all descriptions.

The event of the day began promptly at 10:30, the first on the program being the sight-seeing parade. Cars of every description entered the contest, and the long procession traveled the principal streets of the city in their line of march, which lasted until the noon hour.

Among those who entered the contest who deserve special mention for the manner in which they decorated their cars, were the Charlevoix Fire Department, Troy Laundry, Charlevoix Hardware Co., Hamlin's Basket Grocery, W. C. T. U., Federation of Women's Clubs, and private car of J. M. Saunders. Up to the time we go to press, the committee in charge of this part of the program have not decided to whom the prize of $25.00 will be awarded.

The afternoon program began promptly at 1:30 p. m. consisting of street and water sports, which lasted until late in the afternoon. With one or two exceptions, every event advertised was pulled off, lack of space and time compelling the Courier to omit the names of the winners.

The ball game in the afternoon between Charlevoix and Boyne City was won by Boyne City by a score of 8 to 5. It is estimated the game was witnessed by at least two thousand enthusiastic fans.

Charlevoix's special attractions won the applause of thousands of visitors. The exhibition given by Sky Eagle and Princess Waneta was exceptionally good, especially the fancy rope throwing. These two appeared several times during the afternoon and evening.

Prof. Hubert Bearss, while handicapped insofar as the improvised bag platform was concerned, gave a fine exhibition in fancy bag punching. The young man while encamped at Camp Dix, New Jersey, was the leader in the sport and held the camp championship. He also did some creditable boxing while at Camp Dix.

The grand display of fire works in the evening at nine o'clock closed the day's program. Charlevoix's celebration is conceded by all to be a wonderful success due largely to the efforts of Chairman E. B. Ward and members of the various committees who left nothing undone.

The spirit of co-operation was never more evident. Business men and citizens united in their efforts to welcome the vast throng of people who spent the day here.

DEAN-SANDFORD NUPTIALS WEDNESDAY

Ceremony Took Place at Home of Mrs. Frederick Dean

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Frederick Dean near Ironton at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when her daughter, Miss Bertha Dean and Mr. Harry Sanford, a prosperous young farmer of Star District, were married in the presence of about fifty relatives and friends. Rev. H. A. VanKirk, pastor of the First Congregational church of Charlevoix united the happy couple.

Glen and Metta Snudford brother and sister of the groom attended the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Sanford will make their home on a farm in the Star District.

Acme Motor Truck Band
The Acme Motor Truck Band of Cadillac was in the city Sunday, on their way to Traverse City for the 4th of July celebration. They furnished music Saturday at Petoskey, and on Sunday gave an hour's concert at The Inn. They travel in a big auto truck.

SIX YEAR OLD GIRL BADLY BURNED

Dress Catches Fire From Burning Match Monday Evening

About the only serious accident during the celebration Monday occurred about 7:30 in the evening, when Evelyn Brown, age six years, was severely burned at the home of Mrs. Guy Olney on Clinton street.

The little miss was holding a sparkler, an almost harmless piece of fireworks, when in some manner her dress became ignited and in a second was burning fiercely. She called to her mother, who tried to extinguish the blaze, but was obliged to tear the dress from her.

Her right side and body was badly burned, but her mother managed to keep the blaze from her face and hair. She was taken to the Charlevoix hospital for treatment and at last reports, although suffering intensely from her burns, would probably recover without serious results.

FARM HOUSE BURNS MONDAY

Fire Thought to Have Started From Spark on Roof

The farm house on what is known as the Dolberg farm, near Adams Lake, occupied by Martin Kerchak and family, was burned to the ground Monday forenoon about eleven o'clock.

The fire was first discovered on the roof and was thought to have started from a spark from the chimney. The family were at home and saved a goodly portion of the household goods.

GOVERNOR COX HEADS TICKET

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT CHOSEN FOR VICE, PRESIDENT

Ohio Governor Wins After Palmer Vote Goes for Him—44 Ballots Needed to Break Deadlock

Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, the state known as "the mother of presidents," was nominated for president of the United States on the forty-fourth roll call of the national democratic convention held in San Francisco after one of the sternest and hardest fought battles in the history of the party.

The end of the struggle came 1:45 Tuesday morning, and the result is displeasing to William Jennings Bryan of Cox's well known "wet" tendencies. The candidate has the support of the Wilson administration, the McAdoo forces jumping into the band wagon amid great confusion when it became certain that their man was a sure loser.

Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, assistant secretary of the navy and relative of the president who bore that name, was chosen by the Democratic national convention as its candidate for vice president and running mate for Gov. Cox.

The band wagon movement for Mr. Roosevelt got under way very quickly soon after the convention assembled and although other candidates, among them Gov. Stewart of Montana and Maj. Gen. L. D. Tyson of Tennessee, were presented there was no doubt of Mr. Roosevelt's selection from the first.

Definite assurances have been given at the White House that President Wilson plans to take active part in the campaign to elect Governor Cox as his successor.

It was indicated that if his health permits the president will make some stump speeches for the Ohioan and otherwise will use all his influence as head of the party to win a democratic victory in November. An early conference between Wilson and Cox probably will be arranged, it was learned. The Wilson administration is expected to make a wholehearted endorsement of the nomination of Governor Cox.

TRAIN CRASHES INTO TEAM

DRIVER DIES FROM INJURIES RECEIVED

Suburban Motor Crashes Into Team and William Santos the Driver Dies From Injuries

William Santos, in the employ of the Argo Milling Co. as teamster, was so badly injured by a Pere Marquette train at eleven o'clock Wednesday forenoon, that he died at the Charlevoix hospital at 1:00 p. m.

The accident took place at the foot of Eaton avenue, near the Standard Oil Co.'s station. Santos, accompanied by Edward Shanahan, was driving a dray belonging to the Argo Milling Co., and were on their way to the coal sheds. Just as they reached the crossing, some person working near there shouted "Watch out for the train," but before the driver and team could cross the track, the suburban motor struck them broadside, just between the horses and the dray. Shanahan, who glanced up the track and saw the approaching train, jumped to safety just as the crash took place.

The dray was dragged north by the motor car about one hundred yards before it came to a stop. One of the horses was almost instantly killed and the other badly injured. Santos, who had little chance to escape, was thrown over 50 feet to the north and west, and landed in a ditch alongside the track.

He was immediately taken to the Charlevoix hospital where examination showed that his skull was fractured, besides other injuries. He was unconscious when picked up and died at one o'clock from hemorrhages resulting from the injuries received.

The accident is one of the most shocking that ever took place in the city. From all that can be learned from those who witnessed the accident, whose testimony has been taken by local authorities, no crossing signals were made by the train crew, and as the motor was running at a high speed, the unfortunate driver had no chance at all to avoid the collision.

The dead man had been in the employ of the Argo Milling Co. since they purchased the holdings of the Charlevoix Coal & Wood Co. about three months ago. Prior to this he had worked for the Coal & Wood Co. for several years. He was a hard working and industrious man and stood well in the community. He leaves a wife and four children. Funeral arrangements had not been made as we go to press.

GREENWICH ORCHESTRA HELPS ENTERTAIN

One of Added Attractions of 4th of July Celebration

One of the added attractions of the celebration program on July 5, which aided considerably toward the success of the day was the catchy music of the Greenwich Orchestra, thru the courtesy of the Merry Gardens. It was originally intended to hold a pavement dance but as the people kept swarming to hear this novel orchestra, the dancers were forced to give way to the audience which began to occupy the entire dancing space.

The Greenwich Orchestra has been the talk of the town since its arrival. It is an aggregation of five of Chicago's leading musicians forming a combination whose music makes dancing irresistible.

This week Herbert S. Mentz will be featured at the piano playing several of his original numbers. The Greenwich Orchestra plays in Charlevoix every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings at the Merry Gardens formerly the roller rink.

Harrington spent the third, fourth and fifth of July on an auto trip to Frankfort, Beulah, Traverse City and Northport, leaving about noon on the third and returning the evening of the fifth.

They spent the first night at Traverse City and the second at Northport. The bunch report a very enjoyable trip and state the drive the most beautiful yet experienced.

"EAST JORDAN THE DEAD CITY"

WHAT ONE FARMER SUGGESTS AS A SLOGAN

Charges Local Merchants With Negligence in Caring for Farmers Produce

The East Jordan Board of Trade advertised through the local paper for a suitable slogan for the city. Below is a letter from a prominent farmer, who voices his opinion in rather plain language:

East Jordan, Mich., June 21, 1920
To M. R. Keyworth, Secretary of the Board of Trade, East Jordan:
"Wanted, A Slogan for East Jordan" is what I read in the Charlevoix County Herald. I have a slogan that will hit East Jordan right on the head and it is—"East Jordan the Dead City." A farmer cannot come to East Jordan with a bushel of potatoes and be sure of selling them unless he has them engaged. A farmer cannot come to East Jordan with a dressed hog, summer or winter, and be sure of selling it unless he has it engaged. A farmer cannot come to East Jordan after 6:00 p. m. and do his trading—the stores are locked and the clerks (probably not all of them) playing cards or pool. A farmer cannot come to East Jordan bright and early in the morning and find the stores open so that he can do his trading and hurry back to his work. I was caught with two dressed chickens in East Jordan and called on all the meat markets in town and did not sell them because it was not Saturday.

No slogan will help East Jordan—East Jordan Business Men must help and no other way will do.

I was to East Jordan yesterday trying to engage 10 bushels of potatoes or more so it would be worthwhile to make the trip. I did not engage a single bushel and in about a week or 10 days East Jordan will have no potatoes and none to be bought.

Yours truly,
Joseph Trojanek
The East Jordan Herald, to whom the above letter was sent, makes the following comment:

"The above letter was received by The Herald this week. The writer is one of the well-to-do farmers of this region who makes East Jordan his trading center. He has the courage of his convictions to come out openly and criticize the business methods of our merchants."

"Are his findings correct? Do we, as business men, utterly ignore the wishes of the farmers of this region—the men and women who, to a large extent, are the back-bone of East Jordan as a community center? The relations of the business man and the farmer is a subject of deep importance, and East Jordan to develop MUST meet the farmer more than half way in all business dealings."

If our recollections are correct, we have heard similar complaints in this section of the county, and it might be well to watch the manner in which the business men of East Jordan handle the matter.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE STARTS MONDAY

Fourteen Solicitors Will Cover Charlevoix County

The membership drive of the Michigan State Farm Bureau will be launched in Charlevoix county, Monday morning, July 12th. Fourteen solicitors will begin the work. They are all representative farmers from various parts of the state, who understand farmers and farmer conditions.

The program for the drive is as follows: Monday, July 12, Norwood, Marion, west-half of Eveline and south half of Charlevoix township; Tuesday, Hayes, Bay and Evangeline townships; Wednesday, Hudson, Chandler and Melrose townships; Thursday, Wilson, Boyne Valley; Friday, South Arm and east half of Eveline townships.

The drive is on in Antrim county this week with splendid results, and we feel certain Charlevoix county will give as large a percentage of members as any county in the state. Think the proposition over, talk it with your neighbor and be ready to take advantage of the opportunity to affiliate yourself with the greatest farm movement in all history.

The deceased was born in Friesland, Netherlands, on June 11, 1842. He came to this country in 1874. He was a member of the South Barnard Reformed church, having served 13 years as elder. The funeral services were held from the South Barnard church, Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Rev. Pickart of Atwood, officiating. SPLENDID CROWD AT LEGION DANCE

Beach Hotel Dancing Pavilion Filled to Capacity

The American Legion dance held at the Beach Hotel pavilion Monday evening was a success from every viewpoint, both as to attendance and financial returns.

Hundreds of happy dancers filled the floor with the result that the evening was a most enjoyable one. The young "vets" feel very grateful towards Mrs. J. S. Baker, who donated to them the use of the pavilion.

TRUCK CRASHES INTO TRAIN

ANOTHER RAILROAD ACCIDENT NEAR BAY SHORE

Truck Overturned and Driver Injured—Tuesday a Hoodoo Day for P. M.

Judging from the number of accidents on the Pere Marquette railroad Tuesday, one would come to the conclusion the railroad was hoodooed or followed by a jinx.

Tuesday morning as train No. 6, which arrives at Charlevoix at 9:05 was passing what is known as the old crusher plant, near Bay Shore, it was run into by a truck owned by the Emmet County Road Commission.

From what we can learn the railroad crossing at this point is at the foot of a sharp grade, and the truck was coming down the grade. Just as the train made the crossing the truck ran into it, striking one of the coaches broadside. The result was the truck was overturned and the driver, John Whitney, thrown some distance. The man seriously injured, being badly bruised about the head and shoulders.

He was taken to—Petoskey and placed under the care of physicians. The extent of his injuries is not known.

DIED AFTER LONG PERIOD OF ILLNESS

LeRoy Hamlin of Hayes Township, Well Known Farmer

LeRoy Hamlin, a well known and respected resident of Hayes township, died Thursday, July 1, after an illness of over two years. On June 25, he suffered a second stroke of paralysis and since that time has gradually failed until death relieved him of his sufferings.

Funeral services were held from the home Saturday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Charles Rice of the Baptist church, and interment took place at Brookside cemetery, where the remains were laid among his brother members of the G. A. R.

He is survived by a wife, one son, a brother, five grandchildren and a large number of close and intimate friends and neighbors.

Women Are Invited

Members of the Charlevoix Co-operative Association are requested to bring along their wives and children and attend the annual meeting to be held at the warehouse, Saturday, July 10. A picnic dinner is scheduled at noon, the association to furnish the coffee and cream. Doris Buall, director and former president of the Michigan Potato Growers' Exchange will speak. Its a meeting for members and all should make it a point to attend.

MICHIGAN HAS 12 HATCHERIES

NEW PLANTS UNDER CONSTRUCTION HELP STATE

Tons of Millions of Fish Planted and Raised This Year Exceed the Record of 1919

For the information of Courier readers we publish below a statement showing what has been done in Michigan Fish Hatcheries during the past year, and the number of fish produced and planted:

Produce 1,000,000 lake trout.
12,500,000 speckled trout planted and raised.
2,620,000 brown trout produced.
7,000,000 rainbow trout produced.
8,000,000 whitefish produced.
83,000,000 perch and 60,000,000 wall-eyed pike planted.
1,416,000 small-mouth and 641,000 big-mouth bass planted.
Five new hatcheries being constructed will increase the number in Michigan to twelve.

New hatcheries under construction at Bayport, Hastings, Benton Harbor, Harrisville and Oden are nearing completion and will give the state twelve hatcheries. The commission recently laid plans for the construction of at least one hatchery in each congressional district of the state. The record being made in this line is noteworthy, inasmuch as during the past thirty-five years only seven hatcheries have been erected.

Two hundred and fifty beautiful speckled trout, weighing from one to two pounds each, has been planted in the pond in the rear of the Oden hatchery. Two new ponds are under construction there and these will be fed from two five-inch run flowing wells. At this hatchery a nursery is being maintained for trout and land-locked salmon, and 150,000 trout are now being raised to fingerling size.

Equal attention is being paid the new hatcheries in other parts of the state. All of the state hatcheries are to be made real beauty spots and points of great interest, especially for fishermen. The Michigan fish commission hopes to make Michigan "the Garden of Eden" for fishermen of the entire nation.

Hatcheries at the 'Soo, Grayling, Paris, Harrietta, Mill Creek, Drayton Plains and Detroit have made fine records this year, producing many thousands more young fish than last year. Twelve million five hundred thousand speckled trout have been raised and planted since January. The 1919 output was 11,800,000. In brown trout this year 2,620,000 were produced, the 1919 record being 1,976,000. Rainbow trout were featured this year, with 7,000,000 produced. Last year—3,800,000 of these game fish were raised.

Fully a million lake trout were produced this year against 995,000 last year. This year's record of land-locked salmon is 56,000, while last year it was 10,000. Whitefish to the number of 8,000,000 were produced, while last year there were 1,000,000.

Perch and wall-eyed pike lead the list with the largest number produced this year. This season 83,000,000 perch were planted against the 1919 record of 51,000,000. The state planted 60,000,000 wall-eyed pike this season and 52,000,000 last year.

Bass fishermen will be pleased with the planting of bass, 1,416,000 small-mouth and 641,000 big-mouth. Last year 515,000 small-mouth and 364,000 big-mouth bass were planted.

Follow the Travels of the Famous Medal Designed to be Worn by the Person Proving the Right to be Known to the World as the Biggest Lunkhead.

EPISODE II

WHEN the Stranger plumed the Medal for being the BIGGEST LUNK HEAD on the breast of the MAN WHO WOULD NOT WORK, he told him to wear it only while he felt sure he was the BIGGEST LUNKHEAD.

So the MAN WHO WOULD NOT WORK wore the Medal and as he did not work he had time to think. As the Medal made him think he saw Other Men were GETTING HIGHER UP IN THE WORLD BY WORKING. He saw Others were HAPPY because they WORKED. And he saw that if HE wanted to GET ANYWHERE he would have to WORK.

So he got a JOB and he found that work is EASIER THAN LOAFING. So he decided that he did not have any right to hold the BIGGEST LUNKHEAD Medal—and he went out and plumed it on the breast of THE MAN WHO IS ALWAYS LOOKING FOR A NEW JOB.

"Cold in the Head"

Is an acute attack of Nasal Catarrh. Persons who are subject to frequent "colds in the head" will find that the use of HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will build up the System, cleanse the Blood and render them immune to colds. Repeated attacks of Acute Catarrh may lead to Chronic Catarrh. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and it cleanses the Blood on the inside surface of the System. All the mucus is drawn out of the nose. It cures the only cause of catarrh that HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will not cure.

INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

Frank Lesh reports seeing a 350-pound bear in the road east of town last Saturday. He didn't stop for a personal interview, but hiked to a neighbor's who had a gun and dogs, and when they returned old bruin had left for parts unknown.—Mancelona Herald.

The thing that worries the farmer most, and the small town employer, too, declares a Hudson man, is the fellow who comes from the city over the week end and lures the other boys away by standing on the street corner and telling how much salary he might be getting, as if he got it.

There will be plenty of refrigerator cars with which to move the fruit crop of the Grand Traverse region, according to local dealers and shippers says a Traverse City dispatch.

Growers are more concerned just now over establishment of a standardizing picking scale. They are endeavoring to get together upon a standard scale which doubtless will be little larger than that of last year as a heavier crop than that of 1918 is expected to keep cherry prices down.

The entire county of Kalkaska is watching with interest the result of a blood transfusion case at Johnson hospital, Traverse City, in which Miss Beatrice Jenkins, one of Kalkaska's most popular teachers, gave of her blood to save the life of Irene Getty, county school commissioner of Kalkaska county.

Miss Getty has been in the hospital at Traverse City since early spring, suffering from marked anemia. When it was learned blood transfusion might save her life numerous Kalkaska friends offered to give their own blood. Tests were made and Miss Jenkins was found to be best fitted to help. The transfusion apparently was successful. Miss Getty shows marked improvement.

Delegates to the W. C. T. U. convention in session at Cadillac last week heard their state president, Mrs. E. L. Calkins, of Ypsilanti, urge a dry world at the outdoor mass meeting. Mrs. Calkins outlined the state and national work of the W. C. T. U. for the future and asked for the Americanization of the American. Cigarettes were given a jolt by Mrs. Maud Perkins, of Syracuse, N. Y., who made a stirring appeal for the enforcement of existing anti-cigarette laws. Lieutenant Governor L. D. Dickinson delivered the closing address of the convention. His subject was "The Responsibilities of a New Day."

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows by the Old Settlers' association at the annual meeting at Northport: O. J. Powers, of Elk Rapids, president; W. S. Anderson, of Traverse City, treasurer; Angus Love, of Traverse City, secretary, and Mrs. E. S. Pratt, historian. Owing to the fact that the Old Settlers' association was first organized in Elk Rapids, it was unanimously decided to have the 1921 meet at that place, celebrating at that time the fortieth anniversary of the organization. John McDowell, of Elk Rapids, was the first president for the Old Settlers' association.

DAIRY FACTS

CLUB BOYS RAISING HEIFERS

Animals Are Relatively Easy to Handle While Owner Gains Experience in Feeding.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Many junior dairy clubs favor the maintenance of bred heifers by their members, because these animals are relatively easy to handle while their young owner gains experience in feeding and caring for the young females before they calve. Subsequently he learns how to handle the calf, which constantly is increasing in value. Where mature cows are distributed among the junior dairy club members more risk is involved, as many of the youngsters are not experienced sufficiently to handle them properly.

The advantage of distributing calves among the next generation of stock breeders, according to specialists, is the low initial cost of the animal and the fact that its keeping involves less expense and care on the part of the attendant. On the other hand, it requires three years to complete the project. This may be considered undesirable, as interest of the club members will likely become lessened. In both the case of the bred heifer and the calf it is difficult to select the best animals which will prove to be profitable producers, while in the case of the cow, she demonstrates her worth if proper records of production and expenses are kept. The junior dairy club work develops potential breeders who will mature from raisers of a single heifer or calf into full-grown owners of extensive and quality herds.

CARING FOR EXPORTED COWS

American Animal Never Made Much of a Reputation in Europe Until Great War.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The American dairy cow, hearty that she is and has always been, has never made very much of a reputation in Europe until the war destroyed so many of the native milk producers. Now, the American dairy cow is crossing the ocean pretty freely, and the United States department of agriculture, largely for her benefit, has revised its regulations governing the inspection, humane handling, and safe transport of export animals. The regulations, in the first place, were fixed mainly for beef cattle. A dairy cow that is to live her life out and bear a responsible part in the upbringing of a human family requires more careful handling than an animal that is to be slaughtered. Consequently, better arrangements have been made for stalls, an adequate number of attendants is stipulated, and more careful handling in general is required.

REMARKABLE RACE BY HORSE

Castor, Morgan Gelding, Finishes Long Endurance Contest With Clean Speed Record.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In a 300-mile endurance contest with horses of the purest Arabian breeding, "Castor," a Morgan gelding bred by the United States department of agriculture at its Middlebury, Vt., Morgan horse farm, was the only horse with a clean speed record at the end of the fourth day of the grueling contest. "Castor" won third place for speed at the end of the contest, notwithstanding the fact that he fell in the deep sand on a bad hit of road, injured his nose, and made the last five miles in a walk. This achievement is an indication of what has been accomplished by the department of agriculture in the rehabilitation of the Morgan breed during the few years since the work was undertaken.

The race was from Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., to Camp Devens, Mass., largely over unimproved roads. The purpose was to stimulate interest in the breeding of cavalry mounts throughout the United States. A majority of the horses entered were Arabians. One was a crossbreed that had seen overseas service and was the first horse to pass successfully through quarantine at Newport News. Two were Morgans, bred at the department's farm. The veteran of overseas service, "Boh," owned and ridden by Colonel George, led the field in the beginning of the race, but was taken out before the finish. The two Arab-

GETTING THE BUCK

We live in a country of surprising things and there is always something new to take our attention. We have something new in slang every time the moon changes. "Gets my goat," "Gets his Nanny," and "Passing the Buck," were all expressive in their day, but they are passing into history because they are superseded by a new and expressive phrase, "Getting the Buck," which is a very popular game just now. It does not make much difference how the "Buck" is obtained. The point is to get it.

During the war we heard much about a dollar a year patriots, but investigations reveal the fact that many of them were playing the new game of "Getting the Buck." While they were pretending to work for the Government at a dollar per year, they were speculating on their own hook and making millions off the war at the expense of their country's necessity. They were "Passing the Buck" to the Government and Getting the Buck from the people.

The delegates who attended the Republican National convention in Chicago, and other who went as spectators, had to pay from ten to forty dollars per day for rooms at the hotels. The same rooms, on ordinary occasions bring from three to five dollars, per day, but it was another phase of the new game of

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to keep her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite reasonable, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

"Getting the Buck." The same condition existed at the San Francisco convention, the same thing goes on all the time, whenever opportunity arises, not only with hotel rates, but nearly everything else. It is said that sugar is being sold in Toronto, Canada, for ten and twelve cents per pound while we are paying all the way from twenty-five to thirty-five cents per pound and Great Britain is "Getting the Buck" at our expense because the President and Congress played the game of "Passing the Buck" until England tied up the sugar crop for three years.

The clothing manufacturers are "Getting the Buck" in big bunches according to a report just issued by the National sheep and wool bureau of America which says:

"Half a billion pounds of shoddy were thrown on the American clothing market in 1919, while a billion pounds of unmanufactured, virgin wool were accumulating in the store-houses. Shoddy is made of woolen rags, re-spun perhaps as often as eight times. It is woven with a small percentage of virgin wool to stick the broken fibres together. Of the 620,000,000 yards of 'all-wool' cloth produced by the nation's mills, the amount of shoddy used would have produced 380,000,000 yards, if straight shoddy cloth had been turned out. Mixed with a little new wool it entered into the composition of a vastly greater yardage. In the same period, the amount of new wool used would have produced 240,000,000 yards of virgin cloth, if it had not been adulterated with shoddy."

The menace of another coal famine next winter emphasizes the folly of our persistent neglect to utilize our inexhaustible supplies of "white coal." If the readily available water power of this country were harnessed and set to work to drive industrial machinery and to supply light to cities and power for transportation lines, there would be a saving of millions of tons of coal a year.

Without a Republican House and Senate President Harding would find the task of national reconstruction an impossible one. The election of a Republican House will probably be an easy task, but not a senator must be lost and several must be gained in order to give the new administration the free hand in national affairs essential to success in the work of national restoration.

The Democratic St. Louis Post Dispatch says that in the Republican plank on the league of nations, "somebody is getting cheated," and from the disappointed way in which the Democratic editors talk about it, we believe they are the fellows that have been hornswoggled.

The campaign liar who repeats imaginary private conversation is on the job already.

OBSERVE THEIR WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Home of M. K. Chew Scene of Enjoyable Event

Ninety relatives and friends helped Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Chew of Hayes township observe their 20th (china) wedding anniversary on Saturday last at their farm home north of Charlevoix.

The spacious home was filled to capacity, but this did not deter those present from fittingly celebrating the occasion. The evening was spent in visiting by the older members and playing of games by the young folks, after which refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake and crushed strawberries was served.

The host and hostess were recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts as mementos of the occasion. Congratulations were extended and the happy crowd left for their homes, expressing the wish to be able to attend similar functions at a later date.

Among those present from Charlevoix were Hubert Hulme and wife, James Meggison and wife, D. E. Ingalls and wife, Rev. Charles Rice, and J. E. Chew and wife of East Jordan.

LEAVE FOR NEW HOME IN FLINT

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Dodge Will Be Missed by Friends

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Dodge left Tuesday for Flint, Michigan, where they will locate permanently and where Mr. Dodge has steady employment in the Buick Auto plant.

Charlevoix residents will regret the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Dodge, who have been residents of the city for a number of years, during which time they have made many close and intimate friends.

For a number of years Mr. Dodge was engaged in tailoring and dry cleaning, later entered into other business lines. Their departure is to be regretted and it is the wish of their numerous friends that they will be successful in their new location.

COUNTY ODD FELLOWS' ANNUAL PICNIC

To Be Held This Year at Monroe Creek Camp Grounds

Committees from the various I. O. O. F. lodges of the county met at East Jordan last Friday evening and formulated plans for the annual picnic of the Charlevoix Odd Fellows' Picnic association.

As a result of the meeting, the annual gathering will take place on Thursday, August 19, at Monroe Creek, about two miles north of East Jordan. It is planned to have all members of the association meet on this date, also to invite a few friends to come with them. The I. O. O. F. picnics in the past have been well attended and it is hoped this meeting will be no exception.

M. E. CHURCH NOTES

Following are the names of the Epworth League officers appointed to serve during the summer season: President, Mrs. A. E. Bowditch; 1st Vice-President, Betty Candler; 2nd Vice-President, Esther Powell; 3rd Vice-President, George Beeman; 4th Vice-President, Grace Meggison; Secretary and Treasurer, Pearl Durance. It was voted that the devotional services of the League begin each Sunday at 8:30, immediately following the evening preaching service. Social functions will be enjoyed every two weeks.

Dr. Louis DeLamarre of Lansing, will speak Sunday evening, July 11, at 7:30.

We are glad to note a large number of summer visitors in our congregations and extend to them and their friends a hearty invitation to come as often as possible.

The Children's Day exercises were largely attended and a splendid program presented. The very fine primary department, under the direction of Mrs. William Marshall, did exceptionally well.

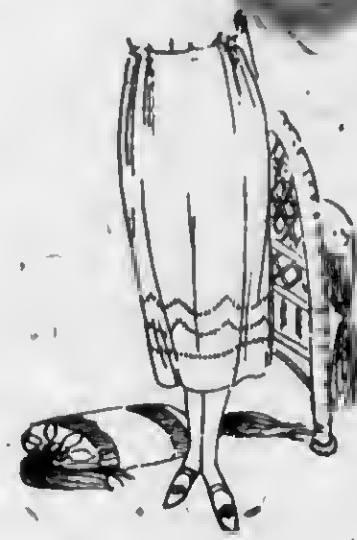

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

At the Congregational church Sunday morning the minister will speak from the theme, "The Audacity of Faith." To all who have no immediate church home this church opens her doors. Join our fellowship and service. Welcome!

Our church school continues to disprove the theory that scholarship and vacation are not compatible. Is your boy or your girl securing the benefit of education in character building? The church school is the proper laboratory for that very thing.

The Mid-week service will be precluded by a devotional half hour beginning at 7:30 p. m., after which Dr. Rauschenhusch's "Christianity and the Social Crisis" will be continued. The public is invited to attend each and all the services of this church.

DRINK HOT TEA
FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day, or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

THE RIDDLE

By OLIVE R. BARTON

(© 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"What goes down the chimney down and up the chimney down, but won't go down the chimney up nor up the chimney up?"

Jimmy Sudd, third row, five, recited the riddle glibly through a misling front tooth. The school sat petrified—not that it was a riddle, for Miss Eaton herself had suggested the form of recreation that day, much to their delight, but they were petrified by the enormity of the proposition Jimmy propounded.

After a moment Miss Eaton suggested gently, "Suppose you say it again, Jimmy; it's such a long one, you know. Now go very slowly."
Again Jimmy, intimated with importance and the size of his riddle, repeated the amazing words.

"That certainly is a hard one, Jimmy," Miss Eaton remarked smiling; then realizing that 50 pairs of eyes recently concentrated on third row, five, had shifted behind her, she turned.

Mr. Milford, the principal, had entered very quietly, evidently just in time to hear the second rendition.

Miss Eaton's cheeks took on a deeper tinge of pink, but she rose to the occasion beautifully.

"Oh, Mr. Milford, won't you help us guess riddles? It's recreation time,

Suppose You Say It Again, Jimmy.

you know, and we thought we'd have them for a change. We are tired of our old games."

Mr. Milford was silent for a moment; then said crisply, "Miss Eaton I'll send down some primary history readers. The children will like them, I think, and they are more improving than—than riddles, I'm sure." Whereupon he went out and closed the door.
But not before he had seen the deep rose in Miss Eaton's cheeks deepen to a painful crimson as she caught the implied rebuke.

Outside he hesitated an instant;
then suddenly squaring his shoulders
he strode over to his desk in the office, where he savagely grabbed up his pen and proceeded to finish the application blanks for the following term.
Why was it that Rebecca Eaton insisted so on inviting reprimand?

Why was it she was always doing something entirely without precedent, establishing a system of her own, so to speak—tearing down school ethics daily, abolishing that military precision that had been the very foundation of system?

"Of course," he reflected, "her discipline is perfect, and—" (he pulled a record of No. 5 out of a pigeonhole)
"her year's average is the highest in the school. But riddles! In school!

"What goes down the chimney up
and up the chimney down but won't go down the chimney—What was it that youngster was saying?" Then suddenly straightening he ran a finger down the neglected page. "Where was it? Miss Eliza Smart? Oh, yes!
Age, 58, address—Street, town, state.
I hereby do wish to be considered—"

Again Mr. Milford's gray eyes wandered out of the window to the line of maples waving gay salutes at the tuffy white clouds above them. And just beyond, a full-grown, regular Santa Claus chimney lifted its capable shoulders. "What goes up the chimney up and down the chimney down? Where do you suppose that kid ever heard it?"

Mr. Milford got up and paced his office rattling the keys in his pocket.
"Now what can go up the chimney up, do you suppose?" He stopped thoughtfully in front of a bookcase.
"I'll just take those history readers over to No. 5 myself and see if they're still guessing."

But when Mr. Milford appeared again in Miss Eaton's room his northern latitude completely eclipsed by a pile of re-backed "History Readers," No. 5 had its nose buried deep in multiplication tables.

Miss Eaton helped him unload and turned back to her marking. A certain amused defiance had replaced the distress in her blue eyes which Mr.
Milford noted with uneasiness. He neither enjoyed nor understood her sense of humor. Once, he remembered, she had told him it was because he had been born without any himself. The smile had disappeared from his own lips, but not the curiosity from his brain.

He sought Jimmy's desk and showed him that 7 x 9 are not 64. "Oh, by the way, did they guess your riddle, Jimmy?" he asked casually.

"No, sir!" answered Jimmy promptly and proudly. "I had to tell 'em." But he volunteered no further information.

"Will you please stop in the office before you go this evening, Miss Eaton?" he said as he left. "The application blanks are ready for next year awaiting your signature."

At 5:15 every blank had been filled, from Miss Tibby Tibbury who taught A. B. C. in No. 1, to Miss Martin Stone who broke into Beginner's Latin in A-8th—all except one. Miss Eaton from No. 5 had not appeared to affix her signature to her application.

And another—Mr. Richard Milford, principal, also had not put down his name. Until an hour ago he had fully intended to sign for the next term.
Why then was he waiting? He looked anxiously at the blank for No. 5, then across the hall to the closed door.
Things were beginning slowly to clear up in his mind. He was realizing now very keenly why he would or would not apply for next year. It all dependent on Rebecca Eaton.

A shadow had come over the sun and darkened the world. At the same instant a quick little gust of wind blew some papers off his desk. He had not noticed the storm approaching.

He shut the window beside him and stooped to pick up the scattered sheets, when he heard the door of No.
5 open and close softly and some one step quickly past the open door of the office.

"Miss Eaton!" He was beside her in an instant. The storm was directly overhead now and it was so dark in the hall he could scarcely see her face.
But a bright flash, quick but all-revealing, enlightened him considerably. She had been crying.

"You can't go out now," he protested, holding out a detaining hand. "It's beginning to pour." A deafening crash drowned his last words. "Come, I won't let you!" he insisted as she again moved toward the door, murmuring a remonstrance.

Going into the office and returning with an umbrella, he asked curiously.
"Aren't you going to apply for next term? We all want you back, you know."

"No, I'm not going to apply, Mr. Milford. I—I don't want to come back.
If I do it will be the same old thing—you'll disapprove of everything I do, and—and—make fun of all my ideas.
Why, we were having the most fun today when you came in, and you quite spoiled it all."

"Oh, I mustn't stay. The worst of the storm's gone roared, and it's scarcely raining at all."

There was no stopping her this time. There was nothing to do but follow. "I'm coming along whether you want me or not," he declared.
"I've got two questions to ask you, and I've got to know the answer to both."
He had caught up and drawn her hand through his arm.

"Yes?" curiously. The tears had quite gone now.

"I don't want you to apply for a school next year after all. I want you to marry me and keep house for me.
I—I love you, Rebecca. I'm crazy about you. Do you—would you—I mean could you ever love me, do you think, dear? Such an old bear as I am?"

"I'll think about it," she said faintly, trying to be very matter of fact. And fortunately the kindly umbrella shielded them just then from too curious eyes.

"And the other—What's the other question, dear?" asked Rebecca after awhile when they reached the corner and stood waiting for the car.

"Oh," laughed Richard, "I forgotten. But do tell me. It's worried me to death. What goes down the chinney down and up the chimney down, but won't down the chimney up nor up the chimney up?"

"Why, an umbrella, of course!" she answered demurely.

People Who "Do Things."

The world owes most to men of initiative. They are the people who do things without having to be told. It was this spirit that made James J.
Hill the developer of our great western empire. It gave John Wanamaker visions of princely commercial enterprise. It made Edison wrest from nature her secrets and harness her laws for the good of man. And to the list names might be added indefinitely.
Among them would be those of mothers who have dared schemes to make ends meet on meager incomes. There would be men with the odds against them striving with might and main to turn calamity into success. And the surprising thing about it is they often succeeded. The everlasting plodding in the right direction gets the results.
Any man can begin fitting himself for high station by seeing what needs to be done and doing it before he is told to get busy.—Grit.

Clock Gives Sideral and Sun Time.

A clock with four dials, set small enough to be carried in the pocket, and reading simultaneously in both mean solar and sideral time, has been designed by a Danish astronomer and engineer. Two of the dials are for the two kinds of hours. The dial for minutes has two hands, one making 360 revolutions while the other makes 365.
The seconds' dial is for mean time only. Either set of hands may be adjusted to local time or that of any meridian desired. Seamen, astronomers, and geodetic surveyors will find the new timepiece particularly useful.

Derivation of "Hoodlum."

Hoodlum now means a young, rough rowdy. The term is derived from a gang of toughs in San Francisco, under the leadership of one Muldoon. They were called for the name of their leader, the syllables of whose name, out of contempt, were reversed and slightly modified. Instead of Muldoon they were called Hoodlums.

Miss Virginia Auger of Buckley, is visiting for a few days at the H. L. Dawson home and at a meeting at the school house last Thursday evening, she explained the working principals of the consolidated school system which is now in force at Buckley.

Miss Auger is also an accomplished musician and during the evening she and John Aardema sang several songs, pianist and Mr. Czerzan of Buckley City, violinist as accompanist. The result was one of the finest and most pleasant meetings held in Ellsworth in years.

GOSPEL OF BETTER FENCES

Novel "Drive" Inaugurated for Improvement of Farms, Both in Value and Appearance.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

With a view to effecting a practical improvement in the value and the appearance of the farms, a five-day "hedge-fence" campaign was recently conducted throughout the rural districts of Mississippi. This novel "drive" was joined in by local representatives of the United States department of agriculture and the state agricultural college, and other organizations and agencies. Elaborate plans for promoting the campaign were worked out in advance, including the organization in each county of committees whose duty it was to spread the gospel of better fences. The big saving to farmers resulting from better fences was pointed out, likewise the labor saved in caring for live stock to prevent overfeeding. An appeal was also made for fields and homesteads that appear well cared for.

Good as were the immediate results of the campaign, it is believed that the permanent benefits will be equally large. In that it concentrated attention on the fence question and is expected to promote greater interest in this important feature of farm improvement.

FAVOR CALVES BORN IN FALL

In Spring They Are Sufficiently Grown to Take Care of Themselves—Make Good Growth.

Calves born in the fall can be grain fed and properly cared for and when grass is ready to be pastured in the spring they are sufficiently grown to take care of themselves. They thus have an opportunity to make a good growth in the first year, which is very essential in rearing a high-producing dairy cow.

DAIRY BULLS VERY NERVOUS

Unlike Stagnant Beef Breeds They Are Active, Alert and Cannot Be Depended Upon.

Bulls belonging to the dairy breeds are usually more nervous than are the bulls belonging to the beef breeds. The latter are more sluggish. The dairy bull is active, alert and cannot be depended upon.

EAT LESS AND TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night, if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it can be eliminated without irritation, thus curing bladder disorders.

Salts in medicine, used in the water of the world, and believed in by every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flush, any time.

DAIRY

PUREBRED BULLS VS. SCRUBS

Early Rewards Clearly Indicated to Stock Raisers From Using Purebred Sires.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A few calculations in fractions indicate clearly the early rewards to the stock raiser from breeding with purebred sires instead of grade sires. The bureau of animal industry, which is sponsoring the nation-wide "better sires, better stock" campaign, calls attention to a series of diagrams issued in Wisconsin which show the progress of breeding native cows for five generations with purebred bulls, compared with five generations of breeding with grade three-fourths full-blood bulls.

After five or, in fact, any number of generations of such breeding, the calves are still less than three-quarters full blood, while if only purebred bulls are used, three-quarter bloods are produced in the second generation, and the calves of the fifth generation are thirty-one thirty-seconds full blood. The characteristics of the breed rapidly become fixed in a stock in which only purebred sires are used, while after any number of generations of breeding to three-quarter-blood sires the characteristics of scrub stock still frequently appear. A three-quarter-blood bull is much more likely to transmit unfortunate characteristics which are not visible in himself than a pure-blood bull. A single bull of this sort may undo the work of years of selection in building up a herd. The conclusion is that in grading up live stock, only purebred, sires of good quality should be used.

The Pocket Handkerchief.

The pocket handkerchief was first known as "kerchief"—con-ve-chief—a covering for the head; then it became handkerchief, a covering for the head carried in the hand, and at last pocket handkerchief, a covering for the head held in the hand and kept in the pocket.

China's Alphabet.

DRINK A GLASS OF REAL HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; this cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the insidious organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone pronounce crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

BOYNE CITY MEN IN SERIOUS TROUBLE

Charged With Breaking and Entering Garage at Night

Frank VanCamp is in the county jail and Sherman Willey is out under $500.00 bond, both being charged with breaking and entering a garage at night time. The men live at Boyne City.

The Boyne Citizen has the following to say about the crime committed:

"W. R. Earl and family returned from spending a day at Hayden Point; soon after retiring they were disturbed by hearing cars stop in front of their garage, which is located opposite the residence, 711 South Lake street.

"Mr. Earl investigated and found VanCamp sitting in his car, with a vacant car ahead of him and the garage door open. As he went in the intruder rushed out and sprang into his machine, both cars driving rapidly away. Mr. Earl found that his extra tire had been unlocked and removed from the running board of his car, while appearances suggested that other articles were to have been removed.

"Monday morning, Mr. Earl swore out a warrant for VanCamp and some other party designated as 'John Doe'. Willey was suspected of being that party and was arrested. Careful questioning of the prisoners by Prosecuting Attorney Rueggsegger, Justice Nurko and Sheriff Weaver finally procured a confession from Willey in which VanCamp was implicated. The case is expected to come up during the August term of the circuit court."

WILL MEET FRIDAY OF THIS WEEK

Charlevoix Commercial Association Regular Monthly Banquet

Large bodies sometimes move slowly—if they move at all. Last week the Courier announced the regular meeting of the Charlevoix Commercial Association for Friday night. We are not aware of the fact that those in charge had or were about to postpone the meeting for one week. The result was the meeting was announced as a coming event.

This week, however, we have been informed the meeting will be held on Friday night, at the Hotel Charlevoix. We are not in position to state definitely as to the program. Talks will be given and the supper will be worth taking in.

$5,000 MORE FOR ODEN HATCHERY

Michigan Fish Commission Appropriates This Amount for New Units.

Through action of the Michigan state fish commission at a meeting last week in Lansing the new Oden fish hatchery north of Petoskey is gaining by $5,000, that much money having been added to the appropriation for this hatchery. Four other hatcheries now under construction by the commission were given $5,000 each.

John L. A. Galster, of Petoskey, member of the commission, attended the meeting at which it was announced that the hatcheries have had unusually good luck this season in hatching the young fish, and that a survey of the lakes and streams has shown that more than the usual number of fish planted are in fine shape.

The story of "The Mollycoddle" which will be the feature production at the Palace Theatre on Saturday and Sunday, July 10th and 11th and which is the third production Douglas Fairbanks has made for the United Artists Corporation, was suggested by Harold McGrath, one of the greatest of American story writers. The character of the title role is that which conclusively proves that "blood" is thicker than water and that all the environment in the world will never change the real latent characteristics of heritization in anybody.

They called him "Mollycoddle." But no mollycoddle ever packed the wallop that he did in his sledgehammer blow. See Doug Saturday and Sunday at the Palace Theatre.

COUNTY HOLDS STATE RECORD

IN OBTAINING MEMBERS FOR STATE BUREAU

Membership Drive Now on in County and Hundreds Are Signing Application Blanks

If solicitors of The Michigan State Farm Bureau keep up the pace they have set during the first two days of the big membership drive started in Charlevoix county Monday, at least 90 per cent of those engaged in agricultural pursuits will be listed as members of the association.

The drive started Monday, certain townships to be canvassed day by day. On Monday the solicitors began work in Marion, Norwood, the west half of Eveline township and the south half of Charlevoix township, with the result that many members were signed up in the territory. Clare Thorpe, one of the solicitors, beat the state record in securing new members, while others did almost as well.

On Tuesday the drive started in Hayes, Bay and Evangeline township, and no doubt an equal number of members will be secured. It is estimated that 700 members will be secured in Charlevoix county before the drive comes to a close.

Up to the present time the Michigan State Farm Bureau has between sixty-seven and sixty-eight thousand members, all secured since last November. The membership fees is $10.00 a year, each member signing up for three years, at a total of $30.00. One-half of this amount is turned over to the county association, and the other to the state association.

In a conversation with one of the solicitors now working in the county, he made the following statement:

"The American farmer of today has better buildings and lives better, and has better roads, in fact, he enjoys about all of the improved methods of living that the city man does, but when it comes to operating his farm he does his work not very much different than he did thirty years ago, and his yield per acre on an average is not very much greater than it was thirty years ago. At the present time a man's time is worth three times as much as it was at those times, and then added to this all of these modern methods of living. It makes a farmer's operating expenses keep larger and larger from year to year, until it has got him to that point where it costs him about as much, and in lots of cases more, to operate his farm than he can get for what he raises.

"Or I might say the farmer's methods of farming and marketing his produce have not kept pace with these advanced methods of living. Agriculture has been gradually drifting to this point for a number of years.

So when it came to the great European war it just simply agreed the climax, and it just seems like just over night it has placed agriculture in the position it would be in one or two generations from now. We are finding ourselves doing the things that our children would have been doing some time in the future, in order that agriculture can be kept on a paying basis the same as other industries.

"The government got after the wool dealers for profiteering on the last year's clip, and I see they are to turn over $1,000,000 back to the wool producers as an excess profit on last year's clip. It must have been by a united effort of the National Wool Producers' associations. In order to have this done it looks as if our co-operative marketing association will soon be lined up with a state line of elevators, so that our grain will be handled through one head office the same as potatoes and then this is the work toward a national organization.

"They are laying plans for a farm bureau crop report that the farmers can depend upon, instead of as it has always seemed before that these crop reports were more for the benefit of the speculator than the farmer. We have always sold our produce at our home market for years and our market price has been made by men that figure on getting our products as cheap as possible.

"They figure on a basis that will enable several different speculators to make a profit, before they get to the consumer. The association's market price is not at home, but at the place our produce is bought in carload lots for distribution to the consumer. Our market is not at our warehouse door, but at the place it is sold at through the central exchange, so it is impossible for us to get our pay in full until sold. Our method will have a tendency to keep different markets from getting congested as speculators do some times, in order to crowd prices down just at the time farmers wish to sell.

"The farmer has got to the position where he has got to quit doing the hard work, and then let someone else get in a position to take all of his profit, for this is one of the things that has helped to make vacant farms. This big farmer's movement is going to correct some of these evils in a way that will satisfy both the producer and the consumer."

CLOSE VERY SUCCESSFUL YEAR

ANNUAL MEETING CHARLEVOIX CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION

Increase Membership from 82 to 154 in Less Than Ten Months—Directors Elected

The annual meeting of the Charlevoix Co-Operative Association was held at the warehouse in this city, Saturday, July 10, and closed the year with a most successful year's business.

The association started in with a membership of 82. This number has steadily increased until at the close of business June 30, after about ten months' operation, there are 154 members, a wonderful increase. During the ten months the association has operated, a total of $80,000 in business has been transacted.

The meeting was well attended and a large majority of its members were present. The picnic dinner was thoroughly enjoyed and old acquaintances renewed. Emmet Coulter, John Struthers and George Meggison were elected members of the board of directors for a three year term.

A motion was made and carried that the president appoint a committee of three to report the cost and make plans for an addition to the present warehouse, as the present quarters were inadequate to handle the rapidly growing volume of business. Elmer Ingalls, Walter Black and Harry Nicholls were the choice for the committee.

A motion was also carried to raise the rate for membership to $20.00, payable thirty days from date.

Another matter of considerable importance, not only to members of the association, but to all following agricultural pursuits, was to instruct the board of directors to arrange for a loading place at Phelps, also suitable quarters for the storage of potatoes. This will enable the members to market their crop at the nearest railroad station, thus avoiding the long haul to the associations warehouse at Charlevoix.

Members expressed their satisfaction as to the manner in which the affairs of the association had been conducted during the period of time in operation, and without doubt will complete another year with an increase both in business and membership.

TWELVE MILL SCHOOL TAX

THIS AMOUNT NEEDED TO MEET EXPENSES

Dr. F. H. Wilkinson and Rollie L. Lewis Elected as Members of Board of Education

The annual meeting of School District No. 1, Charlevoix city and township, was held in the high school room Monday evening and was well attended by those interested in school affairs.

Reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and approved. Each report covered in detail all transaction which occurred during the past school year, and proved beyond doubt that school affairs and expenses were being handled in an able and efficient manner.

It was found upon making up the budget, that a twelve mill school tax was necessary to meet current expenses. This is a trifle higher than in former years, but is not an extraordinary raise when one considers the greatly increased expense in the operation of any business, public or private.

Teachers have been engaged for all grades and the high school staff. The average wage paid amount to $100.00 per month. A canvass of salaries paid in cities of the same class and population as Charlevoix reveals the fact that teachers salaries in Charlevoix are about the same as in other places.

Dr. Frank H. Wilkinson was elected a member of the board to fill the unexpired term of Oluf Nordrum, resigned, and Rollie L. Lewis for a regular three year term. It will be remembered that at last year's annual meeting, Mr. Lewis was chosen to fill the unexpired term of W. E. Hampton, resigned.

The disposition of the house on the Oscar Smith property, recently purchased by the board, came up for open discussion. It was finally decided, by motion, to dispose of the house to the best advantage. Charlevoix schools, especially at the central buildings, have for years been in need of adequate playgrounds. It was decided to fit out the ground occupied by the Smith property and convert it into a suitable play ground for the smaller children.

DEATH CAME AS SHOCK TO FRIENDS

Few Realized Serious Condition of Joy Seckinger

Mrs. Joy Rifenberg Seckinger died at the hospital Monday morning, after a few weeks illness at the age of 27 years. She had been in the hospital here only a short time and her death came as a shock to her many friends.

The deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Rifenberg, who were among Charlevoix's first settlers. She was born in this city and attended the public school, making this and Ironton her home and even after her marriage four years ago and spending a part of each summer here.

Mr. Seckinger is a veteran of the World War and during the time he was in the service Mrs. Seckinger lived in the old home at Ironton and taught school near there. After Mr. Seckinger's return they went to Iowa where he had employment, and spent last winter there. Mrs. Seckinger was thought to be in the best of health until a short time before coming to this city and even then her condition was not deemed critical.

She is survived by her husband and one brother, Van Dorn, of this city and a host of friends who extend their sympathy to the bereaved ones. Among the out of town guests who attended the funeral were Mrs. J. W. Harris, aunt of the deceased and also her cousin Mrs. I. Levinton, both of Oak Park, Illinois. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon from the Episcopal church. Interment in Brookside cemetery.

Inspect Dixie Highway
W. H. Loutit of Grand Haven, Frank Hamilton, director of the Dixie Highway of Traverse City, State Highway Commissioner, F. H. Rogers of Lansing and Mr. A. Kelly, were in the city a few hours on Thursday of last week. The gentlemen were on an inspection trip over the Dixie highway. They returned to Traverse City the same evening.

There will be a dance at the Ironton Grange Hall, Friday evening, July 23. Everybody welcome.

SMITH COLLEGE TEAM ROOM OPEN

WHAT THE PEOPLE ARE SAYING ABOUT NEW VENTURE

Aunt Janie's Strawberry Tarts Have Already Become Famous—A Place for a Jolly Good Time

From present indications, the Smith College Tea Room, located at the corner of Potoskey avenue and Burns street, is making a hit among summer visitors as well as local people. Following are a few notes sent to The Courier for publication by those interested in the success of the new venture:

What "Aunt Janie" Thinks
"Aunt Janie" thinks there never were such kind people in the world as inhabit Charlevoix. Citizens and summer residents alike have united to help make the tea-room (corner Potoskey avenue and Burns street) a success. ("Aunt Janie" is the chaperone of the young Smith College girls, who are managing the tea-room, and her strawberry tarts are already becoming famous.)

Kind hands have helped make the rooms attractive. Miss Martha Wilson, of the Chicago Club, brings gifts of fruit and flowers almost daily. Mrs. Robert Stuart presented the tea-room lately with a crock of butter—a golden gift indeed these days—from "Breezy Point Farm." Others have given money, to help in expenses. With such friends success is assured.

Saturday Nights
The tea-room will be open Saturday nights hereafter, if the patronage warrants it. Sandwiches, salads, waffles (on cool nights)—a number of good things wait you there.

"Dutch Treaters"
There is in Chicago a smart little club, known as "The Dutch Treaters." All its members are society people, who rather enjoy the novelty of going to out-of-the-way restaurants, tea-shops and entertainment. At regular intervals during the winter, they dine some place together, going later to the movies or some other show, each always paying his or her own way. (The club contains both men and girls.)

Why not have a "Dutch Treat Club" in Charlevoix, pledged to take Saturday night lunch at the Smith College Tea Room? You will have good food, served by college girls, a jolly, informal time, in pleasing surroundings and you'll be helping a good cause.

What Dr. Armstrong says:
Dr. Armstrong thinks the Smith College Tea Room is the nicest place in Charlevoix, and announces himself as one of its "outside boosters." Everyone takes Dr. Armstrong's word, and it can be relied on here.

Black Oil Cloth for Sale

Have you seen the tables and benches covered with black oil cloth at the tea-room? If so, you will be glad to know that there is a little of this material available there. It is the last word in artistic materials for porch-pillows, as it can be left out in the rain without injury. The best interior decorators in Chicago, are using quantities of this now, and it is hard to get.

DIED AFTER LINGERING ILLNESS

Frank Pearl a Resident of Charlevoix Since Boyhood

Frank Pearl, aged 69 years died at the Charlevoix hospital, Sunday, after an illness covering several years. He was thought to be improving in health when a sudden change came which resulted in his death.

Deceased was born on the Manitowish islands in 1859. When but a small boy he with his parents move to Charlevoix, living here until a young man, when he removed to Mancelona and entered the grocery business. After disposing of his business in Mancelona, he returned to Charlevoix, residing here until his death.

He was married 35 years ago to Elmira Brown, who survives him. To this union seven children were born, Francis of Charlevoix, Guy of Mancelona, Glenn and Harold of Kalamazoo, Hazel and Raymond and Mrs. Bernice Hamilton, all of Charlevoix.

Funeral services were held from the Catholic church, Tuesday, interment at Brookside cemetery. Out of town relatives who attended the funeral were Mrs. J. Send and Mrs. Albert Wolfe, sister of Mrs. Pearl, also her father William Brown, all from Traverse City.

Circulation counts—We have it.

WILL HANDLE 1921 AUTO LICENSES

County Clerk Richard Lewis to Act as Local Agent

Charlevoix auto drivers will in the future have the opportunity of obtaining their 1921 automobile licenses right here at home, instead of being compelled to send to headquarters at Lansing or the branch office at Potoskey.

The local office will be in charge of County Clerk Richard Lewis at the court house, and all one will have to do is to make out the proper application blank and he will issue the license wanted. Last season it was found necessary by the secretary of state to establish branch office throughout the state, in order to take care of the thousands of licenses issued yearly, chiefly because a big majority of car owners waited until they wanted to use their cars before applying for their license. The result was that early in the spring more applications were received daily than could be cared for.

The office of the county clerk will be one of the many branch offices established in the state. At present Mr. Lewis has a thousand sets of 1921 licenses, and will start to do business as soon as the 1921 season begins.

SHERIFF AFTER TAX DODGERS

INSISTS THAT DOG LAW BE OBSERVED

People Who Have Neglected to Pay Dog Tax Are Subject to Heavy Fine—Kills Seven Dogs

Of a total number of 1,000 dogs assessed in Charlevoix county, owners of 910 have paid the state dog tax, and the remaining 90 are still on the books as unpaid. County Treasurer Emrey made the above report to Prosecuting Attorney E. A. Reuseger and Sheriff George W. Weaver on the 15th day of May, complying strictly with the new state dog law now in effect.

Early in the year Treasurer Emrey sent statement to 250 owners of dogs, notifying them regarding the law and urging them to pay, and avoid prosecution or the loss of their dog. Many took advantage of this information with result that only 90 dogs are owned in the county upon which no tax has been paid.

The new law is a strict one and makes it compulsory for the sheriff to kill all dogs in event the tax is not paid. Monday he started on a dog killing campaign near East Jordan, with the result that seven owners are without dogs. Three or four have been killed in Charlevoix.

The killing campaign will be continued until every dog whose owner has not paid the tax will be killed. It is hinted that in some cases, where owners have been repeatedly notified, that prosecution may follow besides the loss of the dog.

BREAKS LEG IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

George Metcalf Injured When He Jumps From Buggy

George Metcalf is in Charlevoix hospital suffering from a broken leg received Saturday night about 5:00 o'clock in a runaway accident.

The injured man was returning to Charlevoix and when the accident occurred was a short distance south of the Coulter farm. Apparently from no reason whatever, the horse he was driving started to run. Metcalf hung onto the lines until one of them broke, then he jumped, fracturing his left leg below the hip in two places.

He was taken to the hospital and given medical aid. His injury, however, will lay him up for some time.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The theme of the morning in the First Congregational Church will be "The Pillars of the Earth." We have been exceedingly happy to welcome numbers of our summer visitors, and we wish them to feel that this is a church with a cordial welcome for all.

Our Scouting program is demanding increasing attention. Is your boy a scout? Wouldn't it be good idea to see what the program has to offer him?

Our Mid-week Service of Study and devotion will occur on Thursday evening as usual. The hour is 7:30.

BANDIT THUGS MAKE GETAWAY

AFTER BRUTAL ASSAULT OF BOYNE FALLS MAN

O. H. Marsh Held Up and Robbed of $40.00 Dollars—Thugs Kick Prostrate Man in the Face

After an all-day chase Saturday, a bunt all Saturday night and until 4:00 Sunday morning, Sheriff Geo. W. Weaver, Deputy Sheriff Fred Coon, five members of the state constabulary, and a number of men armed with firearms of all descriptions, gave up the hunt Sunday for the three Poles who Friday night held up O. H. Marsh, seventy-four year old Boyne Falls hotel man and night operator of the G. R. & I. railroad. The hold-up took place about 10:30 Friday evening. Marsh, who conducts a hotel just north across the street from the station, had been to a grocery store for supplies. He was on his way back to the hotel when three men sprang from their hiding place, and attacked him. One grabbed him by the throat while the other searched him and relieved him of a roll of bills containing $40.00 and a Masonic watch charm.

As the bandits grabbed him, Marsh yelled and was heard by Joe Stevenson, deputy game warden, and others who lived nearby. As soon as possible the men who heard him cry out rushed to his assistance, but not before the hold-up men made their escape. Marsh was nearly unconscious when found. Besides being nearly choked to death, the thugs evidently kicked him in the face while he was lying prostrate on the ground.

Sheriff Weaver was notified, and with Fred Coon, reached the scene of the hold-up shortly after midnight. As the men had disappeared in the darkness, nothing could be done until daylight. Neighboring towns were notified to be on the lookout for the trio of bandits, and a posse formed for pursuit. Weaver with Coon and Stevenson in his car, drove towards Elmira, and shortly after daylight Saturday morning saw two men walking south on the railroad track near Towers, a railroad crossing about a half mile from Elmira. They also noticed another man about a half mile ahead of the two. As they drove up, the two men separated, each leaping over a barbed wire fence, making for the woods. Weaver made after one, while Coon and Stevenson chased the other, but they made their escape.

During the day the woods were searched by an armed posse, but the thugs managed to evade them. In an exchange of revolver shots, it is thought one of the bandits was wounded. The sheriff and his men continued the search throughout the day, but failed to drive the men from cover, and gave up the search late the following day.

Marsh's injuries, while not of a serious nature to a young man, will lay him up for several days. The bandits are thought to be members of a band thugs driven out of the larger cities. They were put off the northbound train at Boyne Falls but a few minutes before the holdup took place.

HOLD COOKING CLASSES TWO WEEKS

Local Firms Back Move to Bring Help to Housewives

Through the combined efforts of S. M. See & Sons, and local grocers, Charlevoix is one of the fortunate cities to be visited by Miss Nelson, lecturer and authority on the art of cooking. Miss Nelson will conduct a cooking class here, under the auspices of the Home Economics Department of the Corn Products Refining Co. Ample space has been contributed by S. M. See & Sons, where a complete and modern kitchen will be installed.

The course of combined lectures and demonstrations on "What to Eat," "How to Cook It," will begin on Monday, July 26, and continue through to Saturday, August 7. There will be one session each day from 2:00 to 4:30 p. m.

The lectures will cover many of the vital problems confronting housewives, bringing out interesting and valuable solutions by both scientific and practical methods. Numerous recipes used in the preparation of foods cooked in public will be given out, and the prepared dishes will be served to the audience.

Every woman in Charlevoix and vicinity can well profit by attending these lectures every day.

URIC ACID IN MEAT CLOGS THE KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you—Drink more water.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but dash your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

About 20 young people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Swartout's Saturday evening in celebration of the 16th birthday of Margaret Swartout. Games were played and pot luck lunch served which all seemed to enjoy.

An unusual amount of interest was manifested in the annual school meeting Monday night, seventeen being present. This was more satisfactory to the district board, as it is very unpleasant to be obliged to run the district without the vote of the people and then put up with fault finding because no one came to vote. Try harder next time and see how much more can be accomplished.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

By J. E. Jones

Candidates

Political Washington is really the most non-political city in the United States, and the near-up view of public men reveals their personal characteristics and tastes to residents of the Capital in a manner very similar to that by which residents of a large or small city discover the perfection or imperfection of mayors, aldermen and supervisors. The mere fact that a man is a member of one party or another gets him nowhere in Washington—but he may be a Democrat, Republican, or have a common garden variety of political ideas, and if he has the "goode on him" he will be given full credit for his abilities. In truth, Washington is alert to discover the commonplace, the unusual, the constructive, the conservative, the radical, and all other qualities that distinguish statesmanship. Under this human microscope lens there is revealed the true human qualities of the leaders in National thought. Of the nominees at the Chicago and San Francisco conventions all except Governor Coolidge have been analyzed by the capital city. And in a spirit of absolute fairness, divested of bias or prejudice it may be said that Senator Harding, Governor Cox and Franklin Roosevelt represent the highest type of manhood known to public service. Governor Coolidge has not figured in the Washington situation, and judgment concerning him must be based upon his record in New England.

Crops and Transportation

The department of agriculture predicts a somewhat smaller yield of the principal grains than last year, yet they exceed the figures of normal years. Considering the great shortage of railroad equipment and facilities resulting from conditions created by the war, and with a disturbed labor situation following a period of strike that has slowed up the movement of traffic generally and caused a loss of transportation capacity, the question arises as to how the railroads of the country can continue to handle the almost unprecedented volume of traffic, and then cope with the further difficulty of moving a crop of large proportions at a time when a large part of the enormous 1919 crop has not yet been moved to its ultimate destination. Some of the more prosperous railroads have been able to finance orders for equipment amounting to about $144,000,000, but most of the roads have been obliged to await distribution of a $300,000,000 loan fund placed by the transportation act at the disposal of the Interstate Commerce Commission. While some of the cars already ordered will be available for this season's crops, and plane have been made for rebuilding 12,000 cars and locomotives, yet this addition to the rolling stock will nowhere meet the added demands that will be placed upon the railroads. Last year empty grain cars were stored throughout the west awaiting the early grain movement, but this year, when the demand for box cars has continually exceeded the supply, it has been necessary, in order to get the cars in the west for grain, to take them away from eastern roads and eastern shippers. This has been accomplished by means of car relocation orders issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Commission of Car Service, directing the movement of specific numbers of empty cars, frequently in solid trains to specific western lines, regardless of the local demand for cars. This has had the effect of increasing the shortage of box cars in the east but has been regarded as justified in view of the nationwide interest in the movement of vital food crops as well as by the fact that the cars ordered went belong to the western lines. During Federal control the cars were pooled regardless of ownership with the result that when the railroads were returned they were scattered helter-skelter. Eastern coal cars were in the east and western grain cars were in the east, and because of the preponderance of east-bound traffic the greater proportion of the cars were in the east, and extraordinary efforts were required to move them westward particularly as the demand for cars for local movement was confined principally to the east. The relocation orders will diminish the supply of box cars for local movements in eastern territories, but the efforts that are being made are in the hopes that waste of transportation will be reduced to the minimum. Many western communities are fully alive to the difficulties of the situation.

Charlevoix, Like Every City and Town in the Union, Receives It

People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the tortures of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve, but do not cure. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results to thousands. Here is Charlevoix evidence of their merit.

Mrs. R. M. Mekeel, 214 Mason St., Charlevoix, says: "I had kidney weakness. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they greatly benefited me." (Statement given October 26, 1911.) You Control The Michigan State Telephone Company

Your telephone is operated by a company, organized and controlled under the laws of the State of Michigan.

So far as its rates are concerned, it is directly subject to the decisions and direction of the Michigan Public Utilities Commission.

You, through this commission, actually control the telephone service which is so intimately a part of your every day life. Its future success or failure is directly in your hands, because the commission must have your moral backing if it is to deal fairly with the telephone company in the matter of revenues. Sufficient and adequate revenues are absolutely vital to the very existence and the development of the utility. Without them the telephone cannot properly function in the industrial and social advancement of the State.

The close association of your telephone company with the Bell system of America gives you the advantages of a service which is world-wide in its scope. By means of this service, you can, at your will, talk to any one of 13,000,000 telephones in use throughout the United States today.

It gives your telephone company, too, the advantages of the scientific research of the greatest telephone engineers in the world. This research has developed the telephone art in the United States until today it is by far the most efficient in the world. It is daily developing new improvements which will do much to make your service better.

The officers of your telephone company, who are directing its affairs, are Michigan business men, keenly alive to the many problems incident to the development of the State.

And so it is throughout the entire personnel of our company. It is made up of men and women, actuated by no other desire than to do their jobs well and to deserve this great responsibility of giving to the people of Michigan the kind of telephone service they desire.

What Wonderful Laundry Work!

Thor Electric Washing Machine

The good judgment of every Thor purchaser is endorsed by 500,000 other American women. Their one object has been to select the electric washing machine which will do its work most thoroughly, quickly and economically. They do the average size washing in one hour, at a cost of 3 cents. They are unanimous in their satisfaction.

Particular Women hand-laundry the delicate garments they will not trust to the washboard. Dip—squeeze—dip—squeeze—gently, insistently cleansing without strain or wear.

The Thor washes everything in just this way.

Round and round turns the cylinder. Round, round and round—then reverse. Drop, drop, drop, fall the clothes. Up out of the swirling suds—splash back again, coaxing out the dirt from dainty pieces or heavy blankets.

Out through the holes of the revolving, reversing cylinder sifts the sediment, which settles on the tub bottom. It does not remix with the washing water, nor flush back through the clothes. Thus washing is done in a constant flow of clean, active water.

Since the very beginning of electric washing history, the Thor has been the leader. The vast resources, experience and mechanical genius of the Hurley Machine Company have been concentrated on two things: To keep the Thor secure in its rightful position, through superior performance; to manufacture enough Thors to supply the growing demand.

No matter where you live, we would be pleased to demonstrate the THOR in your home and explain the plan of easy payments by which the THOR will positively pay for itself.

tion and are working hand in hand with the railroad officials in an effort to assist in the solution of the problem, realizing that it is affecting not only the farmers, the railroads and consumers but all business interests as well. Under present conditions it is not to be expected that the railroads can provide sufficiently prompt movement to do away with the necessity of local storage at the point of production.

"Save the Grain"

In Oklahoma, a big "Save the Grain" campaign is being conducted in which bankers, merchants and managers of industries are cooperating to improve and extend storage facilities in order that a large part of the grain that cannot be shipped out at once may be prevented from spoiling. The campaign is being conducted under the direction of a state manager, with committees in each county. The State Board of Agriculture is also participating and has advised all grain farmers to build or arrange for a suitable storage for part of the wheat crop instead of hoping to market it by throwing upon the railroads in brief time more of a burden than it will be possible to handle. Stacking a part of the wheat is advised if possible, as well as bin storage for as much of the crop as can be accommodated in that way.

What Should Capital Earn?

The problem of a fair return on capital daily comes up in the lives of people who place their money in the savings banks, buy mortgages, bonds, or invest in stocks. A financier relates that "a high-grade electrical utility sold its five per cent bonds in November 1, 1916, to yield the investor 4.90 per cent, while in May, 1920, it sold a similar six per cent bond to yield the investor 7.03 per cent." The supreme court of the United States in a decision last year, observed that "it is a matter of common knowledge that, owing principally to the world war, the costs of labor and supplies of every kind have greatly advanced and it is (Continued on Page six)

He does if given a square deal. Don't wait till you die, don't wait until your boy is twenty-one before giving him a start.

HARDING — EDITOR, PRINTER, PRESSMAN, PUBLISHER AND AD SOLICITOR

Warren G. Harding will be the first newspaper man to achieve the Presidency—what is the use of assuming any possibility of defeat to such a man of destiny as the one who took a nomination from such a set of adverse circumstances as those prevailing at the Chicago convention?
There have been generals, lawyers, farmers, college professors and what not—but never an editor in all the long line. Yet it must be admitted that journalists in general have had more to do with the formulation of that public sentiment which lies at the basis of our government than any other one group. Is it not fitting that finally a newspaper man should be President of the United States?

Senator Harding is, moreover, a real and not a theoretical newspaper man. As a young man with little previous experience except as a country school teacher, he took over a broken down paper in his home town of Marion, O., and by years of hard work built it into one of the strong publications of his part of the country, and wielded through it a state-wide influence, resulting finally in his election to the lieutenant governorship of his state and to a United States senatorship.

As a publisher and editor, Mr.
Harding not only wrote the editorials and news matter for his paper but solicited the "ads" and looked after all the details of the business and mechanical end of the publication.
He learned to set type and to make up the forms, and today when he returns to Marion likes to take off his coat, go into the composing room, and turn a hand with his fellow printers.
When he entered public life, Mr.
Harding reorganized his paper on a cooperative basis. Stock was distributed free to employees of the paper, including the mechanical force.

Mr. Harding has never forgotten the merchant who gave him first advertisement, thus giving him a start on his business career. At the Chicago convention of 1916 he showed great anxiety to meet and greet this man, who had removed to a distant state. And this suggests that the human side of Harding is destined to cut considerable figure in the present campaign. People like the picture of this Ohio man of the people, this friendly neighbor and hard working business man, circulating about among the merchants of his town soliciting business, or working in shirt sleeves with the printers in his office as one of the boys. Warren G. Harding is a regular fellow. The people are tired of stuffed shirt statesmen posing on a pedestal and knowing no more what is going on in the every day man's mind than the every day man knows of Sanskrit. Warren G.
Harding, because he is human to the core, is eager to be an enthusiasm-arousing candidate and a President loved by the people as only Mc-Kinley was.

It is really amusing to read the promises of revolutionary reform made to the people by a political party which got into power on just such promises in 1912 and 1916, had complete control of the government for six years and the chance to do anything it liked, did nothing it pledged itself to do and now proclaims that there is still so much to promise.

Samuel Gompers, the well-known Democratic leader, says that the Republicans failed to promise labor much. It does seem strange that after Mr. Gompers and his fellow Democrats had complete control of the government for six years, there is so much left to promise labor.

They changed a familiar hymn at San Francisco and opened the convention with the following: "All hail the power of Wilson's name, Democrats pros-trate fall; bring forth the royal diadem and crown him boss of all."

The politicians in Paris and London, in contemplating what President Wilson put over abroad, feel about like the professors in the University of Copenhagen after they had examined Doctor Cook's polar proofs.

Well, you will have to admit that there is one job on which the administrations grand army of place holders doesn't loaf, and that is in rouding up and rope-tying a Democratic national convention.

Four years ago the Democratic slogan was "He kept us out of war."
This time all the federal placeholders convention of San Francisco had in mind was "He keeps us in our jobs."

The Democratic national convention sent a message of thanks to Mrs.
Wilson for her devotion to President Wilson. But why was Admiral Doe
Grayson overlooked?

Probably the Democratic papers which declare that the Republican presidential candidate is "colorless," are right. White isn't a color and yellow is.

Henry Ford says there is such a thing as carrying thrift too far.
Yes, that's when a fellow gets so stingy that he thinks he can't afford a Ford.

Colonel Byran is no longer called the peerless leader, but he came away from the San Francisco convention cheerless as well as beerless.

The presidential candidate can address an audience of one hundred and ten millions from his front porch.
Therefore why leave it?

Political Announcement
I hereby announce that I am a candidate for nomination on the Republican ticket at the August Primary to the office of Representative to the State Legislature. Asking your support I am
Your truly,
Ernest A. Robinson

Jump from Bed in Morning and Drink Hot Water

Tells why everyone should drink hot water each morning before breakfast.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried, some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, ruddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons, which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the insula organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweeten-ing and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.

See Truth in Christian Science. A telegraph dispatch from London, England, under date of June 12, says: "American bishops attending the Lambeth conference of the Episcopalian church occupied pulpits in many London churches yesterday."

"The right Rev. William Crane Gray, bishop of South Florida, who preached at Chelsea, spoke despairingly of the work of the conference. He declared that nearly 300 bishops who were 'trying to deal with the world's problems felt they were inadequate for the job,' and added 'the world apparently is thinking the same.'"

"Dr. Gray said he felt the Episcopal church should meet Christian Scientists and 'extract the truth from their doctrines for there is much truth in it.'" operative basis and co-ordinate their activities for efficiency, elimination of superfluous handling of commodities and of speculation is extending rapidly over the country. It is particularly vigorous in the middle-western territory.

Michigan and Illinois have made rapid strides along this line of state exchanges having been set up in both states. The Michigan exchange at the present time has memberships of 43 co-operative elevators affiliated, and by autumn the expectation is that there will be 100.

It is not proposed to operate through terminal elevators but to establish the local elevators so strongly that they may be in a position to carry their proportion of grain from the period of marketing to the period of consumption, eliminating the need of speculative capital, and then through a central brokerage agency or exchange, shipments may be made by the shortest and least expensive route from point of production to point of consumption, thereby excluding all non-essential handling.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly are lost by farmers through errors in telegraphic transmission of prices.

Because of this fact, the Michigan State Farm Bureau will co-operate in the movement of shippers and business men to obtain a new telegraphic message classification, which would make telegraph companies liable for the full and actual loss, damage or injury, caused by failure to transmit messages properly and accurately. A hearing on this subject will be held at New York on July 26, when representatives of the Michigan Farm Bureau, Chicago Board of Trade, National Traffic League, and others interested will be heard.

An example of how vitally a new method is needed is the case of a large fruit shipper in southern Michigan. He quoted grapes extensively over the middle west by telegraph at 13c per pound in carload lots. Only one message went through at 13c. All of the other messages went through at 18c. Thousands of dollars were lost to this shipper as his competitor was able, as a result of this error, to dispose of his stock at 15c.

A graduated insurance system on messages is what is desired, similar to rules governing insurance of express shipments, that is, shippers desiring protection against error in a telegraphic message would have the privilege of setting a value on that message and pay a rate based upon the amount of liability they desire telegraph companies to assume.

Patrol of the fruit districts of the state by the Michigan State police, which last year was successful in saving thousands of dollars for the farmers in the state, has begun again this year. These men have been instrumental in checking depredations of motorists and excursionists from cities, which in the past years have been particularly destructive in orchard counties along the southern end of Lake Michigan and north and east of Detroit.

Under direction of H. H. Halliday, of the State Live Stock Sanitary Commission, several of the troopers are engaged in checking up unlicensed dogs in the state, and compelling owners to prevent them from running wild. There has been annually a big loss in sheep and lambs through marauding dogs.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

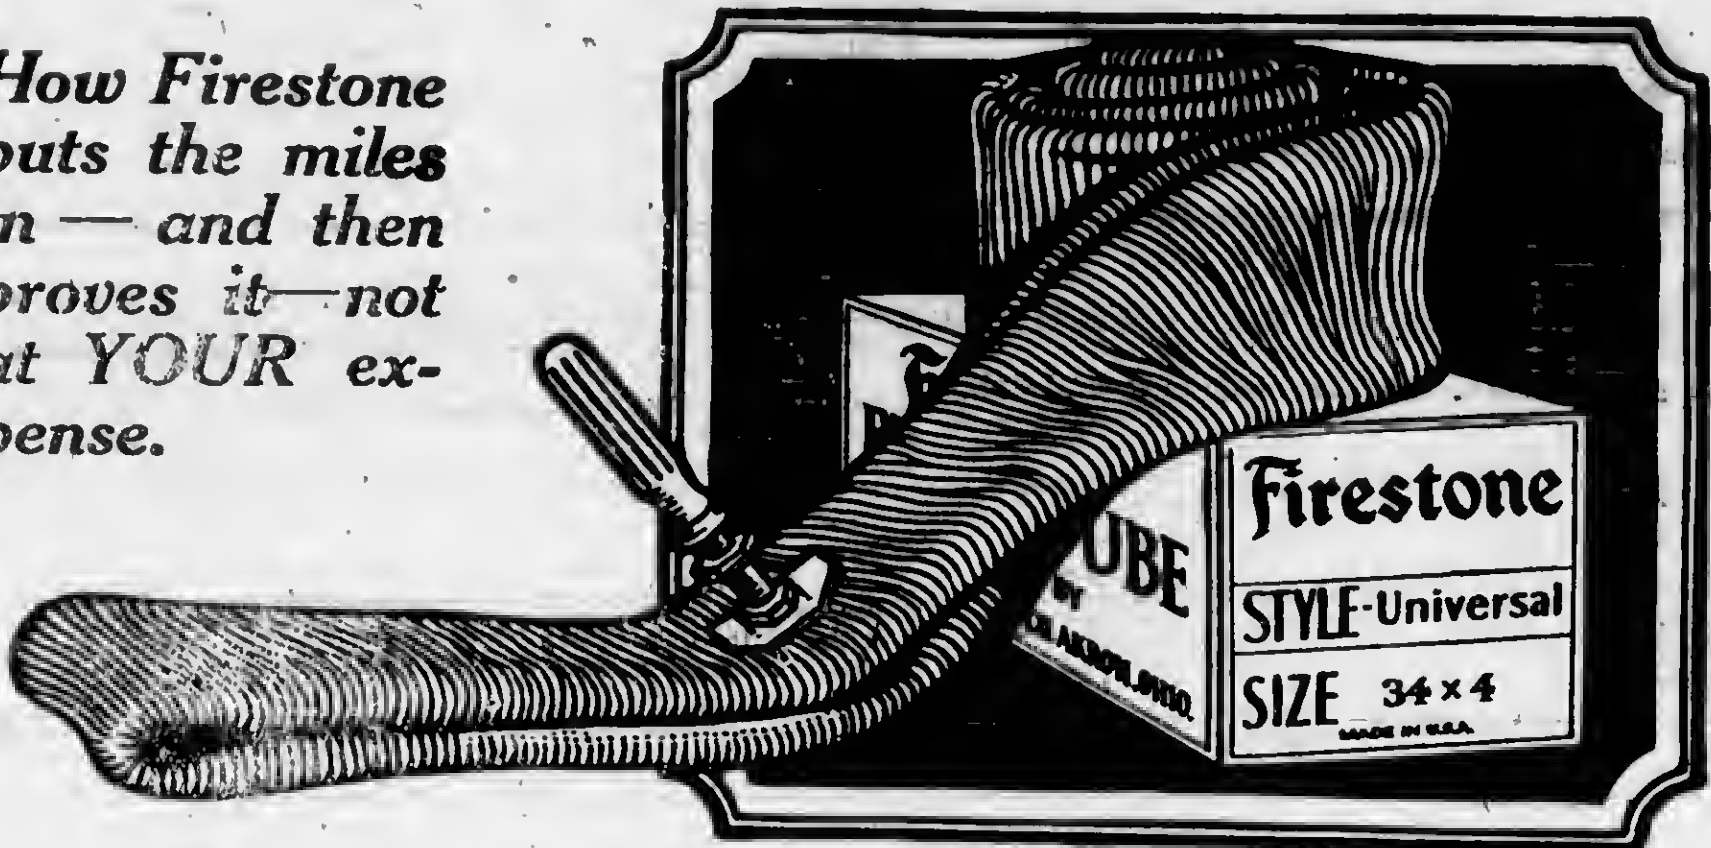

It's Grandmother's Recipe to keep her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is again a mother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustrous and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

A big-scale road test on 3,200 tubes

How Firestone puts the miles in — and then proves it — not at YOUR expense.

No other tubes in the world are road tested on so big a scale as Firestones. The Yellow Cab Company of Chicago uses Firestone Tubes exclusively on its 800 taxi cabs. The service of these tubes is checked constantly — improvements and developments are arrived at.

By close watching of a large number of tubes in service — not confined to isolated instances, the conclusions are accurate and definite.

Firestone puts the best in materials into tubes by establishing purchasing experts at Singapore, center of the world's rubber market. Firestone puts the best in workmanship into tubes by organizing the crack manufacturing organization of the industry on a profit-sharing basis.

And then subjects the finished product to this big-scale road test — in order to get you more for your tube money and more miles out of your tires. And yet Firestone Tubes cost no more than the ordinary kind.

Firestone Tubes

Where Hearst and Hoover Agree
In Washington one of the daily newspapers is owned by William Randolph Hearst and another is largely owned by Herbert Hoover. The price of each paper to the public has been increased, and Mr. Hearst's two-cent Sunday Times is now five cents, while Mr. Hoover's one-cent Daily Herald is two cents. Thus it appears that in the newspaper business these gentlemen are agreed that the cost of living has gone up in the paper line, by stages of 100 per cent.

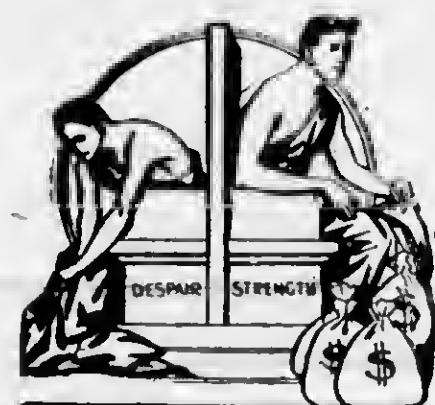

The Filipinos and the Irish
There is a lot of noise about the freedom of Ireland floating about Washington, but occasionally someone is attracted to the responsibility that rests with America concerning its own Philippines pledges. And that is always more interesting than Great Britain's affairs. Here is what one writer, former Congressman Clyde H. Tavenner, says about the progress of the Filipino cause: "There is nothing more certain today than that the Filipinos are slowly but surely winning American public opinion. And they are doing it, not by loud threats or with charges of bad faith against America, but their tact and diplomacy."

Postmaster General Burleson has ruled that all employees in the postal department on reaching the retirement age of sixty-five years shall be automatically retired or separated from the service. Congress wrote into the new law that if such men desire to remain in service and their chiefs certify that they are doing efficient work, they may be retained on the pay roll. Burleson would precipitately fire everyone who has reached the age of sixty-five.

Miss Keane a Striking Personality

Lloyd Yettaw writes from Camp Pike, Arkansas, where he is attached to the Medical Department of the U. S. army, of a physical test in which he recently took part. Among other things was scaling a four-foot fence, going through barbed wire entanglements, a twelve foot leap from an embankment, running a thirty-foot plank walk, all this to be done in thirty seconds.

Word was received on Saturday of last week by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith of a serious injury to their son, Glen, of East Jordan, which will probably put him on the shelf for some time. Glen is a brakeman on the E. J. & S. Ry., and in some way his foot was caught and the heel almost completely severed. Just how it happened and how serious the injury is not known here as yet.

John Aardema suffered a painful injury on Saturday of last week when he was kicked by a horse on the George Heller farm, north of town, where he was working. It was thought at first that Mr. Aardema had several broken ribs and it is still possible that such is the case. He was able to resume work the first of the week, but will be sore and lame for some time.

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING, MONDAY

Donald Patterson Elected President of School Board

Monday, July 12th, was the annual school meeting and Donald Patterson, whose term as president of the board of education expired, was re-elected to succeed himself.

A tax of $4,000 was voted for expenses during the coming year. On account of District No. 6, talking some of sending their children to No. 9, for the coming year, the matter was put to a vote and it was decided that in case they should so decide, extra seats would be put in and the children accepted. In case No. 6 decided to hold their own school, it was voted not to accept any scholars below the eighth grade, as to do so would necessitate a considerable expense to prevent crowding.

Something Almost as Good. My niece, being an only child, wanted a baby brother. Two of her playmates had baby brothers. About three weeks ago a boy cousin of hers was born. After visiting her playmate Mildred's new brother, she came home and told her brother about it, saying, "Mildred has a new baby brother, and Mildred said to me you haven't a baby brother and I said I have, too; I have a new cousin brother, haven't I, mother?"—Chicago Tribune.

Morality the Object.

The end of all political struggle is to establish morally as the basis of all legislation. "It is not free institutions, 'tis not a democracy that is the end—no, but only the means. Morality is the object of government. We want a state of things in which crime will not pay; a state of things which allows every man the largest liberty compatible with the liberty of every other man."—Ridgeway.

MERRY GARDENS TO AWARD LOVING CUP

Contest to Begin on Saturday, July Seventeenth

The Merry gardens is fulfilling its promise to give Charlevoix what it has lacked in the line of amusements in previous summers. A dance contest in which many couples will compete will be held on the next four Saturday nights. The first preliminary will take place Saturday, July 17, the second preliminary July 24, the third, July 31 and the final contest August 7.

A large beautiful silver loving cup will be presented to the couple who receives first place. The cup will be on display in the windows of the Charlevoix Hardware Co.

The second prize is ten dollars in gold and the third a large electric doll. Five other prizes are to be distributed so that the first eight couples will receive awards.

Everyone is eligible to enter the contest, for which no fee is to be charged. All those who dance are urged to compete as people who are least expected to come out on top are often returned the winners. It is hoped that there will be numerous participants as a large number of people will attend to witness the contest.

The management of the Merry Gardens has been very fortunate in securing as judges some of our most prominent citizens in whose decisions we have the utmost confidence. The judges are: Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridge, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Ross, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Loomis.

The contest will be conducted as follows: In the course of the evening an hour will be set aside from the customary dancing during which time all those who desire to enter the contest will remain on the dance floor. The orchestra will play for a definite period the judges in the meantime distributing tickets to best thirty couples or so. The music then stops and those having received tickets resume dancing while the others leave the floor and by the process of elimination seven couples will be chosen in each preliminary to compete in the finals. A couple having been placed among the first seven in any one preliminary is not to compete again until the finals so that after the third preliminary there will be twenty-one contestants to compete for the prizes. Those who do not make a place in the first preliminary may compete in the subsequent preliminaries so that more than one chance is afforded to the dancers who enter early. Any questions will be gladly answered at the Merry Gardens on the regular dance nights, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. No advance in prices will be made on these nights, the admission price remaining at twenty cents. Spectators are also invited.

The Greenwich Orchestra which has created a sensation since its arrival will furnish the music. The Schwartz brothers, Mark and Harold, will perform part of their musical act as an additional feature on contest nights.

A suggestion box will be placed in the Merry Gardens and any suggestion will be carefully considered and put into operation if deemed advisable.

BUSINESS MAN IN RACE FOR GOVERNOR

Promises Economically Conducted Administration if Elected

With the entry of C. S. Mott of Flint, into the race for the Republican nomination at the primaries, a new personality is injected into the political equation of this state. By comparison with the seven seasoned campaigners already announced, the new candidate is relatively unknown to the voters except in his own city, where he has been three times elected mayor, the only man in the history of the city to be chosen for three terms. However, Mr. Mott is well known in business and industry, and his supporters are counting on his reputation in those lines to rally to his support the army of voters who want to see the state administration conducted as economically and expeditiously as the best managed private enterprise.

Charles S. Mott came to Michigan in 1907 from Utica, N. Y., bringing with him the Weston Mott Company, which soon developed into the leading manufacturer of automobile axles. Five years later, on being elected mayor of Flint, he retired from active management to devote all his time to public affairs. He is president of the largest Flint bank, and a director of the General Motors Company. His hobby is agriculture, with special emphasis on thoroughbred Holsteins and O. I. C. hogs.

During the war the United States government lifted Mott out of the mayor's chair and installed him as chief officer in the motors production branch at Detroit, with the title of Major. That was his second war experience, the first being in 1898 when he went to sea on the U. S. S. Yankee, winning promotion to chief gunner's mate. He belongs to both the Spanish War veterans and the American Legion.

Merry Gardens Move

The "Merry Gardens," formerly conducted at Roller skating rink, have changed their location and will from now on hold their three times a week dancing parties in the Bank Hall, third story of the Charlevoix County Bank building. The orchestra is a fine one and will be appreciated by those who love to dance to good music.

INTERESTING BITS OF IN- FORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

During the war, the state purchased some tractors to sell to the farmers at cost $750 and it still has two of them unsold, and is offered only $250. To get them started, it may be necessary to mark them down to $749.99, and throw in a farm hand.

A couple of Detroit aviators have been compelled to pay a fine of $10 in Ypsilanti because when they were forced to land in a clover field; the natives, led by curiosity, flocked out to see them and trampled down the clover. By mounting machine guns on the planes and training them on the crowds for a few minutes, aviators could usually avoid the payment of such small fines as this—Detroit News.

That profiteers have hoarded sugar for several years in order to force the price upward and that there will be plenty of sugar next year, are two facts gathered from an interview with Ross Handy, a former Charlotte boy who has been superintendent of sugar "centrals" in the West Indies for the past few years. He stated before leaving the city that there never was as much sugar manufactured as there was last year and that when he left San Domingo he saw sugar in the company's warehouses there that he had manufactured three years before.

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens
So Naturally that Nobody can Tell.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied. Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

FARMERS SEEK A SQUARE DEAL

OUTLINE OF OBJECT OF MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

Marion and Norwood Township Seed Representative Farmer Delegates to Farm Bureau Meeting

It seems quite likely that the effort to sign up eight hundred new members of the Michigan Farm Bureau during the drive now on in Charlevoix county will be successful, at least judging from the number obtained during the first few days of the drive.

The big drive started on Monday last week and during the first three days, members were signed up as follows:

Marion 103, Norwood 43, west half of Eveline 33, Hayes 76. The drive is being continued in the eastern and southern part of the county with like success.

At the organization meetings held in Marion and Norwood townships last Tuesday evening, the following men were chosen as officers and delegates: Marion township, Will Shapton, president; W. R. Shaw, vice president and Jay Adams, secretary-treasurer. Delegates to the county bureau, Elmer Ingalls, William Withers, R. V. Otto and William Burns.

Norwood township: Orton Vandusen, president; Joseph Clark, vice president, H. A. Stafford, secretary and Norman Wells, treasurer. Delegates, Robert W. Paddock, James Heeres. These men attended the meeting of the county bureau held in Boyne City Tuesday evening to perfect the county organization, a report of which we hope to publish later.

The objects of the association are: To get better marketing and transportation facilities for farmers and help solve the problems of distribution.

To assist in promotion and establishing of better rural educational methods and facilities.

In a political way, to deal with measures and policies rather than men, insisting on a legislative "square deal" for the farmers.

To assist the farmer to pay a wage that will get him competent help and still retain cost of production plus a reasonable profit.

To strive, not merely for greater production, but for more economical production.

At the rate of 2000 a week, these Michigan farmers are joining this organization—the Michigan State Farm Bureau—counterparts of which are being formed in virtually every other state in the union.

The reason for his hearty response is simple. It is merely because big business and labor have elaborately illustrated that the benefits to be derived from a powerful organization are not to be estimated. There are two outstanding phases of the psychology that is prompting this response of the farmers to the farm bureau movement. All of them are primarily expecting that unity among themselves is going to produce extension economical benefits and rewards for themselves; the more progressive and thoughtful however, are not essentially selfish in their expectations, but believe that this organization, extending from coast to coast and from gulf to Great Lakes composed of millions of members, will soon be in a position to permit the farmers of the county to assert themselves vigorously as the balance of power in the turbulent economic world of today. When this massive creation of theirs is completed, they believe it will be able to force capital and labor to cease cut-throat tactics and work in harmony.

The first, and perhaps the most vital, problem that will be the concern of the Michigan Farm Bureau, after its organization is complete, is that of the marketing and distribution of farm products. It is not intended that higher prices for these products is to be the sole result. It is desired that the distributing system may be so revised that these farm products may come into the cities more easily and more cheaply, thus enabling the farmer to share with the consumer profits that now go into other pockets.

The organization is built around the county agricultural agent system that has the financial and moral support of both the United States department of agriculture and the state government, a guarantee that there is no rash radicalism attached to it.

Circulation counts—we have it.

REV. J. P. SANDERSON DIES SUDDENLY

Well Known Church Worker Beloved By All Who Knew Him

The many friends of Rev. J. P. Sanderson will be shocked to hear of his sudden death at his home in Chicago, July 11, of heart trouble.

Mr. Sanderson was known very widely throughout the state as secretary of the Congregational Home Missionary Society, an office which brought him in close contact with the churches in the small towns and country communities throughout the state.

Mr. Sanderson was also at one time a member of the State Board of Corrections and Charities.

The people of this community had come to regard Mr. Sanderson as one of their fellow citizens, for he had come with his family to Sweet Briar Farm at Ironton for nearly a quarter of a century for his summer vacations. Although his work as field secretary of the Congregational Building Society had of late years kept him busy in almost every state in the union outside of Michigan, he always came back to Ironton for at least a brief stay among his old friends.

He was a man whom everyone loved and respected and he will be greatly missed in our own community as well as in the state and in the large national work to which he had given his life.

4,000 MILES OF FINE BOULEVARD

Sounds Improbable, But Nevertheless It Will Be Accomplished

The Jacksonville, Fla., Times-Union, in its issue of July 14, says: "The movement to complete the Dixie highway from Michigan to Miami, making it a fine boulevard over both routes for a distance of practically 4,000 miles, is one that deserves support. It will mean much to Florida as it will bring many additional thousands of automobiles to this state every year."

Michigan will be benefitted in the same manner, along with every state through which the highway passes. This is another one of "uncle" George H. VanPelt's hobbies. At the age of 78 years, he has undertaken the job of putting this project through, and it is dollars to doughnuts he will succeed. It may take him 28 years to do it, but even at that he will still be an active young man. If riding a hobby has a tendency to retain our youth, we suggest that more of our young men buckle to it.

ORIGINAL UNCLE TOM'S CABIN CO.

Will Give One Performance in Charlevoix, July 23rd

W. T. Harvall's original "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company will give one performance in Charlevoix on Friday, July 23, starting at 8:15 o'clock in their big tent, which seats over 2000 people. Never was there a more lavish and adequate production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" as that given by the Wm. T. Harvall's company. The scenes which are large enough to fill the most spacious stage could not be easily improved. Those representing the Ohio river in winter, the rocky pass in which George Harris protects his family, the St. Claire plantation, the levee at New Orleans, the cotton fields in full bloom and the gorgeous transformation, "The Celestial City," are all most notable effects. Each picture the reality as closely as paint and canvas will permit, and the stage perspective is so big that the effect is exceptionally pleasing.

The company numbers nearly fifty people. Big military band and concert orchestra requiring a special train of motor cars, trucks and trailers to transport from town to town.

PACKARD RUNS INTO ROUND LAKE

Had Been Left Parked in Street Near Lakeside Pavilion

Saturday night about eleven o'clock, a large Packard touring car owned by J. Freund, and driven by Kenneth Dowden, which had been left parked in the street near the Lakeside Pavilion, ran into Round Lake after someone, it is thought, loosened the brakes.

A dance was in progress at the pavilion, and it is thought someone entered the car and loosened the breaks, allowing the car to run into the lake.

The car was recovered after some difficulty, uninjured other than a bent fender and thoroughly soaked engine.

ACTION NOW IS A NECESSITY

HOUSING FACILITIES MUST BE PROVIDED

For Steadily Increasing Resort Business—Steps Taken By Commercial Association

The reputation of our town as a beautiful resort, wonderful endowed by nature, has gone out over the entire country and even to the uttermost parts of the world.

This has had the effect of drawing thousands to our city during the summer months when nature combined with the climatic conditions make even the quiet hours of the night restful as well as healthful in a marked degree.

Other thousands desire to come, but unfortunately cannot be accommodated for want of adequate hotel facilities.

It may be truthfully said that while the progressive people of Charlevoix have seen the possibilities of the city and the great opportunities right at their door, no organized effort has yet been made to take advantage of these looking to an increase in the business of the city, its ability to take care of all who desire to abide with us for even a limited time, the enlargement as well as the enrichment of our people, and the promotion of enterprises that will interest, afford opportunities for, and retain to us our young people the year around.

The awakening of Charlevoix is at hand. This was evidenced Monday evening last when the Commercial Association, after thoroughly considering the question, decided unanimously that the time for action was an immediate necessity.

The committee which had been appointed previously to investigate the matter, after a thorough and complete study, invited Mr. W. J. Tomkins, president of the American Industrial Bureau of Chicago, to consult with them on the question of the establishment of a new fire-proof hotel at Charlevoix and to assist in bringing to our city new enterprises that might give employment the year round to our people, and to promote and crystallize sentiment for civic movements looking to the betterment of our city and its people, including the resorters.

The evidence is at hand that the movement is going to meet with instant approval and obtain the hearty support of all. So enlist in the Booster's Club and do your utmost as a good loyal citizen to promote the best interests of the city.

More will be said later as to details. Suggestions are invited and requested as to any plan or movement that might be made effective to realize the hope for a Bigger, Better Charlevoix.

CANDIDATES TO SUCCEED SELVES

County Clerk Richard Lewis and Judge of Probate S. A. Correll

Announcements are made in this issue of the Courier by Servetus A. Correll, at present judge of probate, and Richard Lewis, county clerk, as candidates at the August primary, for re-nomination, both having served in their official capacity during previous terms of office.

Both of these gentlemen need no introduction to our readers. Both have previously appeared in the political limelight, Judge Correll having been elected as judge of probate for a second term four years ago, and Clerk Lewis to succeed himself two years ago.

Few counties in Michigan have been more fortunate in securing better qualified men for these particular offices than Charlevoix. Both have rendered services of the very highest quality. Putting it plainer, both have been "on the job" at all times, with the result that has been more than pleasing to those who, by their vote, placed them there.

Special Notice

Regular meetings of the American Legion will be suspended until September. Special meeting will be called on occasion requires. All ex-service men are requested to be out in uniform, Friday morning, at 9:30 to attend the funeral of our late comrade Bert Earl.

LEGION HANDLES VICTORY MEDALS

LOCAL POST TO DISTRIBUTE GOVERNMENT BADGES

Medals Will Be Distributed on Armistice Day, November 11, With Appropriate Ceremonies

Charlevoix American Legion, in common with Legion posts throughout the country, will be the agency through which Victory medals, issued by the war department, will be distributed to ex-service men. The medals will be distributed on Armistice Day, November 11, with appropriate ceremonies.

The local Post has received the following bulletin from national headquarters of the Legion outlining plans for nationwide distribution of the medals:

"Under arrangements just completed with the war department, the American Legion becomes the instrument for distribution of the Victory Medals which the government is presenting to every American soldier, sailor, marine, field clerk or nurse who served honorably for any period between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918.

"The presentation will take place on Armistice Day in a series of simultaneous ceremonies to be held under Legion auspices throughout the world, making possible a celebration destined to eclipse anything of the kind ever before attempted in the United States.

"It is planned that not only members of the Legion but all ex-service persons and the next of kin of those who died or lost their lives in battle, will join their comrades and their countrymen in a united tribute to the spirit of America and the anniversary of the day in 1918 which marked that spirit's supreme achievement.

"Briefly, the tentative plans contemplate that commanders of Legion posts will procure a supply of application blanks, which detailed instructions for filling them out, from the nearest army post or recruiting station. Posts then will provide facilities for having the application blanks typewritten, certified by a notary public or an officer of the regular military establishment, and forwarded to the war department. Persons who are to receive the medals will be asked to give the delivery address as in care of the commander of the nearest Legion post, who will take charge of all such medals forwarded and arrange for appropriate distribution on Armistice Day. Individuals who receive medals direct from the government will be asked to place them in the custody of the post commander and participate with the Legionnaires at the presentation ceremonies. The functions will be a community and nature details will be left to local committees composed of legionnaires, public officials, business men and representatives of patriotic and civic organizations."

BANDIT SUSPECTS ARE PICKED UP

Men Thought to Be Connected With Boyne Falls Hold-Up

Two men suspected of being connected with the beating, choking and robbing of O. H. Marsh, Boyne Falls hotel proprietor, a week ago tonight, were lodged in the county jail at Charlevoix last Friday evening.

This State police have been diligently patrolling the territory for miles around the Falls since having been summoned, and Wednesday, in response to a telephone call, arrested the first suspect near Gaylord, a man who gave his name Mike Germane. He is a foreigner, but 'tho it was discovered that he could speak English, he positively refused to discuss the matter in hand; or to give an account of himself. He has been identified by several persons as one of the suspects of the crime.

The man was taken to Boyne Falls Thursday morning and sheriff Weaver notified. The Sheriff, accompanied by Under-sheriff Fred Coon, went at once to the Falls where they were joined by deputy sheriff Joseph Stephens. It was at this time that word was received that a suspicious character was lodged with a foreign family about two miles from the Falls and Deputy Stephens was sent out to bring in the man. When he arrived at the farm he was opposed by the group of antagonistic persons and was forced to return to the Falls for reinforcements. Accompanied by the sheriff and undersheriff he returned and without further opposition they picked up their man and his belongings. This man was also identified as one of the original suspects.

During this time Prosecuting Attorney Ruegger and Chief of Police Vaughn had been called, and arrived at the Falls. Warrants were sworn out for the two men, the latter giving his name as John Keyko. The two suspects were securely handcuffed and taken to Charlevoix by Sheriff Weaver and Deputy Coon, in the former's car. After further investigation the men will be taken before a Justice for examination.

State and County officers are still looking for the third member of the bandit trio.

HORSES DISPLAY HUMAN INTELLIGENCE

Loaded to Heavy Wagon Safely Pass Through Small Space

People stood almost breathless Wednesday forenoon and watched a team of horses, hitched to a heavy wagon, emerge from the alley between Block's grocery and the Sanitary Engineering Co.'s stores, and safely pass a large Packard auto parked on one side of the entrance and a beautiful Pierce-Arrow car on the other.

The team had evidently been left standing at the rear of the stores, and becoming impatient, started out without their driver. Between the parked cars there was just space enough for the heavy wagon to pass, and they made it without harm to either of the cars.

Talk about sagacity, humor or otherwise, these horses displayed an ability that might be copied with effect by many auto drivers in traveling our thoroughfares.

EXHIBIT LOEB STOCK AT COUNTY FAIR

Blooded Horses, Cattle and Hogs Means Added Attraction

As a part of a big educational campaign for the benefit of Northern Michigan stock raisers and farmers, many of the pure blooded horses, cattle and hogs from the Loeb Farm will be placed on exhibit both at the Charlevoix county fair and Emmet county fair.

Last year's exhibit at the fair ground proved one of the biggest attractions, and it is expected the exhibit this year will exceed that of last year, not only in numbers but in the display of pure blooded animals. Mr. Loeb, owner of the farm, is deeply interested in bringing better stock to Northern Michigan and has offered many inducements for breeders along this line.

MERCHANTS FALL FOR FAIR VISITOR

PETOSKEY AND BOYNE CITY WORKED WITH BAD CHECKS

Attractive and Beautifully Dressed Young Woman Wins Confidence By Her Charms

When it comes to beating the high cost of living at summer resorts, "Mrs. Josephine Starks, of Kansas City, Mo.," takes the proverbial cake. She beat it out of Petoskey with her two nice little boys, age 3 and 5; and left behind in the hands of proprietors of Petoskey's four largest department stores, owners of the two largest shoe emporiums, one grocery, a hat store and an ice cream parlor, worthless checks to the amount of $1,000, just after doing up Boyne City to the tune of $500 and forgetting to pay her season's rent on her beautiful summer cottage at Walloon Lake and on her motor boat.

It was her winning way, her short skirts, her light, brown hair, her blue-gray eyes, her fair complexion and her sweet talk that did it. Those who were awed could hardly believe it yet.

Mrs. Josephine Starks, so styled, landed at the Belvedere Hotel here in Charlevoix, some weeks ago. She at once opened a checking account with the Charlevoix State Savings Bank and began issuing checks which were promptly paid. After a two week's stay she moved to Walloon Lake where she rented a cottage and at once became a liberal patron of the merchants in Petoskey and Boyne City.

The lady's scheme was to enter a store, introduce herself as a resorter, make a small purchase and in payment write a check for a large amount claiming the change. The first batch of checks to be forwarded to the Charlevoix bank was protested, this started an investigation which developed the fact that the most prominent merchants of Petoskey had been "stung" for an amount aggregating $1,000.00, while Boyne City merchants were let down for something like $500.00.

She left the Walloon Lake place last Thursday evening and went south from Petoskey over the Pere Marquette road Friday morning. Before leaving Petoskey she made a reservation to Lansing, Mich., and also bought tickets for herself and one child to Charlevoix, stating that she was to pick up her husband and the other child there.

Twice in Petoskey Mrs. Starks was seen with a "trampy" looking man and is supposed to be the woman who has been working the country under half a dozen aliases and who, the government secret service department recently warned, was moving in the direction of Northern Michigan resorts. She registered as from Kansas City, Mo., and stated that her husband owned a garage there, but inquiries sent to the Missouri town elicited the information that the couple is not known there, is not mentioned in the city directory and that no person of that name owns a garage.

The pretty "resorter" gave checks larger than the amount of the purchase and took the change. In some instances she merely cashed the checks.

Petoskey losers are Levinson's Department store, S. Rosenthal & Sons, Beese & Porter, Fochtman's Department store, the Eagle Shoe store, Salisbury & Hazelton's shoe store, Martin's candy store and Mrs. Mabel McArthur Hobbins' millinery shop.

The United States government recently issued a warning through the Detroit Free Press that a worthless check writer was headed northward through the resort region, but merchants fell for the pleasing stranger.

To date no definite information has been received as to the whereabouts of the young woman. At Petoskey she bought a ticket for Lansing, but since leaving Petoskey, no accurate information has been so far received.

Petitions Are Out

Petitions for the nomination of Congressman Frank D. Scott of Alpena, for another term in the national legislative body have been circulated in Charlevoix and vicinity. At the present time it seems that if he will have no opposition.

Their Appearance. "It is remarkable," philosophically said Old Codger, "that the man who does not know much of anything and knows that little all askew, usually assumes the tone and attitude of one who knows everything and is aware that when he departs this life wisdom will die with him. This appearance is most often found in horse doctors, grocery store sales and trifling sons-in-law, such as mine."—Country Gentlemen.

OUT OF THE DUSK

By A. W. PEACH

(©, 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Margery Orvis had never stopped to think of the danger that lay for her in her habit of leaving the coal office after dusk. Old Martin, who owned the business, had never reached the point of moving his office from his yards to some uptown locality, nor had he changed the old system of having his drivers collect the money for coal delivered.

He had found Margery so clever and keen that soon he was leaving the office early for his home, and she was taking the money from the drivers. Many times the great coal yard was gray with dusk before she slipped homeward from the office.

It did not occur to her that anyone would rob her, for no one was supposed to know that she left with the entire money collected during the day. Some did know, however.

On that particular evening she was hurrying down the road between the bins when her heart jumped at the sound of rushing steps.

She half turned, to be grasped tightly around the body and to feel the innocent bag she carried snatched from hand. In the same moment, in a wild effort, she seized her assailant about the neck, but with an oath he tore loose, flinging her aside, and disappeared.

She drew herself quickly to her feet, but the dusky silence of the deserted yard gave back no sign of the robber. She stood helpless, a bit dazed;

She Stared at It.

then through her conscience came the hint that she held something in her hand. She held it up in wonder, and then shivered with the shock of what she saw. She had seized and torn away part of a necktie, and in it was still fashioned firmly a pin of peculiar design. She stared at it, recognizing it beyond any question, feeling her blood grow chill within her.

Half in a stupor, she made her way to the car line, and then to her room in the quiet residential section. She studied the pin. There could be no doubt; Alden Kenyon was her assailant. Her world of dreams began to tumble about her.

Since the day of her coming to the coal office, the coal dealer's son, Reed Martin, had pressed his suit upon her, and she had liked him—even to the extent of loving him, if it had not been for her strict little Puritan body and mind.

His habits were against him, and she valued her own clean body and soul too much to risk it in his care. And then had come Kenyon, merry and frank of eye, poor but honorable—she had thought—tall and strong, the type of man she could love.

Reed had brought him to the office, for the two worked in the same establishment in the city, little thinking he was bringing a rival. Now the one she trusted had failed her.

"I was too hasty. I really did not know him," she said to herself bitterly, recalling the evenings with him, the pleasant times, the shy exchange of words and moods such as only lovers know. Tears came to her eyes as she remembered. "Oh, Alden!"

She slept little that night, her mind racing the issue that had arisen. She knew when she left the office; he knew she carried the money collected during the day, and she, on her part, knew that her love for him had been the quick, instinctive kind that reason does not guide with firm, direct finger.

She turned to the pillow at last, tears coming, but with her mind made up to tell the stern old business man just what had happened.

She was not spared further shock. On her way to the yards the next morning she saw a familiar figure spring into the car, and found herself being taken up into Alden's waiting arms.

"Hello, little girl. I thought I would wait a few cars, in hopes of seeing you. I want to engage you for the evening," he said easily.

"I am not free," she answered as coolly as she could, although trembling within. He was wearing the very suit he had worn when he robbed her. How keenly she recalled that gray stripe she had seen as she had struggled!

"I suppose it is Reed, this time. Well, I can't complain. You have treated me fairly," he said genially.

He climbed with her, but she had little to say, and when he dropped from the car at his destination she was relieved, although she could hardly restrain herself from following his swinging form as it disappeared in the crowd.

All that day she fought a silent battle—whether to tell Mr. Martin what had happened and who the guilty party was. Like a caged animal her mind went back and forth. At last she sought freedom.

The gray-haired veteran listened to her story without comment; then he said gravely: "The evidence is clear against him. My dear little girl, you must learn, as we all learn, not to trust a handsome face, a friendly way, until it has been tested. I'll send for him and see what he has to say. My boy likes him, and I hate to have him jailed."

She suffered in silence until, hours later, released from his work, he came. He was clung in some way, and she guessed that he sensed what he was wanted for.

She caught him impulsively as he started to the private office door, and whispered: "Oh, Alden—" Then recovering and remembering, she backed off, leaving him bewildered, a glad smile on his face fading to a shadow of pain.

Martin called her in after a little. She went in with trembling step. Alden sat, white-faced and silent. In a corner, wearing the look of a trapped man.

Martin's voice was grim: "Margery, Kenyon admits that the pin is his. It is such an odd one that I doubt if he could do otherwise, and he practically admits that he robbed you, although he won't say so."

She looked at him with tears in her eyes. "I can't believe it! I can't!"

Kenyon stared at her and half rose to his feet; his lips opened, but he said nothing.

Martin looked at him coldly. "I shall take action against you unless you return that money. Can you do it?"

"I'll try," Kenyon answered—and the answer was admittance of guilt.

As she sunk back with a low cry, she heard a sharp knock on the door. It opened, and in came Reed; his handsome face dark. He threw his hat into a chair and sat down.

"I just heard what was up. I'm this one. I room with Alden. It was easy. I needed the money—debts—cards. I borrowed his suit, and the rest of his stuff. He was wise, and I knew he would try to save me. I'm not such a dog as I might be—and, dad, I'm downright sorry. I feel like a cur."

She saw the old man at the desk age years in a moment. As his son's self-condemning voice went on, his despair seemed to be checked.

She caught Alden's signal, and they both went out.

Outside the door, he looked down at her with a twisted smile. "I was afraid the old man's heart would break, and I thought I could save him. Reed told me, and I urged him to 'fess up this afternoon, but I didn't think he would. Now he has. Gee, but it's a rotten mess. And the only thing that looks good to me now is you. Say, will you go to the park with me this night?"

She leaned her face against his shoulder as his boyish voice rambled bravely on to cover his own emotion; and then, while his hand patted her encouragingly, she managed to say with more quivering than she wished: "I guess so," which seemed to be quite satisfactory to him.

VOYAGE THAT MADE HISTORY

Englishman's Search for the "North-east Passage" Resulted in the "Discovery" of Russia.

It is a curious fact that Archangel owes its origin to an Englishman. It was in the days of Spanish greatness, when the galleons of the king of Spain claimed to rule the sea after a truly Spanish fashion, and the strangely elastic law of reprisals made voyaging for all merchantmen in certain waters a very uncertain experience. For several years there had been talk in England, especially at the English court, of the possibility of the existence of a northeast passage to India, and of the desirability of exploring it. Such a passage, if it existed, would undoubtedly be safe from Spanish depredations, and there were, moreover, great possibilities of opening up in this way a new field for British trade. The talk, however, was all there was to the matter, until about the close of the reign of the boy king, Edward VI. About that time, however, the famous navigator Sebastian Cabot took up the question in earnest, and, in May of the year 1553, there set out from Deptford an expedition of three ships, under the command of Sir Hugh Willoughby, bound for the northern seas. One of these ships was the Bonaventure, of which Richard Chancellor was the "captain and pilot-general," and it is around this ship and its doughty captain and pilot-general that all the interest of the story centers. He did not discover the northeast passage, but he did "discover" Russia, and, after many surprising adventures, returned to London with a letter from the czar "establishing trade relations between the two nations."

COX VS. HARDING

Comparing the two candidates for the presidency, the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., issued the following statement from its Washington Headquarters today:
"After 44 ballots the Democratic convention nominated a candidate.
Gov. Cox is the survivor in a battle royal extending through fourteen hours, engineering bitter animosities that cannot fail to make more complete the wreck of the party at the November elections. Unlike the Republican convention which nominated a man on the tenth ballot acceptable to practically all the other candidates, who saw that their own hopes had vanished, the Democratic gathering chose one who had been in the forefront of the fight from the start, and who won out simply because his assault on his opponents was the strongest. Senator Harding was a compromise candidate, behind whom all factions of the pre-convention period have composed their differences and are now working together enthusiastically for his election. Governor Cox emerges from the top of a heap of struggling aspirants for the prize. His nomination is with the assent neither of the Wilson nor of the Byran forces. Both were bitter against him and friends of both return from the convention with the memories of the struggle ranking in their hearts. It may be that they will not openly support the Republican candidate, but such aid as they appear to give to Gov. Cox will be of the spiritless sort that will harm rather than help his campaign.

"Senator Harding won because of his faultless record in public and private life. There were no flaws which could be magnified by his political opponents into obstacles to Republican success in November, nor to which the other aspirants for the nomination could take exception.
He is a man of proven executive ability, of demonstrated statesmanship, and lovable personal characteristics. Gov. Cox, too, served for four years as a representative of his state at Washington, but he would never be called a legislator, much less a statesman. One searches his congressional record in vain for anything he did or said calculated to further the welfare of his country.
But he was not even neutral. Of the hundreds of bills that he introduced, practically every one was to make exceptions to the laws of Congress or to the regulation promulgated by the executive departments under those laws, such as special pension grants, bills to remove charges of desertion from soldiers' records, or to grant other special relief to his supporters back home which they were denied under the law. Senator Harding's five years' record in the Senate has been essentially constructive. Governor Cox's four years' record in the House was essentially destructive.

"Senator Harding was chosen by his party as a man whose administration would contribute most to the welfare of the Nation. Governor Cox was selected by the partisans at San Francisco because he is a notorious vote-getter and therefore most likely to continue the Democratic party in power at Washington. Senator Harding's election would mean the emancipation of the government from partisans who seek to profit from the spoils of victory, and its administration by men of demonstrated desire and ability to contribute to the Nation's prosperity. Gov.
Cox's election would mean the continued perversion of legitimate governmental machinery into adjuncts of the Democratic party organization to make even firmer its grip on the treasury and the rest of the executive branch."

A man who criticized one of the recent "big drives" for which he could not see the excuse, says he was chided with the charge that he could not catch the vision. The trouble with a lot of people who can't tell the difference between big words and realities is that they have so much more vision than eye-sight.

It is true that a half dozen political organizations, dissatisfied with the existing parties, have tried to form a merger and launch a new party, but the chances are that when they get the thing assembled the members will be more dissatisfied with that party than they were with the old ones.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of Buxton's limestone phosphate from your pharmacist.
It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish relish which is not unpleasant. Before dissolving in water, or every morning to rid your system of these bile poisons and toxins, it is best to convert their formation.

To feel like young fellows feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles were saturated with an excess of acid bile, take Buxton's limestone phosphate before breakfast. It will keep your system free of the poisons and toxins that cause constipation, biliousness, sour stomach, and all the other troubles that come from an impure blood.

The Industrial institution that would send emissaries among its workmen today to tell them that "if Cox is elected," or "if Harding is elected," that they will have to shut down until they find out whether "it is going to ruin our business" would get a quick response—and it would be a "horse laugh." Nevertheless, this sort of thing was done successfully less than twenty years ago.

when there were millions of voters hesitant about the use of their suffrage, fearful that they might bring on a panic.

Today the business establishments of the country go right along attending to their affairs, and they have abiding faith that their government is going to stand up to the rack and keep the wheels of state turning regularly, no matter who is elected.
And they are right!

On the other hand applause for the soviet system of government broke out in the co-catination of the politically dissatisfied, which met recently at Chicago, and the country was warned, and rewarded each day of the sessions that the demitition bow-wows would happen if either one of the "two old capitalistic parties should be returned to power."

And they were wrong!
Sensible people might just as well make up their minds once and for all times that no matter whether a condition of business paralysis is predicted by capitalists, as in the olden days, or by political radicals and dis-contents as was the case at Chicago that in either instance, the makers of these threats are insincere and not to be trusted. Both instances represent the desire of small cliques to foist their particular "class" upon the government, to take charge of it—and class government is sovietism.

Capital appears to have grown away from the advocacy of this fallacy—or maybe they have dropped it for the better reason that the public refused to swallow the puff any longer.
But the Chicago gathering took up the old discarded cry, hoping by the use of it to fool a part of the electorate and switch them to the so-called independent ticket.

With two newspaper editors heading the old party tickets, and with the whole country still alive to the demands of the recent crisis in the stability of the ideals inventoried as "Americanism," there isn't much danger that "class" representation of reforms, or threats of disaster, will get more than the deserved
"horse laughs" out of the electors.

The presidential campaign starts out with clean and able candidates leading the old parties; and there is promise that there will be a healthful, spirited expression of the condition of public sentiment throughout the nation, such as will serve to tell the executive and legislative branches of the government what it is that the people of the United States expect of them.

Public Assets and Liabilities

The restriction of banking accommodations and the disposition on the part of the public to rebel against continuing advances in prices of commodities, represents the "movement at the top" to decrease the cost of living. Prices and wages that were created by extraordinary conditions can hardly be expected by sensible people to continue forever, and there has been plenty of evidence that the business interests of the country have been looking for shelter from the threatening storm.
Leading shoe manufacturers of St.
Louis have announced reductions of 50 cents to $2 a pair in wholesale prices. Following the demobilization last year a large part of the country stocked up on clothing, so that it is not necessary for them to make heavy purchases this year. The result has been that retail dealers throughout the country have been cleaning up their stocks and at the same time withholding orders for large quantities of supplies. Manufacturers have felt this curtailment, and they are proceeding cautiously.
It has made an uneasy condition which has been reflected in unprecedented numbers of "bargain sales" in all parts of the country.

The domestic wool market in the United States is off 20 to 30 per cent from their high levels and carpet wools 60 to 75 per cent. Hides and leather have had a heavy decline within the past three months.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use the Old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody
Will know.

Gray hair, however handsome, donates advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, and a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur, enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young!
Preserve the color of your hair and get from any drug store a bottle of "Witch's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is a truly old-time recipe improved by the addition of modern ingredients. Thousands of folks commend this ready-to-use preparation because it darkens the hair beautifully. Besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and easily. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears. After another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and luxuriant. And you appear years younger.
Witch's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite.
It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

These are items that come close to the American public.

In the broad field of industry it may be said that the best advices received at Washington indicate that the majority of products needed in the country are still far behind in the sense of manufacturing. Agricultural production is from 15 to 20 per cent below last year, but there will be plenty to eat.

On the whole public assets and liabilities show a healthy and improved normal condition but the readjustment and redistribution of individual effort and markets, incident to peace times are still going on. The country shows a disposition to get rid of the froth on the top of the industrial bowl. And as it is being blown away a pretty substantial condition in our economic beverage is being found. Evidently we are gradually getting back to our old gait, which was interrupted with a lot of hop, skip and jump for two or three years.

The Need For Co-Operation

Daniel Willard is frequently referred to as "the Jim Hill of the East." Hill, the Empire Builder, and the greatest of western railroad men, many years ago prophesied that the terminal facilities in great cities would be outgrown, and his warnings have proved to be correct.
Mr. Willard was a pillar of strength to the United States government when the war made it necessary to pool the interests and facilities of the country's railroads. There have perhaps been few railroad men whose opinions have carried greater weight than his. His testimony before the Interstate Commerce Commission has evoked general approval.
It is important, he says, especially in times of car shortage, "that the shippers should load cars as quickly as is economically possible and practicable after they are received. The shippers should also furnish prompt and definite billing instructions, and the instructions so furnished should take the car if possible to its ultimate destination. Much delay is caused by the practice of billing cars subject to order or re-consignment in transit, and numerous other devices that have come about from time to time. All arrangements of this kind serve to retard the movement of cars. All arrangements of this kind are in effect a special privilege aside from the service of transportation, and in times of car shortage such privileges are at the actual expense of those whose business is interfered with because of their inability, to ship at all.

"Railroad statistics show that the average car load on all the railroads in the United States is only about 70 per cent of the carrying capacity of the car, and in addition to that about 32 per cent of the total mileage is made with empty equipment," says Mr. Willard. "A great deal can be done towards getting a more effective use of cars by increasing the car load, and this is a matter almost entirely within the control of the shipper, and serious consideration should be given among other things to the revision of minimum car load regulations, to the end that a more effective use be made of all cars.

"It is of course incumbent upon the railroads to do everything that is economically possible and practicable at all times to reduce all delays to a minimum. I need not at this time discuss in detail what the railroad can and ought to do but I am sure if the carriers and the shippers will all co-operate very great benefit will result there from. The extent of the benefit may be indicated somewhat by the fact that an average increased movement of one mile per car per day for all of the cars in the United States, based upon present performance, would in effect add 100,000 cars to the available equipment, and an average increase of one ton per each loaded car would add in effect 80,000 cars to the available equipment."

Mr. Willard has pointed out the exact method for getting approximately the service of 180,000 cars out of the present equipment. His suggestion for co-operation should be adopted in all parts of the country, particularly as it is a fact that the shortage of cars is so great that it will be months before it will be possible to secure enough cars and engines to take care of the peak loads.

Fortunately, under the new transportation act the Interstate Commerce Commission is authorized to deal promptly and effectively with the situation, and in view of the industrial handicap, every possible effort is being put forth to bring the railroad equipment up to the old pre-war standard.

OUR EXCHANGES

Tourists said Sunday that in places between here and Traverse City the roads and the fields were black with grasshoppers and that they came into autos and indoors. More than a week ago the agricultural college estimated the damage to Northwestern Michigan from "hoppers" would run more than a million dollars and they have been doing devastating work since and are still at it.—Elk bootlegging which were pending against him when he was committed has been in the limelight, but always in a nefarious manner.—Elk Rapids

Hillman and Atlanta, Mich., are 16 miles apart, but a letter mailed in Hillman for Atlanta must travel 250 miles to reach destination. A letter mailed at Hillman goes to Alpena, south to Bay City, north to Gaylord and thence to Atlanta.

If government plans are carried out, mail for Atlanta will be taken by rural carrier to Rust and there placed on a train. Word comes from Washington that a through mail service will be established August 1 on week and have more on the road.

The price is well up in the clouds, is the scarcity that has caused and is

FORD CARS MEET HEAD-ON COLLISION

Accident Sunday Night Places Two in Dry Dock

Auto accidents are becoming so frequent of late that it is nothing uncommon to see the product of Henry Ford's Detroit plant scattered promiscuously along the streets or highways.

Sunday night two Fords, owned by Henry Howe and Myron Tompkins of Hayes township, met head-on at the corner of Dixon avenue and Meech street. Apparently each driver thought he had the right of way, with the consequence that the cars were badly mangled up. Broken radiators, bent fenders, twisted exhaust pipes, and badly scared drivers resulted.

That no one was seriously injured is a miracle.

"Buyers Are Fooling Themselves By Holding Back For a Drop in Prices."

In brief, this is the flat contradiction to the opinion so generally voiced locally that prices are due to fall, made by several of the most prominent merchandise men who make this territory.

The widespread impression created by news dispatches from the bigger cities that prices are coming down prompted us to inquire of these gentlemen, whom we know to be in close touch with the situation, if there was and good ground for this belief.

In answer, they pointed out the innumerable factors in the present situation which they claim absolutely prohibit any drop in prices. Invariably, they pointed out the scarcity of raw materials in all lines and the difficulty of securing the labor and transportation facilities necessary for any prompt relief.

In addition the low rate of production in manufacture because of labor scarcity and troubles and the expected increase in freight rates are mentioned as strong influences for high prices. High taxes, high interest rates, and the probable resumption of trade with Russia are also declared to be vital forces in maintaining a high price scale.

"The present flurry," said the representative of a big dry goods concern, "is almost exactly the same nature as the one we had a year ago in March, when outing flannels, denims, cotton prints and percales took a drop. A few big dealers were overloaded in these lines and forced selling until they unloaded. Those who waited for greater reductions suffered a costly experience."

"The wise buyer will take full advantage of any bargains being offered now, for fundamental conditions are unchanged. Consequently, as the effect on business of this unusually backward spring wears off the reaction will very likely take us to still higher price levels."

There will be a dance at the Iron-ton Grange Hall, Friday evening, July 23. Everybody welcome.

CHILDREN CELE- BRATE 5th BIRTHDAY

Twenty Little Tots Guests of Little Miss Rosenthal

The Tea Room was crowded on Friday, July 18, when twenty children celebrated the fifth birthday of the little daughter of Mrs. Rosenthal of Columbus, Ohio.

A birthday cake was decorated with pink candles and rose-buds, the children ate ice cream and cake and then listened to a story told by "Aunt Jane," the chaperone of the Smith College girls, who are managing the Tea Room. A number of "grown-ups" accompanied the children.

On Monday, July 19, Mrs. Julius Moses of Chicago, gave a tea-dance at the Tea Room, in honor of her niece, Miss Irma Moses, of New Orleans. Twelve couples danced to the music furnished by members of the Inn orchestra, (who by the way, are University of Michigan men, and particularly fine fellows as well as excellent musicians.)

The Barnes-Callen Studio has taken some very fine photographs of the Tea Room, showing various attractive parts of the house and porch.

MANY WILL COMPETE FOR CASH PRIZES

Petoskey Gun Club to Hold Tournament July 25-26

The first annual trap shooting tournament held under the auspices of the Petoskey Gun Club is scheduled to take place in Petoskey, July 25th and 26th. The local club has been reorganized and will be assisted in making the event a success by members of gun clubs from Charlevoix, Gaylord, Wolverine, Springville, Harbor Springs, Cadillac, Traverse City and Cheboygan.

Professionals will also be there from various munition plants, among whom will be many of the best trap shooters in the country.

There will be handicaps in order to give the amateurs an equal chance with the professionals in winning the various cash prizes and cups. The Hartford Brothers' trophy, targets and traps are already on the ground and it is expected the meet will be largely attended.

Sportsmen from Charlevoix are extended a special invitation to attend the meet, and it is expected the city will be well represented.

M. E. CHURCH NOTES

One hundred and twenty-five attended the Epworth League meeting last Sunday night at the M. E. church. The meeting was very interesting and instructive under the able leadership of Richard Lewis. Miss Grace Meggison prepared a social for Monday night which was attended by sixty young people. After the literary program games were played after which light refreshments were served. Devotional meeting next Sunday night at 8:30, leader, George Beeman, topic, "Every Christian A Missionary."

Miss Maud Shapton has been engaged to take charge of the church music for the balance of the summer. This means that the church will be able to sustain its reputation for high class music.

Our Sunday school, with classes for all ages, cordially invites our summer guests to spend from 12 o'clock to one o'clock with us studying the Word of God.

Prayer and praise service Thursday evening at 7:30, topic for consideration, "The Secret of David's Success."

DR. JONES TO SPEAK SUNDAY

Will Occupy Pulpit at Congregational Church

Dr. Frank Jones of the First Congregational church, Evanston, Illinois, will preach at the First Congregational church, in this city, next Sunday morning at 10:30 a. m. Subject to be announced later.

Dr. Jones is an old friend of the church, a powerful speaker, and his coming will be received with delight by those who have listened to him on previous visits.

There will also be special music by the quartet.

Open a Day Late

The free cooking class advertised to begin Monday, July 22, will not start until Tuesday, the following day, on account of Miss Nelson, lecturer, not being able to reach the city until late Monday afternoon. However, the program as advertised will start on Tuesday morning. This will be a grand opportunity for the ladies of Charlevoix to learn many new things connected with the preparation of food.

Attend the barn dance at the Grange farm, Wednesday evening, July 24. Only dance to be held there this season.—Adv. 2911.

AT THE MOVIES

Representing a venture into the frozen northlands in which Ronald Byron, celebrated Canadian actor, lost his life, "Back to God's Country," a picturization of James Oliver Curwood's well-known magazine story, "Wapi, the Walrus," comes to the Palace Theatre, July 29. Based on a theme that kindness to animals will be returned to the donor by those animals, the story depicts the life of Dolores LeBeau, a maid of the wilderness whose kind treatment to forest beasts has taught them to love her.

The story then switches to the Arctic regions, where Wapi, the killer, a great Dane dog, whose brutal side has been brought to the surface through the cruelty of owners, meets Dolores, who saves it from a hunting and wins the animal's loyalty.

A race across the Arctic snows with a fugitive from justice in pursuit is about to be lost by Dolores and her helpless husband when Wapi, The Killer, summons all his strength and the hatred he has for those who mistreated him into a supreme effort, attacking the persecutor of his only friend in a fight that resulted in the death of four animals of great value.

"The return of the real story of love to the screen," is the way in which picture-reviewers everywhere have unanimously been describing Doris Kean's wonderful success in "Romance," the United States Corporation's production which was written especially for Miss Keane by Edward Sheldon.

It is said to be full of poetic imagination and charming sentiment, while the love romance of the prima donna and the clergyman is

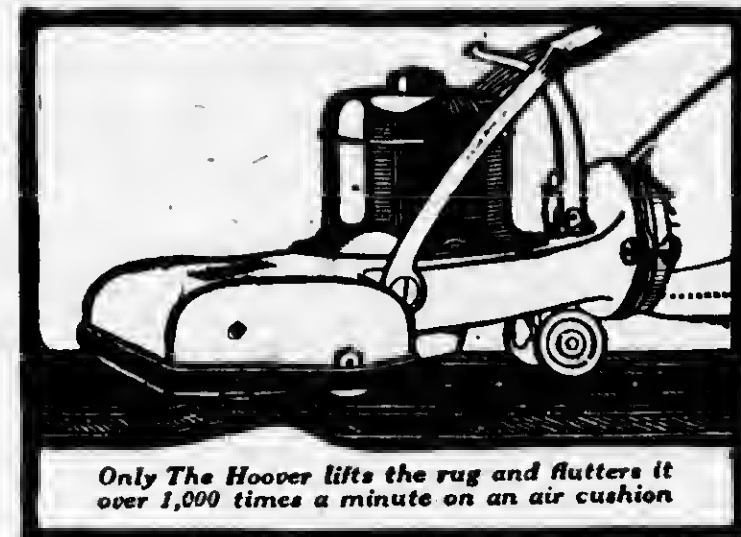

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She mixed Sulphur with it to Restore Color, Gloss, Youthfulness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

as novel and unusual as its very mention suggests.

Miss Keane as the sparkling Grand Opera star, Mme. Cavallini, is credited with an absolutely new success, one that puts her in the front rank of screen artists and which has won for her the enviable reputation of being the greatest emotional actress on the screen, as well as on the stage.

It is a pleasure to know that this really beautiful story with its fascinating actress, is to be the leading attraction at the Palace Theatre, on July 24th and 25th.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 28 NUMBER 30

TEN PAGES

COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, JULY 28, 1920

PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

MAN ACCUSED OF KIDNAPPING

ARRESTED IN CITY SATURDAY
BY FEDERAL OFFICER

Indicted on Sensational Charge at Chattanooga, Tennessee—Went Under Many Aliases

Thomas Ryan, alias Tom Smith and Jay Gouley, chauffeur for one of our well known summer resorters, was arrested in the city Saturday morning by E. D. Needham, special agent of the department of justice of Grand Rapids on an indictment by the United States district court at Chattanooga, Tennessee, charging him with participation in the sensational kidnapping of a twelve-year old girl in Chattanooga last fall. The indictment was returned on November 17 and Ryan has been a fugitive from justice ever since.

He was taken to Petoskey and placed in jail. Leon Miller, United States court commissioner at Petoskey, fixed the prisoner's bonds at $5,000, and, in default of furnishing them, was taken to Grand Rapids on the afternoon train Monday and will be later transferred to Chattanooga, for trial.

The indictment on which Ryan was arrested contains enough action for a wild west movie scenario. It tells of a twelve-year-old girl in Chattanooga named Myrtle Irene Swafford, daughter of Mrs. Alice Stansbury, who had been legally adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Swafford, and of a wild night ride in an automobile with the child all the way from Chattanooga across the state line into Georgia is related.

It is charged that Ryan represented himself as a United States army officer in aiding Mrs. Stansbury to recover her child, and that there also was present a man who impersonated a United States deputy marshal and who read a paper purported to have been issued by the United States court and which was a demand that the girl be given into the custody of said court forthwith. Mrs. Stansbury and others also were indicted on charges of conspiring to pretend to be federal employees.

The Swafford's gave up their adopted daughter when the bogus writ of habeas corpus was shown them, in the belief that she was to be taken to Chattanooga where they would have an opportunity to fight for their rights in the United States court. Then came the automobile flight into Georgia.

After the flight Ryan went to Kansas City, Mo., where he entered the employ of a wealthy man as chauffeur. The employer has a summer home here and brought Ryan with him. The department of justice had been hunting for him since his indictment last November.

During the time spent in Charlevoix Ryan went under the name of Jay Gouley, which, an investigation reveals, was the name of his deceased brother-in-law. He was married but a short time before coming here, and it is thought his wife lives in Kansas City. Ryan served three years in the world war, and was a second lieutenant in the tank corps when discharged. His army record is the very best, and his papers showed each step of advancement, from corporal to 2nd lieutenant.

He was wounded three times by machine bullets and was also badly gassed. He apparently took considerable pride in his army record, which was without a mark against him. On his departure he stated he was innocent of the charges preferred against him, but admitted being in the car with the officer who served the fake papers and obtained possession of the child.

STRICKEN SUDDENLY BY APPENDICITIS

Pierce Blanchard on Way Home
From Visiting Father

Pierce Blanchard of Chicago, a former Charlevoix boy, came on Thursday of last week, to see his father, who is seriously ill at his home on the Norwood road. He left Charlevoix on Friday on the return trip and was stricken suddenly by a severe attack of appendicitis.

He was removed from the train, taken to Englewood hospital, in Chicago, successfully operated on, and at present is getting along nicely.

It seems that trouble always comes in bunches.

CHARLEVOIX GIRL DIES AT LANSING

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Jardine of Eveline

The following taken from the Lansing State Journal will be of interest to friends of the deceased, who have known Mrs. Kelly since girlhood. The bereaved father and mother have the sympathy of all in the loss of their daughter:

Mrs. Roy P. Kelly, 23, died at the home of her uncle, S. D. Pepper, 527 W. Ottawa st., early Wednesday, July 14, after an illness of three weeks. She was formerly Winifred Jardine, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Jardine of Charlevoix. She had lived with her uncle for the last 10 years, during that time having attended Lansing high school, graduating in 1915. She was employed following graduation in the state food and drug department, and the state department. Two years ago she married Mr. Kelly, who is an engineer with the state highway department. Besides her parents and husband, she is survived by a brother, Jack Jardine, who during the war was connected with the state draft board now is with the state highway department, and a sister, Ann, living with the parents at Charlevoix.

The funeral was private and was held from the home of Mr. Pepper, Friday at 2 p. m., with the interment at Mt. Hope cemetery.

FORD AUTO TURNS TURTLE

FOUR OCCUPANTS PINNED UNDERNEATH CAR

Myron Ashton of Mancelona Now in Hospital From Injuries Received in Accident

A Ford touring car on its way from Mancelona to Charlevoix, turned turtle at Bird's corners, on the Charlevoix-East Jordan road last Thursday morning, pinning its four occupants underneath the car and painfully injuring one of them.

The car contained four young men, Myron and Harley Ashton, William Stevens and Ed. Brown all of Mancelona. They were on their way to Charlevoix to visit at the home of the Ashton's boys uncle, Ray Ashton.

The boys state the car was being driven at a moderate speed, and upon reaching Bird's corners, they made the turn too quickly, none of them being acquainted with the route to Charlevoix, and knowing this to be the turn to make until about half way over the crossing, with the result that the car overturned. All were pinned under the car, but escaped injury with the exception of Myron Ashton, who received a five inch cut across his left leg above the knee, due to glass from the broken wind-shield.

The injured young man was taken to Charlevoix hospital, where his wound was dressed and unless complication set in, he will be able to go home the last of the week.

Other than the broken wind-shield, the Lizzie was unharmed as were the other three occupants of the car.

PRIMARY CAUSE OF HAY FEVER

RESEARCH WORK TO BE DONE IN CHARLEVOIX

Will Make Investigation to Determine the Causal Factors at City Hospital

The Respiratory Commission of the United States is endeavoring to solve the hay fever problem in order to relieve the many sufferers throughout the country. An investigation to determine the causal factors is being carried on, the bacteriological phase being particularly studied. Dr. E. O. Jordan, Professor of Bacteriology at the University of Chicago and Rush Medical College is in charge of this branch of the work.

A great deal of research has been done on the effect of pollen of certain grasses placing this etiological factor in a scientific basis. However little study has been made of the effect of organisms alone, or associated with the action of pollen. The knowledge gained from investigation of the relationship of bacteria to bronchial asthma indicates that the bacteriology of hay fever is a fruitful field for research.

The commission has established a station in Charlevoix to carry on the work. The findings are to be submitted to Dr. Jordan, who is gathering data from all possible sources. The work will begin on or about August 1. Jules C. Stein, P. H. B. of the University of Chicago and Rush Medical College will direct the work at this branch.

The experimental work will be conducted at the Charlevoix Hospital through the courtesy of Miss Boss. The committee desires to establish a sub-station for the convenience of the patients which will be more centrally located. Anyone who can offer the use of office space for two hours a day kindly communicate with Mr. Stein at the Charlevoix Beach Hotel.

The committee desires to obtain throat cultures of all the hay fever sufferers, both visitors and residents, of this part of the country. A smear is taken of the patients throat, inconveniencing him little and taking but little time. Reports of the findings will be furnished free of charge to all those submitting to an examination. Further information and location of office will be announced later.

The committee is indebted to Mrs. J. S. Baker of the Charlevoix Beach Hotel for clerical assistance and the use of equipment. Anyone desiring to aid the commission kindly communicate with Mr. Stein.

CHARLEVOIX FISH TUG OWNER BUSY

Making Good Hauls of Whitefish and Trout Just Off Harbor

While commercial fishermen of Michigan complain of the strictness of the fishing laws, and swear that the laws as they now stand are drying them out of business, George LaBlanc, of this city, keeps his mouth shut and his fish tugs busy off Charlevoix harbor taking in large hauls of whitefish and lake trout.

Fishermen declare LaBlanc's success is exceptional for recent years and far ahead of anything had by other Lake Michigan fishermen this season. His pond and other nets just off shore seem to have been planted in the best fishing ground of the entire lake.

His net profit for the season is expected to run into several thousand dollars, and summer tourists now packing the Northern Michigan country, are enjoying the fish as never before, knowing they are getting something denied guests at many resorts.

LaBlanc says that both quantity and quality are helping him amass a neat profit this year, for the fish captured off the mouth of Pine Lake where its cold waters flow into Lake Michigan, are said to be among the best taken from Lake Michigan.

Hunt Partridge in U. P.

A Hancock, U. P. dispatch says the partridge hunting season will open throughout the whole upper peninsula this year on October 30, for the first time since 1917. The partridge season was closed in 1918 and 1919 to allow the birds to recover from the effect of unfavorable weather.

A 3-h. p. Fairbanks-Morse gas engine will take the place of the hired man you cannot get. Ask Ben. Brown about them.—Adv. 295f.

PRIMARY ELEC- TION AUGUST 31

CANDIDATES MUST ALL BE IN BEFORE JULY 31

Petitioners Require Not Less Than Two Nor More Than Four Per Cent of Votes for Secretary

This year the primary election for the nomination of Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Congressman, State Senator, Representative and County officers will be held August 31. All nominating petitions must be in the hands of the secretary of state and the county clerk at least 31 days before the thirty-first of August which would be the thirty-first of July.

There has been no material change in the primary law in reference to the manner in which the tickets are printed, their form, or how they are voted. Each party's ballot is printed separate. We will say that on the Republican ballot there are more candidates for governor than for any other office ten for instance. The printer is required to keep the ballots for each township and precinct separate and to change the order of the candidate as many times as the largest number of candidates for any one office on that ticket. If there are ten candidates for governor the order of candidates when there are more than one on the ticket and only one to be nominated, will change ten times. These must all be kept in separate piles, then interleaved, numbered and perforated for each precinct. Democratic ballots or those of any other party represented in the state, districts or county are treated in the same way. The inspectors of election and all other arrangements are the same as in regular elections.

The number of petitions for county, district or state officers must be not less than two nor more than four per cent of the vote cast for secretary of state at the preceding general election.

SERIOUS DELAY IN ROAD BUILDING

Inability to Obtain Cement Causes Much Inconvenience

With just one-half of the concrete work on the Charlevoix-Petoskey road completed, Commissioner O. D. Hammond is up against a shortage of material, principally cement, to carry on the work.

Operations were discontinued in cement laying last Wednesday, the workmen having no cement to continue with. Tuesday freight brought a carload and the work will be resumed until this is exhausted or more material arrives.

Road building, not only in Charlevoix county, but the entire state, is a hard problem this year. There is a scarcity of material as well as workmen. Cement plants may be compelled to shut down entirely on account of the coal shortage, and if this should happen, little if any road building will be accomplished.

AVIATOR BISHOP TO LOCATE HERE

Will Make Daily Flights if Conditions Are Right

Aviator Bishop of the Rosewift company of Grand Rapids, is quite likely to locate permanently in Charlevoix and will be here Thursday and Friday to make trial flights.

Bishop claims that conditions around Charlevoix are ideal and may result in the city being his northern Michigan headquarters. He has been at Petoskey for several weeks, but on account of not having a suitable landing place, is desirous of locating elsewhere, and has chosen Charlevoix as the place.

He has selected the field at the end of Sheridan street, south of the Clark addition, on the south side, and after testing out the grounds may locate permanently here.

Aviator Bishop makes daily flights, carrying passengers for a nominal sum. People who desire to make a trip with him will have the opportunity of doing so. He is quite enthusiastic over the situation here, making the statement that the most favorable grounds for aviation purposes in northern Michigan were located here.

Political Announcement Electors of Charlevoix County:
I am a candidate for nomination to the office of Judge of Probate.
Very respectfully,
Arthur L. Fitch.

RECORD MOTOR TAX PAID STATE

COUNTY'S APPORTIONMENT AMOUNTS TO $7,296.42

Amounts Collected in Past Six Months Exceeds Total for Year 1919

Registration taxes and fees for motor vehicles, chauffeurs and miscellaneous items collected by the state department for the first six months of the year exceeds the total amount for the full year 1919 by more than $1,300,000, as shown by the report of the department for the quarter ending June 30. The total amount for last year was $3,719,433.39, while for the first six months of this year it amounted to $5,033,370.15.

Wayne county in 1919 paid to the state department in such fees and taxes $1,049,321.22 as compared with $1,657,086.05 for the first half of this year. The county will receive $283,343 of fees for past six months or more than $300,000 above the total for 1919.

The state will pay back to the counties for the first six months of this year $2,513,755.96, as compared with $1,694,046.76 for the full year 1919. These figures are disclosed by the quarterly report which the law requires must be made with a proper apportionment to each county of one-half the fees and taxes paid by it to the state department. The other one-half goes to the state highway department and is used in the payment of state rewards on roads.

County Treasurer Charles H. Emrey reports that he has received a check from the state amounting to $7,296.42, which is Charlevoix's apportionment of the state auto tax paid. This amount covers the period from January to July, 1920, and exceeds the amount received last year by over $1,000.

It shows that residents of our county are buying cars at the same rate as other counties in the state, the amount received over last year being due to the increase number of cars bought in the county.

POMONA MEETS WITH DEER LAKE

State Lecturer Mrs. Dora Stockman to Speak

Charlevoix County Pomona Grange will meet with Deer Lake grange August 6, instead of August 12, as previously announced.

Mrs. Dora Stockman, lecturer of the Michigan State Grange, will be present and it is also planned to have Prof. Tuft of the M. A. C., and Attorney George Nichols of Ionia, on the program. All are speakers of note and what they have to say will be well worth miles of travel to hear. A large representation from every grange in the county should be present.

AMERICA FOR AMERICANS ONLY

VANPELT AVERS ALL SHOULD BE TRUE AMERICANS

New Immigration Bill, as Prepared, is Fair to All and Safe for America

The Courier acknowledges receipt of the following communication from Geo. H. VanPelt, good roads booster, fire-proof hotel advocate, a Charlevoix-Michigan booster better known throughout the country than most people give him credit. One of Van's hobbies is constructive immigration legislation. He believes, as most people do, that every man and woman who lives in America should be true, red-blooded Americans. If foreign born, they should if they desire to continue to live in America, become naturalized citizens within a certain period of time, or go back to the country of their birth. His communication follows:

My Dear Courier—"Don't you think for a moment that just because I have been busy on the merchants and hotel organization since my arrival in Charlevoix some weeks ago, that I am not still busy on constructive immigration legislation. The executive committee has introduced and the bill will be under consideration during the recess by the house committee on immigration.

"The time has now come for the active participation of the general committee—for all who are interested in influencing public opinion.

"If you have not a copy of the bill, you should get one; H. R. 14196, by Hon. Ben J. Welby. The influence of your paper is great in this county, and there is no measure of more importance to come before the already naturalized people than this one. The late war shows this to be a fact. Those who have lived in this country for any number of years, enjoyed all the privileges of it; who have been allowed to settle down like white folks, to transact business, marry and raise families, to be straight (or crooked), honest or dishonest, and are not as yet naturalized, or one of us, have not lived up to the standard of Americanism and should not be allowed the same privileges of real Americans. In this respect, without regard to any position one may hold, I consider a man or woman who has enjoyed these privileges, and has not taken the time or trouble to become naturalized, a mighty poor human excuse. We have no room for them here.

"The bill above referred to is entitled 'A New Immigration Policy.' It is fair to all and safe for America, constructive, patriotic, just, workable and absolutely necessary. It is easy to read between the lines what both England and Germany are going to do in a commercial and manufacturing way. It is squarely up to true, red-blooded Americans.

Yours for the making of true Americans, VanPelt."

Give this matter your deepest thought, Courier readers. It rings true. The actions of some people during the past three years has plainly demonstrated that active work along this line is needed. If America is good enough to live in, make your money in, enjoy the privileges of education and business training, free speech and religious affiliation, why should they not, if foreign born, become patriotic American citizens? Nothing else should be tolerated.

FOX ISLAND SOLD FOR A FUR FARM

Purchaser Will Stock Farm With Muskrat and Skunk

A deal was recently closed and transfer papers put on record whereby a man by the name of John Ruckles of Shelby, Michigan, becomes the owner of North Fox Island, who will convert it into a skunk and muskrat farm.

The island was formerly owned by John Plank of Peatwater, who at times had a large number of cattle on the island, and also removed considerable timber.

Mr. Ruckles recently purchased 800 skunk from a farm in Pennsylvania for immediate shipment to the island. Railroad officials refused to make shipment, and it is understood that Mr. Ruckles will transport them from the point of purchase to the island by auto truck.

Ride on Goodyear Tires in That Sturdy Small Car of Yours

It surprises certain users of small cars to find that they can obtain Goodyear Tires at a first cost ordinarily not greater, and sometimes less, than that of other tires.

This initial value, as well as the very low final cost, results from the application of Goodyear experience and care to their manufacture in the world's largest tire factory devoted to 30x3-, 30 x 3 1/2- and 31 x 4-inch sizes.

Such facts explain why more cars, using these sizes, were factory-equipped last year with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

If you drive a Ford, Chevrolet, Maxwell, or Dort take advantage of the opportunity to enjoy real Goodyear value and economy; equip your car with Goodyear Tires and Heavy Tourist Tubes at the nearest Service Station.

30x 3 1/2 Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread . . . $23.50

30x 3 1/2 Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread . . . $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost no more than the price you are asked to pay for tubes of less merit—why risk costly casings when such sure protection is available? $4.50 30x 3 1/2 size in waterproof bag.

POULTRY FACTS

PAINT AIDS POULTRY HOUSE

Adds Greatly to Appearance and Service of Buildings—Whitewash Is Cheapest.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Painting adds greatly to the appearance and service of all buildings and appliances. One may buy ready-mixed paints or may purchase paste pigments and oil and mix them. All surfaces should be clean and dry before they are painted. Use a priming coat made of equal parts of paint and linseed oil and cover with one or more coats of paint, which should be thoroughly brushed into the surface.

Whitewash is the cheapest of all paints, and may be used either for exterior or interior surfaces. It can be made by slaking about ten pounds of quicklime in a pail with two gallons of water, covering the pail with cloth or burlap and allowing it to slake for one hour. Water is then added to bring the whitewash to a consistency which may be applied readily. A weatherproof whitewash for exterior surfaces may be made as follows: (1) Slake 1 bushel of quicklime in 12 gallons of hot water; (2) dissolve 2 pounds of common salt and 1 pound of sulphate of zinc in 2 gallons of boiling water; pour (2) into (1), then add 2 gallons of skum milk and mix thoroughly. Whitewash is spread lightly over the surface with a broad brush.

Many Try, but Few Succeed.

GOOD POULTRY HINTS

Keep the nests clean; provide one nest for every four hens. Gather the eggs twice daily. Keep the eggs in a cool, dry room or cellar. Market the eggs at least twice a week. Purchase well-matched pullets rather than hens.

CHANGE IN BREED OF FOWLS

Breeder Ought to Remember That New Variety May Have to Be Fed In Different Way.

If a breeder who has always kept one kind of hens suddenly changes to another breed, he ought to remember that the new variety may have to be fed and cared for in quite a different way. That will call for study as to the best kinds of food, best methods of housing and many other things.

DRY MASH HANDY FOR FOWLS

Mixture of Wheat, Bran, Cornmeal and Meat Scrap Should Be Available at All Times.

A dry mash composed of 100 pounds wheat middlings, 100 pounds wheat bran, 100 pounds corn meal, 50 pounds of meat scrap, mixed and fed in hoppers, should be where the fowls will have access to it at all times. All the skim milk should be given that they will clean up in connection with this.

INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

Farmers in the Kalkaska region are working hard to save their crops from the great clouds of grasshoppers which have invaded that part of Michigan, and are using every known means of ridding their lands of the pest. In many sections entire fields of oats and late potatoes have been entirely eaten and the hoppers are attacking other crops. In some fields farmers have planted the second crop, millet, beans and buckwheat being sown in hopes that they will survive the pest.

Many farmers have rigged great catcher basins under their autos and are driving through the fields capturing millions of hoppers. These are exterminated by application of oil and water, the grasshoppers flying into the elongated pan, which is attached in front of the machines. Hundreds of pounds of poison are being used. The pest has been gradually working its way northward toward the Straits of Mackinaw, whole fields of oats having been ruined in the Boyne City and Mancelona regions, but is worse in the Kalkaska and Grand Traverse region.

Northern Michigan rapidly is becoming a big stock grazing district and each year sees large tracts of land owned by lumbermen turned into stock ranches, says a news item from Hillman. One of the latest of these is 16,000 acres owned by the Kneeland Bigelow company, of Bay City, and located in Vienna township, Montmorency county. The timber is being cut on the property and as it is removed the land is used for grazing purposes. The owners are erecting on the land what is said to be one of the largest barns in the state. It is built on a concrete wall foundation eight feet high with a floor 65x165 feet and a peak 80 feet high. The building plans include 11 large silos, three of which are under construction. The

SALTS IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Flush the Kidneys at once when Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

No man or woman who is meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

company expects to handle 1,000 cattle and several thousand sheep each year.

What is designed to become a statewide campaign to bring about legislation that will compel the testing of dairy cattle for tuberculosis infection has been launched at Traverse City by the Grand Traverse Shorthorn Breeders' association.

Such a law is effective in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Idaho. Thus far but two pure bred dairy herds in Grand Traverse county have been subjected to the tuberculin test—the state hospital herd and the J. W. Zimmerman herd—and in both cases evidence of the disease has been found. In the Zimmerman herd four affected cattle were discovered and were shipped to Muskegon where they were slaughtered under government inspection. In this case the cattle are good for beef if they are not affected badly, but for dairy purposes they are dangerous, as raw milk readily carries the germs. The Grand Traverse Shorthorn Breeders' association wants a state law making the tuberculin test compulsory for at least dairy cattle of pure bred strain, as wire fences afford little protection for tested herds against herds that have not been tested.

Reports of the abandonment of farms and the move cityward in western Michigan are borne out by census figures, which show decreases in population of six counties especially adapted to agriculture. These counties, Grand Traverse, Benzie, Leelanau, Mason, Oceana, and Missaukee, have lost from nine to thirty-four per cent of their population in the last ten years. Grand Traverse now has a population of 19,518, a decrease of 4,266 or 17.9 per cent; Benzie, 6,947, a loss of 3,691 or 34.7 per cent; Leelanau, 9,611, a loss of 1,547 or 14.7 per cent; Mason, 19,831, a decrease of 2,001 or 9.2 per cent; Oceana, 15,601, a loss of 2,788 or 15.1 per cent; Missaukee, 9,004, a loss of 1,602 or 15.1 per cent. The figures for Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Kalkaska are not available at this time.

Talk about advances in price. In 1914 newspaper paper was selling normally at about $40 a ton. Today it is hard to get at from $320 to $350 a ton, and is still advancing and no one can tell where the end of the upward tendency will be or when it will be reached. All other grades of printer's stock have kept pace with print paper. There was a better percentage of profit in a newspaper at $1.00 a year a few years ago than there is today even at $2.50, and many community weeklies have advanced their subscription price to $2.50, and some to $3.00 per year, and there's reason sufficient for such advance.

During the fiscal year, which ended July 1st, the people of the state of Michigan contributed in excess of half million dollars to the relief of starvation and distress in Armenia, Syria, Persia, the Caucasus and other countries of the near east. Contributions were made through Near East Relief, the organization chartered by congress to handle the work made possible by American philanthropy. This $500,000 and more came from all parts of the state, not a single county being represented in the list of contributors.

DOGS SHOT IN CONNECTICUT

Wardens Destroy More Than 5,000 Canines, and Less Injury to Sheep Has Resulted.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Information from Connecticut shows that in the year ending September 30, more than 5,000 dogs were killed by dog wardens. Many were shot while interfering with sheep. Less injury to sheep has resulted than in any pre-vions year, due, perhaps, to the so-called roaming dog law, which went into effect July 1.

The sheep industry in Connecticut has increased 33.13 per cent the past two years, and is still growing. The state legislature recently appropriated $10,000 to be used by the Connecticut Agricultural college in furthering the sheep industry.

BLANCHED FEED FOR HORSES

Select Ration That Seems to Meet Animal's Requirements—Individuals Differ.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

As no feed or combination of feeds will meet conditions in all parts of the country, so no feed or mixture is suitable for all classes of horses. In choosing a ration for a horse, select the one that seems to meet his requirements, whether for growth, maintenance, work, breeding or fattening; estimate the amount of feed needed and try out the ration. It may appear after a trial that too little is being fed or that the ration may be changed somewhat in the interest of economy or efficiency. If a number of horses are kept, different rations may be tested on different animals and the best one selected for general use. Individual feeding gives the best results.

Feeding stuffs are broadly divided into two great classes, proteins and carbohydrates. The protein foods are rich in nitrogenous compounds which are used in the animal body in building tissue, bone, hair, etc., and to provide energy; the carbohydrate foods are starchy and are used in the animal body in the formation of fat and also for energy and heat.

To obtain the best results in feeding, the ration should be balanced properly to meet the needs of the animal in building tissue and supplying energy for work. The subject is discussed in detail in the United States department of agriculture's Farmers' Bulletin 1030, which will be sent free on request.

SHRUNKEN WHEAT GOOD FEED

Hogs in South Dakota Experiments Made Almost as Large Gains as With Good Wheat.

"With the price on hogs, shrunken wheat as a pig feed is worth about as much as the government's guarantee," says J. W. Wilson, professor of animal husbandry at South Dakota State college. Professor Wilson bases this statement upon the results of experiments conducted at the college some years ago in feeding 44-pound wheat in comparison with 57-pound wheat. Plus receiving ground shrunken wheat made an average daily gain per head of two pounds, the good wheat producing only three-tenths of a pound more per day per head.

CLUB MEMBERS RAISE SWINE

Indiana Breeders Sell Glits to Boys and Girls in Order to Get Them Started Right.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

If good blood and good individuals will give the right start in the purebred hog business the boy and girl club members in the vicinity of Oxford, Benton county, Ind., are on the road to success, for the pigs owned by them are of famous Poland China strains.

The people of this community have already had an opportunity to see what some of the breeders of good hogs have been doing, for several well-known hog breeders live in Benton county. These men, who believe in investing money in a few outstanding individuals and raising nothing but the best, cooperated with the bankers and the county agent in inducing a number of Indiana breeders to sell some good gilts to the Benton county boys and girls in order that they might get started right in the hog business. Consequently the members in the pig club at Oxford have received piglets by well-known Poland China sows, and the responsibility of developing them into breeding animals now rests with the boys and girls.

Twenty-six members are enrolled in the club, which is organized on the basis of a breeders' association. The club will elect its own officers, and with the assistance of the county agent, the bankers, the breeders, and their parents will proceed to do business for themselves.

DEATH DUE TO HEMORRHAGE

Joseph Wells Stricken While Bathing at Pine Point

The death of Joseph Wells, a resorter whose home is in Chicago, occurred at the Charlevoix Hospital Tuesday afternoon, due to a hemorrhage of the brain.

Mr. Wells and wife were guests of a sister, Mrs. Rorabach, who had leased the Emrey cottage at Pine Point. The party drove through from Chicago Friday, occupying the cottage the day of their arrival.

Wells, who is a strong, robust fellow and quite an athlete, went bathing Saturday forenoon. He stayed in the water for a time, and after taking a long swim, during which he dove several times, he came ashore complaining of severe pains in his head.

Within a few minutes he was suffering so severely that a physician was summoned. Shortly after the arrival of the physician he became unconscious, in which state he remained until death.

The remains were taken to their Chicago home Wednesday morning, accompanied by his wife, sister, mother and other relatives. His sudden demise is a shock to all, and the sorrowing wife and relatives have the sympathy of the entire community.

Thanking you for the past favors, I hope that the conduct of the office has been such as to merit your approval, also that of the lady voters.

A "WET" CATSPAW

Governor Cox, we are told, is a "wet" candidate. That is to say, he is against prohibition. He may not indeed, abrogate the Eighteenth Amendment, nor reverse the decision of the Supreme Court. But he is "wet," and his nomination was a triumph for the "Wets," and his election would make the "wet" victory complete. So we are told, not by his opponents but by his friends, who chortle in their glee at the way in which they put it over Mr. Bryan and the Anti-Saloon League by nominating him for the Presidency. Now, we do not know nor do we particularly care what Governor Cox's personal convictions on the subject are, nor what his attitude is toward the Eighteenth Amendment, nor yet what it would be if he were elected President. To our mind the ratification of the Amendment and the decision of the Supreme Court have disposed of the matter, excepting, of course, so far as it is remitted to Congress for possible changes in the enforcement act. But it does seem to us that in so valuably and vociferously exploiting Governor Cox's alleged humidity, the various local bosses who nominated him are simply using him as a catspaw to pull their own parochial chestnuts out of the fire.

They know perfectly well that the election of a "wet" President would not and could not reopen the saloons and breweries and distilleries. But they also know that the "turning down" of Mr. Bryan and the nomination of a reputedly "wet" candidate will greatly enhance and confirm the local prestige and power of Mr. Murphy in New York, and Mr. Nugent in New Jersey, and Mr. Brennan in Chicago, and the other machine-operating bosses in the large cities. That is why all those gentlemen were in favor of Mr. Cox, and why they got together at French Lick and laid plans for hornswoggling the convention into nominating him. It will confirm their grip upon their local and State machines; and perhaps it will embolden their followers to sell booze on the sly with a little more assurance than they would have felt had a "dry" candidate been nominated.

That is all there is in it. Of course, the playing of so gigantic and cynical a bunco game upon the "Wets" is not a self-redeeming performance, nor does it invest with the beauty of holiness the nomination which was made by the bosses for such purpose. It makes the whole business seem unspeakably sordid and mendacious. Mr. Bryan was at least sincere in his advocacy of a platform plank approving the Prohibition Amendment, and he reasonably held that its adoption would go far toward assuring effective enforcement of the law. But the "wet" bosses did not dare to adopt an anti-prohibition plank, but left the platform silent on that subject, so that the party could say "Good Lord!" and "Good Devil!" according to its plight; and then nominated a man whom they could exploit as a "wet" for home consumption.

It was, they doubtless thought, a smart performance. It was; about as smart as that of the man who tried to sit upon two stools at once.

The administration office holders who let the war profiteers rob the government and the war profiteers who did the robbing naturally do not want any talk about how things were put over on the United States Treasury during the war, but why anyone else would want to stop investigation and criticism of that colossal piece of incompetency and jobbery is not at all clear.

The biggest single factor in the high cost of living is the high cost of government, and the frightfully high cost of government is a legacy of Wilsonism.

The women who are whooping it up for the Democrats because they talk so nicely about suffrage while all the Republicans have done is to furnish about all the votes for the amendment, prove that they haven't been in politics long enough to know the difference between marriage and breach of promise.

It's all right for Governor Cox to jump around all over the country during the campaign, because he will be able to take a long rest after the election, and it's all right for Senator Harding to stay on his front porch because after the returns are in he will be busy getting ready to President of the United States.

If you don't do your part toward making Charlevoix a progressive city and pleasant place for a home, can you tell who is going to do it for you. Every citizen has a part to perform and a failure on the part of some adds to the burden of others. Every man should tote his own load.

Vice President Marshall sent a message of condolence to Governor Coudridge on his nomination to the Vice Presidency, but he hasn't followed it up with one to Mr. Roosevelt, knowing, of course, that the latter isn't going to have to serve.

Col. Bryan has been supporting objectionable Democratic nominees for the Presidency off and on for many years, and nothing has ever come of it, so he is a little inclined to be slow about emerging for action in the present campaign.

Wilson got the platform but Tammany got the candidate, and Tammany knows that a Democratic platform is merely a complete statement of what the Democratic party never has done and never will do.

"The shrine of government is in the communities of the land, near to the homes that have given service and sacrifice," Governor Cox wired Senator Robinson. But Governor Cox's platform pledges its removal to Switzerland.

William Allen White says the country is "shell shocked." Shocked by the shell-games that have been worked on them by the publicists who talk about "idealism" and "vision" and the like while putting things over on the people.

Secretary of War Newton D. Baker has issued a statement praising the "executive efficiency" of Governor Cox. Doesn't Mr. Baker know that the country is getting weary of his idea of what constitutes "executive efficiency?"

"The simple truth is," says the Democratic national platform, "that the only remedy for the high cost of living is increased 'production.' Well, that beats blaming it on the robber tariff, anyway.

It wasn't necessary to deny that Mr. Gompers had criticized the Democratic national platform. He is entirely too good a Democrat to do that, no matter what was in it.

For a man who wasn't running you'll have to admit that Mr. McAdams made a pretty good light for the nomination.

Parking and Belting—we have the kind you want. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 291f.

OLD MAN WISE SAYS:

When looking for the big chance don't overlook the beta right in front of you.

If Abraham Lincoln split rails as a starter, what handicap do you ask for in life's race?

When some men marry they take to shippers and the easy chair, and then tell themselves that getting married ruined their chances.

Some men who can't put two dollars in the bank each week can make a gambling punch board look like an exhausted meat ticket.

Some men won't let an employer help them buy homes, but will go down town and let a total stranger tell them that the employer should be forced to buy them homes.

The man who believes it is too late for him to start now is making excuses when he put on his first long pants. There are still twenty-four hours in each day.

The Girl at Central

Not long ago, near Flint, Michigan, in a fire that threatened a huge loss of life and property, a brave telephone operator remained at her post sending out calls for help until her switchboard was put out of commission and her clothing enveloped in flames.

This is only one of hundreds of cases that are on record where operators, on their own initiative, saved entire communities from burning, floods or other danger by calling all available help from surrounding districts.

The Michigan State Telephone Company is naturally very proud of its operators—proud of their heroism and unfaltering courage, but it is prouder still of this rare sense of duty that has always prompted the operators to stick to their posts in the face of danger, epidemics and storms.

It is this kind of devotion to service that has given telephone operators, not only a conspicuous place in the hall of fame, but a prominent place, too, in the hearts of the community they serve.

For your telephone operator, highly trained, as she must be, proficient to a wonderful degree in her work and unfaltering in her traditional devotion to her service, is, after all, just an ordinary girl.

She is the kind of bright, active, intelligent girl that you, if you knew her, would go out of your way to show every courtesy.

In most cases she is a home girl and in every case, we know, she is the best protected girl in any kind of work in the city.

We want to tell you many things about your telephone operator—of the motherly care that is taken of her during working hours, of the care that is taken of her health in her work. We want everyone to know why a telephone girl finds her work so inspirational, personal and serviceful—of her opportunities and her happiness in her work that go so far to make your telephone service better.

Now, we are introducing your telephone girl to you, because we know that in this closer acquaintanceship you will find much that is helpful in your relations with the most personal service you command—your telephone.

ALL INFLUENCED BY OMENS

Notorious Criminals, as a Class, Are Remarkable for Their Many Superstitious Beliefs.

Some of the most notorious criminals who, it might have been thought, could not pay the slightest attention to omens, good or bad, have a profound belief in superstitions.

Curiously enough, the burglar will often relinquish a big burgling feat if a dream the night before has warned him that he will be in danger. But should it happen that he sees a rainbow during the day he will consider it to portend that, however reckless he may be, he is not likely to fall into the hands of the police for a space of three months.

Many burglars carry double shoes in their pockets before setting out, believing that this will protect them from danger, while others pin their faith to a piece of coal, which they will carry in their pockets throughout their career.

The pickpocket is equally superstitious. He will not rob a person who squats, this being accounted a certain sign of disaster, and if it happens that the purse he steals contains foreign money it is believed to mean that he will travel in the immediate future. Weddings and funerals are pregnant with meaning for the professional thief. To pick a pocket at a funeral would be to court immediate disaster, whereas if a purse stolen at a wedding contains gold it portends the best of luck for the thief.

Some pickpockets have a favorite pair of boots that they wear as long as they can keep them in their feet, and if they are not arrested while wearing them they put the boots up into little square places and give them away as "lucky tokens" to confederates.

A Lucky Throw.

I woke one night just in time to see a man getting out of my window. I picked up on the table the only thing handy and threw it at him. It was a lucky throw, for although it didn't hit him it scared him and he went away. I was in bed with me and I had a little sleep after that. —Chicago Tribune.

PROSPECTS GOOD IN SPITE OF FIRE

Art Hall Exhibits Will Be Placed in Automobile Hall

The West Michigan State Fair, scheduled for September 20-24 will be held as planned in spite of the fire which destroyed the Art Hall and damaged the Grand Stand. Arrangements for taking care of the exhibitors who had signed for space in the burned structure have been made by placing the automobile display under a tent and turning the automobile hall over to the commercial exhibitors. The automobile hall is even larger than the old art hall and will be ideal for a temporary art hall.

New concessions and other out door attractions will be secured to fill in the space formerly occupied by the art hall and the fair management is confident that the fair this year will be better than ever before in spite of the fire.

Plans for a new fire proof art hall of modern construction are now being drawn, and active construction will be started early next year so that building will be ready for occupancy for the 1921 exposition. Plans are also being made for in addition to the grand stand to accommodate any overflow of commercial exhibits. It is hoped to have this building completed in time for the opening of the fair.

The automobile show this year will be in the form of a tented city which will be located just west of the old art hall site and near the main entrance. The art hall site will be used as a midway.

EPISODE V

WHEN the Man who was ALWAYS MAKING EXCUSES got the BIGGEST LUNKHEAD Medal he did not have any excuse ready, so he thought over WHY he had been chosen.

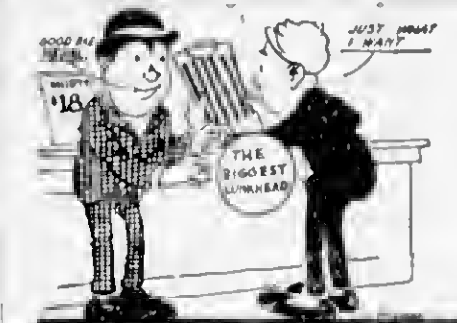

Then he saw that EXCUSE MAKING DOES NOT PAY. That EVERY TIME he made an EXCUSE he had to make a DOZEN MORE. He saw that EXCUSE MAKERS do not LAST on jobs. He saw that he was looked upon as a BETTER WORKER when he FACED THE RESULTS of his work. He saw that when he tried to stop making EXCUSES he was able to DO BETTER WORK because he PUT HIS MIND on his work. And it did not take him long to find out that IT PAID HIM to do better work AND IT MADE HIM FEEL BETTER.

So he quit being an EXCUSE MAKER and taking the BIGGEST LUNKHEAD Medal off he went out and pinned it on the Man WHO WASTED ALL HIS SPARE TIME.

The Great Lunkhead Mystery

Follow the Travels of the Famous Medal Designed to be Worn by the Person Proving the Right to be Known to the World as the Biggest Lunkhead.

EPISODE VI

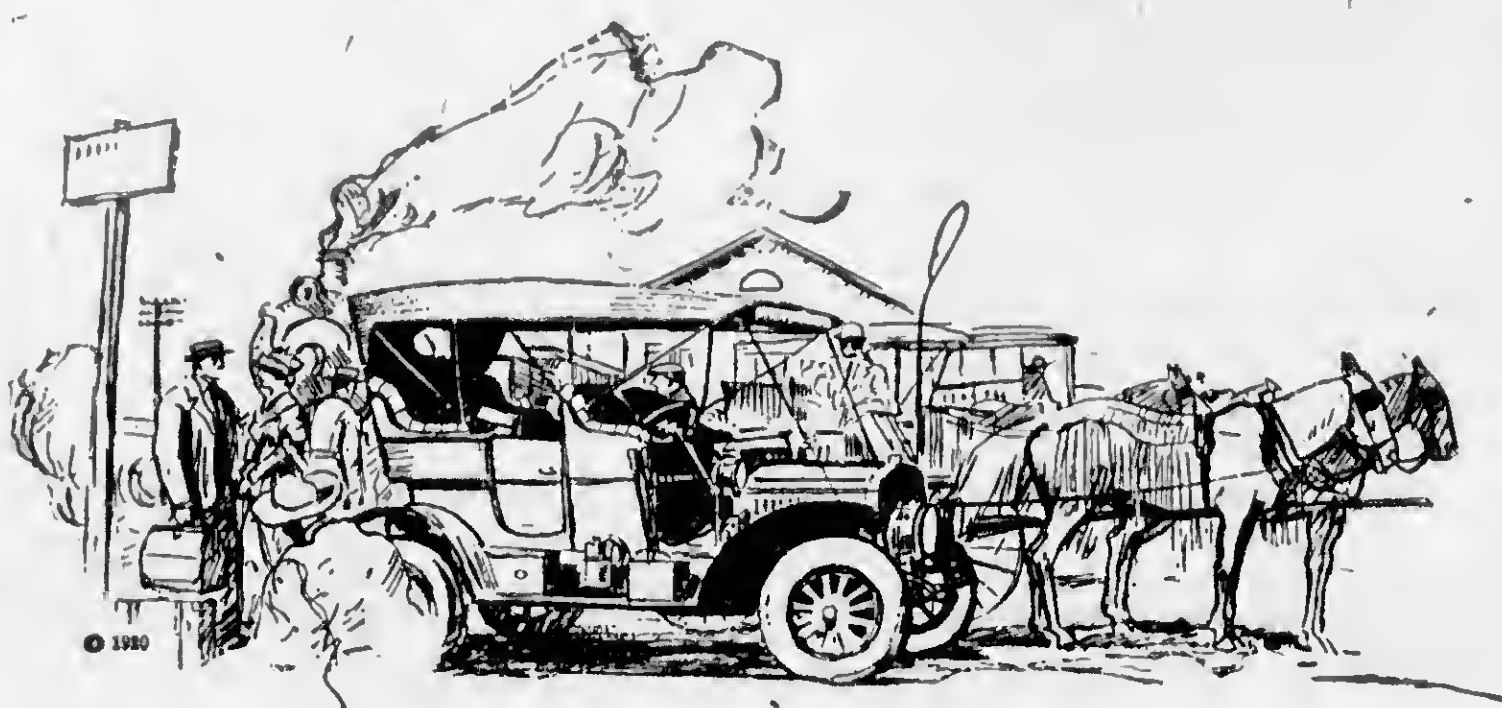

When the Man WHO WASTED ALL HIS SPARE TIME found that he had been sought out and awarded the BIGGEST LUNKHEAD Medal he did not like the idea of having it hanging on his breast and he worked up nerve enough to think about WHY it was there.

When he BEGAN TO THINK he saw for the first time that HIS OWN ACTS had won him the Medal. He saw that he had been always telling the world BY HIS OWN ACTS that HE DID NOT WANT TO GET AHEAD. And he saw that the world had taken him AT HIS OWN PRICE. He saw that as he was WASTING HIS SPARE TIME good jobs went to others who improved their LEISURE. He saw that the MEN WHO MAKE GOOD are the men WHO NEVER IDLE. He saw that the world took these men AT THEIR OWN PRICE. He saw that HE COULD QUIT BEING AN IDLER and that IT IS NEVER TOO LATE TO START being a REAL MAN.

And he started, without delay, to be a SUCCESSFUL MAN by taking off his breast the BIGGEST LUNKHEAD Medal and pinning it on the Man WHO NEVER SAVED A CENT.

When the train came in back in 1910

TEN years ago you might have seen one or two automobiles waiting outside the station, when the weather was pleasant.

Today the square is crowded with them. And most of the cars you generally see there are moderate-price cars.

II

Anybody who tells you that owners of moderate-price cars are not interested in the quality of their tires has never met very many of them.

We come in contact with the small car owner every day and we have found that he is just as much interested as the big car owner.

III

There is one tire, at least, that makes no distinction between small cars and large cars so far as quality is concerned—the U. S. Tire.

Every U. S. Tire is just like every other in quality—the best its builders know how to build.

Whatever the size of your car, the service you get out of U. S. Tires is the same. It isn't the car, but the man who owns the car, that sets the standard to which U. S. tires are made.

IV

We feel the same way about it. That's why we represent U. S. Tires in this community.

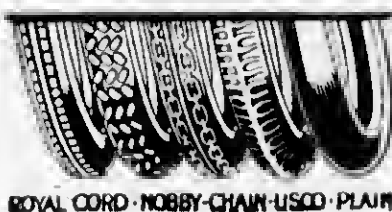

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S. Nobby.

For ordinary country roads—The U. S. Chain or U. S. Co.

For front wheels—The U. S. Plain.

For best results—everywhere—U. S. Royal Cords.

BEEF CALVES ARE FAVORED

Profit Assured to Farmer With Small Permanent Pasture and Plenty of Feed.

The farmer who has a small permanent pasture and plenty of feed might find the raising of a few calves of the best type or the dual purpose type profitable. Much will, of course, depend upon the calves and the methods of raising the extra feed. There are men making fair profit on beef cattle. Some of these are small farmers.

AVOID HOG CHOLERA GERMS

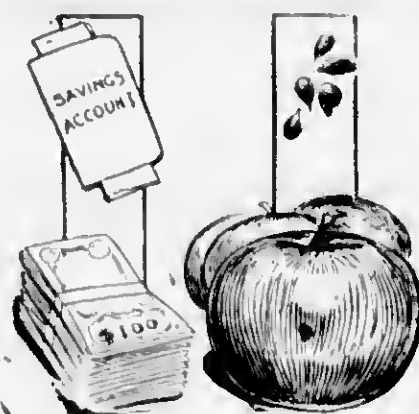

Houses and Lots Should Be Arranged So That They May Be Cleaned and Disinfected Easily.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) Among the suggestions made by the United States department of agriculture to minimize the danger of introducing hog cholera germs are the following:

Hog houses, lots, and pastures should be located away from streams and public highways, and the houses and lots should be arranged so that they may be cleaned and disinfected readily. They should be exposed as far as possible to sunlight, which is the cheapest and one of the best disinfectants. Hog lots should not be used for yarding hogs and farm implements and should not be entered with team and wagon, particularly when hauling stock for shipment to market. As further precaution no one should be allowed to enter hog lots unless there is assurance that he does not carry infection. Farmers and their help should disinfect their shoes before entering hog lots after returning from public yards, sales, and neighboring farms.

Government.

Government is not an edifice that the people turned over to prosperity and prosperity. It is an institution, the only one that can be destroyed unless it is destroyed by the people themselves.

The Car Shortage

There is no disguising the fact that the car shortage is occasioning serious interruptions to the normal industrial output of the country. The association of Railway Executives have issued an appeal to the public, in which they state that the cars and locomotives at their command are inadequate to handle the unusually large volume of business offered, and they add that it will be impossible to overcome immediately this deficiency. The executives state that "conditions require the most intensive use of the existing facilities." To that end they have outlined a plan for securing the greatest possible efficiency in the distribution and use of cars, and with the support and cooperation of the shippers they are in hopes to prevent repetition of the condition of congestion which marked the operation of the lines under government control. During that historic epoch the theory was quite similar to that used by Oliver Wendell Holmes in describing his wonderful one-hoss shay, and had not private ownership been restored to its managerial rights we would doubtless have found the lines soon reduced to the condition of the "shay," which took on the appearance of "a general flavor of mild decay." But, in reality, upon the release of the carriers from Federal control, not only were the cars and locomotives as a whole inadequate and in an impaired state, but also the distribution of the cars as to ownership was in such a condition as to prevent the greatest efficiency in their use. Imagine what would have been the dilemma had the government in carrying out some of its war-eccentricities, scrambled all the farm machinery of the country wherever they happened to find binders, reapers, or other machinery. That is practically what happened to the railroads; and even today the first impression anyone has who reads the names of the owners on the cars of a passing freight train is that, "I didn't realize that there were so many different railroads in the country." The constant labor troubles have hindered to a large extent, the return of the equipment to their original owners; but the new wage award is expected to help settle wage conditions and assist in the location of cars.

With the harvest season at hand the only relief from the difficult condition with reference to the car shortage rests in the more intensive use of the existing equipment. The railroad program, for which public cooperation is sought, contemplates the following: An average daily minimum movement of freight cars of not less than thirty miles a day; an average loading of thirty tons per car; reduction of dead car miles to a maximum of four per cent of total owned; early and substantial reduction in the number of locomotives now unfit for service; more effective efforts to bring about the return of cars to the owner roads. While the car performance proposed has never before been attained, it is believed that it can be acquired, and that the whole remedial plan can be carried out, if the full cooperation of the public can be secured.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is in close touch with the railroad plan and Washington is rather optimistic since it has found that there is a stern determination among railroad operators throughout the country to mount the difficulties that confront them.

Swords and Ploughshares

When the Old Testament was written there was a passage saying, "they shall beat their swords into ploughshares," and while humanity is still talking over the probability, and in order to carry it into effect arranging Leagues of Nations, with and without reservations—it remains for Uncle Sam's war office to devise a plan to make swords and ploughshares to effective service while working hand in hand.

Because of the shortage of farm labor the War Department has discontinued its recruiting work in rural communities, and future armies are to be given courses in agriculture. The military camps are no longer to be places where the mind of the soldier is kept constantly upon the one subject of shooting straight, riding hard, throwing bombs, and similar activities. It has been noted that the "regular soldiers" in past years had nothing ahead of them but to re-enlist upon the expiration of service, for the simple reason that all they knew was soldiering. They were unfit for civil life and its occupations, and too frequently they were merely "tough guys," because their minds had been brought to a halt through the methods of life and the limited instruction received in camps.

The war department says that "the future army will not spend a part of the day in drill and the remainder in idleness." In order to change this, says an official statement, "it is the policy of the war department to make farmers of as many recruits as can by any means be induced to adopt the profession of agriculture. The course in agriculture taught at army schools is under the direct supervision of experts obtained from the leading agricultural institutions of the country." An officer in the Adjutant General's office says: "It is predicted that when the country becomes better acquainted with the character of the work done at these army schools it will recognize a constant source of supply for its agriculture needs."

Newsprint Has Advanced 500 Per Cent

A current report of the Government Forest Service says that the larger newspaper publishers of the country have been able to keep down the advance in cost of their newsprint to about 200 per cent because of their ability to contract in large volume. But the market price, according to the bulletin, has advanced 500 per cent since 1915. It is at this price that the small publisher is compelled to buy his paper stock.

Primarily the reason for the advance in paper is due to a wood shortage. In earlier days the paper mills were built in the lumber regions and their pulp wood was a sort of by-product of the saw milling industry. But in most of these regions the saw mills have finished, and they have packed up, burned out, or moved away for some other reason. But the paper mill cannot play the part of "carpet bagger" quite so easily, and as a result the northeastern part of the United States has become largely dependent upon Canadian wood. Spruce from Minnesota and Canada, for example, is being hauled from 700 to 1200 miles to Wisconsin paper mills. In New York state, where nearly fifty per cent of our newsprint is produced, sixty per cent of the pulp and paper mills have absolutely no timber supplies of their own. New Hampshire and Maine appear to be the only eastern states that still have raw materials for making paper, and there is a well-grounded suspicion in the paper trade that the day of profiteering in spruce, hemlock, balsam and poplar is pretty well under way.

The big papers, in any event, are certainly eating up the little ones, and their "funny sheets," magazine sections and other irrelevant features add to the tragedy of the proceedings.

Service Demands Tremendous

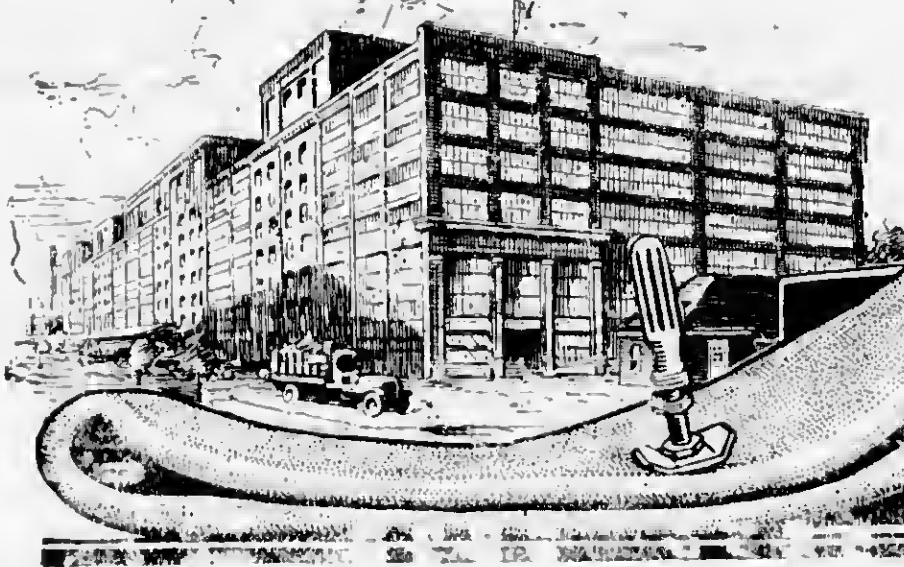

At this time is scarcely a central station company for electricity which is able to supply the demands made upon it for power for industrial uses.

In 1919 the 7,243 central station companies in the United States generated 39,559,000,000 kilowatt hours of energy and employed over 100,000 men. The current was carried over more than 87,000 miles of high tension transmission lines, serving, in addition to the many industrial plants, more than 8,000,000 homes with light and supplying light and power to more than 1,000,000 business establishments. Over 5,000,000 electric motors were in use at the end of the year.

Firestone

Sales of this tire have increased 96% the first six months of this year, proving the balanced tire, the Firestone 3½ has accomplished what Firestone sought for it, more mileage, greater economy, greater comfort, which has been passed on to the public at low cost—most miles per dollar.

Balanced! That means to you more than mere thickness of tread, greater air capacity, more plies of fabric, greater cushioning, or the gauge of the sidewall. It means that all component parts of the Firestone 3½ are scientifically balanced by specialists who have put years of study and practice into a single purpose—to meet your demand in a small car tire. You can now have all four tires on your car give uniform service if they are Firestone.

As to the future, it is estimated that there yet remain in the United States 14,000,000 houses to be wired for electric light, 150,000 industrial establishments to be equipped with electric power and a possible electrical furnace load of tremendous proportions. With a steady increase in population and industrial growth, the future field of the industry seems to be limited only by the conditions established governing its ability to attract investors to furnish new capital so as to make the extensions necessary to meet the increasing demands for service.

Automobile Prices

A rumor in the automobile world to the effect that prices of cars had recently been reduced in Omaha has been found incorrect. Investigation shows that there have been no actual reduction in the prices of new cars, but there is hope in the fact that proposed advances by manufacturers have been temporarily deferred.

MAKE PROFIT FROM POULTRY

No Reason Why More Farmers Cannot Make Money by Selling Breedling Stock and Eggs.

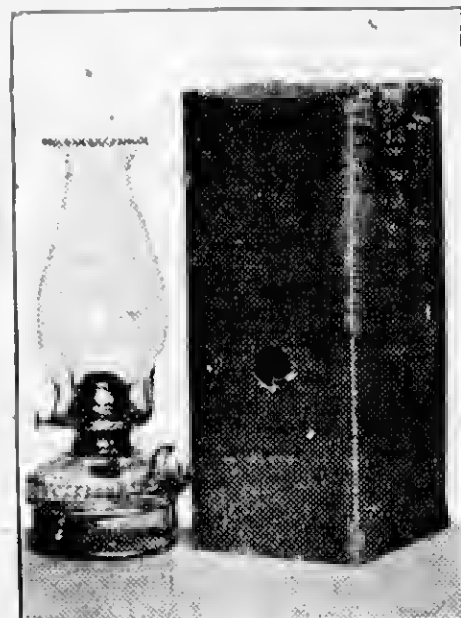

Many farmers are now breeding standard-bred poultry, exhibiting the same, advertising, and making a good profit from the sale of breeding stock, eggs for hatching, etc. There is no reason why other farmers cannot do as well.

FIND PERFECTLY FRESH EGG

Quality is Largely Determined by Ease With Which Yolk Moves—Hints on Candling.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

It is necessary to rotate an egg before the candle if one is to obtain an accurate knowledge of its condition. By tilting at various angles, the location and size of the air space can be seen, and very often the position of the yolk. But the quality of the egg is very largely determined by the ease

A Home-Made Egg Candling Outfit.

With which the yolk moves and the direction of its motion. The operator, therefore—

1. Grasps the pointed end of the egg with the tips of the fingers.

2. Holding the blunt end uppermost, places the egg closely against the opening, or spout, of the candle.

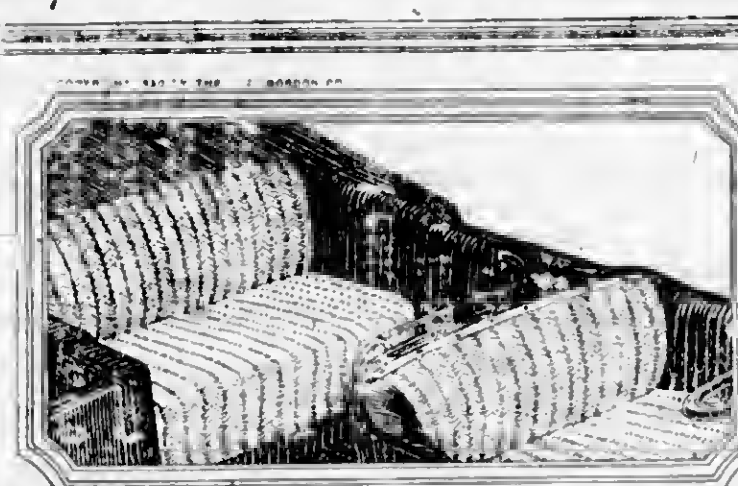

3. Gives the egg a quick turn to the right or left, watching the movement of the yolk.

If the egg is perfectly fresh it may be difficult to find the yolk at first glance, but as the egg is turned a glimpse of it will be obtained.

Story of the Emerald.

The emerald has been known since early times, both in Europe and in certain parts of the Orient. Its name may be traced back to an old word which appeared in Greek as smaragdus, mentioned by Theophrastus three hundred years before the Christian era.

BOYS CATCH 12

POUND PIKE

Dive to Bottom of Lake to Release Fouled Line

Prize winners in the fishing game last week were the little sons of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Yettaw, Dales and Thale, who captured a thirty-seven inch grass pike weighing nearly twelve pounds.

The fish was caught in Campbell's Lake, and while the fight was in progress the line became entangled in a tree, top in about ten feet of water. Rather than see their prize escape the eldest of the two lads dove to the bottom and untangled the line and landed the fish. Both boys were proud of their catch as would be any older and more experienced fisherman.

Heat Deflected From Lantern Top Around Pails, Keeping Temperature Above Freezing.

To make a non-freezable drinking fountain for the hen house the following material will be needed: One soup or cracker box; a lantern; two galvanized iron pails, about two-quart capacity; and enough heavy asbestos paper to line box with a double thickness to keep in the heat generated by the lantern and for fire prevention.

The box must be large enough to hold the lantern and two pails. Two holes are cut in the top of box, one at each end, allowing the pails to sink into the box with only about 3 inches protruding. Inside the box, between the pails, the lantern should be placed. The heat will be deflected by the lantern top and the box around the water pails, thus keeping the water a few degrees above freezing even in coldest weather.

The box is placed on a platform. This, in addition to being a support for pails on which the fowls stand while drinking, is also the bottom of

ORIGIN OF MUSCOVY DUCKS

Breed Comes From South America and Is Very Active—They Are Useful for Crossing.

The Muscovy breed of ducks originated in South America. It is very active. The drake weighs from 11 to 12 pounds; the female only six to seven pounds. The period of incubation is from 34 to 35 days. The standard admits two varieties—white and colored Muscovy. They are used for crossing to some extent, and, unlike most ducks, are rather quarrelsome with one another, and the drakes with other poultry. They are cared for just as other ducks. The ducklings are fed largely on ground food with plenty of green stuff, which may be put in the mash. Water should be before all ducks constantly in such a form that they cannot get into it with their feet. Sand or coarse gravel should be put in the feed once a day. All ducks must have a dry place to sleep.

STUDY OF MARKET DEMANDS

Mixed Flocks Will Not Produce Uniform Eggs or Meat, Most Desirable for Consumer.

Every poultry raiser should make a study of the market demands. A uniform color of eggs and flesh in poultry is desirable. A mixed flock will not produce uniform eggs or meat, and eggs from such a flock are not desirable for hatching.

ESSENTIALS FOR HEN HOUSE

Keep Flock Comfortable by Furnishing Good Ventilation, Fresh Air and Sunshine.

House the flock comfortably; keep houses dry and well ventilated, allowing plenty of fresh air and sunshine. Remodel the old house—stop cracks and eliminate drafts.

ALL SET FOR THE BARBECUE

ARRANGEMENTS ARE NOW PRACTICALLY COMPLETED

Music, Sports, Ball Game and Other Amusements Provided to Entertain Crowd

Arrangements are going forward rapidly for the Barbecue to be held here on Thursday, August 5th, and prospects are good for the largest crowd in the history of Ellsworth, weather permitting.

An ox has been purchased and when dinner time comes on August 5th will be roasted to a turn.

A fine program of field and track sports have been arranged by the committee on sports and from the opening of festivities at 10:00 o'clock in the morning until the last man is called out at the end of the hall game in the afternoon, there will be no dull moments.

Campbell's Park, where the Barbecue will be held, is one of the most beautiful spots in northern Michigan there being abundance of shade, thus making it an ideal picnic spot.

Roast ox will be furnished for sandwiches and hot coffee will be also furnished free. Fill your lunch baskets and come and make August 5th a day long to be remembered.

Ellsworth bids you welcome.

POULTRY NOTES

Be sure chicks do not become crowded.

It is necessary to have some of the old hens for breeders.

Ducks and geese can usually be raised very economically on most farms.

The wild breeds of turkeys are known as the North American, Mexican and the Houmaus.

There are many farmers not now raising ducks and geese, but who could find raising them profitable.

Young hens will pay well for care and feed, but if they do not get good treatment they will not produce much profit.

Dampness is always more dangerous than cold, and that's why it is so important to have the hen house tight and dry.

Vanadium Highly Important. For the latest types of engineering works, such as airplanes, submarines, turbines and similar work, the possession of a material of high resistance to stresses of all kinds enables some of the most difficult elements of the work to be solved. While the application of vanadium to steel does this, and thus constitutes at present its most important use, it has also a marked influence upon cast iron and upon copper.

SPECIAL TAXES DUE THIS MONTH

MUST BE PAID GOVERNMENT
ON OR BEFORE JULY 31

Heavy Penalty Prescribed for Failure to Make Returns and Pay the Money

Millions of dollars will be added to the revenues of the government this month from special taxes due on or before July 31, 1920. The list includes the tax on brokers, pawnbrokers, museums, theatres and concert halls, circuses, bowling alleys, shooting galleries, riding academies, tobacco, buses, etc.

Forms for filing returns are available at offices of collectors of internal revenue and branch offices. Heavy penalties ranging from a fine not to exceed $1,000 for failure, and not to exceed $10,000 or one year's imprisonment or both for willful refusal to make return and pay the tax on time are prescribed by the current revenue act.

Returns of the capital stock also must be filed on or before July 31.

To facilitate prompt collection and as an aid to the taxpayer as well as the government, the bureau has suggested that filing of the return be accompanied by payment of the amount of tax due. This method is appealing to corporation, as it lessens liability to penalty.

The capital stock tax applies to every corporation carrying on or doing business in the United States. The tax on domestic corporations is $1 for each $1,000 of so much of the fair average value of its capital stock for the preceding year ended June 30 as is in excess of $5,000. Foreign corporations are required to pay a tax of $1 for each $1,000 of the average amount of its capital employed in the transaction of its business in the United States during the preceding year ended June 30, without the benefit of the $5,000 deduction.

The tax on brokers whose business it is to negotiate purchases or sales of stocks, bonds, exchange, bullion, coined money, promissory notes or other securities, and produce or merchandise is $50 a year. If the broker is a member of a stock exchange, produce exchange, board of trade or similar organization which sells produce or merchandise and the average value on June 30 or a seat or membership in such organization was $2,000 and not more than $5,000 he is required to pay an additional tax of $100. If such value was more than $5,000 he is required to pay an additional tax of $150. Pawnbrokers are subject to a special tax of $100 a year.

Theatres, museums and concert halls are taxed according to their seating capacity, and the population of the city or town in which they are located. Those having a seating capacity of not more than 250 are taxed $50; seating capacity of more than 250 and not exceeding 500, $100; exceeding 500 and not exceeding 800, $150; in excess of 800, $200. The tax in cities or towns of less than 5,000 inhabitants is one-half of these amounts. This tax is paid by the proprietor. The special tax on circuses is $100.

At all services of this church we are happy to welcome all who have no other church home. We wish you to feel that this is a church without forbidding formalism, yet with an ardent desire to cheer and to inspire. And one word more:

There's some would like to speak wi' ye."

If after kirk ye rise and flee
We'll all seem stiff and strange to ye."

The one that's in the seat wi' ye
Is stranger here than you may be.
All here have got your fears and cares—

Add your soul unto our prayers,
Be you our angel unawares!"

There will also be special music by the quartette and soloist.

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She mixed Sulphur with it to Restore Color, Gloss, Youthfulness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Come and Bring Your Friends

AT THE MOVIES

Recommendation that a Carnegie medal for heroism be awarded Nell Country, by James Oliver Curwood, which will be shown at the Palace Theatre, Thursday has been made following the knowledge that Miss Shipman has in the last two years saved three lives through her prowess as a swimmer and her courage.

Nearly two years ago Miss Shipman saved the life of Alfred Whitman, an actor, when he was stricken with cramps while swimming in the Kern river, Kern county, California.

Just recently when Mrs. I. H. Rothstein and her seven-year-old son Roger capsized in a rowboat at Nat Goodwin Pier, Santa Monica Beach, Miss Shipman rescued them from the water after they had gone under for the third time.

In "Back to God's Country," Miss Shipman has ample opportunity to demonstrate her aquatic ability. In a dramatic scene she rescues her father by leaping into the swirling rapids of a Canadian mountain waterfall. This is one of the few instances in which a star has risked her life for the correct depiction of a scene.

WESTERN WOOL GROWERS UNITE

WILL WORK IN HARMONY WITH EASTERN STATES

Bureau Protects Farmers Against Poor Seed—Result of Meeting at Lansing

Closer cooperation between the farm bureaus of the states in the middle west in virtually all marketing problems seems assured as a result of the meeting attended by representatives from Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Nebraska, South Dakota, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa held at the Michigan Farm Bureau headquarters in Lansing, July 27 and 28.

President Howard of the American Farm Bureau Federation announced that development of a wool pooling system, similar to the centralized system established in Michigan and a few other mid-western states this year, on a scale that will embrace practically all of the large wool producing states another year, would be pushed vigorously as part of the national organization's program. Unity in extensive advocacy of the merits of the "truth in fabric" bill now before congress, which provides for the compulsory labeling by manufacturers of the percentage of shoddy in cloth was agreed upon.

The seed department of the Michigan Bureau, with its features of protection for individual farmers in guaranteeing quality goods was looked upon with favor and representatives of several states went home determined to establish machinery that would operate similarly in their territories. The Michigan department handles no seeds that are not guaranteed as to quality, and arrangements are effective in the majority of the organized counties in the state whereby each county takes care of the home demand with home grown seeds, calling upon the state department only for extra supplies. The plan also provides for the marketing of each county's surplusage of seed through the state department. In the purchase of western alfalfa and clover, considerable of which is being done this year, the original grower is called upon to guarantee the quality of his product by affidavit.

One of the outstanding features of the meeting and one that seems certain to bear fruit in the more substantial building of cooperative marketing agencies of the mid-west, was a talk by Aron Saprin, attorney for the California fruit growers' association, who startlingly declared that the mid-west really knows little about genuine cooperative marketing.

He told of the California methods; how the poultry association there is able to market eggs on the New York market at a price three cents in excess of that obtained by eastern producers; how the prune growers of the Pacific coast now control 83 per cent of the prune crop and are able to fix the price the grower is to receive for his product; how success has greeted organization of orange and raisin producers. And most importantly, he outlined in detail how the farmers of California have accomplished these things.

In brief the California plan calls for the formation of state pools of agricultural products, with growers organized by commodities rather than by localities, as is the general practice in this mid-west section of the country. Centralization in sales is the key to the far west's scheme of cooperation. Another feature that it is insisted must be incorporated if success is to be obtained is long term contracts by growers providing that they must deliver products to pools over a series of years, preferably at least five. In this way, it is claimed, it is possible for growers' associations to build up permanent trade inasmuch as distributors can be assured that they can have orders filled year after year. But unless enough growers unite on a contract system to give their association control of at least 51 per cent of the product, don't expect much in the way of spectacular benefit, Saprin, warned.

That the mid-west agriculturally at least, is solidly in back of the proposed Great Lakes-St. Lawrence to the sea waterway movement was indicated by the reception given the description of the plan by Charles P. Craig of Duluth, secretary of the national association, which is urging this development. Craig pointed out how million of dollars may be saved farmers of the mid-west in handling of grain if the commodity may be loaded in ocean carriers at Great Lakes ports and moved directly to foreign ports, eliminating the present long and expensive railroad haul from the mid-west to the ports on the Atlantic seaboard. He predicted that the favorable sentiment prevailing in this country and in Canada will make possible the securing of appropriations that will permit the starting of the development work on the waterway in 1922.

Upon motion of president Leonard of the Illinois agricultural association, the meeting endorsed the action taken at the recent grain producers' conference held in Chicago and voted to support president Howard in his selection of a committee representative of all grain producing sections that will study conditions with a view to working out ways and means for the unification of grain marketing methods in vogue in the different states.

It was with interest that the meeting learned from Mr. Howard that the American Farm Bureau Federation is assisting in the launching of state membership campaigns in Florida, Texas, Arkansas, New Jersey and Vermont, of a similar nature to the campaign that in less than a year has enrolled more than 75,000 members on a $10.00 a year basis in Michigan.

The proposed increase in commissions of the livestock exchange in Chicago was discussed, as was also the vital need for comprehensive publicity and educational work on

FUEL PROBLEM GROWS SERIOUS

SITUATION THE SAME IN ALL COMMUNITIES

Mayor Rose Using Every Possible Means to Protect the City Against Famine Next Winter

If the coal situation continues as is at the present time, Charlevoix, as well as practically every city in the state, will be up against the greatest shortage of this commodity ever known. Prices are sky-high and the available supply the lowest in years.

Local dealers have only sufficient coal on hand for our immediate needs, not taking into consideration the large amount needed to carry us through the winter. Mine operators and brokers ask $9.75 per ton, at the mine for coal that last spring was delivered to your doors for from $8.00 to $9.00 a ton. Add a freight cost of $3.00 or better and hauling charges, and your coal, at present prices, will cost $12.50 to $14.50, according to the grade you are lucky enough to get.

Profiteers and operators have a stranglehold on the entire country and are tightening their grip every day—and our good Democratic administration leaders are putting in their time on the league of nations and building political fences.

Mayor Rose, in the following communication, explains what he has accomplished towards protecting the city against a coal famine. It is quite plain that he is up against a tough proposition, but will get coal if there is a possible chance. His letter follows:

Charlevoix, Aug. 2, 1920
To the People of Charlevoix:
It is my duty to keep you informed as to what is being done to secure a reserve supply of coal for the coming winter. Since early spring I have been trying to secure a cargo of coal. I have been in communication with dealers and vessel owners and captains. I have been unable to get any satisfactory results. Vessels have difficulty in getting enough bunker coal to operate and what coal they can get goes to dealers who will agree to supply the boats when needed. Vessels that are fitted to carry coal have become scarce.

I have asked the local dealers to order all the coal they can handle and have told them not to hold back because of any efforts the city is making. I believe they are doing the very best they can, but the prospects are not promising. The conditions may improve later but it seems to me that we should commence to fortify ourselves. One method is to take steps to secure all the wood possible. Don't burn coal in your cooking stoves and ranges unless you have to. It will be needed for heating.

I cannot accomplish the impossible, but I assure you that I shall leave nothing undone that can be done. I have parties watching for the first possible opening. We shall get the coal by boat if we can, but will buy by carload if that is the only way to get it. If any of you have suggestions that will help please let me have them at once.

Very truly yours,
S. M. Rose, Mayor.

HAYES TOWNSHIP FARM BUREAU

Organization Now Complete and Officers Elected

Hayes township is one of the latest to complete the organization of a farm bureau, thus joining in the movement for the complete organization of agriculturists in Charlevoix county along this line.

At the meeting and election of officers recently held, Frank Bird was elected president, David Smith, vice president, and Thomas Scroggie, secretary-treasurer. By the choice of these men to head the organization, its success is assured.

During the recent canvass for membership in the township, every resident but seven were interviewed, with the result that 88 became members, eleven refusing to join.

Regular meetings will be held in the future and an effort made to convert those who refused to join during the canvass.

Annual Meeting at Boyne City

C. C. BANQUET FRIDAY NIGHT

LADIES OF EASTERN STAR TO SERVE THE "EATS"

Association to Be Re-organized and Board of Directors Chosen—Important Meeting

The regular monthly meeting and banquet of the Charlevoix Commercial Association will be held on Friday evening of this week in the Masonic Temple, the ladies of the Eastern Star serving the banquet.

It is expected this will be one of the most important meetings the association has held since its organization, as this meeting will result in a complete reorganization, placing it on a more business like basis.

Many other matters of vital interest to the future of Charlevoix will come before this meeting, especially that of engaging the services of the American Industrial Bureau of Chicago, to act along lines discussed at recent meetings.

The future of Charlevoix, not only as a resort, but industrial center, never looked brighter than today, and with every businessman and citizen backing the efforts of the association, things can be brought about that in the past seemed impossible. It is necessary, however, to have the support of all. There are many ways to help the Association, and we reproduce some of the suggestions offered by a man who is interested in the future of Charlevoix and associated with many chambers of commerce throughout the country:

1. Attend the meetings.
 2. Be on time always.
 3. It's part of your important business—let nothing keep you away.
 4. Encourage officers and workers. Show your appreciation of the work they do for you.
 5. Cheerfully accept office or a place on committees. It gives you an opportunity to render a service.
 6. Set a good example to officers and committeemen by your faithful performance of duty.
 7. Wisely and discreetly join in all deliberations and show yourself interested in other's suggestions.
 8. Have the utmost confidence in your fellow workers—freely give—freely take—HELP.
- The stronger the organization, the better for you all.

LITTLE CHILD HURT BY AUTO

Two Year Old Daughter of Robert Howe Badly Injured

The first serious auto accident of the season occurred Saturday evening about 10 o'clock, when a Ford car owned by Mr. Rascher and driven by his son, ran into Robert Howe and two children, badly injuring one of them and slightly injuring Howe himself.

Howe and his two children were on their way home. Instead of keeping on the sidewalk, he was in the street, to avoid, as he states, lifting the go-cart up and down over the street crossings.

When about opposite the Glassford cottage, on Dixon avenue, the Ford car ran into them, breking the arm of his little two-year-old daughter, who was in the go-cart besides otherwise injuring her, also slightly injuring Howe himself.

Had the car been running at a 20-mile clip, it is quite possible both father and daughter would have been badly injured or killed outright.

PETOSKEY GETS BIG CIGAR FACTORY

Big Industry Expected to Employ Many Girls

Petoskey is to have a cigar factory employing from 250 to 600 girls and young women if that number of workers can be obtained.

Negotiations have been completed between the American Cigar Co., which is an offshoot of the great American Tobacco Co., and the Petoskey Chamber of Commerce, through its industrial committee, which insure the establishment of such a plant.

A temporary factory will soon be established in one of the third floor lofts in the downtown district, and the permanent building will be erected in the recently purchased Chamber of Commerce property.

Circulation counts—we have it.
